OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

Rose bugs—kerosene them.

Potato bugs—paris green them.

Humbugs—touch them not.

Roosters do a lot of crowing, but the hens egg them on.

Good farming and good men are inseparable. The one can not be had without the other.

One hour a day well spent in a well regulated garden will furnish the family in truck the year round.

The desert lands of the West are waiting to be the gardens of the coming agriculturists of America. Irrigation is doing it.

Hens will use a great deal of milk every day if they can get it, and it is a most perfect food for them, too. It contains just the stuff for producing eggs, and lots of them.

When the little chap on your farm does a really good thing, tell him so. There is a day coming when there will be no "little chap" at your house. The more's the pity, too!

To destroy fleas, scatter bits of fleece-wool where they have been found. After a few hours, gather the wool and drop it into boiling water. The fleas will have hidden in it.

California botanical wizard has originated a potato that grows its crop above ground. That may be an improvement; but a device to grow the potato bug 10 feet underground would be more appreciated.

Have you been to busy to see the beauties that are all around you on the farm to-day? Don't go to bed till you have stepped out and taken one good long look at the world. It will help you to sleep better.

Farm economy demands that everything around be made to contribute, and if there are no "give backs" from a food "given out," it's a loss. A lot of cockerels kept after crowing begins are consumers, and profitles.

You can make your horse understand that you are master without yelling or whipping him. Tussles with horses never pay They leave a bad impression in the mind of the horse and you think less of yourself afterwards, too.

A boy's conception of how to make the hens fill the egg basket can hardly be improved upon. Said he: "I make my hens scratch so hard for grub that they are glad to get on the nest and lay an egg so that they may rest awhile."

It is a wonderfully good thing to do our farm work with some other thought than self in mind. We do not milk our cows, plow our fields and dig in the garden all for self—or ought not to. So we plant trees, clear up our fields and build up our farms for the men of tomorrow. And this is just as it should be.

We understand that the Department of Agriculture has recently established a division for the study of nails, wire, fencing, ect, used by farmers. Good idea! There has been much complaint lately, regarding the poor quality of such manufactured articles and it's high time that somebody took the matter in hand.

Nearly every farm hand thinks that he receives the smallest wages of any branch of labor. However the hand that is getting $25 per month with board, washing and the keeping of his horse, is better paid than the book-keeper, the clerk or the tradesman who gets $50 per month and has to pay board and laundry out of this.

Now and then farmers think they will live longer and be happier if they leave the old place and go where they will not have to work. It is a mistake, and they find it so sooner than they desire. It is not work that kills; work keeps men alive. A farmer may live without anything to eat, for a while. He can go without very fine clothes, and still be comfortable; but without work he soon finishes his course on this old earth.

The farmer's wife hasn't got a thing to do nowadays but watch the setting hens, hover about the little chicks, milk the cows, attend to the milk, churn butter, feed the pigs, look after the young calves, watch baby, carry the water, make the garden, do the cooking, baking, scrubbing, clean the house, make the beds, wash the dishes, wash and iron the clothes and a few other little things. Her days are one long, sweet song in the spring and summer time, and when the sun goes down she has a few chores to do, just enough to keep her mind occupied until about 9 o'clock when she can go to bed feeling refreshed and frisky. In the morning she is awakened early by the victorious screech of a rooster out in the garden inviting all his female friends to come in and have a nip. A pleasant sound, one that brings a smile to her lips and a twinkle in her eye—abernit.

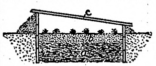
FARM AND GARDEN

HOTBED FRUIT AGAIN.

Some Good Schemes—Why Not Try One of Them This Season?

A very practical hotbed may be constructed for use in a small garden. The bed should be placed in the south or southeast side of a fence or building, where it will be protected from north winds and receive the full direct rays of the sun. Dig a trench eighteen inches deep and as wide and long as the size of the bed desired. Four by six feet is usually sufficient. Make a frame of boards that will set in the north side, leaving one foot above the surface of the ground and south side but six inches above the ground.

Cover the top with a sash, C, made with 8 by 10 glass. Fill the bed with one foot of coarse horse manure, A, which has been cured under shelter and forked over a number of times to insure its being of the same fineness throughout. Tramp down solidly on the bottom of the bed, and, putting on the sash, allow it to remain about four days until the bed heats and again cools to 90 degrees. Then put in six inches of rich soil, B. Sandy loam is best, but a clay soil, with sand added and mixed, may be used. Do not pack the soil firmly, but allow it to remain in a loose, open layer. Again cover the bed and allow it to remain a day or two until the soil is thoroughly warmed and the temperature even. Plant the seed in rows four to six inches apart. Cover lightly and water thoroughly.



SECTION OF HOTBED SHOWING SOIL.

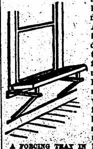
In attending a bed of this kind give it all the sun possible, and when the sun falls directly upon the sash raise one edge a few inches to allow the air to change. Avoid allowing the cold air to blow directly upon the plants.

Water heavily rather than frequently, soaking the ground at least once a week or as frequently as the surface becomes dry. Stir the surface soil frequently, and do not allow it to bake into a hard cake. Keep it loose enough for the tender plants to push through the surface.

Some plants require more heat than others, and the bed must be kept more closely covered. Lettuce, radishes and cucumbers require about 65 to 85 degrees; while tomatoes, melons, etc., should be kept at a higher temperature.

People who want just a few plants for the early home garden without the trouble of a hotbed, such as the foregoing, described by American Agriculturist, can take advantage of a hint from the same source, portrayed in the second cut. This simple arrangement is kept within doors.

Make a box of one inch boards six inches deep, two and a half feet wide and four feet long, with a tight matched bottom. At one corner bore a hole for drainage. Fill this box with four inches of mellow, rich soil. If necessary, stir some fertilizer with it before it is put into the box. Settle the soil by shaking, removing all lumps and waste matter, and cover the surface smoothly with about an inch of fine sand. Water the soil thoroughly by sprinkling the surface with a fine spray, using care not to wash out the sand.



A FORCING TRAY IN POSITION.

Place the box before a window upon a frame made of two inch pieces. Allow it to remain in the sun two or three days until the soil is thoroughly warm, then plant the seeds in rows about three inches apart and deep enough to be below the layer of sand. Tilt the box toward the sunlight. Keep the surface well moistened, but not enough to cause drainage water to run through the soil. The temperature should not be allowed to fall below that of the ordinary living room.

The Creamery For Ice Cream.

The creamery industry in Maryland is in some respects quite different from that found in the west, inasmuch as most of those in this state do not confine themselves to the making of butter, but make butter only as a means of utilizing surplus and sell most of their products as cream or ice cream. The selling of the products of creameries for cream and ice cream rather than the making of it into butter has enabled the farmer to realize better prices than would be obtained otherwise. Some creameries of the state that have made all of their products into butter have been run quite successfully, while many have been a disappointment to the farmers and could not hold their patronage because of the low prices paid for milk.—C. T. Doane.

Feeding Plantation Mules.

The ration now fed to mules at one of the large Louisiana sugar factories consists of eight pounds of corn and cob meal, two pounds of cottonseed meal, eleven pounds of molasses and fifteen pounds of pea vine hay, the cost being 14.5 cents per head. It is stated that this ration has diminished the cost of feeding the mules one-half and at the same time improved their health.

SPRING SPRAYING.

Do Not Let the San Jose and Other Scales Get Ahead of You.

By J. J. BARTON.

If San Jose scale has not yet invaded your neighborhood, trust in a kind providence and make a move, good and hard, to keep it out. If it is already there, use the same measures, but in a more superlative degree, if such a thing there can be. The San Jose scale, or louse, for it is the latter, under the scale, that does the mischief, is a sort of little Jap in the world of insect pests. Many bigger ones there are, but few more successful.

How to Know the Scale.

The scale is most easily recognized in midsummer, when it imparts a sort of purplish tinge to the bark of the tree, but it is then very firmly intrenched and difficult to fight. Take a microscope to your apple, pear, peach and plum trees now, just as soon as you can, especially if they look a bit rough or scurfy or seemed in any way unthrifty last season.

A tree when badly infested with the San Jose scale presents a somewhat grayish appearance, as if it were coated with ashes, but the ordinary observers would hardly notice this or realize its significance. By carefully scraping the bark with a knife blade little scales of various sizes may be found, beneath which are the soft, jellylike orange colored insects.

What Shall We Do With It?

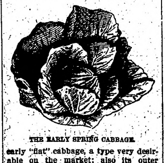
Spraying in late winter or early spring before the buds open is the accepted remedy. Various solutions are used, but the boiled lime, salt and sulphur mixture is perhaps still the cheapest and safest for the tree.

Owing to the trouble of preparing that wash, however, the Geneva (N. Y.) station devised a self boiling mixture that has met with much favor. The formula is as follows: Lime, 30 pounds; sulphur, 15 pounds; caustic soda, 6 pounds; water, 50 gallons.

The sulphur is made into a thin paste with boiling water and poured over and well distributed through the lime. Additional water is used as needed to keep the lime-sulphur material in a rather stiff paste. As soon as the lime is slaked the full amount of caustic soda is added and stirred until boiling ceases. Enough water is then poured in to make fifty gallons of the wash.

Just What the Trucker Likes.

Highly popular and in great favor with the truck grower is the Early Spring, an extremely early variety of the early flat type of cabbage. Its great attraction lies in its being a first early "flat" cabbage, a type very desirable on the market; also its outer leaves are small and round, so that it may be planted very close, facts that commend it for the market gardener.



THE EARLY SPRING CABBAGE.

It is of good quality, an early, sure and hard header. So even before maturing and while still small it is an excellent cabbage.

The Real Awfulness.

It is an awful fact that immigration into the United States is again running larger than ever, and the real awfulness lies in the large proportion of these immigrants who are of undesirable quality, says American Agriculture.

What Should a Range Top Be Made of?

Yes, this question has bothered nearly all stove manufacturers for a good many years. There should never have been any question about it anyway: maleable iron was always known to be tougher than cast iron, but the rub comes in the cost. Just costs twice as much to make it and range manufacturers simyly wont do it as long as they can make cast tops go. Don't ever think of getting a polished top for part of its life is gone.

The Majestic has a malleable top.
Some others have now, they didn't use to have.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.

Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3 DONT'S
Don't boil it too long.
Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)
(Lion-head on every package.)
(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

RED LAKE COURIER.

AT BLACKDUCK THIS WEEK

Red Lake Falls Is Well Represented at at the Firemen's Tournament this Week.

Monday evening forty-five citizens of Red Lake Falls left on the Great Northern train for Blackduck to attend the annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Firemen's Tournament Association. Most of the party was composed of members of the fire department and the band. The band will furnish the music for the tournament, giving concerts daily. The band boys have practiced faithfully for the occasion and will no doubt do themselves proud and their playing will advertise this city throughout Northern Minnesota. Red Lake Falls is proud of its band and all our citizens are glad the boys have a chance to show the outside world what a fine organization we have. The fire boys will enter the different events and races, and judging from the fine work they have done while at practice they will hustle their competitors in all the contests. It is fair to presume that Red Lake Falls will win their share of the races.

An effort will be made to secure the tournament for this city next year. It will be a hard fight as several towns want it, but our town has been promised the support of several towns and we enter the contest under favorable circumstances. Next year's meeting place will be decided upon today and the result will be watched with interest by our citizens.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE.

Great Northern Trains will run Through to Greenpush.

Beginning next Monday the train service on this branch of the Great Northern will be changed. The passenger train will continue on to Greenbush daily, the arriving and leaving time from this city remaining as at present.

Instead of the present freight service, there will be a daily freight train from Crookston to Greenbush, returning the next day, thus making two trains, one making the trip north and the other south each day. This will give a splendid service to Greenbush and other points on that extension. Just what the Wylie accomodations will be we have not learned.

Character is What Counts.

In his Memorial Day speech President Roosevelt said: "You can do nothing without proper traing, but the training won't count for much if you haven't the right stuff in you. A man who has served in the navy or army, if he is worth his salt, has learned certain qualities which double and treble his value in any position in which he might be placed. No amount of good intention, no amount of sweetness in life, no amount of appreciation of decency avails in the least in the rough work of the world as we find it, unless back of honesty of purpose, back of the decency of life and thought, lies the power that makes a man a man. The surest way for a nation to invite disaster is to be opulent, aggressive and unarmed. A sound body is a first class thing, a sound mind is an even better thing; but the thing that counts for most in the individual as in the nation is character—the sum of those qualities which make a man a good man and a woman a good woman."

DEPOSITORIES NAMED.

REd Lake County Gets a High Rate of Interest.

The County Board of Audit, consisting of the County Auditor, the Clerk of the District Court and the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners held a meeting Tuerday and Wednesday at the office of the County Auditor, when depositories for the funds of the County for two years beginning July 1, 1905, were designated.

Proposals were received from nine banks in the County and the rate of interest offered ranged from three to four per cent, most of the banks offering three per cent per cent per annum on deposits subject to check and four per cent on deposits left for any certain length of time.

Depositories were designated by the Board for an amount not to exceed $112,500.00 and the county funds will be protected by bonds given by the depositories aggregating $235,000.

The county is to be congratulated on securing such a high rate of interest on its deposits, as most of counties in the state are receiving but two per cent per annum on their funds. During the fiscal year of 1904 Red Lake County received $1,296.92.

Warren Gets Tournament.

Report comes from Blackduck that Warren gets tournament 1906. Milt Converse elected vice-president; this gives Red Lake Falls a good show for 1907.

Bemidji wins 1st and 2nd in Coupling contest, 1st and 2nd in Ladder climbing contest.

Politician as Patriot.

Alexandria Citizen: The Fairmont News is willing to support any gubernatorial candidate the republican party may name. The St. Cloud Journal-Press is willing to support the party nominee provided he is the right kind of a man. Both are republican newspapers, but they represent an entirely different brand of republicanism. The News regards the interest of the party as paramount to the interests of the people. The Journal-Press holds that the interests of the nation, state, county or municipality should be considered first by every loyal patriotic citizen, and that his party should receive his support only so long as it stands for principles and men that are worthy of support. The Journal-Press is right. True citizenship demands an honest, fearless expression of opinion by every voter, and men who have the real interests of their country at heart will refuse to vote for any party, or party candidates that are not representive of the highest and best in all that makes for the country's real welfare.

Humorous Errors.

An Iowa editor thus acknowledges a present of grapes. "We have received a basket of grapes from friend W., for which he will accept our compliments, some of which are nearly two inches in circumference.

A correspondent, in writing of a recent celebration in the city of Cleveland says: "The procession was very fine and nearly two miles long, as was also the report of Dr. Perry."

A Western paper says: "A child was run over by a wagon three years old, and cross-eyed, with pantalets on, which never spoke afterwards."

Over a bridge at Athens, Ga., was the following: "Any person driving over this bridge in a faster pace than a walk, shall if a white person be fined five dollars, and if a negro, receive 25 lashes, half the penalty to be bestowed on the informer."

SUMMER TRAINING SCHOOL

County Supt. McAnulty Gives Information About the Summer Training School.

The Red Lake County Summer School will begin July 5th in the high school building in Red Lake Falls and will continue in session four (4) weeks of six (6) days each, making a total of twenty-four (24) days of school, with the following corps of instructors: Prof. C. S. Yeager of Foston as conductor, with Adolph Olson of Brandon, Mrs. W. A. McIntyre of Red Lake Falls, and Endell Everdell of Moorhead as assistants.

Mr. Yeager and Mrs. McIntyre are too well known to the teachers of Red Lake county to need any introduction. Mr. Olson is a specialist in the branches he will teach, having taken a special course in those studies at the Chicago University. Mrs. Everdell comes direct from the Moorhead Normal and will teach the same subjects at the summer school which she taught at the normal school.

All branches required by law for first and second grade state certificates will be taught.

During the session evening lectures will be delivered by State Supt. J. W. Olson, Pres. Frank A. Wild and other prominent educators of the state.

A report of the school will be published in the county papers at the close of the session, which will contain the names of all teachers who receive certificates of perfect attendance, also the number of days each teacher attends, as well as the names of teachers who do not attend.

State teachers examinations will be held Aug. 3, 4 and 5.

You are requested to bring any text books you may have treating on any of the subjects required for second or first grade certificates.

All parties desiring my aid in securing board or rooms should write me as soon as possible or call at my office in the court house on arriving in the city.

The summor school affords a splendid opportunity for teachers to improve both in scholarships and methods of teaching and all teachers as well as those who expect to teach the coming year are expected to attend.

MINNESOTA'S BANKS

Examiner Krest's Report Shows Large Increase in Assets.

Public Examiner P. M. Kerst has issued his report showing that the assets of Minnesota's state banks have increased $4,500,000 in the last six months. The report will show the condition of the banks on May 30 as compared with Nov. 9.

The enormous increase in assets, it is said, is due largely to two factors, the conversion of several private banks into state banks, and the prosperous times in Minnesota the last six months. About thirty state banks have been incorporated since Nov. 9. and as the capital stock will average about $15,000 the total increase on this item is about $450,000.

The total resources of the state banks are approximately $62,500,000, as compared with $62,118,318.82 on Nov. 9, 1904, and the number of institutions increased from 348 to about 380. The loans and disdounts, which aggregated $44,303.047.33 on Nov. 10, show a substantial increase.

During this period only one state bank, the Northern Pacific at Brainerd, closed and indications are that the bank will reopen soon. A dozen or more private banks have been converted into state banks.

The rapidity with which the resources of the banks have increased in the last two years is shown by the following: July 9, 1903, there were 266 banks with $54,304,878.89 resources; July 16, 1904, there were 325 banks with $56,428,584.79 resources; Nov. 10, 1903, there were 348 banks with $62,118,318.82 resources; and May 30, 1905 there were 380 banks, the resources of which are $56,500,000.

"No feature of Minnesota's financial affairs is more encouraging than the stability and the growing prosperity of the state banks" said a state official. "The condition of these banks, which carry millions of dollars of deposits of farmers and wage earners reflects the prosperity of the state and of the nation.

"This condition is due not entirely to the era of prosperity; it is due largely to the conservatism with which Minnesota's banks are managed. There are very few plungers among Minnesota bankers. The bank presidents are almost invariably men of ripe experience, men who are willing to forego profits from tempting but insecure investments and to wait until the funds can be invested safely."

Only One People's Friend.

Long Prairie Argus: The St. Cloud Journal Press recently mentioned a number of men either of whom in its judgement would make a good candidate for the head of the state ticket in 1906. In our judgment only one or two or possibly only one can be considered as a friend of the people in their struggle against the unjust encroachments of corporations. The others have been playing with the gang that controlled the late state senate and those who have kept tract of events the past few years know just what that means.

Salvation for Women in Nu-tri-ola

THE world is full of sick women who might be well. Poor, pale, suffering Martyrs! Blood so poor that every vital organ, nerve center, even the brain cells, are starved and lose their force. Their sufferings from Dyspepsia, Headache, Kidney Trouble, Dragging or Bearing Down Pains, Leucorrhœa, Nervous Prostration, etc., etc., the victim and God alone may know. Listen to our EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

Emancipation from the power of disease, suffering and death. Be it known to women everywhere that NUTRIOLA, the new Blood and Nerve Food, will make the frailest woman "NEW ALL OVER." This statement is backed by $500,000.00 Capital Stock and the largest Medical Company in the world. WE GUARANTEE A PERFECT CURE or ask no pay. We employ the most skilled Physicians in the United States. THEIR SERVICES ARE FREE. FREE CHEMICAL ANALYSIS. In short, the benefit of all their skill and NOT A CENT TO PAY for it. We are curing thousands, treating by mail. Every case confidential.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 143 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Col. Colvill Dies.

Col. William Colvill of Red Wing, a veteran of the Civil war, and a man whose proud record as a soldier has made him honored throughout the Northwest, died suddenly at the Soldiers' home of heart failure.

Col. Colvill was conspicuous in the preliminary arrangements for the reunion of the old First Minnesota, which took place the 13th, and as his was one of the brightest names in that noble band, he was being extended every courtesy by his old companions in arms.

With a number of them, Col. Colvill spent the evening talking over the preparations for the reunion, particularly the removal of the flags from the old capitol to the new, which made an elaborate feature of the Firsts' reunion.

He retired at 10 o'clock, apparently in the best of health. Early next morning he was found dead in his bed.

Col. Colvill was 75 years old, and had been in first-rate health. His death cast a gloom over the festivities in connection with the reunion, as Col. Colvill has always been a moving spirit on such occasions. He was alone in the world, so far as family ties are concerned, and only his old friends, who are numbered by the thousand throughout Minnesota, will mourn his loss.

State Fair.

St. Paul.—From all parts of the state are coming expressions of interest in the county exhibits at the state fair, and local associations everywhere are making preparations to enter the competitition. Through the liberality of the state fair management, $5,000 will be divided among counties making the best exhibits. This does not include some $1,500 divided among 150 odd classes of individual exhibits of grains and grasses; $125 offered for farmers' collections, and $325 offered for exhibits by market gardners' associations. None of these exhibits comes into competition with the county exhibits first referred to.

The subway on the state fair grounds has been so far completed that the mile track was again put in use after having been out of surface for nearly two months. This new subway is a fine piece of reinforced concrete work and will be a great addition to the comfort and convenience and safety of visitors to the state fair grounds. When completed it will pass under both race tracks, giving access to the field inside for carriages and automobiles so that the danger of crossing the race tracks at grade will be entirely eliminated.

Dairy Meetings.

Several dairy meetings will be held this month and the department will have four men busy attending the meetings and making speeches. At many of the small towns the meetings are arranged jointly by the farmers and merchants. The merchants give special bargains to attract visitors, and a meeting is held at which some speaker from the department or from the state farm school gives an address. The celebration usually closes with a ball game or with a social in the evening.

Drowned.

Winona.—The flood at this place has claimed its first victim when the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Barankiewicz, was drowned in the yard at the residence.

The northwestern part of the city was partially submerged, many of the houses being surrounded by water.

Mrs. Barankiewicz went out into the yard, which was partly flooded, and, unknown to her, the little boy followed. He fell into a hole filled with water and before he was discovered was beyond resuscitation.

No Race Suicide.

St. Paul.—There were 153 deaths, 332 births and 151 marriages in this city in May. Seventy cases of contagious disease were reported to the health department as follows: Diptheria; 44, with 6 deaths,; scarlet fever, 21, with four deaths. Some of the causes of death were as follows: Tuberculosis of lungs, 30, old age, 12; pneumonia, 7; diptheria, 6; spinal meningitis, 5; appendicitis, 6; apoplexy, seven.

News Notes.

St. Paul—Walter Shaw, five years old was drowned in the river.

St. Cloud—Legislators are fined for violating laws they helped frame.

Mankato—Voting machines must be suitable for use also at primary elections.

New Market—Shakopee and local men have bought the Bank of New Market (private) from George F. Porter of Minneapolis and are to convert it into a state bank with a capital of $10,000.

St Paul—W. Jarvis, a resident of Bald Eagle, was held up at Missisipi and Nash streets, in broad day light.

St. Paul.—St. Bernard's parish let the contract for a church at Rice and Albemarle streets, to cost about $100,000 when completed.

Hastings—The body of the man, found on the road near Highwood, last Monday was identified as that of Herman Ibson, a farm laborer at Woodbury.

Tyler—The annual convention of the Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church of America closed with 400 delegates present, representing nearly every state in the Union.

St. Paul—George Mahan, the negro who shot his wife shot and killed his wife last April, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Lewis.

CURES STOMACH TROUBLES

THE body gets its life from food properly digested. Healthy digestion means pure blood for the body, but stomach troubles arise from carelessness in eating and stomach disorders upset the entire system. Improperly masticated food sours on the stomach, causing distressing pains, belching and nausea. When over-eating is persisted in the stomach becomes weakened and worn out and dyspepsia claims the victim.

Thedford's Black-Draught cures dyspepsia. It frees the stomach and bowels of congested matter and gives the stomach new life. The stomach is quickly invigorated and the natural stimulation results in a good appetite, with the power to thoroughly digest food.

You can build up your stomach with this mild and natural remedy. Try Thedford's Black-Draught today. You can buy a package from your dealer for 25c. If he does not keep it, send the money to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., and a package will be mailed you.

GRAFT SECRETS BARED.

Startling Stories Told by John C. Driscoll of Money Paid to End Strike.

Chicago, June 14.—John C. Driscoll admitted on Tuesday that when he was labor dictator in Chicago he acted as go-between for various employers and paid $50,000 to labor officials to avert or settle 400 strikes. Driscoll said he was willing to go before the grand jury with check books to show to whom the graft went. He said he received $8,500 from the democratic leaders in 1903 for inducing labor leaders to urge Clarence S. Darrow to withdraw from candidacy for the mayoralty nomination. Driscoll, it was said, paid $900 to Pat McMahon for the latter's efforts in bringing about union delivery of coal to the Chicago City railway power houses. McMahon slapped Driscoll and Shea in the face with the roll of bills and refused to divide with Shea. Shea denied Driscoll's statements, asking why he should accept part of $900 when he might have had $10,000.

Chicago, June 17.—The grand jury Friday heard a remarkable story connecting John C. Driscoll with the withdrawal of Clarence S. Darrow from the mayoralty race in 1902. According to this tale, hints of which were furnished the jurors, $10,000 was given Mr. Driscoll to be used among the labor leaders in inducing Mr. Darrow to withdraw. Driscoll himself has related how certain of the labor chiefs were paid $50 each to sign a telegram to Mr. Darrow, then in Philadelphia, asking him to give up his ambition to be mayor of Chicago. "We want you for judge," the telegram explained. Afterward, it is charged, Driscoll boasted that he had received the $10,000, but that it had required only $1,500 to do the business with cheap labor leaders.

Chicago, June 19.—Admission is made by State's Attorney Healy that the grand jurors have found important evidence confirming the report that the present strike is the result of a conspiracy against the firm of Montgomery Ward & Co. by other employers and by labor leaders, involving the payment of $30,000 in installments of $10,000 and $20,000. This story was denied by President Sears, of the firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Recently Albert H. Loeb, secretary of the company, added his denial.

HIGH OFFICIALS RESIGN.

Grand Duke Alexis and Admiral Avellan, of Russian Navy, Quit Office.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—The sensational announcement was made shortly before midnight that Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, who is an uncle of the emperor, and Admiral Avellan, head of the Russian admiralty department, had resigned. This announcement was followed a few minutes later by an imperial rescript, relieving the grand duke of the supreme direction of the navy, which he had held since the days of the emperor's father, Alexander III, when Russia resolved to enter the lists as a first-class sea power, and to build up a great navy, the remnants of which were destroyed in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

Although from time to time since the war began there have been rumors that the grand duke would retire, on account of the savage criticism, not to use harsher terms, directed against the administration of the navy, especially in the construction of ships, the announcement of his resignation came as a surprise.

KILLS CHILDREN AND SELF

Dubuque, Ia., June 17.—Mrs. Paul Klass has killed her four small children and then committed suicide at her home near Kieler, Wis., eight miles east of Dubuque. The woman used a large butcher knife, cutting each of the children's throats. The eldest child was six and the youngest a baby. The woman had been in ill health.

Tucumcari, N. Mex., June 15.—Mrs. George Campbell, wife of a ranchman living four miles west of here, went suddenly insane Wednesday, and with a rifle chased her husband from home. Then before he could return with help, she killed her five children and ended her own life by shooting.

Canal Zone Supreme Court.

Washington, June 19.—Gov. Magoon of the Panama canal zone has informed the war department that he has completed the organization of the supreme court of the district of the canal zone, and has appointed Dr. Facundo Mutis Durna, a Panama citizen, chief justice, and Lorin C. Collins, of Chicago, an associate judge. These two, with the present justice, H. A. Gudger, formerly consul general at Panama, constitute the supreme court.

Saloon Law Passed.

Madison, Wis., June 16.—By a vote of 55 to 24 the Wisconsin assembly concurred in the Stout bill, prohibiting the granting of liquor licenses to saloons within 200 feet of schoolhouses. After 1908 old saloons inside that limit must close up.

Two Drowned in Quarry.

Manitowoc, Wis., June 15.—Miss Georgia Knapp, aged 16 years, and John Lat, 25 years, were drowned at a quarry 12 miles from here. The drowning was the result of an accident to a boating party. Three others escaped.

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

Your Watch Is a Compass.

"Most men who own a good watch," said a jeweler, "think they know all about it. They have the number fixed in their memory in case it is stolen. They could probably pick it out from fifty other watches with their eyes shut. But how many men know that their watch is a compass and will tell north from south as accurately as it will tell the time of day? Stanley, the explorer, did not know it until he had groped his way through the dark continent and met a Belgian sailor on the coast. Every watch is a compass. If you point the hour hand to the sun, the south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the dial. Suppose, for instance, it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and II on the watch is exactly south. If it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun and the figure X on the dial is due south. No man need get lost if he carries a watch."

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

WILL MEET TO FIX TERMS OF PEACE

WASHINGTON TO BE SCENE OF CONFERENCE BETWEEN RUSSIAN AND JAP ENVOYS.

Both Governments Have Agreed to This Arrangement—Date of Conference and Selection of Plenipotentiaries Not Yet Announced.

Washington, June 16.—America's national capital has been selected as the seat of negotiations between the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan for a treaty of peace. The choice of Washington as the location of the peace conference marks another forward step in the negotiations toward ultimate peace in the far east, instituted by President Roosevelt.

Officially Announced.

Official announcement of the selection of Washington was made by Secretary Loeb at the white house at 1:23 p. m. Thursday. It was in typewritten form, and read as follows:

"When the two governments were unable to agree upon either Chefoo or Paris, the president suggested The Hague, but both governments have now requested that Washington be chosen as the place of meeting, and the president has accordingly formally notified both governments that Washington will be so selected."

This statement was supplemented shortly afterward by a semi-official announcement that "after meeting and organizing the plenipotentiaries of the two governments, if it should be found to be uncomfortably hot in Washington, may adjourn the meeting to some summer resort in the north and there continue their sittings until such time as the weather in Washington shall be more comfortable."

At a conference with Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, had with President Roosevelt, he conveyed to the president the Japanese govrnment's final refusal to consent to the holding of the conference in Europe. The refusal of Japan to agree to the holding of the conference in Europe was communicated by President Roosevelt to the Russian ambassador, and likewise cabled to St. Petersburg. While the president did not act in the capacity of arbiter between Russia and Japan, he was in position, after the conference with Minister Takahira and his communication to Ambassador Cassini, to formally announce the selection of Washington as the seat of the conference.

Time of Conference.

The proposed conference is scarcely likely to be convened before the middle of August, and perhaps not until a later date. It may be July 1, possibly a little later, before the arrangements for the meeting of the plenipotentiaries finally are completed. Both Russia and Japan are moving with the utmost deliberation, for the game of diplomacy now being played is of even greater importance to each government than are the movements of the armies on the battlefield. After the completion of the preliminary arrangements, the plenipotentiaries must proceed to Washington, and it will require at least a month for the negotiators of the two governments, with their respective staffs, to come together, the distance from Japan, particularly, being so great that a shorter time scarcely could be allowed. In view, therefore, of all the conditions and incuding in the equation the factor of unforseen delays over matters of minor consequence, it seems quite unlikely that the conference will assemble formally before the middle of September.

Hitch Is Averted.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Russia has finally and definitely accepted Washington as the meeting place of the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, the foreign office having waived its request for reconsideration at the personal direction of the emperor, whose desire to give the fullest and fairest opportunity to President Roosevelt's proposal for a peace conference is hereby manifested. After a conference with Ambassador Meyer, Count Lamsdorff, the foreign minister, went to Peterhof, and laid the matter before the emperor, who, on learning that insistence on The Hague might endanger the negotiations, directed Count Lamsdorff to inform Ambassador Meyer that Russia would accept Washington. The result is looked upon as a decided triumph for American diplomacy. In certain quarters here envy and jealousy of the United States are ill concealed. The entire collapse of the negotiations was predicted Saturday, and there was almost open exultation at what was declared to be a "rebuff to Roosevelt." Even in peace circles gloomy faces were drawn at the report that Russia would insist upon The Hague, but thanks to the personal attitude of the emperor and to the well put representations of Ambassador Meyer, the threatened diplomatic mountain has decreased to a mole hill over which negotiations can now proceed rapidly.

Big Plant Destroyed.

Rhinelander, Wis., June 19.—During a fierce electrical storm which enveloped this section of the country Saturday, lightning struck the Wisconsin Veneer company's factory and set it on fire. The entire plant was destroyed, causing a loss estimated at $250,000. The plant was insured for $32,000.

TORNADO DOES MUCH DAMAGE.

KILLS A WISCONSIN FARM LABORER AND CAUSES CONSIDERABLE LOSS.

Scores of Cattle Killed by a Wind Storm. In a Tract Eight Miles or More the Destruction is Complete.

Blue Mounds, Wis., June 20.—A young German farm hand, name unknown, was killed on the farm of Charles Collins, while milking, over $150,000 damage was done to crops and farm buildings, and scores of head of stock were destroyed by a tornado that passed through Dane and Iowa counties and over the townships of Barneveld and Blue Mounds last evening. Telephone and telegraph wires are down, and the full extent of the damage can only be estimated. The storm broke with wild fury, following an extremely sultry day, and through a tract eight miles long and one to two miles wide, the destruction of property was complete. Losses, as far as reported here, are as follows:

John Malone—Barns destroyed, two cows killed, crops destroyed; loss, $1,500.

Morris Minix—Buildings destroyed, young stock killed; loss, $1,800.

John F. Himelstein—Buildings all gone except house; loss $2,200.

John Himelstein—Barns wrecked and cattle killed; loss $3,000.

William Himelstein—Barn torn to pieces and three cattle killed.

Melville, Frye and John Pryor—Barns destroyed, cattle, wagons, carriages and machinery scattered over the prairie for a half mile; loss $1,500.

Charles Collins—Barns totally wrecked, eight cows and a horse killed; loss $2,500.

Arthur Wilson—Barns and sheds wrecked; loss $1,200.

Prairie du Chien, Wis. June 20.—Rain, hail and wind Sunday night did thousands of dollars worth of damage in the vicinity of this city.

It lasted but 15 minutes but was terrific.

Ten miles east of the city the hail literally ruined the crops in a strip half a mile wide and fully eleven miles long.

Strike Breaking.

Chicago, June 20.—A pronounced break in the ranks of the strikers occurred yesterday. For the first time since the strike began many weeks ago there were numerous instances where striking teamsters applied individually for former positions without for the strike to be formally declared off. This was especially true at the lumber yards.

George K. Wenig of the Wenig Teaming company said:

"Many of my old teamsters have asked for their positions. Not one of them said anything about deliveries to the boycotted firms. I have done nothing yet in the matter and shall not do anything until I consult with other employers.

Suicides in Jail.

He twisted the chain in a toilet room around his neck, leaned forward and strangled to death. When found by Sheriff Turner he was standing almost upright, and the chain gave away at the first touch.

Aase showed signs of insanity a year ago and was sent to his former home in Norway. Recovering, he came back and had been in the hospital a week. He became violent and was taken to the county jail and was placed in a cell room in the sheriff's residence, used during the construction of the jail.

Pardon For Murderer.

Pierre, S. D., June 20.—The state board of pardons recommeded pardons for Lambert Jones, who was sentenced for life from Charles Mix county for murder, and for Herbert D. Caddy who was sentenced for twenty years from Lawrence county on a charge of robbery.

In the cases of E. E. Mayhew, sentenced from Miner county on a charge of shooting with intent to kill; Michael Andre, sentenced from Codington county on a murder charge, and John Jungworth, Jr., sentenced from Hutchinson county, were laid over for further consideration.

Fight on Extension.

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Twelve negroes are dead and several others are wounded as a result of a pitched battle on a moving excursion train that left Atlanta Sunday night for Columbus, Ga. The battle was the result of a crap game started when the crowd went up to Atlanta in the morning and renewed on the train going back.

Killed by an Engine.

St. Paul, June 17.—Louis Cutter, aged 50 years, an employe in the mail department at the St. Paul Union depot, was killed when he jumped from the run board of a switch engine in front of an Omaha passenger train. After quitting work he boarded the switch engine to ride to his home. When he [illegible] Bradley he jumped from the engine on which he was riding [illegible]

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Invaded the Diamond.

Hutchinson.—Wrapped in an American flag and bearing a copy of the Minnesota statutes, Mrs. M. Lillie Slaight Sunday took up the crusade against Sunday baseball in Hutchinson and invaded the diamond in an attempt to prevent the game. The crusade was begun by the Hutchinson clergymen, but was dropped when the city authorities declined to act on their petition to suppress Sunday games. A game between Hutchinson and Cokato teams was announced.

When the crowd assembled for the game, placards were found declaring that "to molest the flag while it is floating in defense of law is high treason." When George P. Jones—"Jones of Rock"—as umpire, called "Play ball," Mrs. Slaight, flag-enwrapped, took a position between pitcher and catcher. Chadderdon, the pitcher, tried curving the ball around her. Then two batteries were put on the field, and Mrs. Slaight dodged about, endeavoring to prevent play. She succeeded in blocking fast play, and the crowd took up solution of the problem, gathering closely around her and moving off the field, Mrs. Slaight protesting vehemently. The ruse succeeded and the game was played.

State Fair.

Hamline.—In recognition of the great increase in attention to vegetables and grains the managers of the fair have this year added largely to the premiums offered in the agricultural division. Not only have the detailed premiums for single varieties been overhauled and brought up to date, but some fifteen "lots" have been added.

For instance, $70 is offered for the best collection of potatoes: $100 for the best collection of corn; and $60 for the best collection of small grains. These are all new offers. Last year's $100 offer for the best general collection of vegetables (with $25 extra to the three exhibitors standing fist, second and third); the $2,000 for county exhibits; the $125 for farm exhibits; the $325 for market gardeners association exhibits, all these stand as before. The mushroom premium has been increased from $50 to $75.

Lewis & Clark Exposition.

It is a noteworthy fact that the Lewis and Clark exposition is the first world's fair to be held west of the Rocky mountains which has secured the aid of the government.

And it is also surprising what an interest is manifested in the exposition by the people of the east. They see in the exposition an opportunity to visit the Western country at a greatly reduced expenditure of money, and not only the exposition itself, but view the wonders of the Western scenery, and witness the great resources of the Northwest and the opportunities afforded. The Great Northern railway passenger department has been flooded with inquiries as to the exposition, and it augurs well for a big travel through the Northwest this year.

Smallpox.

St. Paul.—State board of health reports for the week ending May 8, indicate that smallpox is increasing. For that week 103 new cases were reported. In the previous week, but 56 cases were reported. Lake Crystal reports twenty-five new cases. New cases reported from other towns throughout the state are a follows: Butternut Valley, three; Camden, one; Shafer, eight; Minneapolis, five; Minneota, one; Big Woods, five; Manger, two; Truman, nine; Collinwood, three; Elizabeth, one; St. Paul, three; Eveleth, two; St. Augusta, one; St. Cloud, two; St. Wendall, six; Sarah, seven; Owatonna, one; Stockholm, nine; Victor, seven.

Postoffice Robbed.

Stillwater.—The postoffice safe at St. Paul Park was blown open with dynamite at an early hour in the morning. The cracksmen secured $91.50. Two suspicious men were seen about the village two days before the robbery.

The postmaster is J. W. Trickey, who has conducted a general store for over fifteen years. The postoffice was adjacent to his store, with no interior communication. Mrs. William O'Brien is assistant to the postmaster and lives across the street from the postoffice. She heard a noise at 3 o'clock, but not knowing what caused it, did not give an alarm.

Revenue Fund.

The general revenue fund of the state shows a deficit of $19,000. This deficit seems bound to increase for months to come. The last legislature appropriated $645,000 to be available before July 31, but failed to make any provision for creating the sum. The monthly drafts on the general revenue fund are about $400,000, and all it can stand. The indications are that before many months the state will have to borrow considerable money.

Accepts Invitation.

Moorhead.—Superintendent R. E. Denfeld of Duluth has accepted the invitation extended to him to deliver the address before the graduating class of the Moorhead high school at the exercises on Friday, May 26.

News Notes.

Eagle Bend.—The First State bank will open for business June 1.

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

THIEF RIVER might offer its beautiful city hall to the Russo-Japanese peace commission.

SOME bright writer has said that matches are made in heaven because they have no use for them in the other place. The fires never go out.

IN the light of a recent public utterance we are constrained to ask Senator Stephens if a governor, like a state senator, could best serve his constituents by booming the railroads.

FIFTY-TWO years ago the first white man came to Freeborn county, and forty-nine years ago the Albert Lea Standard was first issued, and it is still there. In this instance it can be said that the nepspaper is the advance guard of civilization.

JASON WEATHERHEAD, editor of the Ada Herald, has been named as a member of the state board of equalization for the Fourteenth judicial district. Mr. Weatherhead has the reputation of being a bright business man and will prove a valuable member of the board.

IF YOU are rich and want to do anything for humanity the time to do it is while you are living, suggests the Fergus Falls Journal. A St. Paul millionaire left a fortune to charity, but there has been so much litigation over it that $85,000 have gone to lawyers.

THE bugaboo of municipal ownership of street railways gives the Minneapolis Tribune and St. Paul Disaatch a cold chill every day or two. Isn't it strange how the impression gains currency that these papers are controlled by Thomas Lowry.

THE banker in politics has an unfair advantage. He can sign his name to a check and secure fulsome praise and double-column portraits in the daily newspapers. True, they don't all use this conveinent method of attaining political notoriety, but Senator Stephens has adopted this short cut to fame.

THE Brown's Valley Tribune thinks that when Ray Jones is nominated for governor tender memories could be revived by referring to him as the "rail-splitter" candidate. This appellation was used with good effect in the Lincoln campaign of 1860, and Ray knows as much obout saw logs as did the immortal Abe.

THOS. J. MEIGHEN, one of the honest and fearless public men of the state, has been aopointed a member of the state board of equilization, a position he filled with distinction under the Lind administration. Mr. Meighen was not a supporter of Governor Johnson in the last campaign a fact which has escaped the attention of Charlie Miller and other partisan critics.

GOV. JOHNSON dosen't take any stock in the charge of graft in connection with the erection of our handsome capitol building at St. Paul. He says: "All bills for the work on the Minnesota capitol have been audited and approved by the governors who have preceded me. I believe the Minnesota capitol has been honestly built and there is value received for every dollar expended."

THERE is every reason to believe that Charles J. Bonaparte will creditably acquit himself as chief of the navy department, says the St. Cloud Times. He is an honest man and an able one and these qualities compensate very largely for lack of official experience. Indeed, the very fact that Mr. Bonaparte never held public office is likely to contribute to his success, since he will assume his duties untrampled by any of the obligations or prejudices which are likely ao result from such experience.

HOW THE JAPS WON

In an extended and interesting account of the recent great naval battle in the far east, the Scientific American accounts for the surprising results as follows.

"The explanation of the result is to be found first and last in the Japanese people—in certain excellent traits of their character, many of which are due to a system of ethics that is older than our western civilization. Among these may be mentioned, intense patriotism; self denial. scrupulous honor in all matters affecting the welfare of the State; a keen sense of duty; strict discipline; unquestioning obedience to authority absolute unity of purpose; a firm belief in the destiny of their race; patience and endurance; an absence of self consciousness and posing, that may well put our "white" civilization to the blush; a close detail; and lastly, a combination of great prudence and foretrought with a marked ability to adapt themselves quickly to the circumstances of the hour."

NOT HARD TO FATHOM.

When John Lind was defeated for Governor by David M. Clough he received 20,000 more votes than did John A. Johnson at the last election and when elected over Mr. Eustis received 30,000 less votes than he did when defeated, and 10,000 less than was received by Bob Dunn last fall.—Heron Lake News.

It is a little difficult to understand just what political lesson we are supposed to learn from Bro. Eastwood's deductions, but the reason why the Lind and Clough vote exceeded the Johnsou and Dunn vote is not hard to find. In 1896, first papers were recognized as entitling person's to vote, and when the law was changed by the legislature of 1897 requiring full naturaiization the vote of Minnesota was decreased fully 20 per cent., and does not yet equal the nigh water mark of 1896. In 1896 the total vote for governor was 337,229, while in 1904 it was 304,802. The extremely small vote on governor in 1898, when Lind was elected over Eustis, is accounted for by reason of the new naturalization law going into effect that year and also because it was an "off" year. There is no deep and dark mystery about the News statement after all.

AN UNJUST INSINUATION.

SOME of the more partisan Republican papers have charged that Governor Johnson's note against the retention of George Ralph as drainage engineer was the result of a political grudge. This is an absolutely unfair and dishonest statement of the case. Allegations of Malfeasance were made against Mr. Ralph by the public examiner, and the governor protested against his retention on the grounds of common honesty and decency. It is an open secret that Mr. Ralph has robbed the state and the various counties that have enlarged him as drainage engineer. Red Lake county is several thousand dollars loser as the result of padded and duplicated bills allowed him. Auditor Iverson and Secretary Hanson insist that these charges have been "satisfactorily" explained, but in view of the direct charges made by the public examiner their statement must be taken with due allowance for the influence of the Polk county in the Red River valley. Ralph's friends may well be satisfied with his retention in view of the general disapproval of his business methods. Governor Johnson was not "playing politics." This part of the game was left to the Republican members of the drainage commission.

A DELUSIVE CLAIM.

The old machine of the Republican party has not profited by the political lessons of the past, and just now the people are being regaled with assurances that the Republican candidate for governor will be elected, no matter who he is or what he represents, because, forsooth, there is such an overwhelming Republican majority! It is nice to be lulled to security by this pleasing picture, but where they get the figures for this magnificent confidence is beyond the ken of the average mathematician. Since 1883 only two Republican governors have been elected by a majority vote—Merriam in 1888 by a majority of 7,000 and Van Sant in 1902 by 40,000. In the latter year the railroad question alone was responsible for 20,000 anti-Republican votes for Van Sant. McGill was a minority governor, so was Merriam in 1890, so was Knute Nelson twice, so was Clough, so was Van Sant in 1900. As if this were not enough Eustis and Dunn failed to get a look-in.

The Republicans are welcome to their comblacent attitude. Of course they cannot justify the argument by the cold logic of election returns, but what's the difference to a pipe dreamer?

If Minnesota is hopelessly Republican on the governorship, then the Republicans are forced to the admission that they have always nominated weak men. Granting this, are they going to gain wisdom in a single year?

EDISON'S TRIUMPH.

An Incident In the Great Inventor's Start In Life.

Dr. Norvin Green, for many years president of the Western Union Telegraph company, once said that but for the dullness of himself and his assistants Thomas A. Edison might never have obtained the confidence and support of the great corporation. Edison had been trying for months to induce the officials to take up some of his inventions until they began to regard him as a bore.

He went to the main office one day and was greeted by Dr. Norvin Green and the other officials with sneering smiles. Dr. Green said: "Mr. Edison, we are unable to get into communication with Albany, and a large amount of important business is in peril. I suppose that since you know more about telegraphy than all of the rest of us combined you can locate the difficulty."

Whether Edison noticed the sneering tone or not, he quietly answered, "I can locate it inside of two or three hours, sir."

Dr. Green and the others laughed outright, one of them saying, "Edison, you have now fully demonstrated that you are a crank."

Edison never smiled or addressed a word to the speaker, but looked at Dr. Green and said, "If I locate this difficulty in two or three hours, will you take up my inventions and give them honest consideration?"

"Yes, I will," said Dr. Green, "and I will do it if you succeed in two days."

It was a very simple thing, and yet Edison was the only one who had the comprehensive mind to think of it instantly. He did not tell them for many years afterward how he accomplished the feat, but he did it inside of one hour.

Edison went to the main offices, where he was known as an expert operator, and called up Pittsburg. He asked for the best operator there, naming him, and then told the Pittsburg man to call up the best man at Albany and direct him to telegraph down the line toward New York as far as he could and report back to Edison as soon as possible. Inside of an hour Edison had this telegram:

"I can telegraph all right down to within two miles of Poughkeepsie, and there is trouble with the wire there."

Edison went back to the office of the president and gravely announced that if a train should be sent to Poughkeepsie with materials for the work they would find a break in the line just two miles on the other side of Poughkeepsie and could repair it that afternoon.

They begged him to tell how he had found it out, and he replied:

"By knowing more about telegraphing than all of you put together, as Dr. Green has said."

They located the break, repaired it, and Dr. Green took up Edison's inventions, and that was Edison's great start in life.—Youth's Companion.

The interests of the village merchants are closely allied with their customers; they select and sell the best the market can supply; their advertisement can be depended upon; their goods are reliable, and can be returned if they are not all right. Customers can visit their home store and see for themselves what they order. Through mail order catalogues they are buying entirely on chance, and in many cases statements of mail order houses in their catalogues are entirely unreliable and cannot be depended upon. The country merchants are in general progressive and enterprising, they are always working for the good of the town, they pay a good portion of the city taxes and encourage local improvement.

ECZEMA A FLESH FIRE

Those afflicted with Eczema know more than can be told of the suffering imposed by this "flesh fire." It usually begins with a slight redness of the skin, which gradually spreads, followed by blisters and pustules discharging a thin, sticky fluid that dries and scales off, leaving an inflamed surface, and at times the itching and burning are almost unbearable. While any part of the body is liable to be attacked, the hands, feet, back, arms, face and legs are the parts most often afflicted. The cause of Eczema is a too acid condition of the blood. The circulation becomes loaded with fiery, acid poisons that are forced through the glands and pores of the skin which set the flesh aflame. Since the cause of the disease is in the blood it is a waste of time to try to cure it with local applications; the cause must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. has no equal as a remedy for Eczema; it enters the blood and forces out the poison through the natural channels, and builds up the entire system. The skin becomes smooth and soft again, and the Eczema is cured. Cases that have persistently refused to be cured under the ordinary treatment yield to its purifying, cooling effect on the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any advice wished, without charge.

Eczema made its appearance on my left limb the size of my thumb in 1893, and spread until it was large as my hand, burning, itching and paining me, and for which I could get no relief, until seeing the other cures advertised by you I wrote and secured the advise of your physicians, commenced S. S. S. and it cured me.

UNFINISHED NOVELS.

TALES THAT WERE STOPPED BY THE HAND OF DEATH.

Nathaniel Hawthorne's Foreboding About "The Dolliver Romance." The Fragment That Stevenson Left. Thackeray's Last Work.

George Gissing's "Varanilda" is a masterpiece that its author did not live to finish. One well known critic considers this tale of the Roman and the Goth the deceased writer's finest work, and, though many may question this judgment, there can exist but universal regret that the romance must forever remain incomplete.

A greater work by a greater writer, "Weir of Hermiston," by R. L. Stevenson, was left a mere fragment, of which the lurid grandeur proved that its creator was taken from us in the zenith of his power. Another romance, "St. Ives," by the same pen, was running in a monthly magazine at the time of his premature death. Here, however, readers were not balked of a satisfactory denouement, for the story was brought to a conclusion by Mr. Quiller-Couch, well known under the nom de plume of "Q."

"I hardly know what to say to the public about this abortive romance, though I pretty well know what the case will be. I shall never finish it," wrote Nathaniel Hawthorne with reference to "The Dolliver Romance," which he had undertaken to write for the Atlantic Monthly. This foreboding was but too soon verified, for the author had scarce time to do more than lay the groundwork of the story and write the initial chapters ere death struck him down.

At his funeral at Concord the scarce commenced manuscript lay upon his coffin. Soon afterward the first chapter appeared in the Atlantic, and subsequently the second chapter, which he had been unable to revise, was published in the same periodical. Several years elapsed when a third fragment, revised and copied by the novelist's wife, was placed in the publisher's hands. The original manuscript is now preserved in the Concord public library.

"Wives and Daughters" was running in the Cornhill when the authoress, Mrs. Gaskell, died. Fortunately the work was nearing its completion, so that, although it was not actually finished by the gifted writer, the plot was sufficiently advanced to enable us to make more than a shrewd guess at the ultimate fate of the characters and to take leave of the hero fully assured of his ultimate happiness.

Another serial that was being written for the same magazine when its author laid down pen forever was "Denis Duval." Thackeray, indeed, was already in his grave when its publication commenced. Three parts and a portion of a fourth were all that appeared, and "the story," wrote the editor, "breaks off as his life ended—full of vigor and blooming with new promise like the apple trees in this month of May." With the fourth part was given a set of notes, taken from Thackeray's own papers, elucidatory of the subsequent development of the plot.

Thackeray's great contemporary, Charles Dickens, died, too, in harness. For long his health had been but indifferent, but he stuck unflinchingly to the work he had in hand. On June 8, 1870, the end came. The morning and part of the afternoon of that day were devoted to completing the sixth number of "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," but scarcely had he finished work and sat down to dinner ere he was seized with a fit. From this he never recovered, but after lingering some hours, without regaining consciousness, died at 6 the next day.

"I shall publish late in this year," wrote Laurence Sterne, "and the next I shall begin a new work in four volumes, which, finished, I shall continue 'Tristram' with fresh spirit." This new work here referred to is the "Sentimental Journey," one volume alone of which was ever given to the world, nor by reason of the author's death was the immortal "Tristram Shandy" ever continued.

"Arcadia," the pastoral romance which Sir Philip Sidney composed at Wilton House, was never completed and ran no small danger of being entirely lost to future generations when its author, before his death, gave orders for its destruction.

Only about 160 manuscript pages of Benjamin Disraeli's last novel, which brought the story up to the first dozen lines of chapter 10, was all that was written when the brilliant writer laid aside his pen forever.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH.

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota.

The undersigned Village Council of the Village of Plummer, which Village will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the drainage ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands require the establishment and construction of a drainage ditch along the following described route in the Town of Emardville in said County of Red Lake and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility and is necessary for the following reasons, to-wit:

The drainage of Sections 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 of said Township of Emardville and the establishing of a suitable road leading to and past the Village of Plummer in said County.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at a point about 50 rods west of the north-east corner of Section 13 in Township 151 North, of Range 42 West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Red Lake County, Minnesota, running thence in a westerly direction parallel with and one rod south of the Section line between Sections 12 and 13, 11 and 14, 10 and 15 and 9 and 16 in said township to a point about thirty rods west of the North-east corner of the North-west quarter of said Section 16 and emptying into what is known as the Scheldrup Creek, having as its outlet the Clearwater River.

And your petitioners pray that you will procced to establish such ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred and Thirty (230,) of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905.

TRAIN WRECKED NEAR BALTIMORE

COLLISION ON A CURVE IS DUE TO DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDERS.

Horrible Scene Follows the Crash—Twenty-Five Men Are Killed, and a Score or More Are Reported Injured.

Baltimore, Md., June 19.—Twenty-five men were killed and nearly a score injured in a train wreck on the Western Maryland railroad, near this city, Saturday evening. The death list is likely to be increased from among those who were grievously mangled. All the dead were employes of the railroad, returning to their homes in the small towns along the railroad to spend Sunday. They had been at work repairing the damage done to the roadbed ten days ago by a minor freight wreck at Mount Hope station, near this city.

Met on a Curve.

In the neighborhood of Patapsco station, about eight miles from Westminster, the Western Maryland has many curves, and that just west of the bridge crossing the Patapsco river is a sharp one. An extra freight, made up of heavy coal and provision cars, was running east. It should have taken a siding to allow No. 5 to pass. Such were the orders. Why they were disregarded will never be known, for those who should have seen that they were obeyed are dead. On the curve just west of the bridge they came together with terrific force, the three engines being piled one upon another, fortunately in such a manner that sufficient steam connections were broken to relieve the boilers and thus prevent the further horror of one or more explosions.

A Scene of Horror.

In an instant the peaceful country was changed into the likeness of a shambles. Along the tracks on both sides were scattered dead and frightfully mangled men, these latter more fortunate than those who had been in the baggage car and on the engines, for most of them were still pinioned in the wreckage out of the immediate reach of helping hands. Heartrending shrieks from the injured quickly brought to the scene the inhabitants of all the farmhouses within a considerable radius, and these immediately set to work to do what they could to ease the suffering. Farmers' wives and daughters made bandages of their clothing and household linen and worked heroically amidst the blood and grime. One or two physicians who had been passengers on the wrecked train directed their efforts.

Farmers Need Help.

Kansas City, Mo., June 16.—Kansas farmers will need 25,000 men and 2,240 teams to harvest their crops, according to a report made by the superintendent of the state labor department of Kansas. The harvest, including the threshing, will last about 60 days, and the wages will, it is stated, range from $1.75 to $2.50 a day.

Veteran Dies.

Washington, June 19.—Gen. Arthur L. Wagner, U. S. A., died suddenly at Asheville, N. C., Saturday of tuberculosis, contracted while in service in the Philippines. Gen. Wagner had just been advanced from colonel, his commission having been signed a few hours before his death. He was born in Illinois in 1853.

Anniversary of Bunker Hill.

Boston, June 19.—Practically all the business activities of Greater Boston were suspended Saturday in observance of the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill. The patriotic celebration centered as usual in Charlestown, the scene of the famous fight.

Gets Extra Pay.

Washington, June 16.—The treasury department has issued a warrant for $583 in favor of President Roosevelt, which represents the two months extra pay allowed to officers in the Spanish war under an act passed by congress in 1899.

SLAUGHTER BY PIRATES.

San Francisco, June 19.—News of a terrible massacre of 150 natives on the Siberian coast has been received here in a letter from Petropaulovski on the coast of Kamchatka. A. Morogravlenof has written to his brother, a resident of this city, that in the early part of the year the natives in one of the small settlements down the coast, which he does not name, observed a yacht or schooner drop anchor in the harbor, and her coming was hailed with cries of rejoicing. Off the vessel came a number of small boats. The natives could see the crew piling what they thought were supplies into the smaller craft. Then the men pulled for the shore. During that or the next day there was heard the firing of arms and later on smoke and fire were observed. This led to investigation from Petropaulovski and other towns on the coast and a horrible tale of pillage and massacre was brought to light. About the streets of the settlement, writes Morogravlenof, were strewn the bodies of 150 of the inhabitants, shot and cut to pieces by the pirates, who, under the pretense of friendship, had gained a landing on the coast. Robbery was their only motive, for every hut had been ransacked and anything of marketable value was taken. Who the marauders were those who managed to make their escape could not say.

GOMEZ IS DEAD.

Havana, Cuba, June 19.—Maximo Gomez died at six o'clock Saturday night. Death came peacefully, after a long illness. Gen. Gomez bore up bravely to the last and his struggle against the illness which at last overcame him was typical of the man who so long fought against great odds. He will be given a funeral with national honors. In May last Gen. Gomez underwent an operation at Santiago, Cuba, as the result of the spread of gangrene in an abscess on his hand. For a time his life was despaired of, but the general recovered sufficiently to be moved to his home in Havana June 7. Until Thursday morning he showed some signs of improvement and hopes were entertained that the end might be postponed for a considerable period. But from that time on the patient failed until the end came.

Iowa Boys Drowned.

Albia, Ia., June 19.—Don and Leigh Hollingsworth, aged 10 and 15 years, the sons of Superintendent Hollingsworth, of this city, were drowned at Ottumwa. Their father was for 14 years superintendent of the Albia city schools. The older boy was drowned while trying to save the younger.

Hanged for Wife Murder.

Peoria, Ill., June 17.—Otis Botts, 21 years old, was executed in the county jail here Friday for the murder of his girl wife on January 5 last. When he faced the crowd the air of bravado which has marked his career to this time, deserted him and he broke down and wept.

Five Hundred Dead.

Ekaterinoslav, Southern Russia, June 19.—Five hundred persons were killed in the explosion which occurred at the Ivan colliery at Khartsisk.

Golmar Bros. circus will show at Thief River Falls next Monday.

St. Hilaire has a new lodge. The Modern Brotherhood recently began business in that city with thirty charter members.

Julius Pleth, of Plummer, was at St. Cloud over Sunday where he went to visit friends and accompany Mrs. Pleth home, who had been in that city two weeks visiting relatives.

State Bank Examiner O'Hern visited Plummer for the first time last week and expressed himself as well pleased with the condition of Plummer's banks, and thought the town was bound to be a winner.

Plummer experienced its first fire last week when a blaze was discoveren in the upper story of the Robinson building. The fire was soon extinguished, the principal damage done being from water. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The fifth annual convention of the Crookston district of the Epworth League met at Thief River Falls last week. Delegates from most every organization in the district were present.

Towns on the Soo were visited last week by a special train under the direction of the St. Paul jobbers. The wholesale men stopped at each town and made the acquaintance of the business men.

Publicity Kills Mail Order Houses.

Stillwater Gazette: Merchants who advertise prices attract the eye of the reader and the buyer. That's what the big fellows in the city do and that's the reason the catalogue houses secure a big trade. People read these prices and imagine they are lower than those of the home merchant simply because the latter do not persistently and everlastingly keep the price before the public. Our home merchants can sell goods exactly as cheap as the catalogue houses and they do it. But they should bear in mind the necessity of advertising prices.

Do Not Sleep on The Left Side.

There is little doubt that an immense number of persons habitually sleep on the left side, and those who do so can never, it is said, be strictly healthy. It is the most prolific, cause of nightmare and also of the unpleasant taste in the mouth on arising in the morning. All food enters and leaves the stomach on the left side, and hence sleeping on the left side soon after eating involves a sort of pumping operation which is anything but conducive to sound repose. The action of the heart is also seriously interfered with and the lungs unduly compressed; hence it is best to cultivate the habit of always sleeping on the right side.

The Fitness of Things.

"Nan Patterson is unable to earn the large salary pledged by a venal manager, because of realizing sense of the eternal fitness of thing on the part of a self-respecting public. After a number of repulses the misguided girl has retired to await the result of the cooling-off process. The actress had barely escaped conviction of the crime of murder. With the stain of a lost soul upon her robes of womanhood she gleefully went from the prison to the stage to reap the rewards of sickening notoriety. The public is not sensitive as it should be to fine distinctions, but it revolted at this unseemly traffic in dirty sensation."

Cut every Burdock 2 inches below ground.

Dipping of hogs will one day become the rule.

Bees can not be fooled into eating glucose; but sugar—oh my!

Opportunity never waits: if you are not on hand some one else gets the chance.

The farmer is the only man who realizes anything from running things in the ground.

Onions do better if planted on the same soil year after year. They are the one plant that does.

The time is ripe to appreciate a good foot under a hog, just as you would under a horse.

There is no universal "worst weed." One is more of a pest in some sections than in others, but all are pests enough.

It beats all how many farmers have a place for their tools, and that place is—just where they happen to have used them last.

Some people are always wanting to buy more land. It would be better in many cases, to buy fertilizers for the land they have.

Do not use wire nails, but the old fasoioned steel cut nails and the shingles will last as long as those put on 10 or 15 years ago.

Because potatoes are very cheap this spring it is a good sign they will bring a good price next winter. It is always that way.

It is getting to be quite a fashion for farmers to seek for horses which can make a good record on the road as well as do a good day's work on the farm. Not all breeds can be thus used.

The two-row cultivator has furnished a place for a new race of people—the four armed men. Anyone who has tried a two-row cultivator in trashy ground will appreciate the truth of this.

It takes about 10 "large-crops-are-now-assured" reports to make an ordinary crop, and about five reports telling of total failures to make a light crop. The average crop reporter is either all optimist or pessimist.

Forty dollars' worth of hens will produce enough to keep an average sized family in groceries the year 'round. Is there any other $40 worth of property on the farm that does as much? Name it, if you can.

Look out for real estate firms that are "giving away" a certain number of lots as an "advertisement." Yes, and beware of land dealers who make big promises in regard to selling your property, but who demand a fee before a sale is made.

Keep two or three old brooms at the barn. Use them, too. A man ought to be just as good a barnkeeper as his wife is a housekeeper. An old broom with the handle sawed off makes a good thing with which to brush the horses off. Ever try it?

Spanks Her Hens—To break hens of scratching in the garden, a lady in Illinois says: "When one gets over the fence, I catch her, hold her legs in the left hand and whip the soles of her feet thoroughly with a shingle or stick the size of a pencil. I seldom have to punish that hen the second time."

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

State Land.

St. Paul.—The state land which will be offered for sale by State Auditor S. G. Iverson this fall will be sold on an entirely new basis. In accordance with a law passed by the recent legislature, those who buy land from the state will be required to do one of three things:

First—Fence at least 25 per cent of the tract for pasture and convert such portion into pasture land.

Second—Cultivate at least 5 per cent of the tract.

Third—Build a house and actually reside on the tract for a period of twelve months.

Under the law one of these three conditions must be met by the purchaser or his assigns within five years from the date of the sale.

State Auditor S. G. Iverson, who is ex-officio land commissioner, will send out a circular explaining the terms under which state lands are offered for sale under the new law.

No More Private Sales.

After July 1, 1905, real property bid in for the state at regular annual tax sales will be sold only at public auction, according to a ruling made by State Auditor S. G. Iverson.

Under the old law absolute property had to be disposed of by the county auditor at a public or private sale as the state auditor might direct. The legislature session of 1903 however, provided that such property must be disposed of at public sale to be conducted by the state auditor, the tax deed to be executed by the governor instead of the county auditor.

Signs Death Warrent.

Gov. Johnson signed the death warrent of William Williams, the St. Paul murderer, condemned to be hanged Wednesday, Aug. 9.

The governor returned after a three days' absence, and found the transcript of testimony in the case awaiting him, and he signed the warrent for Williams' death at once. The murderer will hang unless the pardon board intervenes.

A Skeleton.

Fosston.—A Skeleton was dug up by a farmer, fifteen miles north of this place. It was found at a depth of twelve and one-half feet and was very large. Though badly decomposed, its general form and size could be clearly made out. The head itself extended from corner of the well which the farmer was digging and which is about three and one-half feet square. The teeth are well preserved and the largest ones are between three and four inches in length, occuring in groups of three or four. The general charactor of the country where the skeleton was found is hilly. The sub-soil in the locality is sand and gravel, though particular stratum surrounding the skeleton being a dark loam.

Various opinions are current as to character of the skeleton, but the best informed persons who have seen the bones incline to the view that they are of a mastodon. Dr. McKennon of this place has in his posession some of the best preserved bones.

Wins the Bet.

Minneapolis.—When Neal Curtis, a well-known traveling man of Moline, Ill., walks up to the desk of the Hotel Nicollet office on the occasion of his bi-monthly visit to that hostelry, he will be presented by a paper bearing his signature and that of "Henry Wood," one of the Japanese bellboys.

The writing at present reposes in the hotel safe and is to the effect that Mr. Curtis bet the bellboy $10 to $25 that Rojestvensky would be victorious in the sea fight with Admiral Togo.

The wager was made more than two months ago and as neither party wanted his money tied up they agreed to record the bet and place it in the office safe.

An Auto Wreck.

Duluth.—W. J. Stevenson, a prominent attorney was severely injured as the result of an accident to his automobile. Mrs. Stevenson and their four-year-old son were in the machine at the time and the mother was slightly injured. The child was not hurt.

The machine collided with a telephone pole on London road at about Fifty-seventh avenue east, and was wrecked. Mr. Stevenson was thrown forward and his head struck the pole. He was unconscious for ten minutes.

News Notes.

St. Paul.—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rauchnot were burned severely as a result of a gasoline stove explosion at their home early in the morning.

Minneapolis.—Twenty-five clerks in the postoffice will receive $100 increases in the salaries on July 1. An allowance of $2,500 for the purpose has been granted them.

St. Cloud.—Emil Olsen, accused of grand larceny in the second degree, was acquitted. The jury was out but thirty minutes.

Northfield.—The third annual convention of postoffice clerks of Minnesota was held here.

St. Paul—Gov. Johnson appointed five members to the state board of grain appeals.

Minneapolis—Trinity Baptist church now being built in this city will be equipped with a newly invented appliance whereby deaf persons will be enabled to hear the sermons with the same ease as members of the congregation who are not so afflicted.

Minneapolis—Willie Jones, twelve years of age, had a narrow escape from being drowned while swimming in the Mississippi river at the east end of the Franklyn avenue bridge. He was saved only by the presence of mind of an older boy, who saw his companion going down and rushed to his rescue.

NOTES OF THE MODES.

Up-to-Date Dress Materials and Suitable Garments for the Summer Season.

Very pretty are many of the light wool shawls to be worn on summer evenings out of doors. Some of these shawls are lacy in texture, and have silk and chenille fringes, reports the New York Post.

Velvet collars on linen walking dresses seem strangely out of place, but they are seen. A mauve linen gown has a velvet shawl collar of a light color, but a white linen long-coated suit has a collar of black velvet, and this appears on dresses of white wool and veiling.

For driving are sold mitts of white washable kid, ventilated by small holes in the palm and back, and finished at the wrist and fingers by a pinked edge.

A waist of oyster-white antique lace is ingeniously mounted on a slight foundation of Liberty silk. The silk is a mere corselet about the waist and over the tops of the sleeves, but it gives the lace a certain solidity which enhances its beauty.

The summer wardrobe is hardly complete without one or two white linen or mohair skirts. These have almost entirely superseded the once popular pique skirt, which was always rather clumsy. All varieties of models are seen, from the plain strapped skirt to wear-with-shirt waists to the elaborately embroidered, open-stitched, to serve for dress occasions with fancy lingerie waists.

Girdles of flowered silks in light colors and gay designs are late importations. They have buckles back and front, many of them of silver richly enameled and jewel set. In shape they are long and narrow. On each side of the girdle is a slight clasp or slide, and these and both buckles are joined by slender silver chains, under which the silk of the girdle shows.

Knitted sweaters and jerseys look very warm these days, but doubtless they are good things to take to the mountains. A pretty gray one is made after a Norfolk jacket design, the straps being simulated in the pattern except at the waist, where there are real straps to hold the knitted belt.

A new development is the trimming of linen colored gowns, such as pongee, tussore and crash, with a double piping, one of a bright color and the other of black. A gown of coarse ecru toile has the skirt made with double box plaits, each outlined with a narrow piping of black and bright green taffeta. This ends in a scroll work of lace braid where the plaits end, just above the knees. A rosette of black and green is in the center of each lace scroll. The sleeveless bolero is plisse, and ends above the waist to show a black waistband fastened with green enameled buttons. There is a triple cape collar, each with a piping of black and green, and covered with lace embroidery. Under this is a green cravat with long ends. The blouse and sleeves are of ecru lace.

Panned Beefsteak.

Select a steak an inch and a half in thickness; heat a frying pan hot, but do not butter it; put in the steak and turn with a fork every 15 seconds until it is nearly done to your liking. When turning always stick the fork in the fat; when the lean is pierced the juices escape. Have ready a deep baking dish containing salt, pepper, melted butter and chopped parsley, well heated. Lay the steak in the dish, baste thoroughly with the liquid, cover and place in moderate oven for ten minutes.

The Equality of Women.

At Emporia, Kan., Joseph Tuchey, a German, was tried in police court for calling the wife of a neighbor some pretty tough names. Tuchey was frank about it. "I call mine frau names like dot," he said, "und I dink I haf de same right mit other vomans."

White Potato Pudding.

Four good-sized potatoes mashed and put through a sieve, add to them one quart of milk, generous pinch of salt, one teaspoonful cinnamon, half cupful sugar, generous pinch of nutmeg, five eggs, beaten separately, mix together, then add one pint of fresh fruit, pour in a buttered border mold or a round basin, set in pan of water and bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes if a basin, 20 if border mold, counting from time water becomes hot. When firm to touch, remove and cool gradually, then chill on ice; unmold, garnish with fruit and whipped cream, or a meringue.—Household Ledger.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.

Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

DON'TS (Don't boil it too long.
(Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)
(Lion-head on every package.)
(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

TOURNAMENT A BIG SUCCESS

Red Lake Falls Made a Good Record —Won Most Money in the Races.

The Firemen's Tournament at Blackduck last week was a grand success in every particular and the citizens of that enterprising city are to be congratulated for the hospitality extended to the visitors. Every citizen of Blackduck dropped business and helped make the occasion one of pleasure and good cheer for the large number of visitors. Bad weather did not dampen the ardor or enthusiasm of the good natured crowd, and all gave themselves up for a good time and had it. Red Lake Falls feels particularly grateful for the entertainment accorded them by the former residents of this city who are now residents of Blackduck.

The band from this city made a name and record for itself and won many admirers by the first class music furnished throughout the tournament. It was a surprise to most of the visitors that such a high grade organization existed in Northern Minnesota. Red Lake Falls was certainly advertised far and wide by its band and fire boys.

The fire department of this city has reason to feel proud of the showing their running team made at the tournament. It was their first attempt at anything of the kind, and after the boys got over their nervousness and timidity they won nearly every event they went after. They won the most money of any team competing in the races, bringing home $199.50 in cash and a $25 nozzle. Hallock won $204.25 but $50 of this was for having the best appearing and most men in line in the parade. The Red Lake Falls team was by far the fastest running aggregation in the tournament, and had not the boys had hard luck in the coupling events they would have made a clean sweep.

At a meeting of the executive committee A. B. Nelson of Warren was elected president of the association for the following year, and Wm. Converse of this city was chosen vice president. Warren will be the meeting place next year. It is an unwritten law of the association to elect their vice president president of the organization and send the tournament to his home town. That will bring the tournament to this city in 1907.

Two ball games during the tournament furnished amusement for the visitors, the first game being Red Lake Falls and Blackduck. Red Lake Falls won the game handily by a score of 9 to 2. The game between Bemidji and Blackduck was one of the best ever played in Northern Minnesota and was won by Blackduck by a score of 4 to 2.

Assn. Hose Race—Bemidji, 24 seconds; Red Lake Falls, Hallock and Warren, 25; Blackduck 29; in the run-off for the tie Hallock made it in 23 3-5;

Coupling Contest—1st, Ray Dennis, Bemidji, 4 1-5 sec.; 2d, Arthur Narvison, Bemidji, 4 2-5 sec.; 3d, Fred Harris, Crookston, 4½.

100 yard dash—1st, Brady, Red Lake Falls; 2d, McKibbon, Hallock;

Assn. Hook and Ladder Service Test—Bemidji, 26 3-5 sec.. (ruled out) Hallock, 27 2-5. Red Lake Falls, 27 3 5; Blackduck, 28 4-5; Warren, 31 1-5.

Ladder Climbing Contest—George Flemming, Bemidji, 8 1-5; Parker, Blackduck, 8½; Halvorson and Goodman, Bemidji, 8 3-5.

Hub and Hub Race—Red Lake Falls, 25 2-5; Hallock, 26; Warren, 26 4-5; Blackduck, 27;

The different teams won the following money: Bemidji, $109.29; Crookston, $4.75; Blackduck $118.75; Warren, $80.65; Red Lake Falls, $199.50, and a $25 nozzle presented by W. S. Nott & Co. for the service wet test.

New Forms of Plant Life.

Mr. Luther Burbank has devoted his life to the production of new forms of fruit, trees, flowers vegetables, grasses, and nuts with success that his productions are said to be more wonderful than the flowers and fruits of California. This man is the best known botanist in the world and his works will go down in history, and yet we believe his work is no more important than that of the men who have perfected golden grain belt beer from a mere table beverage to a tonic of wonderful strength and power. Its purity and healthfulness make it an invaluable addition to any home. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex. Thompson, Crookston.

BITTEN BY A MAD DOG

Swan Anderson, an aged farmer residing near St. Hilaire in Rocksbury township, has been sent to the Pasteur Institute, Chicago, for treatment for rabies, unmistakable signs of which he has shown as a result of a bite from a mad dag received on his farm several days ago.

Anderson has owned the dog in question for several years and, not knowing the symptons of the dread rabies when they are manifested in the canine, allowed the animal to run loose about the farm after becoming inoculated with the deadly germ. The result was a wholesale spread of the rabbies to cattle, sheep and all live stock about the place, and the final biting of the owner in his endeavor to shoot the frenzied animal.

Not being familiar with the treatment of the dread disease nothing was done for the man before the arrival of a physician from St. Hilaire. The result was the showing of all signs of the rabies upon the arrival of Dr. Blomberg. The doctor cauterized the wound in the usual manner and Anderson was sent off immediatefy in charge of a physician to the Pasteur Institute, Chicago, where everything possible will be done to save his life.

The late arrival of medical attendance makes his recovery extremely doubtful, but his many friends in this section hope for the best.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

The Larson-Carlson Wedding at Wylie Sunday a Brilliant Affair.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Larson, in Polk Center township, last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when their son, C. J. Larson of St. Paul, and Miss Hilda A. Carlson of Stilwater, were made man and wife.

The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine over white taffeta, princess style, and elaborately trimmed with point lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley and maiden-hair ferns. Her traveling gown was of blue eolliene embroidered in blue daisies, with hat to match. The maid of honor, Miss Jackson of Minneapolis, wore a gown of white eyelet embroidery and carried white roses, while the bridesmaid, Miss Larson, the groom's sister, wore blue mousseline de soie and carried white carnations.

Following the ceremony a most sumptious supper was served to the large number of invited guests.

Mr. Larson, formerly a teacher in this county and well and favorably known here as a most exemplary young man, is the advertising manager of the State Tidning, the pioneer Swedish weekly of the Northwest, with headquarters at St. Paul.

The bride is a most charming and accomplished young lady from Stilwater, and made many friends while in this vicinity. The happy couple left on the train for St. Paul Monday, where they will make their home.

Those attending the happy event from Red Lake Falls were: Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Sivertson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm Findiesen and daughter Maude, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Germo and Miss Peterson.

NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lake Pleasant Township Has a New Organization.

Last Sunday afternoon Rev. Herbert W. Knox of this city held preaching services at the new school house in Lake Pleasant township, and at the close organized a Sunday school. The following officers were elected: Supt., Miss Witcherman; Asst. Supt., Mr. Haeberle; Secy. and Treas., Samuel Luxenberg. There were about 40 present at the time of the organization. The Sunday school will be held every Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m., followed by a preaching service every other Sunday. There will be about twenty families represented in the school.

D. K. Lourie, of Crookston, the Sabbath School missionary, will visit the school next Sunday and will preach afterwards.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

Man Arrested at Thief River Falls in Whose Possession Was Found Burglar Tools.

A man who gave his name as Ed. Gordon and who claimed Chicago as his home, was arrested at Thief River Falls Monday, having in his possession a full outfit of burglar tools. As it was circus day the authorities were on the lookout for crooks, and as a small theft had been committed, all strangers were closely watched. The man arrested being a suspicious looking character was taken in and the burglar outfit was found on his person upon examination.

County Attorney Germo was called Tuesday and it was decided to hold the fellow to await the action of the grand jury. The prisoner was brought to this city Tuesday evening and lodged in the county jail to await his trial. A file and several skelton keys made up the outfit of burglar tools, and it is thought the man is a professional cracksman. His description has been sent to the Chicago police and they may be able to identify the man.

PLEADS FOR BOYS.

Archbishop Ireland Says Education of Sons Should be Aim of Parents.

"If there is to be any preferance in the education of the sexes, give the preference to the boy. If there is any slight advantage to be given to either one let the boy have it. Too often the girl is the one to whom the education is given, and the boy is put out to work. This should not be. The boy will be a man with a man's responsibility. He should be given every opportunity."

Archbishop John Ireland at the first public commencement of the De La Salle institute given at the Bijou theatre, made a powerful plea for the education of the youth of Minneapolis, and depreciated the present preference given to girls. The archbishop also lamented the fact that the parents often, in their anxiety to add a few more dollars to the family income, put their boys to work in factories and elsewhere when they should be in school.

"Put away any such temptation," urged the speaker. "The precious years immediately following the close of work in the grammar school are those in which the mind aborbs more learning in one year than in five years later in life."

The archbishop extolled the opportunities existing in America for the acquirement of material benefits and says that a young man of the proper mold and well equipped with an education, has only himself to blame if he does not make a high place for himself in life. Without an education the wings of an aspiring career are clipped and the young man is handicapped in life.

Education is better than riches, in the view of the archbishop, and he said that it would be well if the parents devote their energies to giving their children a good education rather than piling up riches for them. He said that the young man who could not make his way in the world after being well trained for the battle was not worthy of posessing the riches for which his parents spend time and labor.

Character Counts.

A few years ago it seemed as if in our national politics that the dollar was the paramount issue. In fact we spent the larger part of four years discussing money. It did look as if our whole thought was upon the ingathering of wealth. For years we applauded the genius of captains of industry which was able to pile up millions of money in a short time. The nation bowed at the shrine of smartness and little attention was paid to the methods by which it was obtained.

But the tide has turned and the revelations of graft and greed have become so conclusive that there is a general disgust and contempt for the men who have used their ability to corrupt others and amass men of wealth.

A different type of men are being called for. Men of clean lives and positive courage and the nation is applauding honesty and worth. The dollar is retreating and the man is advancing.

It is character which counts.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH.

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota.

The undersigned Village Council of the Village of Plummer, which Village will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the drainage ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands require the establishment and construction of a drainage ditch along the following described route in the Town of Emardville in said County of Red Lake and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility and is necessary for the following reasons, to-wit:

The drainage of Sections 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 of said Township of Emardville and the establishing of a suitable road leading to and past the Village of Plummer in said County.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at a point about 50 rods west of the north-east corner of Section 13 in Township 151 North, of Range 42 West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Red Lake County, Minnesota, running thence in a westerly direction parallel with and one rod south of the Section line between Sections 12 and 13, 11 and 14, 10 and 15 and 9 and 16 in said township to a point about thirty rods west of the North-east corner of the North-west quarter of said Section 16 and emptying into what is known as the Scheldrup Creek, having as its outlet the Clearwater River.

And your petitioners pray that you will procced to establish such ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred and Thirty (230,) of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905.

My Breath.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.

THE RED FLAG OF REVOLT.

FLIES OVER POLAND AND THE CONDITION BECOMES INTENSE DAILY.

Blood Runs Red in Revolutionary City of Warsaw. Workmen Refusing to Strike are Speedily put to Death.

Warsaw, June 27.—Disorderly crowds have thronged the streets since early yesterday morning. They erected barricades at Ogrodowa, Krochmalna and Wrenia streets, on top of which they placed red flags. The police and soldiers stormed these barricades and ten persons were wounded by bullets or bayonets.

Another affray took place at Zealazna, where Cossacks charged the command and wounded three persons. On the Central market a crowd attacked a patrol with revolvers, to which the patrol replied with volleys, killing a boy and wounding three other persons.

Five workmen who had refused to strike were stabbed to death by their comrades. Revolutionary proclamations have been posted on the walk and 200 persons have been arrested.

A heavy rain fell all day and this is believed to have prevented more serious collisions.

A Social Democrat party and the Jewish bund announce that the fight against the government must continue, but it is believed that with the present show of military force, the situation will be controlled. Business is at a deadlock.

All the Polish newspapers have been forbidden to issue any editions.

The city is in a stage of siege. Patrols of cavalry and infantry are moving in every street.

In some of the streets the workmen tried to throw up baricades and resist the troops.

An Entire Family Killed at Plankinton. Two men known to Be Dead at Artesian.

Mitchell, S. D., June 27.—A family of three, a father, mother and daughter were killed outright by flying timbers in a storm Saturday night at Plankinton, in Aurora county, and another family barely escaped with their lives. Their house was blown from its foundation and they took refuge in the cellar. Several business houses sustained damages from the wind.

The town of Artesian was also hit by a tornado. Only meager reports have been received, owing to the damage done to telephone and telegraph lines.

It is known, however, that two men were killed in the storm, and several houses wrecked.

The storm did not do much damage in this city; the precipitation amounted to 2 60 inches.

The names of the dead at Plankinton are: Mr. and Mrs. Walter John and infant.

They lived about four miles south of Plankinton. The mother and babe were killed instantly

The father was buried in the debris of his house and was taken out alive tweve hours after, but died Sunday noon.

Hopeless Case.

Sandstone, Minn., June 27.—Disheartened and hopeless, 300 citizens of Sandstone and a large number from the surrounding country have abandoned the search for the 2½-year-old son of Martin Benson, a farmer living north of town who wandered off into the woods from his home Thursday afternoon.

Bloodhounds owned by the Superior police department were brought to town on an early train and were operated at daybreak. Given the scent of the lost childs clothing, they worked for hours to catch a scent in the woods, but the heavy rains Friday night and early yesterday washed away the barefoot child's tracks.

Victory for Hill.

Ottawa, June 27.—James J. Hill and the Great Northern railway have secured a decided victory over the Canadian Pacific railway before the house of commons committee on railways by which the monopoly of the Canadian Pacific in southern British Columbia is practically broken. The victory, however, was won by a tie vote and when the result was announced hats flew in the air and the rooms echoed with cheers.

Strike.

New York, June 27.—About 600 boilermakers, ship fitters and their apprentices went on a strike yesterday from the yards of the John Robbins Shipbuilding company and the Robert White Shipbuilding and Repair company in Erie basin, Brooklyn.

Fatal Saloon Row.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 24.—Warner Marvin, a painter, who has lived here five years, was struck by a cuspidor thrown in a saloon fight. He died the next morning in his room, unattended. Jack Purcell, a local character known in many parts of the West, was arrested and charged with manslaughter. He claims he is innocent. Marvin interferred in a fight between Purcell and Edward Block, a bartender. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Marvin met death from the blow he received.

TO HAVE FAIR TREATMENT

President Roosevelt Takes Steps to Insure It to Chinese Exempt from Immigration Laws.

Washington, June 26.—By direction of President Roosevelt, action has been taken by the administration which not only will facilitate the landing in this country of Chinese of the exempt classes, but will also eliminate from the emigration bureau such administrative features as have been the subject of criticism by Chinese. It is the declared intention of the president to see that Chinese merchants, travelers, students and others of the exempt classes shall have the same courtesy shown them by officers of the immigration bureau as is accorded to citizens of the most favored nation.

Representations have been made to the president that, in view of alleged harsh treatment accorded to many Chinese seeking a landing in the United States the commercial guilds of China have determined to institute a boycott on American manufactures. The representations, backed by the authority of the American Asiatic society and commercial bodies throughout the country, induced the president to make an investigation of the situation with a view to remedying the evils complained of, if they were found to exist.

In addition to the president's orders, Secretary Metcalf has issued instructions to the imimgration officers which, it is believed, will remedy the difficulty heretofore complained of by the Chinese government and individuals. It is anticipated that the prompt action taken by this government to meet the objections made by the Chinese will eliminate the possibility of serious trade difficulties between China and the manufacturers of this country.

BOWEN OUSTED.

President Directs Dismissal from Diplomatic Service of American Minister to Venezuela.

Washington, June 21.—The dismissal of Herbert W. Bowen, for some years United States minister to Venezuela, and the exoneration of Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis, of the allegations brought against him by Mr. Bowen, are the outcome of the Loomis-Bowen controversy which has attracted wide attention for many months past. This disposition of the case is made by President Roosevelt in a letter addressed to Secretary Taft, made public Tuesday night, approving Mr. Taft's report on his findings and conclusions in the case. The president scathingly arraigns Minister Bowen, declaring that his conduct is "especially reprehensible," that Mr. Bowen asked one of his witnesses to enter the employ of a certain company for the purpose "in plain words, of stealing" documents which he hoped might incriminate Mr. Loomis, and that Mr. Bowen has "evidently for many months, indeed for the last two years, devoted himself" to hunting up scandal and gossip until it became a monomania and caused him "to show complete disloyalty" to the country he represented.

The president says he had hoped to promote Mr. Bowen, as during much of his service he had done good work, but that his usefulness in the diplomatic service is now at an end. The president adds that he would direct that Mr. Bowen's resignation be requested, but for his statement that he would consider a resignation an admission of misconduct and the dismissal is therefore ordered.

Placed Under Arrest.

Chicago, June 26.—Henry Wulff, former state treasurer, was arrested Saturday upon a United States warrant, charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes. His association with the Continental Finance company and the Continental Financing company, limited, alleged "get-rich-quick" concerns, the former of which he served as president, brought him into the hands of the law, his associate, Justus W. Lobb, having been apprehended the night before. Wulff gave bail in the sum of $2,500.

French Banker Kills Himself.

Paris, June 26.—Georges Rodrigues, the banker, has committed suicide. It is stated that the financier lost heavily in the recent sharp decline in rents. The liabilities of his bank are given out as $2,000,000.

Charged with Spouse's Murder.

Richmond, Ind., June 26.—Mrs. George Keever, in jail here for shooting her husband, was Saturday charged with murder, Keever having died Saturday morning. The Keever home is at Pennville.

GOPHER GOSSIP.

St. Paul.—Work on the new cathedral will be started next April.

Raymond.—Fire destroyed several business buildings in Raymond.

Duluth.—An increase of 50 per cent in the state's iron ore production is predicted.

Moorhead.—The state drainage board lets contracts for $60,000 worth of ditches.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota retail liquor dealers open their eleventh annual convention.

St. Paul.—Dennis Reen, aged sixty-five, was struck and killed by a Milwaukee train at Duke street.

White Bear.—The White Bear Yacht club and the Minnetonka Boat club arrange a series of races.

St. Anthony Park.—H. E. Johnson, a Great Northern conductor, is found dead beside the railway tracks.

St. Paul.—The state food department organizes a detective service to cope with the box car merchants.

South St. Paul.—Robert Wright is suffering from blood poisoning as a result of having scratched a mosquito bite.

Washington.—Beginning the latter part of July several new rural mail routes probably will be established in Minnesota.

St. Paul.—There have been eighteen fires in the Fifth ward within a month that are supposed to be the work of firebugs.

Carver.—The St. Paul postal clerks held their annual picnic at Carver. Twelve coaches on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad brought the visitors.

Fort Snelling.—Three thousand dollars has been appropriated by the quartermaster general of the army for the completion of the target range.

Eveleth.—The public schools closed with appropriate exercises. Miss Emily Scott, Edmond Berg and Earl Ellsworth were presented with high school diplomas.

South St. Paul.—The school board may be the defendant in a suit as the result of its decision a week ago to withdraw the $25,000 bond issue from the market.

Montrose.—W. E. Redmond's house was struck by lightning which went down the chimney, setting the house on fire and shocking Mrs. Redmond so that she fainted.

Frazee.—The village of Altona is rejoicing over the organization of the Farmers' State bank of Altona by L. W. Oberhauser of Frazee, who is to be the president.

Red Wing.—The Minnesota State Pentecostal association of the Methodist Episcopal church holds its annual camp meeting on the old camp grounds at Red Rock.

Elk River.—C. D. Crawford, the condemned murderer now awaiting death in the county jail, is to be taken to his execution place on a special train over the Northern Pacific.

Mankato.—The council of Mapleton has turned down a proposition made by Andrew Carnegie to give the village a $5,000 library in case it would agree to raise $500 annually to support it.

Bemidji.—Mrs. Jennie Wonzor of Bemidji, the colored woman who recently was advised that a fortune of $120,000 awaited her at Indianapolis, Ind., has retired from the working world.

Perham.—The Northern Pacific Brewing company, which was established by Peter Schweder thirty years ago, will hereafter be conducted by a stock company, with a capital of $60,000.

White Earth.—The first murder during the Indian celebration here, as the result of whisky, occurred when Joe Jordan shot Wise Ahvequay, of Red Land, in the right temple with a revolver. Jordan was arrested and is in the agency jail. Lamentation in the Red Lake camp was loud and pitiful.

Minneapolis.—State census officials who are watching the returns as they are received from the several cities and villages estimate that Minnesota's population will be between 1,850,000 and 1,900,000, an increase of over 100,000 from 1900. These officials were hopeful at the beginning of the census taking that the population would be between 1,950,000 and 2,000,000, but they now believe that it will fall short of these figures.

St. Paul.—Deputy Game Warden George Faber is making an unusually large number of seizures of fish at the union depot. Under a law passed by the last legislature, all shipments of fish must state on the package the names of the consignee and the consignor. It is said that this provision has been violated in several instances, and seizures have been made as a result. The fish is placed in cold storage, where it is offered for sale.

Winona.—The summer school for the counties of Winona, Wabasha, Olmsted and Fillmore opened at the normal school in this city with President Guy E. Maxwell of the normal in charge and a corps of eight instructors.

Le Sueur.—A number of the farmers in the neighborhood of Le Sueur have adopted the humane practice of putting large cakes of ice in their wagons when they haul hogs to market in hot weather. The hogs snuggle up to the cakes of ice and ride as coolly and comfortably as polar bears on an iceberg.

THE Minneapolis Journal's political writer declares that Senator Brower will go after Congressman Blackman's scalp next year.

PARAPHRASING a well-known expression, the Republicans of Minnesota are going to have harmony if they are obliged to fight for it.

THE Windom Reporter says that when a man lives beyond his income he is on dangerous ground, but when he lives beyond his credit he is "all in."

IT is generally admitted to be a hard task to find someone to defeat Governor Johnson. Since the governor is "making good," what's the use trying?

IT is a happy suggestion that Jimmy Garfield be delegated to investigate the Equitable. Jimmy was so successful in bringing the beef trust to time, you know.

A SOUTHERN Minnesota newspaper has discovered that the late lamented state senate was controlled by the corporations. Surely there is some mistake about this!

MENTOR, Ohio, birthplace of James A. Garfield, is again brought into prominence by the wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited, the fastest train in the world.

YOUNG Rockfeller does not deen it necessary to defend his father. He is right. The old gentleman is able to retain good lawyers for that purpose, observes the St. Cloud Times.

THOMAS W. LAWSON, who continues to jolt "the system," will deliver addresses at Albert Lea and St. Paul early in July. Lots of people will have a desire to hear the famous critic of high finance.

THERE is some apprehension that the capitol commission may finish its labors within the two years alloted. Several times recently three or four men have been working all day on the capitol approaches.

THE new appointers on the state board of equalization are exceptionally clean and able men. Prominent among them are E. T. Champlin of Vernon Center, speaker of the fusion house in 1893; Thomas J. Meighen of Forestville, long prominent in public life and once Peoples' party candidate for governor; ex-Sentor Daly of Renville, and H. L. Shirley of Breckenridge, Democratic candidate for state treasurer in 1902.

MANY of the counties in southern Minnesota have decreased in population, and the Lakefield Standard sends forth the Macedonian cry for more Roosevelt anti-race-suicide Republicans.

NEW YORK legislators receive $1,500 per session, and the Chicago News remarks that out of this sum several of the members are said to have laid by recently between $25,000 and $50,000.

DULUTH wants the state auditorship next year. By the way, the steel trust is never modest in its demands, and it would be mighty convenient to control the auditing bureau of the state government.

SOMETHING is doing now in Minnesota politics. The Hon. William E. Verity, president of the legislative office-holders' league, has been named for governor by the Chaska Review. We trust Editor Dehuel already has in his order for the private secretaryship.

EARLY census returns show that none of the southern counties have increased materially in population during the past five years and many show an actual decrease. The three great cities and the northern counties, however, are expected to show handsome gains and increase the state's population from 1,700,000 to near the two million mark.

A WOMAN who had been a successful teacher in St. Paul schools was found starving on the streets, says the Fairmont Sentinel. She passed the dead line when she was fifty and was dropped. She tried to make a living by sewing, but could not. The last week she had lived on three crackers. This was an extreme case but it truthfully illustrates the conditions under which teachers may expect to enter life's work. They become back numbers at 50 or sooner.

THE state census is going to be a disappointment to the Red River valley counties. Up here it was expected that large increasee would be shown over the Federal count, but the scattering townships already reported from Norman, Polk, Red Lake and Marshall counties show an actual loss, and it is doubtful if the cities and villages have grown enough to counter-balance the losses in the country districts. It is hard to account for this condition. There is every evidence of growth and progress in the Valley, but if figures do not lie the net increase of population will not be nearly so large as anticipated.

WHERE IS THE LIMIT?

THE corporations have learned that they cannot control the editorial columns of the country newspapers. The country editor is an independent chap; he cannot be driven to the support of a cause that lacks justice. But the corporations are not to be thwarted because of this fact. They are reaching the country papers indirectly. Nearly one-half of the Minnesota papers use "patent insides" furnished by the Northwestern Newspaper Union of St. Paul. That is, this concern prints four pages of nearly half the country papers and control absolutely the advertisements and reading matter thereon. Recently a column defense of the methods of the beef trust, prepared by some skilled attorney, was given widespread circulation through this agency; and now the railroads are exploiting the dangers of goverment control and regulation of rates by means of this convenient medium.

The country editor is thus made to stand sponsor for views entirely at variance with those expressed on the home-print side. All he can do is to make apology to his readers and explain his inability to control his own paper. But how long is the patient and suffering country scribe going to submit to this imposition? Is there no relief from this infamous practice?

John Mudlner, one of the crew that has been putting up telegraph poles along the Soo, met with a painful accident at Plummer one day last week. While getting water at a wind mill his foot got caught in the gearing, badly crushing it. He was taken to Thief River Falls for treatment.

Deserve a Free Government.

Albert Lea Standard; Gov. John A. Johnson, an American son of Swedish parents, beleives that the Norwegians will secure the separate government they desire by peaceful means, but that the two nations would do best by forming a complete union. The governor was asked to give his opinion as to the present crisis. He said: "I hope and believe that there will be no serious difficulty between Norway and Sweden. It seems to me that the interests of Norway and Sweden are so nearly akin, and the people themselves so nearly alike, that a complete union of the people into one nation, giving all the people equal rights, would be to the best interests of all concerned. However, I believe that any people in any country are entitled to that form of government which they desire."

St. Cloud Census Trouble.

St. Cloud, Stearns county, is having a fine young civil war to itself over the state census. The present trouble is the sequal of a similar domestic ruction which broke out into full bloom five years ago at the time of the national census.

The saloonkeepers and their henchmen form one party and they fear the town will show a population of 10,000. On the other side, the elite of the village and the antisalooners, are out to make the town over 10,000. The cansus belli is the matter of saloon license. If the town shows 10,000, the license may be increased from $500 to $1,000, which accounts for the activity of the beer-store proprietors.

Summer Training School.

The Red Lake County Summer School will begin July 5th in the high school building in Red Lake Falls and will continue in session four (4) weeks of six (6) days each, making a total of twenty-four (24 days of school, with the following corps of instructors: Prof. C S Yeager of Foston as conductor, with Adolph Olson of Brandon, Mrs. W. A. McIntyre of Red Lake Falls, and Eudell Everdell of Moorhead as assistants.

Mr. Yeager and Mrs. McIntyre are too well known to the teachers of Red Lake county to need any introduction. Mr. Olson is a specialist in the branches he will teach, having taken a special course in those studies at the Chicago University. Mrs. Everdell comes direct from the Moorhead Normal and will teach the same subjects at the summer school which she taught at the normal school.

All branches required by law for first and second grade state certificates will be taught.

During the session evening lectures will be delivered by State Supt. J. W. Olson, Pres. Frank A. Weld and other prominent educators of the state.

A report of the school will be published in the county papers at the close of the session, which will contain the names of all teachers who receive certificates of perfect attendance, also the number of days each teacher attends, as well as the names of teachers who do not attend.

State teachers examinations will be held Aug. 3, 4 and 5.

You are requested to bring any text book you may have treating on any of the subjects required for second or first grade certificates.

All parties desiring any aid in securing board or rooms should write me as soon as possible or call at my office in the court house on arriving in the city.

The summer school affords a splendid opportunity for teachers to improve both in scholarship and methods of teaching and all teachers as well as those who expect to teach the coming year are expected to attend.

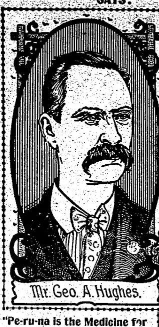
MR. GEO. A. HUGHES SAYS:

"I FEEL AS GOOD AS I DID AT 20."



Mr. Geo. A. Hughes.

Many Suffer With Catarrh and Don't Know It.

The Phase of Catarrh Most Prevalent in Summer is a Run Down, Worn Out Condition Known as Systemic Catarrh.

Mr. Geo. A. Hughes, 808 Mass. Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I am forty-five years old now, and feel as good as I did at 20. I was very thin and run down, but Peruna acted just right in my case. I am a carpenter and some times need a tonic. Peruna is the medicine for a poor man."--Geo. A. Hughes.

A Congressman Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family.

Hon. Thos. J. Henderson, Member of Congress from Illinois, and Lieutenant in the Union Army for eight years, writes from the Lemon building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Peruna has been used in my family with the very best results and I take pleasure in recommending your valuable remedy to my friends as a tonic and an effective cure for catarrh."--Thos. J. Henderson.

Catarrh assumes different phases in different seasons of the year. In the early summer systemic catarrh is most prevalent. That tired, all worn out feeling in nine cases out of ten is due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes. Peruna cleanses the mucous membranes and cures the catarrh wherever located.

There are no remedies for catarrh just as good as Peruna. Accept no substitutes.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

Your Watch Is a Compass.

"Most men who own a good watch," said a jeweler, "think they know all about it. They have the number fixed in their memory in case it is stolen. They could probably pick it out from fifty other watches with their eyes shut. But how many men know that their watch is a compass and will tell north from south as accurately as it will tell the time of day? Stanley, the explorer, did not know it until he had groped his way through the dark continent and met a Belgian sailor on the coast. Every watch is a compass. If you point the hour hand to the sun, the south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the dial. Suppose, for instance, it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and II on the watch is exactly south. If it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun and the figure X on the dial is due south. No man need get lost if he carries a watch."

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

The City Meat Market has a new adv in this week's issue of the COURIER. Mr. Sauer's business has been steadily growing and he wishes to increase it by judicious publicly.

Miss Daisy Vietz, a former school teacher of this place, was married at her home at Hennings last week to Mr. Earl Gates, of Moorhead. Her many friends here wish her happiness.

John Ford, of Northwood, North Dakota, was in the city over Sunday visiting his brother, County Auditor Fork. He reports an abundance of rain in his section of the country this season.

A number of Red Lake Falls citizens were at Brooks last Saturday taking in St. John's celebration. They report a good time and say the town entertained its visitors in a royal manner.

Mrs. E. F. Marshall expects to leave next week for a month's trip in the west. She will visit the Portland exposition and the Yellowstone Park besides other points of interest in the Northwest.

Louis Sieff went to Devils Lake, North Dakota, Monday. From that place he may go to Omaha before his return. He is off on a horse buying tour and expects to return home with a fine bunch of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bliven, of Milton, North Dakota, returned to their home yesterday after spending a week in the city visiting relatives. They were guests of Mrs. Bliven's father, Tennis Lemieux.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Demarist went to St. Paul Tuesday evening to visit relatives until after the Fourth of July. Mr. Demarist was one of the first settlers of this section, having been here twenty-nine years.

Berthon & Armstrong occupy the entire front page of the COURIER this week announcing some special prices for the Fourth of July trade. You would do well to take advantage of the good things they are offering.

Miss Ida and Emma and Master Theo. Tandberg, of Thief River Falls, were guests at the Joseph Helm home over Monday night. The young people were on their way to attend a wedding at Northwood, N. D.

The city is decorated with Fourth of July posters announcing celebrations at St. Hilaire and Plummer. No doubt both towns will entertain large crowds, and Red Lake Falls will be well represented at both places.

Eleven of the twenty-six assessors of the county had filed their work with the auditor up to last evening. The complete returns will probably be in this week as soon as the different boards of equalization complete their labors.

Editor Ives of the St. Hilaire Spectator passed through the city Monday evening on his way to Crookston where he went to try to arrange for a special train on this branch of the Great Northern for the fourth of July.

The COURIER prints a fine grist of news this week from Deer Park, one of the reservation neighborhoods. We hope the correspondent will keep up his good work, and we also hope to receive the news from other points in the country in the near future.

The Great Northern is enjoying an immense freight business on this branch these days. It is found necessary to double the grade south of the depot most every evening, the trains being too heavy to haul at one time.

J. Drew Marshall is overhauling the electric light company's system this week. The poles are being straightened, all wires tightened and repaired and everything put in first class condition. Ralph Healy and Wm. Ittner are assisting in the work.

P. F. Pouliot and A. P. Toupin, who are enjoying the sights of the exposition at Portland, are expected home within a week or ten days. Letters from them indicate that they are having a great time and enjoying their vacation immensely.

For style and quality in shoes go to the Big Store. King Quality for men, St. Cecelia for women at $3.50, Saranac at $2.50, are qualities that our competitors cannot approach. Try us once and we will show you that we lead in the shoe business.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benoit returned from North Yakama, Washington, Monday where they enjoyed a two months visit with relatives. They spent most of their time with their son-in-law, Alfont Paradis, a former resident of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Pleth were in the city Monday morning on their way home from Ada where they visited friends. Mr. Pleth reports that the farmers about Ada have played a poor luck this year, the crops being drowned out.

Miss Cushing, who visited her sister, Mrs. Chamberlain, for the past month, returned to her home at Tracy yesterday. The young lady made many friends while in the city who will be glad to have her return for a longer stay.

J. B. Suprenault, of Terrebonne, received a check last week for $1,000 from the Women's Catholic Order of Forresters. It will be remembered Mrs. Suprenault died suddenly some weeks ago. She was insured in this order and the management is to be congratulated upon the prompt payment of claims.

Red Lake Falls had a fire scare Wednesday afternoon. A barrel of tar in the rear of F. F. Fruend's restaurant caught fire and sent up a volume of smoke that would have done credit to a block of buildings ablaze. Fortunately nothing was in proximity to the tar and the fire was easily put out.

The Red Lake Falls band made a name for itself at Blackduck last week. Words of praise and commendation were heard on every hand and the town was advertised far and near by the organization. Bemidji thought so well of the band that they offered $500 to the management to play at that town July 4th. As the boys had promised to go to St. Hilaire the offer was declined.

We have a great many inquiries from ladies wishing to know where they can have their old carpets made into rugs by a reliable concern. We are pleased to recommend the Mples. Carpet Cleaning & Rug Factory, at 112 4.th St. No., Minneapolis, Minn. We consider them thoroughly reliable and their work is high grade in every respect.

Miss Anna Smith, who is widely known among the church workers in the Northwest, will hold services in the Bowery district of Duluth this week. She will be assisted by Miss Nellie Read who is a singer of more than ordinary ability. The young women have been doing revival work at Grand Rapids where they were favorably received. Miss Smith will probably retire at the close of the year as she is to be married Christmas, after which she will devote her time to literary work.

GOOD BLOOD
TELLS ITS OWN STORY

And tells it eloquently in the bright eye, the supple, elastic movement, the smooth, soft skin, glowing with health, a body sound and well, an active brain, good appetite and digestion, refreshing sleep, energy to perform the duties and capacity to enjoy the pleasures of life. The blood is the most vital part of the body; every organ, muscle, tissue, nerve, sinew and bone is dependent on it for nourishment and strength, and as it circulates through the system, pure and strong, it furnishes to these different parts all the healthful qualities nature intended. When, from any cause, the blood becomes impure or diseased, it tells a different story, quite as forceful in its way. Itching, burning skin diseases, muddy, sallow complexions, disfiguring sores, boils, carbuncles, etc., show the presence, in the blood, of some foreign matter or poison. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Contagious Blood Poison and Scrofula, are effects of a deeply poisoned blood circulation. These may either be inherited or acquired, but the seat of trouble is the same—the blood. S. S. S., a purely vegetable blood remedy, cleanses and purifies the circulation and makes it strong and clean. Under its purifying and tonic effects all poisons and impurities are expelled from the blood, the general health is built up, all disfiguring eruptions and blemishes disappear, the skin becomes soft and smooth and robust health blesses life. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all diseases of the blood are cured by S. S. S. Book on the blood and any medical advice, free of charge.

AN OPEN SWITCH CAUSES WRECK

LAKE SHORE FAST TRAIN MEETS WITH DISASTER AT MENTOR, O.

Thrown from Track While Running at Rate of 50 or 60 Miles an Hour—Ninneteen Persons Are Killed and Many Injured.

Mentor, O., June 22.—Running at the rate of 50 or 60 miles an hour, the Twentieth Century Limited on the Lake Shore railroad dashed into an open switch at the passenger station here shortly before ten o'clock Wednesday night. Nineteen persons were killed and many badly injured. The combination baggage and smoking buffet car and the coach behind it caught fire and were destroyed. The train was east-bound, having left Cleveland about nine o'clock and as it does not stop here it was running at great speed. The engineer did not notice the open switch until the train struck it. The engine left the rails and plowed into the ground, tearing up the track for yards. The two coaches following it jammed into it with great force and were crushed, the fire from the engine setting them ablaze. Fortunately most of the occupants of these two coaches were rescued before the fire reached them. The Lake Shore officials at once summoned all the doctors within reach, a number coming from Cleveland. The dead and injured were taken care of and sent on a special train to Cleveland, where they will be placed in hospitals.

This was the fourth trip of the flyer on its run from Chicago to New York on an 18-hour schedule. The train was the fastest long-distance train in the world. It was the pride of the New York Central system. The train hauled out of Cleveland five cars, four Pullman cars behind the buffet car.

The Victims.

The dead: John R. Bennett, attorney, No. 31 Nassau street, New York city; John A. Bradley, of the law firm of Rowley, Rogers, Bradley & Rockwell, Akron, O.; T. R. Morgan, second vice president of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company, Cleveland; C. H. Wellman, of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company, Cleveland, died in hospital; A. L. Rogers, of New York city, representative of the Platt Iron works, of Dayton, O., died in hospital; S. C. Beckwith, No. 115 One Hundred and Seventy-fourth street, New York; A. H. Head, London, England, representative of the Otis Steel company, of Cleveland, died in hospital; H. H. Wright, traveling man, Chicago, died in hospital; D. E. Arthur, traveling man, Milwaukee, died in hospital; J. H. Gibson, Chicago, traveling man, died in hospital, Cleveland; H. C. Mechling, New York city, with the Wheeling Corrugated company, killed in wreck; L. M. Eirick, manager Keith's theater, Cleveland, killed in wreck; E. E. Naugle, Chicago, proprietor of a railway supply house, killed in wreck; two as yet unidentified dead, supposed to be L. A. Johnson, of the millinery firm of Coney & Johnson, Cleveland, and Henry Trinz, the barber on the train; Allan Tyler, engineer, Collinwood, O., died in hospital; F. J. Brant, head-brakeman, No. 2012 Ash street, Erie, Pa., died in hospital; N. B. Walters, baggageman, Hamburg, N. Y., died in hospital; W. D. Mickey, porter on Pullman car, Chicago, died at scene of wreck.

The injured: J. H. Langdon, Chicago; R. C. Cordeaugh, Kay Cottage, Highlands, N. J.; M. J. Kennedy, San Francisco, slightly hurt; Kate Trott, Chicago; Mrs. H. D. Turner, nervous shock; Theodore Keuhl, No. 1511 Wolfram street, Chicago, severe shock; W. H. Colvin, No. 182 LaSalle street, Chicago, thought not to be seriously hurt; George Murray, No. 1018 George street, St. Louis, thought not to be seriously hurt; A. E. Dickson, No. 645 Marquette building, Chicago, knee wrenched; Nathan Allen, Kenosha, Wis., back slightly injured; S. T. Katy, No. 5022 Paulina street, Chicago, pain in chest and back; A. P. Gorham, fireman, side injured, Collinwood, O.

Suspects Maliciousness.

Cleveland, O., June 23.—D. C. Moon, assistant general superintendent of the Lake Shore road, stated late Wednesday night that it looked as though the Mentor wreck had been caused by malicious mischief. He said that a fast passenger train had passed over the switch safely three-quarters of an hour before the Twentieth Century was wrecked. Immediately after the wreck occurred it was found that the switch was locked open, so that no train could pass it without being thrown from the track.

Reward Offered.

Cleveland, O., June 24.—The Lake Shore Railway company has offered a reward of $2,000 for the arrest or for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the wreck of the Twentieth Century limited at Mentor.

State Railroad Commissioner J. C. Morris, who Friday started an investigation of the wreck is quoted as saying that the switch was undoubtedly open, and that some one set it that way just a short time before the flyer struck it.

REIGN OF TERROR EXISTS IN LODZ

CITY IN RUSSIAN POLAND IS THE SCENE OF ANOTHER GREAT HORROR.

Cossacks and Strikers Meet in Bloody Battle Lasting the Best Part of Three Days, During Which Hundreds Are Killed and Wounded.

Lodz, Russian Poland, June 26.—"Black Friday" in Lodz surpassed all the horrors of "Red Sunday" in St. Petersburg. While it is not yet possible to ascertain the exact number of the victims, estimates place the number of victims as high as 2,000. Of these, 300 strikers and 60 troops were killed.

Vengeance Cause of Rioting.

The troubles here were initiated by the social democrats and Jewish bund, who determined to avenge their comrades killed in the rioting on Wednesday.

Thursday, the feast of Corpus Christi passed off quietly, but during the night workmen attacked the patrols. In this fighting two officers and seven Cossacks were killed. One of the latter was shot by a girl of 13 years.

At dawn Friday commenced a day of terror, given up to bloodshed. Anarchy and fierce street fighting prevailed all day. Two bombs were thrown from the crowd into the barracks, killing or wounding 20 soldiers. This started the shedding of blood, which continued until after nightfall.

All the factory hands then struck and flocked into the streets. Cossacks, dragoons and infantry charged the dense, surging mobs time after time firing volley after volley into the serried mass. The rioters later replied with revolvers, while their comrades on roofs and in windows joined in the fusillade. Some dashed vitriol from points of vantage upon the troopers in the streets below. The burning fluid drove its victims into a frenzy and led to scenes of a terrible character.

Dead Scattered About Streets.

The dead were carted off to the cemeteries in military wagons, the troops acting as undertakers. But Saturday morning many dead and wounded were still lying in the streets and courtyards. The casualties Saturday add 18 killed or wounded to Friday's appalling total.

Many Isolated Attacks.

The most serious phase of the fighting between the military and strikers is at an end, but there are still isolated attacks in the suburbs. At Baluty Sunday morning Cossacks attacked a Jewish family of five persons who were driving in a cab to the railway station and shot and killed all, including the cabman. At Pabjanice, near Lodz, workmen attacked two policemen and shot and killed one and wounded the other. There is a general exodus from Lodz. Twelve thousand persons have already left, and all trains are crowded.

Biggest Lake Boat Launched.

Chicago, June 26.—The steamer William E. Corey, a duplicate of the Elbert H. Gary, the largest boat plying the great lakes, was launched Saturday at the yards of the Chicago Shipbuilding company. The Corey is one of the largest freighters in the world, being 569 feet long, 56 feet beam, 32 feet depth, and a carrying capacity of 12,000 to 14,000 gross tons.

Dies in Auto Crash.

New York, June 26.—One man dead, three seriously injured and three others cut and bruised is the result of the automobile accident in Jerome avenue. The wreck occurred before the gates of Woodlawn cemetery. Paul Foster, whose skull was fractured, and who died soon after reaching the hospital, is said to have been a native of Boston.

MRS. ROGERS REPRIEVED.

New Lease of Life Is Granted Woman Condemned to Death in Vermont.

Battleboro, Vt., June 23.—A reprieve until December 8 for Mrs. Mary A. Rogers, the condemned murderess, was signed Thursday by Gov. Charles J. Bell, and for the third time the woman who was to have been hanged at Windsor to-day for killing her husband has been saved through the operation of the governor's power of staying the execution. Thursday's reprieve was granted in order that the case may be carried to the supreme court of the United States on constitutional questions, which were raised at a hearing before Judge Hoyt H. Wheeler, sitting as a justice of the United States circuit court. Mrs. Rogers' attorneys petitioned for her release on a writ of habeas corpus. The court declined to grant the petition, but suggested that the points of law raised by the petitioner were such as to be passed upon by the supreme court of the country. The refusal of the judge to grant the writ was at once followed by the filing of an appeal. Judge Wheeler thereupon announced that he would render his decision on the question of appeal late in the afternoon, in order to give Gov. Bell an opportunity to reprieve Mrs. Rogers. Thursday afternoon Judge Wheeler received a telegraphic message from Gov. Bell at White River Junction announcing that Mrs. Rogers had been reprieved. The judge at once signed the paper which gave to Mrs. Rogers the legal right to have her case heard by the supreme court of the United States.

PRAISES MORTON.

President Exonerates Him from Guilt in Santa Fe Rebate Case and Pays High Tribute.

Washington, June 23.—A remarkable letter expressing confidence and esteem has been written by President Theodore Roosevelt to Paul Morton, who is about to retire as secretary of the navy. The letter is of the Rooseveltian type, and abounds with candid words of admiration and expressions indicating the president's steadfast faith in Mr. Morton, both as a railroad official and member of the cabinet. Mr. Morton emerges from the controversy growing out of alleged illegal acts on the part of the Santa Fe railway and the Colorado Fuel & Iron company with President Roosevelt's unequivocal indorsement of his career both as a business man and public official.

President Roosevelt, in his letter to the attorney-general, voices cordial approval of that official's act in connection with the attempt to get the federal government to prosecute the officers of the Santa Fe Railroad company, of which Paul Morton was one prior to his entering the president's official family. The president asserts that his examination of the evidence has demonstrated "that neither the interstate commerce commission nor the special counsel you have employed have developed a single fact of any kind, beyond the holding of their offices, tending to implicate any one of those officers."

Michigan Bank Closed.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 24.—The Vicksburg Exchange bank, of Vicksburg, 12 miles south of this city, closed its doors Friday. The bank is a private institution, and has been in business about 20 years. It is said that there has been a gradual withdrawal of deposits by small depositors for several days, and that this forced the institution to close for lack of ready money.

Town Is Bankrupt.

Vicksburg, Mich., June 26.—In connection with the closing of the Vicksburg Exchange bank, it has developed that the village of Vicksburg is bankrupt. There is only $34 in the village treasury, and half of this amount is a check on the closed bank. The village owes the bank $7,000. C. L. Jep, cashier of the bank, was treasurer of the village.

CHEAP EXCURSIONS
TO WESTERN CANADA
$10.00 FOR ROUND TRIP TICKETS
TO THE FAMOUS CARROT RIVER VALLEY

During the month of July the Canadian Northern Railway will sell tickets on any day from EMERSON on the INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY to Melfort and return, good for thirty days, with stop over privileges, for $10.00. Regular trains for the Carrot River Valley leave Winnipeg every Monday and Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. Minnesota and Dakota landseekers should buy tickets to Emerson, the International Boundary, where they can then purchase the $10.00 excursion tickets to Melfort and return.

THE CARROT RIVER VALLEY which now has railway facilities for the first time, is the most fertile part of the great Saskatchewan Valley. Two-thirds of the country is open prairie. The soil is a rich loam varying from one to four feet in depth. The running streams in every township furnish an abundance of pure water. The praries are covered with richly luxuriant grass. There is absolutely no Alkali or stone and there is no section in Western Canada to-day that will produce the same enormous yields of No. 1 Hard Wheat. The country too being equally well adapted to diversified farming. With the splendid railway facilities now afforded by the building of the Canadian Northern Railway through this marvelously rich district, this section of Western Canada will be settled quickly and prices will advance rapidly. Act Now, and get land in the best part of all Canada at First Prices.

FIVE NEW TOWNSITES JUST PUT ON THE MARKET

A fine deer was noticed near here the other day.

Geo. Singer was at Crookston last week on a business mission.

Considerable flax has been seeded here this spring and it looks good.

P. A. Rustad has a nice lot of young stock that he wishes to dispose of.

Martin Hyland spent a few days at Gully last week looking after his affairs at the old place.

Mrs. W. A. Swanson and daughter, Mina, spent a few days visiting relatives at Grit last week.

W. A. Swanson and C. W. Johnson were down to Thief River Falls last week attending to business matters.

Look out for the man who says his neighbor is a "crook." Nine times out of ten he is the bigger "crook" himself.

Geo. Singer, the Rhoda hustler, is now building an addition to his residence. He now has one of the finest residences on the entire reserve.

Sam B. Swanson returned last week from the Clearwater drive where he has been working all the spring. He is now getting ready to build a house on his homestead here.

Breaking is the order of the day. Large fields are already up but it will be continued until after the 4th, which speaks well for the enterprising settlers that are making their homes here.

Gustave E. Swanson arrived from Power, N. D. last Thursday for a few days visit with his home folks. He is well pleased with this country and says he will return in the near future to look up a farm.

A loaded raft of young people had a narrow escape from drowning in Red Lake River the other day. As the party was sailing pleasantly down the stream the raft broke suddenly, dumping the party into about nine feet of water. Luckily one of the party was an expert swimmer and he saved the entire crowd. He had to dive to the bottom for one of the young ladies. He is indeed a hero.

Asthma Sufferers Should Know This.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of asthma that were considered hopeless. Mrs. Adolph Buessing 701 West Third St., Davenport, Iowa, writes: "A severe cold contracted twelve years ago was neglected until it finally grew into asthma. The best medical skill available could not more than give me temporary relief. Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended and one fifty cent bottle entirely cured me of asthma which had been growing on me for twelve years, and if I had taken it at the start I would have been saved years of suffering." Passes Up Tammany.

Fairmont Sentinel: Gov. Johnson has been honored with an invitation to deliver the address at the Tammany Hall Fourth of July celebration in New York city, but was unable to accept it. He has, however, accepted an invitation to speak at a big celebration to be held at Luverne, Minn., on July 4th. The citizens of Luverne are fortunate in securing him and the governor is fortunate in being able to address the salt of the earth in a good Southern Minnesota town instead of a lot of ward heelers in New York.

There is more catarrah in this section to the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was mought to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. E. E. McDonald has been elected attorney of Beltrami county to succeed H. J. Loud, who resigned the office a couple of months ago when charges were preferred against him.

A severe hail storm struck Grand Forks and vicinity yesterday forenoon. A great deal of damage was done to the growing crops, and thousands of windows in the city were broken.

Misses Mary and Clara Swisher arrived from Minneapolis this morning for a visit with the families of Frank E. Hunt and Dr. J. E. Argue. The young ladies have frequently visited here and are known to a great many of our people.

The Bon Amis and a few friends planned on a picnic at Clara Allison's school the first of the week but on account of the rain the event was postponed. The young people are not telling where they ate their lunch or whether they all got their share.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Demarist, of Canada, were in the city the guests of relatives for a couple of weeks. They left Tuesday evening for a visit at St. Paul, after which they will return to this place for another short stay. Their home is near Montreal.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Argue will celebrate their first wedding anniversary this evening, giving a six o'clock dinner for about twenty of their friends. It will be quite an elaborate social function and goes without saying that everybody in attendance will have a most delightful evening.

The contract for carrying the mail on the new rural free delivery route from Dorothy to Red Lake Falls has been let to Thos. O. Neil of Dorothy. The carrier starts from Dorothy at 6 o'clock in the morning, going via Wylie to Red Lake Falls, returning in the afternoon. The new service starts July 1, and will be daily except Sunday.

While a number of the band and fire boys were waiting for breakfast at the Stivers hotel at Dugdale Saturday morning a small fire was discovered in the second story of the structure. The boys organized a fire department in short order and had the blaze soon extinguished. A stovepipe hole had been plugged up with rags which caught fire and dropped to the floor. No serious damage was done.

We are informed that we were in error a week or so ago when we stated that the firm of Dupont & Sons, Terrebone, had changed the firm name to Dupont Bros. The firm is doing business under the firm name of Dupont & Sons and the senior member of the firm will continue in the business. The COURIER is glad to correct the error and wishes Dupont & Sons continued success.

M. Patnaude, one of the old and substantial farmers of Louisville township, is erecting a large and modern house on his farm. The building is 24x28feet with a lean to 16x18. The building will have all the modern conveniences and will make Mr. Patnaude and family a most pleasant home. The lumber for the building was purchased at the Robertson Lumber Co's yard in this city.

Miss Marie Crompe, a member of the class of '05 of St. Joseph's school, entertained the class last Monday afternoon at five o'clock dinner. Covers were laid for twenty. Misses Myrtle Armstrong and Lucie Crompe assisted in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and roses. After dinner the time was spent in singing and games, and the guests departed feeling that they had been most magnificently entertained.

A special school election will be held at the Lafayette school building Saturday evening to vote on the proposition of issuing $3,000 in bonds for the erection of a new school building on the north side. It is the intention to put up an $8,000 building, and the district has on hand the $5,000 insurance money on the burned structure. This seems like a good investment for the town. The north side needs a school house, and it is good business policy to put up a good one.

THROWN OUT OF COURT

Thief River Falls Loses Another Point in County-Seat War.

Thief River Falls received another solar plexus in Judge Watts' court Monday night. The request of the attorneys for Thief River to appear as intervenors in the Erb suit was denied and thus another chapter in the county-seat contention is ended.

It is but fair to state that the case was not decided altogether on its merits. The attorney for Thief River, the Hon. Ira C. Richardson, failed to make the proper presentation and all the papers he filed with the court were defective.

Germany's Oldest Inn.

The oldest inn in Germany is the Gasthof Zum Riesen in Miltenberg-on-the-Main, which was already of considerable age when the Emperor Frederick I stayed there in 1158. Since then it has entertained a succession of historical personages, including Gustavus Adolphus and Martin Luther, and in more recent times General von Moltke.

Wanted a Big "Bar'l."

A newspaper tells the story of a storekeeper in a country town who, after twice telling a young man that he had no "onions," reverted to the matter after the customer had gone. "I declare," he said, "I do' know but what it was ingans that feller wanted!"

A similar tale is told by a young woman who, being in search of a barrel to catch rain water, applied to the village innkeeper.

"Have you a hogshead that I could buy?" she said, with the careful enunciation that she had learned in childhood.

The innkeeper shook his head.

"Not any sort of hogshead?" she asked, with gentle persistence. "I thought you must have a good many."

"I wonder what set you thinking that?" said the landlord, looking as if he considered her demented. "I haven't kep' a single hog for ten years back, and when I did keep 'em I never had any call for their heads."

It was the young woman's turn to look horrified.

"Oh, I don't know anything about hogs' heads!" she said excitedly. "I want a hogshead, an old molasses hogshead or something."

The landlord looked at her, and light dawned at last.

"I believe you mean you want a hugshud," he said, smiling broadly. "You step this way and take your choice of what I've got."

A Very Funny Joke.

"The head of our firm had a trying experience one Fourth of July," said a commercial man. "He thought he would play a funny joke on his family, so a day or so before the holiday he bought one of those candy boxes made in imitation of a cannon firecracker. He secreted this in the pantry, where he thought it would be safe.

"But his little son, about eight years old, discovered the firecracker and also discovered that it was filled with candy. He helped himself to the contents and finally, finding the box empty, he made way with it and substituted a real cannon cracker.

"Fourth of July came and the head of the family, smiling broadly, came downstairs and placed his big firecracker in the middle of the breakfast table. Then, regardless of his wife's expostulations, he touched a match to the fuse, never thinking but what it was the candy box on the table.

"His son and heir astutely vanished from the scene about this time. In about thirty seconds there was an explosion that wrecked a once happy breakfast table, and one hour later the worst spanked boy in Detroit had sobbingly confessed to an irate father why the joke had failed."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Old Time Dentistry.

In the early days of dentistry a hickory plug was put into the cavity to fill the space where a tooth ought to be. This plug had to be gently pounded into its desired position. Old Judge Peckham was somewhat addicted to strong language, and when the dentist began his work the judge indulged in some classic comment. As the tapping of the plug continued he threw all dignity to the four winds of heaven, and his language became decidedly "more forcible than elegant." When, however, he arose from the chair, after what seemed to him an interminable period of agony, he pulled out all the stops in his vocabulary for a grand climax. The impression on his listener seems to have been deep and lasting. As the judge passed out the dentist grimly remarked to a waiting patient:

"Wasn't it beautiful? It wasn't really necessary to pound half so long, but I did so enjoy his inflection that I almost pounded the hickory plug into splinters. Wonderful command of language the judge has!"—National Magazine.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her.

ATLANTA, GA., March 21, 1903.

I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedy relief to regain my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

Nowhere more than on the farm is the old adage applicable: "Watch the pennies and the dollars will look out for themselves."

A drink flavored with sugar, ginger and water is much more satisfying to harvast hands than pure water. They drink less, and it is consequently more healthful.

It is going to take some time for the farmer and the automobile to get on friendly terms. He has finally adjusted himself to the bike and will in time to the devil wagon.

In Paris, France, the stock yard charges are as follows: Commission—beef cattle, 60c to $1.00 per head; calves, 30 to 40c per head; sheep 6 to 10c per head: and hogs, 15 to 30c per head.

The value of any farm is enchanced by having a well kept public highway passing by it, and still there are a few men who rather than do any gratuitous work on such a road for fear their neighbors may profit by it will let such highway become a disgrace to them and to the community.

Now an inventor at Grand Falls, Mont., announces that he has discovered a process in which he can produce new potatoes every day in the year without any vine or outward visable signs of their growth. "There is a cow," says Prof. L. H. Bailey in Country Life in America, "which is now eleven years old. Last year her record was 17,490 pounds of milk, with a maximum daily yield of seventy-seven and three-quarters lbs. This year she has given as high as 93 pounds a day and she will probably exceed her former record. In other words, here is a cow that every month produces her own weight in milk. She is a most efficient milk producing machine."

This is the season of the year when you begin to hear from your city friends and they will insinuate how well they would enjoy a couple of weeks visit at your home. The farm would be less attractive at this season of the year for city folks if every farmer would make a practice of working the company from the city in as weed destroyers. And why not? It would do the city chaps good and help the farm besides. By the way, too, did you ever get as many invitations to visit friends in the city as city folks accept from you to visit on the farm?

It may not be known to every one that we cannot raise cauliflower seed in this country. The world's supply comes from Europe, and we look to Denmark for the best quality. It is estimated that the total product of this seed in a year is only 80,000 pounds and it is valued at more than [illegible]. No other form of gardening produces such remunerative returns—and none other requires so much care and is subject to greater risk. The market gardeners of Denmark get about a pound of seed from every thirty plants, or 240 pounds to the acre, if the crop is good. Sold at the average price, this brings about $1,200 per acre. Uncle Sam consumes every year some 17,000 pounds of the seed, for which he pays from $8 to $12 a pound.

LAMBERT POSTOFFICE ROBBED

Last Thursday night the Lambert post office was robbed of about $150. The burglars forced an entrance to the building and blew open the safe in a manner that plainly indicated the job was done by professional cracksmen. No definate clew has been discovered as to who done the deed, but the officers are working on the case and the guilty parties may be landed in the near future.

Three strangers were arrested in this city last week, two of them proving conclusively that they were in St. Hilaire the night of the robbery so were discharged. The other suspect is still in jail in this city and will have his hearing to-day or to-morrow. It is the opinion of the authorities that the fellow knows something of the affair, as he was seen in the neighborhood of the robbery the day before it was committed. Some are of the opinion that he belonged to the gang that done the deed, acting as a "spotter" and giving the men who done the job the lay of the land.

Two men were in Brooks the morning following the robbery and passed a coin that was marked by acid, several of which were taken from the Lambert post office. No further clew to these men has been found. The goverment officials are working on the case and may be able to locate the perpetrators of the deed at a later date.

ASSESSMENT IS LOW.

Awful Slump in Personal Property Value at Thief River.

Thief River Falls does not show indications of growth where it counts on the assessment books. The taxable value of personal property this year is $28,000 less than last year, and the number of taxpayers is decreased from 299 to 202, a net loss of 97. Last year the assessment as revised by the state board of equalization was $187,273. This year as returned by the assessor the amount is $126,423, a decrease of $61,000.

And yet the Thief River papers tell us their city is growing apace, and that there are evidences on every side of substantial progress. Either the up-river city is losing in population and wealth, or there is a crowd of artful tax-dodgers. Which?

For Fishing Trips.

Almost every man you meet on the street has a fondness for fishing and is planning on a little outing. Two or three things are necessary to make this trip a success; first, the weather must be good; second, the friends must be congenial; third, the lunches must be hearty and appetizing; fourth, if possible there should be some fish to catch. But the most important of all is the lunch of which golden grain belt beer is absolutely necessary. You get unusually thirsty on a trout stream or lake and water won't quench the thirst; this delicious beer is just the thing. Try it. ST. JOSEPH COMMENCEMENT

Seventeen Scholars Finish School Appropriate Exercises Held Thursday Evening.

The annual commencement exercises of St. Joseph's school were held at the Metropolitan opera house last Thursday evening. A very large audience was present, the building being filled to its capacity. The room was profusely and appropriately decorated with flowers, plants and colors and presented a very pretty scene.

The program was made up of music, recitations, club drills and orations and every number was a success and was heartily applauded by the large audience present. Rev. Father Fayolle presented the graduates with the diplomas and gave a few interesting facts about the school and its work. The Indian club drill was a feature of the program and the participants showed great skill in the handling of the clubs. The band orchestra furnished several selections to the delight of all. Father Fayolle and the instructors of the school are to be commended for the creditable showing made by the scholars at this time, and their work shows the school to be an institution of learning above the average.

The following scholars composed the class of '05: Arthur J. Robillard, Anthony Paradis, Joseph G. Chayer, Marie W. Cadieux, Cora I. Paul, Anna M. Rosch, Victoria M. Parenteau, Delia A. Ford, Marie M. Crompe, Eva M. Bray, Mary M. Benoit, Sophia M. LaCoursiere, Anna J. Jolly, Laura Perusse, Anna M. Schmitz, Eva L. Chatel, Louise M. Philion.

The superintendent of the Free employment bureau reports that he has applications for 200 girls for domestic service, but only an occasional applicant, while the bureau is fairly flooded with applications from girls who wish to secure positions as clerks in stores, typewriters and do office work generally.—Fergus Falls Journal.

This condition is due to the excellent educational ficilities in Minnesota. Of course all girls cannot find positions as stenographers and clerks, but their increased education has taught them to avoid positions as servant girls at the low wages for such work that has prevailed in the past. Assistants in household work can be obtained and good service rendered if the standard of wages is raised commensurate with the same amount of labor in other lines of work, but not otherwise. The average Minnesota girl is too intelligent and too much in demand as helpmates to the army of young men settling on the new farms of the west to longer continue to perform the household labor of other people for a mere pittance.—Brown's Valley Tribune.

The Country Not So Slow.

"We had a delightful time last week," said the city cousin, who was describing the joys of metropolitan life. "One evening we trolleyed out to a suburban home and ping ponged until nearly midnight and next day we automobiled to the country club and golfed until dark."

"We had a purty good time last week too," ventured the country cousin, with a sarcastic smile. "One day we buggied over to Uncle Josia's and us boys got out in the back lot and base balled all afternoon, and after supper we sneaked up to the loft and lit a candle and pokered until morning."

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living when a friend recommed Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone as well as all the symptoms of Bright's Disease." A. L. Rich[illegible]

HEAD OFF INFLUX INTO CANADA.

Minnesota Immigration Bureau Gets Busy.

If the federal census of 1910 does not show a substantial increase in the population of Minnesota, it will not be the fault of the officials in charge of the state immigration bureau, which has just been established.

The report based on impartial returns from the state census that Minnesota may not show a considerable increase in population over 1900 has acted as a stimulus to these officials, and, it is thought, to the people generally who are interested in the development of the state. The prevailing opinion is that the immigration bureau was not established any too soon.

It has frequently been predicted that Minnesota would suffer from its apparent neglect to advertise its resources, especially in view of the efforts made by the people of Western Canada to attract immigration from the United States. The situation, however, was never considered in a serious light until the publication of the recent reports that possibly Minnesota is not gaining in population.

The state land commissioner and C. H. Warner, superintendent of the immigration bureau, are not leaving a stone unturned in their efforts to let the people of other states and other countries know the advantages of Minnesota's soil, climate, and agricultural, mineral, industrial and educational resources. Circulars and booklets are being sent out in large quantities, and from the large number of letters received inquiring about the lands Minnesota has for sale, the state officials believe that the bureau will add large sums to the state treasury and stimulate enterprise in Minnesota generally.

George F. Wright, supervisor of the census, does not believe howev[illegible] sota will show a [illegible]ing off in population. In the first place, he points out that the figures announced are only for 103 out of about 1,900 enumeration districts. Then he points out, all of these returns are from the country districts and many from the older settled counties in the southern part of the state, where a large increase in population was not expected.

It is thought that when returns from the three large cities are received, a substantial increase will be shown for the entire state. Fenton G. Warner, supervisor of the census in Ramsey county, believes that St. Paul will show an increase of at least 10 per cent over 1900, which will make the population of St. Paul about 180,000. A similar increase is expected in Minneapolis and Duluth, making a total gain of about 50,000. If the increase in country averages 4 per cent, the total increase will be about 100,000, making the population of the state close to 1,900 000.

Does Advertising Pay?

The following forceful answer to the above question was furnished by C. H. Cosey, an enterprising hardware dealer of Jordan, Minn., at the last meeting of the Minnesota hardware dealers:

"This subject of advertising is, I believe one of most important of all matters which a business man must consider for in many ways it involves the vital interests of his business. It is a selling agency, and in a retail business it is probably the most important of all the selling agencies of your business. "The first question is 'does it pay to advertise in a small town?' The answer to this may be found in the methods of the mail order houses. They do not advertise in the large cities, they strike the small towns. They describe their goods, not to the city people, but to the people in the small towns and country, and they get results. If the retail hardware man will take his cue from this and go at the people, mean business in advertising and make a business of it he will succeed. When the city graft houses stop advertising through the territory covered by your home paper, you may conclude that local advertising does not pay. The same people who are willing to follow their ads will read yours if you give them something worth reading. Put in something that means something, keep it fresh and the result will justify the statement that advertising does pay in towns large or small."

CELEBRATE NATION'S BIRTH

Red Lake Falls People Help Surrounding Towns Celebrate the Fourth of July.

Despite the gloomy weather Red Lake Falls citizens turned out in large numbers to help the surrounding towns celebrate the nation's birthday in a befitting manner. The largest crowd went to St. Hilaire, between 250 and 300 citizens of this place going to that town. St. Hilaire presented a holiday appearance, the streets and buildings being decorated in the nation's colors and two bands of music helped to make the town appear as it should upon a day of this character.

After dinner Postmaster Richardson of Thief River Falls delivered a short patriotic address that was well received by the large audience present. Next came the ball game between Thief River Falls and the White Earth Indians. While the contest was a ragged exhibition of the national game it was interesting from the fact that the score stood even throughout the game, Thief River finally winning in the tenth inning by a score of 10 to 9. After the ball game there were numerous horse races and other sports until supper time. In the evening a fine display of fireworks and two or three dances brought the day's pleasures to a befitting close. The citizens of St. Hilaire are to be congratulated for the cordial manner in which they welcomed their guests and for the entertainment accorded the large crowd present.

Some fifty or sixty citizens of this place were at Crookston during the day and report a most pleasant time. A very large crowd is reported to have been at the Queen City and the day was brim full of amusement and entertainment.

A number of our citizens went to Plummer where [illegible] day was spent. There was plenty of amusement and the young town may well feel proud of its first effort in celebrating the day and the manner in which the large crowd was entertained.

Buy at Home.

Calumet News: To buy at home, to patronize home enterprise constitutes to the upbuilding of local prosperity that every citizen can expend if he will. To put money in your neighbor's pocket is a measure to keep it in your own. Keep the money in circulation in the community and benefits both direct and indirect will ensue.

The Gallant Colvill.

Preston Times: The man who led the old First in the famous charge which saved the day for the Union forces at Gettysburg, sleeps quietly and peacefully now. No more shall he attend the reunions of the old boys, no more with them shall he recount the stirring events of those fateful days. Full of hope and ambition he went to St. Paul last week to see the banners, under which he fought so well, transferred to their permanent resting place at the new capitol. On the previous evening he retired in his usual health. During the still hours of the night the life which was spared in the storm of bullets at Gettysburg went out in peace. Minnesota's Old First is a part of her history and Colonel William Colvill was its gallant commander.

Immaculate and Invincible.

St. Peter Herald: Political writers on the city papers say that the republicans of the second district will endeavor to unite on a man to defeat McCleary. This is a mistake. Over in the second they are at all times willing to concede that the little school master is invincible and that there isn't a man in the district big enough to beat him.

NOTED DIPLOMAT WHO PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY AT NEW HAMPSHIRE HOME.

JURY HOLDS MANY ON GRAFT CHARGE

THE MILWAUKEE BODY INDICTS TWENTY-ONE PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

CONFESSIONS LAY BARE MANY CRIMES

Bribery Also Alleged in the Thirty-Eight Bills Which Are Handed Out—Transactions of the County Board.

Milwaukee, July 3. — Wholesale "grafting" which, it is alleged, has been going on for several years in Milwaukee county, is expected to be laid bare through the result of indictments returned by the grand jury, coupled with other indictments which were handed down by two previous grand juries and which cases remain yet to be tried. Late Friday the grand jury, which convened ten days ago, handed down 38 indictments implicating 21 individuals. Judge Brazee in the municipal court, at the request of District Attorney Frank E. McGovern, ordered the issue of capias and for the arrest of those indicted.

List of Indicted.

The list of individuals for whom capiases were issued is as follows: Herman Haasch, ex-supervisor; Frank Burkhardt, ex-supervisor; J. J. Galewski, ex-supervisor; Fred C. Shultz, newspaper reporter; Peter J. Mead, ex-supervisor; Charles Besfield, ex-supervisor; G. F. Reichardt, supervisor; Tony Klefish, committee clerk county board; William H. O'Keefe, supervisor; August Puls, ex-supervisor; Benjamin Baden, supervisor; Charles Bottenberg, ex-supervisor; J. F. Dittmar, ex-supervisor; Albert C. Bade, ex-supervisor; W. C. Wegner, ex-supervisor; Frank Fowle, supervisor; Frank G. Oelflein, ex-supervisor; Arthur S. Green, supervisor; Max Reinnoldt, ex-supervisor; Julius Stamm, real estate dealer; Fred Hartung, ex-supervisor and present assemblyman.

Bail Furnished Rapidly.

As rapidly as arrests are being made bail is being furnished in the sum of $1,000 on the first indictment and $500 on each additional, where more than one indictment has been returned against an individual. All the indictments charge bribery.

Result of Confessions.

The bundle of indictments handed down is said to be the result of confessions obtained first by District Attorney McGovern from Otto Seidel, Jr., the register of deeds and former supervisor, and Edward F. Strauss, also an ex-supervisor. These two men later went before the present grand jury and, it is said, laid bare the history of many questionable transactions of the county board.

To Cover Big Deals.

The present investigation, it is said, will cover several big deals. Four years ago a site for a new morgue was purchased by the board of supervisors, and it is said $20,000 was divided among certain members of the board after the deal went through. Another deal was executed, it is alleged, when a large addition was built to the county hospital, and still another deal when furniture was purchased for this addition. Repairs to the county courthouse have been added at various times in the past few years, and it is alleged contractors were compelled to pay liberal amounts to members of the county board before contracts were awarded. Another matter to come up is a charge that during the last campaign one or more employes of the county clerk's office was employed at the headquarters of the republican county committee and drew double pay. The grand jury has not yet concluded its labor, and other indictments are expected to be handed down at any time.

FEDERAL JURY INDICTS 18

"RESTRAINT OF TRADE" CHARGE AGAINST BIG PACKERS.

Chicago Body, as Result of Three Months' Investigation, Returns Many Bills.

Chicago, July 3.—An indictment was voted against 18 packers, officials of four packing corporations, by the federal grand jury Saturday. Thus ended the investigation which has lasted over three months and brought out testimony of over 100 witnesses. One indictment of more than 60 typewritten pages was voted, covering charges including combination in restraint of trade, conspiracy to monopolize trade and receiving and granting rebates. Among those included as defendants are: J. Ogden Armour, of Armour & Co.; Edward Morris and Nelson Morris, of Nelson Morris & Co.; Arthur Meeker, of Armour & Co.; Louis Swift and E. F. Swift, of Swift & Co.; Ferdinand Sulzberger, of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company; Samuel MacLean, former head of the National Packing company.

When the grand jury met Saturday two names were stricken from the list. One of these is supposed to be that of Michael Cudahy, whose health is in a precarious condition. The other is said to be Ira M. Morris, who, it is asserted, is not sufficiently active in the business of Nelson Morris & Co.

In the 65-page indictment the facts are set forth describing the specific violations of laws prohibiting "combination in restraint of trade," acceptance of rebates and conspiracy in restraint of trade. Those accused of violations of any or all the counts are mentioned in connection with the specific detailed statement of the violation. It is not likely that there will be an extended report upon the investigation made by the jury.

Trials of those under indictment will probably begin in the July term of the district court, and the prosecutions are to be pushed through to final determination with the greatest dispatch possible.

TO HEAD RUSS DELEGATION

M. Muravieff, Ambassador at Rome, Appointed Chief of Peace Envoys.

St. Petersburg, July 3.—M. Muraveiff, Russian ambassador at Rome and former minister of justice, will be chief of the Russian delegation at the peace conference in August. His name has been forwarded to Washington as plenipotentiary, but no further Russian representatives will be named until the size of the Japanese mission is ascertained. If Japan names three plenipotentiaries, Russia will meet her wishes in regard to the number. In that case Baron Rosen will be accredited with M. Muravieff and in any event assist him. It is possible that a third negotiator may not be selected.

Wages of Sin.

Cleveland, O., July 3.—Albert Henry Darwin, 36 years of age, of Joliet, Ill., a widower and father of two children, shot and killed Mrs. Anna Gray, 30 years of age, the wife of a tailor living on Ottawa street, in Joliet, here Friday afternoon, and then attempted suicide. He was prevented from doing so by several men, who overpowered him after he had killed Mrs. Gray. Darwin was infatuated with the woman. The couple had eloped, and have been away from Joliet for a number of weeks.

Three Die in Heroic Attempt.

New York, July 3.—Three persons were burned to death in a fire in a four-story wooden tenement building in Devoe street, in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn Saturday. They were Arthur Bocklin, his wife Annie, and Henry Handle. The fire is believed to have been of an incendiary origin. All three lost their lives while trying to save their children who meanwhile had escaped in safety.

My Breath.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.

WHOLE BLACK SEA FLEET IN REVOLT

KNIAZ POTEMKINE HAS SURRENDERED

Odessa, Though Quiet, Resembles a Conquered City—Russian Officer Is Burned to Death by Frenzied Mob at Kursk.

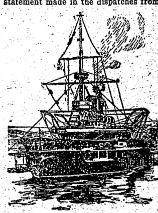
Washington, July 3.—The Russian Black sea fleet is reported to have mutinied. American Consul Heenan, at Odessa, has cabled the state department as follows: "Fleet reported in mutiny; two battleships here, Potemkine and another." Late Friday afternoon a cablegram was received from Consul Heenan informing the state department of the surrender to Admiral Kruger, of the mutineers aboard the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine. The cablegram from him concerning the report of the fleet in mutiny was received at the state department Saturday.

Situation Is Critical.

London, July 3.—A private telegram has been received here from Odessa Saturday which says: "The men of a second Russian battleship have mutinied. Can see no possibility of an early resumption of work. The position undoubtedly is critical.'

Fleet Surrendered.

A dispatch received here from St. Petersburg Saturday confirmed the statement made in the dispatches from Odessa Friday night to the effect that the mutineers of the Kniaz Potemkine surrendered to Rear Admiral Kruger.



BATTLESHIP SINOPE.
(One of Russian Warships Reported to Be in Hands of Mutinous Seamen.)

Ships Still at Port.

Odessa, July 3.—The battleships Kniaz Potemkine and Georgi Pobiedonosetz remain here. The others have left this port. The local authorities have refused to allow the crew of the Kniaz Potemkine to land for the purpose of purchasing food. They told the sailors to send ashore lists of what they wanted.

Odessa Like a Conquered City.

Odessa, July 3.—The night passed without an untoward incident. The terror of the situation is largely kept up by the social democrats' manifesto, proclaiming that Odessa has commenced the revolution.

It is stated that 300 charred corpses of victims of the conflagration of Wednesday night are still lying in a heap in one of the harbor sheds. Describing the incendiarism, the correspondent says:

"I saw women and young girls helping to carry bundles of straw and firewood, saturating them with a paraffin and then lighting torches, which were thrown in through the smashed doors and windows until the whole harbor front was aflame. A mob of from 12,000 to 13,000 persons fell back slowly and resistingly before the rifle volleys of the troops until the machine guns were brought into action, when they literally mowed down the frenzied mob." This correspondent estimates the number of killed at 1,400, without counting those burned to death.

The city has been quiet, but the place has the appearance of being under the occupation of a hostile army. Groups of soldiers are stationed at every hundred paces in the streets, and by order of the governor the electric light and gas has been cut off, leaving the streets in complete darkness. Railway communications in the north have been interrupted for four days.

Fleet Back at Sevastopol.

Mob Burns Officer to Death.

Kursk, European Russia, July 3.—An officer was burnt to death in a railway car here by a mob after a short, sharp conflict. The trouble arose through the officer ordering the arrest of a soldier. The latter was impudent and the officer drew his sword and cut the man down. The surrounding crowd drove the officer into a railway car from which he defended himself with his revolver. Ultimately the mob saturated the car with petroleum, set fire to it and the officer perished. The rioters were dispersed by dragoons.

Badger Law in Effect.

Milwaukee, July 3.—The anti-cigarette law enacted by the last legislature went into effect in Wisconsin Saturday. Not a cigarette or cigarette paper is now obtainable in any store in Milwaukee.

SUIT BEGAN AGAINST ROAD

SANTA FE DECLARED TO HAVE GIVEN REBATES.

Company Alleged to Have Violated Injunction—Contempt Proceedings Started.

Kansas City, Mo., July 3.—Contempt proceedings against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company, charging that company with being guilty of the violation of an injunction, issued at Kansas City by Judge John F. Phillips on March 24, 1902, restraining the road from giving rebates, was filed in the United States district court here Saturday at the instigation of Milton D. Purdy, of Washington, D. C., assistant attorney general, who came here recently at the direction of the attorney general to file the suit upon behalf of the government.

Although Judge Philips' restraining order, issued three years ago, was directed against seven other railroad companies besides the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the suit filed Saturday is solely against the latter road. The other railways enjoined previously by Judge Philips were the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy; Chicago & Alton, Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, and the Chicago Great Western. A similar order was issued by Judge Grosscup in Chicago on March 25, 1902, against six other roads.

The suit filed Saturday at the instigation of the federal government recites that the Santa Fe railway up to the time the injunction was granted, had been engaged in the practice of granting unlawful rebates and preferential rates and facilities to certain favored shippers whose names were to the complainants unknown, on traffic in packing house products, dressed meats, grain and the products of grain which were not granted to the public generally, and that the Santa Fe railway had also been granting unlawful rebates and preferential rates and facilities to certain other favored shippers.

BLINDS AND ROBS BOY.

Bank Messenger Loses $1,525 in Boldest Robbery Ever Carried Out in Chicago.

Chicago, July 3.—"Don" Beemy, a 16-year-old messenger employed by the grain and stock firm, Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington, was the victim Saturday of one of the most daring hold-ups ever perpetrated in the heart of the downtown business district. While the messenger boy was on the way from the Corn Exchange national bank in the Rookery building to his office with money to pay off employes, amounting to $1,525, he was waylaid by a highway robber, who threw a handful of black pepper into the boy's face. While the victim was staggering blindly about the street the robber seized the money, fled and escaped in the crowded streets.

The victim was picked up by sympathizing citizens, who had not had time to realize what had happened. He was carried to the office of Dr. C. Pruyn Stringfield in the Western Union building, where his eyes were bathed. On coming from the bank with the cash a passerby hurled pepper into the boys eyes. As the pepper began to burn his eyes the boy shrieked in an agony of pain and the robber rushed toward him. In a twinkling he had torn open the boy's coat and drew from it $1,525 in bills, overlooking the change which Beemy carried in the outside pocket. In an instant he was gone.

IS SECRETARY OF NAVY.

Bonaparte of Maryland Takes Oath of Office—Tracey Gets Philippine Plum.

Washington, July 3.—Charles J. Bonaparte, of Maryland, was sworn in as secretary of the navy Saturday. After taking the oath Mr. Bonaparte received in his office, shaking hands with each one, all the naval and marine corps officers on duty at the department. Subsequently he received the entire clerical force of the department, shaking hands with each. He then returned to his desk and took up the work awaiting him there.

Oyster Bay, July 3.—Judge James F. Tracey, of Albany, N. Y., was Saturday appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the Philippine islands. Judge Tracey came to Oyster Bay Saturday and had a conference with the president, at which he accepted the appointment. He is a practicing lawyer in Albany and a gold democrat. He will succeed on the bench of the Philippine supreme court Judge McDonough, of Albany whose term of one year has expired and who has returned to this country. Judge Tracey will go to the Philippines probably about September 1.

Ban on American Boycott.

Washington, July 3.—The Chinese government has taken steps to stop the anti-American agitation and boycott against American goods. Minister Rockhill at Peking Saturday cabled the state department that, after repeated and urgent representations from the American legation orders have been issued from the Chinese foreign office to all viceroys and governors in the empire to cease anti-American agitation and attempted boycott against American goods.

Hero Is Killed.

New York, July 3.—A five-ton boiler mounted on a truck ran away down the Amsterdam hill at 134th street Friday night and killed Joseph Olive, a watchman, who lost his life while averting a collision between the runaway and a crowded street car.

CAREER OF NOTED DIPLOMAT ENDED

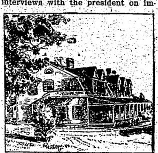
SECRETARY HAY SUDDENLY PASSES AWAY AT NEW HAMPSHIRE HOME.

HAD ACHIEVED HIS FOSTERED AMBITION

The Dead Official Looked Forward to Position Which He Occupied from Boyhood — The President Sends Condolences.

Newbury, N. H., July 3.—Secretary of State John Hay died Saturday morning. The signs immediately preceding his death were those of pulmonary embolism. Mr. Hay's condition during all of Friday had been entirely satisfactory. Mrs. Hay and Drs. Scudder and Murphy were at the secretary's bedside when the end came.

Secretary Hay left Washington last Friday for his summer home on Lake Sunapee. He had been in Washington since the preceding Monday, after his return from the several months which he spent in Europe. During his brief stay in Washington, Mr. Hay has attended actively to business before the state department, and had had several interviews with the president on important pending questions. At the time of his departure he was looking forward to a period of rest and recreation at his summer home, and fully expected to return to Washington in the fall fully recuperated in health and strength. Although he appeared considerably better than when he left Washington for Europe, just following his severe illness of last spring, yet it was evident to his family and friends that he was far from being a well man.



SUMMER HOME OF SECRETARY HAY, WHERE HE DIED.

The Dead Diplomat.

John Hay was born in Salem, Ind., Oct. 8, 1838, of an old Scotch family. He was graduated from Brown university in 1858, and studied law at Springfield, Ill., with Abraham Lincoln, who was then a neighbor, and was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1861. He went to Washington with President Lincoln as his assistant secretary. Mr. Hay was intensely loyal to President Lincoln, and entered heartily into all the duties that the martyred chief magistrate assigned to him. In 1864 President Lincoln gave him a commission in the army, and he was made a major and adjutant general, serving at Hilton Head, and later in Florida, under Mr. Lincoln's personal direction. When he was mustered out of the military service, April 22, 1867, he had won the brevet of lieutenant-colonel and colonel "for faithful and meritorious services during the war."

Having an ambition for a diplomatic career, Mr. Lincoln decided to send him to Paris, but before he had departed the president was assassinated. Mr. Hay's service under the diplomatic branch of the government continued for several years. He went to Paris, as President Lincoln had planned he should, as secretary of legation, learning to speak the French language fluently before he resigned March 28, 1867, to become secretary of the legation at Vienna under Minister Motley. In June of 1869 he accompanied Minister Sickles to Madrid, where he remained till the autumn of 1870.

Soon after his return to this country Mr. Hay, who had already written sufficiently to attract attention as a litterateur, embarked on a journalistic career, and on the invitation of Horace Greeley he became an editorial writer on the New York Tribune, then a power in republican politics.

From 1876 to 1900 he took an active part in presidential campaigns. When Mr. McKinley was elected president he sent Mr. Hay as ambassador to England, and especially during the Spanish-American war he gave evidence at that eventful time of his conception of the fundamentals of American policy in international affairs.

Although Mr. Hay secured the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, brought about the reference of the most far-reaching question in the recent Venezuela dispute—priority in payment for a belligerent claimant—to the international court of The Hague, and arranged for the peaceable adjustment of the Alaska boundary question, he is known throughout the world principally for the breadth and foresight of his policy in Asia. Mr. Hay came to the state department in September, 1898, at the close of the Spanish war.

Roosevelt in Grief.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 3.—President Roosevelt sent the following message to Mrs. Hay: "Mrs. John Hay, Lake Sunapee: I cannot believe the dreadful news. Pray accept our deepest sympathy in your terrible bereavement. I do not know what to say to express my sorrow.
—Theodore Roosevelt."

OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE COUNTY
OFFICIAL PAPER RED LAKE FALLS CITY

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

THE president should let Fairbanks sit on the lid once in a while to cool it off.

SOME country editor is offering a a prize for the photograph of a gubernatorial candidate the Republicans can unite upon.

IT is up to some political economy student to explain the difference between a Roosevelt Republican and a Bryan Democrat.

THE railroad bureau has discovered a manifest difference between the country press and some of the great metropolitan dailies. The former is not for sale.

THE dead and wounded statistics for the glorious Fourth are now appearing. Every year is about alike in this respect. Patriotism and enthusiasm must pay a penalty.

YES, Bro. Eastman, Red Lake Falls is still the county seat of Red Lake county, and gives every indication of maintaining that distinction. The decisions of the courts seem to be quite uniform in confirming our title.

RAY JONES expects to be made governor of Alaska. It seems the present incumbent has been stealing from the goverment and the president was looking around for an honest man to fill the position when the rays of his lantern caught Mr. Jones.

ONE of the snappiest and brightest editorial pages in the state is conducted by Editor Gordon of the Brown's Valley Tribune. This paper is opened with eager expectancy of finding a feast of good things, and we are never disappointed.

THE pestiferous "cheap screw" lobbyist in the employ of corporations, whose business it is to hang around the capitol and "steer things" for their employers, ought to be thrown out as a general nuisance, says the Windom Citizen. Governor Johnson, or his successor, should devote a portion of his next message to this evil.

IT has been discovered that tax titles to ten lots in the site of the new Minnesota capitol are held by several St. Paul persons. They were acquired at the last delinquent tax sale. One of the purchasers, on discovering the prize he had picked up, was so elated that he gave immediate notice that the state would have to pay handsomely for a release.

SPEAKING of congressmen in general Mr. Eddy states that a congressman is valuable in an increasing ratio every year until he begins to think the country can't exist without him, and then he ceases to be of any value and should be shelved. Regarding the senate while he does not think it disloyal or dishonest he believes it is made up of fossils and requires rejuvenation. The ideas of today are not the ideas of yesterday says he. "A bill that would have been a fine thing ten years ago is the reverse now. We want new blood and new ideas. President Roosevelt is the man of the type we want in all public life, especially the senate."

THE COUNTRY EDITOR.

IN an editorial referring to the attempts of the railroad press bureaus to educate the country press of this state and to utilize it in explaining to the farmers the great injustice that would be done to the railroads under the passage of the government freight rate regulation, the Minneapolis Journal says of the country editors:

"The conduct of the average editor in Minnesota is extremely disappointing to the gentlemen who have undertaken his mental direction. He is singularly unappreciative of the favors being showered. He reads the literature, for a good country editor reads everything he gets his hands on, and then dips his pen in red ink and sits down to write a 'sassy' reply, serving notice on the railroads that they have got to get in line with the president's recommendations and submit to regulation, or worse will happen.

"The country editor, evidently, is no easy mark. That is not a new discovery, for certain classes of business men have known it a long time. The editor is a very busy man. The distractions of the postoffice, local politics and other avocations, with the sad antics of the gasoline engine, may engage his attention so his editorial columns fails to atrain George Harvey's standard. His little items about the subscribers who came to town and paid up in pork or vegetables may sound loosely written, but it is poor policy to underestimate his mental equipment. He reads the papers, and notes what he reads. He travels, too, and every year has an opportunity for a pleasant and educative trip to some quarter of the country. If the baby is not too small, he packs up, leaves the office with the devil, and spends a week or more getting up to date in some new section of the country. He is usually an information bureau for the village on every subject but religion. Evidently, the man or corporation that starts out to educate the country editor has a contract on his hands.

FOOD DETECTIVES.

Men Will Be Appointed in Most Counties of the State.

As a part of the detective system of the state dairy and food commission outlined a few days ago E. K. Slater, commissioner, has decided to appoint food inspectors in practically every county in the state, whose duty it will be to keep on the lookout for adulterated products shipped in from other states and to report to headquarters at St. Paul.

These inspectors will serve without salary. In many instances they will be secretaries of retail merchants' associations, and, it is thought, will be recompensed by the abolition of adulterated food and the elevation of the retail trade generally. These inspectors will be clothed with the power of a regular salaried inspector of the department and will be expected to watch box car merchants and shipments of adulterated food into Minnesota from large concerns in Chicago, New York and other outside cities.

"This is a plan to protect the legitimate Minnesota merchants from competition with manufacturers of and dealers in adulterated products in other states," said Mr. Slater. "We hope it will also serve to protect the people of the state from the inferior goods sometimes sold by outside firms, which, being located in other states, are beyond the reach of the Minnesota law.

"If we are able to catch a representative of any of these firms in Minnesota, we of course can arrest him, but if the goods are shipped in without any representative, all we can do is to seize the goods, analyze them, and, if they are found illegal, notify the consignee, who will probably not patronize the firm again.

"This is in no sense a campaign against the legitimate dealers in other states. Our only desire is to abolish impure food, whether manufactured in Minnesota or in other states.

"I shall consult with the attorney general, and if I have authority to appoint such inspector to serve without salary, I shall do so."

"I FEEL AS GOOD AS I DID AT 20."

The Phase of Catarrh Most Prevalent in Summer Is a Run Down, Worn Out Condition Known as Systemic Catarrh.

Mr. Geo. A. Hughes, 808 Mass. Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I am forty-five years old now, and feel as good as I did at 20. I was very thin and run down, but Peruna acted just right in my case. I am a carpenter and sometimes need a tonic. Peruna is the medicine for a poor man."—Geo. A. Hughes.

A Congressman Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family.

Hon. Thos. J. Henderson, Member of Congress from Illinois, and Lieutenant in the Union Army for eight years, writes from the Lemon building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Peruna has been used in my family with the very best results and I take pleasure in recommending your valuable remedy to my friends as a tonic and an effective cure for catarrh."—Thos. J. Henderson.

Catarrh assumes different phases in different seasons of the year. In the early summer systemic catarrh is most prevalent. That tired, all worn out feeling in nine cases out of ten is due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes. Peruna cleanses the mucous membranes and cures the catarrh wherever located.

There are no remedies for catarrh just as good as Peruna. Accept no substitutes.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

Your Watch Is a Compass.

"Most men who own a good watch," said a jeweler, "think they know all about it. They have the number fixed in their memory in case it is stolen. They could probably pick it out from fifty other watches with their eyes shut. But how many men know that their watch is a compass and will tell north from south as accurately as it will tell the time of day? Stanley, the explorer, did not know it until he had groped his way through the dark continent and met a Belgian sailor on the coast. Every watch is a compass. If you point the hour hand to the sun, the south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the dial. Suppose, for instance, it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and II on the watch is exactly south. If it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun and the figure X on the dial is due south. No man need get lost if he carries a watch."

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

SCROFULA A Disease We Inherit

The tainted blood of ancestors lays upon the shoulders of innocent offspring untold suffering by transmitting to them, through the blood, that blighting disease, Scrofula; for in nearly every instance the disease can be traced to some family blood trouble, or blood-kin marriage which is contrary to the laws of nature. Swelling, ulcerating glands of the neck, catarrh, weak eyes, sores, abscesses, skin eruptions, white swelling, hip disease and other deformities, with a wasting of the natural strength and vitality, are some of the ways this miserable disease manifests itself. The poison transmitted through the blood pollutes and weakens that health-sustaining fluid and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter and tubercular deposits, often resulting in consumption. A disease which has been in the family blood for generations, perhaps, or at least since the birth of the sufferer, requires constitutional treatment. S. S. S. is the remedy best fitted for this. It cleanses the blood of all scrofulous and tuberculous poisons, makes it rich and pure and under the tonic effects of this great blood medicine the general health improves, the symptoms all pass away, there is a sure return to health, the disease is cured permanently while posterity is protected. Book on the blood and any advice wished, furnished by our physicians, without charge.

Scrofula appeared on the head of my little grandchild when only 18 months old, and spread rapidly over her body. The disease next attacked the eyes and we feared she would lose her sight. It was then that we decided to try S. S. S. That medicine at once made a speedy and complete cure. She is now a young lady, and has never had a sign of the disease to return.

GOPHER GOSSIP.

St. Paul.—It is believed that the census returns will show a population of nearly 2,000,000.

Washington.—Ole K. Shermoen was appointed postmaster at Stockwood, vice C. B. Romkey, resigned.

St. Paul.—Prof. W. M. Hays advocates the plan of having schools of agriculture in every county.

St. Paul.—William Ledy, night clerk at the Great Northern hotel, is probably fatally injured by a fall.

Moorhead.—The summer school for teachers at the normal opened yesterday with an enrollment of over 200.

Duluth.—Duluth butchers and grocers' associations alleged to operate in violation of Minnesota anti-trust laws.

St. Paul.—The butter and cheese contest, under the auspices of the state dairy and food commission, has 180 entries.

Minneapolis.—The safe in the general store of C. J. Carlson, 720 Twenty-sixth avenue north, was wrecked by safe blowers.

Little Falls.—The residence of J. A. McGregor, liveryman, was struck by lightning and destroyed. The loss is $2,500; insurance, $1,000.

Crookston.—The lowering of the grade on one of the streets caused a good deal of opposition, as some of the lots were left up in the air.

St. Cloud.—The state board of control has let the contract for the plumbing in the new normal dormitory to O. F. Doyle of St. Cloud.

Minneapolis.—The stock and plant of the Bohn Manufacturing company of St. Paul has been purchased by the City Sash and Door company.

Ft. Snelling.—Roy Stevens, private in Co. G, 28th U. S. infantry, was instantly killed by falling from the bridge spanning the river at Fort Snelling.

Two Harbors.—Arthur Basie, a 3-year-old son of Peter Basie, a miner in the Winnipeg mines, is dead from burns, having ignited his clothes while playing with matches.

Duluth.—While driving a roller on the grounds of the Northland Golf club, Herman Utick fell from his seat in front of the roller, which passed over his skull, crushing it flat and killing him instantly.

Washington.—By direction of the secretary of the interior, 37,800 acres of Indian lands in Minnesota will be opened to settlement on Aug. 17. These lands at present are partly in the Fond du Lac, Red Lake, White Earth and the Chippewas of Minnesota reservations.

Pipestone.—Crops were reported slightly damaged in the eastern part of the county. The smokestack at the electric light plant was blown down and crashed through the roof of the wholesale grocery house of Hornby, Nichols, Parker company, permitting the rain to flood the top floor and damage goods.

Superior.—The steel freight steamer George W. Perkins, built for the Pittsburg Steamship company, was successfully launched at the yards of the Superior shipbuilding company, being christened by Miss Jennie Jewell Powell of Duluth.

Stillwater.—The prison population is 692, equal to that of any period in the history of the institution. It is expected to grow before the courts take the usual summer vacation. Cots in corridors are in use and the female ward has fourteen women in ten cells.

St. Paul.—The revenue fund in the state treasury is overdrawn practically $347,000. A draft of $43,558.33 to pay interest on state capital certificates July 1, has run the amount of the overdraft up to the large figures.

Sauk Center.—Grave fears for the safety of the water power dam here are entertained. The Little Sauk dam, twelve miles north, went out and every stream tributary to the river is swollen. Melrose is alarmed over the rapid rising of the river.

New Ulm.—One of the windows of the Stuebe meat market was forced out by wind and William F. Fenske was cut in the leg. It is feared his leg will have to be amputated. The glass struck him just below the knee and cut the flesh away from the bone and also injured the bone.

Minneapolis.—Henry Hatten, when arraigned in police court, admitted without a show of shame that he had robbed his little son's bank that he might satisfy his cravings for whisky.

St. Paul.—P. M. Kirst, public examiner, reports as a result of the examination of the Adams Express company's Minnesota business that there is due the state $99.68 as gross earnings tax heretofore unpaid on newspaper express carried between St. Paul and Duluth in 1900 and 1902. The company has agreed to pay the tax without any contest.

Crookston.—All of the Italian laborers along the Great Northern line between this city and Winnipeg, who are employed on the extensive improvements being made on the line, struck, not for more wages or for fewer hours, but for permission to work twelve hours a day instead of ten hours, as they have been doing.

Minneapolis.—Mrs. Jessie Lacy was the victim of a fatal accident. She swallowed the contents of a package containing ten grains of strychnine in the belief that it was a headache powder, and expired in agony ten minutes after having taken the poison.

Franklin.—This section was visited by a terrific electrical storm. On many of the farms north of town the loss of crops is said to be complete. Lightning struck the Franklin mill, but did no damage. The funeral of William Fox Sr., a Birch Coulee pioneer, was held here. He was [illegible]

COURAGE THAT WON

......By Frank H. Sweet

Copyright, 1904, by Frank H. Sweet

Judge Pauls went down the office steps briskly, his face, which a few moments before had been creased into a frown, now beaming with the satisfaction of duty well done. He had forbidden the new doctor, who had no prospects and no faculty for money making, to visit his house any more. From what he knew of Edith and what he had seen in the young doctor's eyes he felt that he need apprehend no further trouble, and the affair had not gone far enough for either of the young people to suffer any heartache.

Dr. Phil was standing in front of an open window in his office, his hands thrust deep into his pockets, gazing out at the judge as he crossed the street and passed on through the field opposite toward the river, probably to see if the swollen torrent was doing any damage to his lands. Then, with the same strong, self contained look which the judge had seen and, against his will, admired, the young doctor turned back into his office.

There was no despondency in his clear gray eyes, no weakening of his square chin. He had fought his way from almost absolute ignorance at twelve in the depths of a coal mine through various situations to one school after another, through college and medical school and hospital practice, until now he was here in an office of his own waiting for the first patient.

There was a large back region of farm and mountain people here, and once he could gain their confidence it would offer him such a field as he loved, a life of hard, continuous work, with much of it in long journeyings under the open sky. The horror of his early boyhood in the black depths of the mine could never leave him; to be in the open air was to be in God's own world. The matter of recompense in money never troubled him.

As he turned from the window a man came hurrying across a field from the direction of the river. Reaching the opposite fence, he vaulted over without seeking the gate and ran straight to Dr. Phil's office.

THE ANIMAL SEEMED TO THINK IT FOOLHARDY TO PROCEED.

"Hello, doctor!" he called sharply. "You got a telephone?"

"Yes."

"Well, you call down to Dr. Peters at the Ferry road an' tell him to hurry to Dan Sims' house, on t'other side the river—tell him Lonesome valley. Dan jest hollered across to me an' said his wife'd cut herself with an ax, bad, an' they was holdin' back the bleedin' well's they could. The bridge is down to the Ferry road."

"But it's nearly twenty miles to the Ferry bridge. It will take Dr. Peters hours to reach her."

"Can't help that. No man could get across the river this side the bridge, an' Dr. Peters is the nearest. You'd have to go forty miles."

Dr. Phil was hurriedly gathering up some things from his table.

"There's the branch that runs into the river from the mountains," he called over his shoulder. "After this freshet it must be a torrent, as dangerous as the river itself. Dr. Peters could never cross it. He is too old."

The man's countenance fell. "That's so," he admitted. "I'd forgot all about the branch. I s'pose it's jest tearin' now. Well, I'll holler back to Dan an' tell him a doctor'll be over jest as soon's the water goes down a little an' that they must do the best they can."

"You'll do nothing of the sort. Hurry round to the stable behind the office and bring my horse. You'll find the bridle hanging on a peg. Never mind a saddle; that will be too much weight."

"But why"—

"Hurry, I tell you!" thundered Dr. Phil. "The woman may be bleeding to death. I'll be ready by the time you are back."

When the man appeared Dr. Phil was at the corner of the office, and he threw himself instantly upon the horse's back.

"You can't go"— the man tried to say, but Dr. Phil did not hear him. He was tearing across the street, and when they came to the fence the horse took it at a bound. A few minutes later they were at the river.

Several men were working in the edge of the water, trying to rescue lumber and other floating wreckage from the torrent. Judge Pauls was standing on the bank watching them. As the horse dashed down the bank the men threw up their hands warningly.

"You can't cross here!" one of them yelled. "It's sure death!"

"A woman's on the other side dying," was Dr. Phil's only answer.

He did not even attempt to check the horse, but plunged into the water at full speed.

This horse was the only piece of property that Dr. Phil owned, and he had been able to make the purchase because the ugliness and viciousness and small size of the animal had made the price very low. But the horse was apparently afraid of nothing in the world and had strong staying powers, and these were qualities which soon convinced the young doctor that he had obtained the very animal he needed without regard to price.

However, with that rushing, roaring torrent before him, the animal seemed to think it foolhardy to proceed, for before he had gone a dozen feet from shore he tried to turn and swim back. But now the firm, masterful hand of the rider was controlling his head, the calm, inflexible voice was sounding encouragingly in his ears, and after a few ineffectual attempts to turn the horse directed his gaze toward the opposite shore and did what Dr. Phil was doing —his best.

But no living thing could stem or cross that mad rush of water, and this Dr. Phil well knew. He must reach the other side, but he was not foolhardy.

The torrent was winding in its course. Dr. Phil's gaze had swept keenly from bank to bank; then he forced his horse into a current which approached the opposite shore nearly a half mile down. To the horrified spectators it looked as though they were being swept away, powerless to help themselves, as, indeed, they were for the time being. All Dr. Phil did was to guide the horse, and all the horse could do was to keep them above water. But as the current approached its nearest point to the other shore, not more than ten feet distant, Dr. Phil suddenly slipped into the water, with his hand twisted in the horse's mane, and in that position, freed from his weight and with the strong right arm assisting by quick, powerful strokes, the horse threw himself forward with a desperate effort which brought his feet upon the bottom. A few minutes later they emerged from the water and staggered up the bank.

Dr. Phil did not hesitate. Lonesome valley was two miles away, and he could reach it more quickly on foot than he could on the horse in its present exhausted condition. So he turned the animal loose; perhaps he could recover him again when he returned.

He found the woman weak from loss of blood and lack of proper attention. Another hour's delay might have been fatal. He remained with her two days, until she was out of danger, and then returned to the river. Contrary to his expectation, he found the horse grazing quietly within a few rods of where he had left him, and the animal greeted him with an unmistakable whinny of pleasure and relief. Perhaps the common danger in the river and the manner of escape had won the horse's respect and dependence; possibly the animal was already becoming fond of him. Dr. Phil had not received a fee for his services, but the family's gratitude and the way the horse trotted toward him, whinnying, were enough, and he recrossed the river with buoyant heart.

In his desk he found a letter which read:

My Dear Doctor—I was a little hasty the other day, and I realized it when I saw you crossing the river. Will you overlook it by taking dinner with us Sunday?

THE VALUE OF OPALS.

It Mainly Depends on the Colors Shown In the Stones.

Veins of opals are usually met with in soft formations where nothing above ground indicates their presence. The search for them, therefore, often requires considerable time. But it is not extremely difficult, for opals are generally found near the surface. Indeed, it was thought for a long time that they were not to be found as deep as twelve feet below the surface. This opinion has, however, given way in the light of evidence, because opals of great value have been discovered at a depth of fifty feet.

The value of opals depends upon several considerations, of which the principal one is the color. It is important that they should be bright and not present streaks or spots alternating with uncolored substance. The most valuable are those which have red fires or mixtures of red and yellow, blue and green. Opals of a single tint are of little value unless the tint is particularly striking and the figure beautiful. Indeed one of the essential qualities of the opal is the arrangement of the figure, which sets off strikingly the hue of the stone.

When the figure is quite regular and distinct it is the more valuable, much less so when the grain is quite small and irregular. Sometimes the color appears as a single blaze or with figures regularly spaced. It may then be of a fine ruby red and is much sought after, but oftenest the uniform tint is only green or reddish and has but little brilliancy.

The cutting is very important for the opal. Thus a thick stone will be much less beautiful than a thin stone, which on losing part of its volume, loses also the figure. The foundation tint contributes much to the beauty. It ought to be transparent, slightly milky and harmonize fully with the different reflections of the opal, which when it is really beautiful, presents a variety of hues infinitely pleasing to the eye.—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

THE TERM "IDIOT."

The word idiot is itself of interesting history. Its primary Greek significance was that of a private as distinguished from a public person. Our words idiom, idiosyncrasy, etc., are from the same root. The idiot in Greek was simply one not engaged in public affairs. The beginnings of the degradation of the word are shown in its application soon to the common people as distinguished from the upper classes. It was then applied to unprofessional and lay people and soon became the slurring title of the unskillful and awkward. By slow degrees it became applicable to the stupid and at last to the imbecile and idiot. As late as the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the word was still used in its earlier senses. This long sad history speaks indirectly of the pathetic history of the imbecile. If he was not killed or starved to death by neglect, etc., he was usually reduced to the condition of a beast either about the house or fields or was actually driven into the woods and forced to live in caves, among wild animals, etc. In 1799 Itard took a "wild boy" found in the forests of Aveyron and tried to teach him. The ability of the wild boys and wolf children to live and the number that did so shows that idiocy, as we have later learned, is of all degrees and that a mind may be variously defective in some ways, even idiotic, but in others with capabilities well preserved. Blind Tom, the pianist, and the large number of mathematic idiots are examples that show how far we are from understanding the real nature of idiocy, and they more than suggest the partial retention of sound mentality of the defective, the possibility of seizing upon the one or few normal or even highly developed faculties and perhaps bringing others into co-ordination with them and to normality. The court fools and jesters of the olden times were often such partial idiots and defectives, and they truly lived upon their "wits," which were often better than those of their masters.—American Medicine.

THE VALUE OF EXAMPLE.

To have your child truthful, be truthful.

To have him temperate, be temperate in all things.

To have him kind to others, be yourself kind to others.

Prescribe healthful amusements and so far as you can take part in them.

Prove to him by your life that a good name is to be chosen before great riches.

Teach him that riches are not to be despised, but should never be got by doing harm to others; that when acquired should be treated as a trust, not as a hoard.

To have him honest, present to him in yourself a living example of honesty. The chief part of a child's knowledge comes through observation. Acts mean more to him than speech.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Demonstration.

Tommy and his little brother had been playing together most peacefully for some time when suddenly the baby gave a howl, followed by a series of shrieks. The mother rushed in and while soothing the crying child sought to find out what had hurt him. Tommy [illegible] resisted her cross examination for a time, but finally admitted that he was guilty.

"What did you do to him?" she asked.

"I stuck him with a safety pin."

"What in the world did you do that for?"

"Nurse said you couldn't hurt yourself with a safety pin, and I wanted to see if it was so."

Robert Burns' Muse.

Robert Burns, though he had the choice of such works as the Spectator, "Locke on the Human Understanding" and Pope, together with odd plays of Shakespeare, which formed the staple reading of his home, nevertheless owed most to an old collection of songs. "This," he says, "was my vade mecum! I pored over them during my rest or walking to labor, song by song, verse by verse, carefully noting the true, tender and sublime from affectation and fustian. I am convinced I owe to this practice much of my critic craft, such as it is!"—All the Year Round.

Robert Louis Stevenson.

Here is a pen portrait of Robert Louis Stevenson, written by Dr. Alexander H. Japp: "Not so tall probably as he seems at first sight from his extreme thinness, but the pose and air could not be otherwise described than as distinguished. Head of fine type, carried well on the shoulders, and, in walking, with the impression of being a little thrown back; long brown hair, falling from under a broadish brimmed Spanish form of soft felt hat, Rembrandtesque; loose kind of Iverness cape when walking and invariable velvet jacket inside the house."

The Gain From Others.

A man is strong in proportion to the quantity, the quality and the variety of forces which he absorbs from others. He is a power in proportion to the extent of his contact—socially, mentally and morally—with his kind and a weakling just in proportion as he cuts himself off from others.—Success.

After the Defalcation.

Junior Partner—I never suspected him at all. Senior Partner—Neither did I, although it did seem a little singular to me that he should be able to pay $2,000 a year rent out of a salary of $1,500.—New York Press.

No man will be found who does not sometimes hope or fear beyond the limits of sober probability.—Johnson.

CHEAP EXCURSIONS
TO WESTERN CANADA
$10.00 FOR ROUND TRIP TICKETS
TO THE FAMOUS CARROT RIVER VALLEY

During the month of July the Canadian Northern Railway will sell tickets on any day from EMERSON on the INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY to Melfort and return, good for thirty days, with stop over privileges, for $10.00. Regular trains for the Carrot River Valley leave Winnipeg every Monday and Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. Minnesota and Dakota landseekers should buy tickets to Emerson, the International Boundary, where they can then purchase the $10.00 excursion tickets to Melfort and return.

THE CARROT RIVER VALLEY which now has railway facilities for the first time, is the most fertile part of the great Saskatchewan Valley. Two-thirds of the country is open prairie. The soil is a rich loam varying from one to four feet in depth. The running streams in every township furnish an abundance of pure water. The praries are covered with richly luxuriant grass. There is absolutely no Alkali or stone and there is no section in Western Canada to-day that will produce the same enormous yields of No. 1 Hard Wheat. The country too being equally well adapted to diversified farming. With the splendid railway facilities now afforded by the building of the Canadian Northern Railway through this marvelously rich district, this section of Western Canada will be settled quickly and prices will advance rapidly. Act Now, and get land in the best part of all Canada at First Prices.

these new towns offer to the business and professional man in every line opportunities to get in on the ground floor in the most thriving, hustling towns in the most productive and prosperous sections of Western Canada.

Why Do Other Stove Manufacturers Imitate the Majestic?
It was the MAJESTIC manufacturers that first began putting malleable iron in the top of a range. Today they have, like all good things, many imitators, but not a one of them was made until the MAJESTIC had proven what it was worth. The manufacturers of this range have spent thirty-five years in perfecting this one thing, that's all they make, that's why we've had the success we have have had with it.
The Majestic has just lately introduced the charcoal iron range body—watch the imitations soon.

LOCAL NEWS.

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls, Minn. tf

The many friends of Arthur Mercier will be pleased to learn that he has become a member of the firm he has been working for at Thief River Falls the past few weeks. He recently became one of the proprietors and reports doing a fine business. His many Red Lake Falls friends wish him success in his undertaking.

The board of education is working diligently on the plans and specifications for the new North Side school building and expect to have all plans perfected in the very near future. Our local contractors can secure any desired information by calling on members of the board. It is probable that bids will be advertised for next week.

E. E. Roddis, of Pipestone, was a business visitor at this place one day last week. He is one of the prominent attorneys of his section of the state and enjoys a large practice. This was his first visit to this part of the state and he expressed himself as highly pleased with the country, and predicted a bright future for Red Lake county.

R. E. Bottomley, of Fairmont, Superintendent of Schools of Martin county, was in the city last week for several days. He recently purchased a quarter section of land in Gervais township and was here for the purpose of looking over his property. He is a genial and entertaining gentlemen and thinks well of the future of this section of the state.

C. W. Cress, one of the prominent farmers of Lake Pleasant, met with a peculiar and serious accident last week. While nailing some boards in his barn, one of the planks fell against the side of his head and three large nails struck against his ear and temple. For a time blood poisoning was feared, but at present Mr. Cress is doing well and will soon be entirely recovered.

Parenteau Bros, the Terrebonne cheese manufacturers, report a fine business this year and say they have enjoyed a prosperous season thus far. These gentlemen have built up a enviable reputation for fine goods and have no difficulty in finding a ready market for their product. They paid their farmer patrons 80 cents per hundred for milk during the month just past and it is needless to say their patrons feel satisfied and proud of the institution.

Saturday, July 15th., is the date set for the school election at which time two directors will be elected to succeed Messrs. Theo. Garceau and Frank E. Hunt, whose terms expire. It has been suggested by several of our citizens that it would be a good idea to re-elect these two gentlemen. They are eminently qualified for the position, being capable, trustworthy men, and both take an active interest in school matters. They have proven their worth on the board, and having knowledge of the work, they would be in a position to give still better service should they be returned to the board.

The special school election held Monday evening at the Lafayette building to vote on the proposition of bonding the district for $3,000 proved to be a very one-sided affair, resulting in a vote of 88 to 2 in favor of the idea. This insures a fine school building for the North Side, the district having about $8,000 to put into the structure. It is gratifying to know that our citizens are of one opinion on this question, and the school board is to be congratulated for the enterprise and progressive spirit manifested. Work on the new building will be rushed and an effort will be made to have every thing in readiness by the time school calls in September.

B. K. Cress, of Washburn, Ill., has been in Red Lake Falls this week visiting his son, C. W., one of the prosperous Lake Pleasant farmers. The elder Mr. Cress owns a half-section of land in the corn belt of Illinois, worth $200 per acre, and is one of the substantial and prominent citizens of his county. Mrs. Cress has the distinction of being a cousin of Mrs. William J. Bryan, her family name being Baird, the same as that of Mrs. Bryan. The COURIER is indebted for a pleasant call from Mr. Cress.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Argue entertained forty-four of their friends at a six o'clock dinner last Thursday evening in honor of their first wedding anniversary. The tables were arranged on the lawn, and the weather man was certainly kindly disposed, since it was one of those beautiful summer evenings we read about. After an elaborate dinner the guests spent an hour or more in social intercourse and having a genuine good time. A large number of beautiful gifts were presented the host and hostess. It was certainly one of the most elaborate and enjoyable social functions of the year.

Crookston Times: Marcus Johnson and S. M. Sivertson of the Red Lake Falls and Crookston Milling companies who drove in this afternoon from Red Lake Falls, report that the condition of crops along the road between this city and Red Lake Falls look fine as a result of the two days warm sunshine and clear weather. The stand of grain near this city particularly is in good condition and every indication points to an unusual large crop. Near Red Lake Falls where the soil is heavy and the country low and drainage in an unfinished state the appearance of the grain is not so well off. It is thought however, if the warm weather continues it will bring the grain along in good shape.

Lewis Albers has been appointed deputy state boiler inspector for the 62d district which comprises the county of Polk. As he is also deputy for the 61st district, which is composed of the counties of Norman, Red Lake, Clearwater and Beltrami, he has work that will keep him busy for some months to come. He recently returned from Norman county where he had been at work, and leaves to-day for Red Lake where he will inspect the lake steamers. He expects to be away on this trip for three or four weeks. J. E. Morrisy, of Crookston, is the state inspector for the 62d district, and H. E. Zimmerson, of Ada, is inspector for the 61st. The gentlemen are indeed fortunate in securing Mr. Albers as deputy as he is eminently fitted for the position, and understands all the ins and outs of the business.

She Tried Five Doctors.

Mrs. Frances L. Sales, of Missouri Valley, Ia., writes "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble five years; had severe pains in my back and a frequent desire to urinate. When riding I experienced much pain over the region of the kidneys. I tried five physicians without benefit and then concluded to try Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three $1.00 bottles I was completely cured." A. L. Riechert.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough for fourteen years. Nothing helped me until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief, and affected a permanent cure. An Awful Accusation.

St. Peter Free Press: One of the many questions the members of the last state senate will be asked to explain should they ask for a re-election is why did they defeat the bill, passed by the house, that provided for a test of illuminating oil as to its explosive properties? To the uninitiated it would seem that the Standard Oil Co. had more influence with the senators than the people of Minnesota.

DEER PARK.

Special to the Courier.

And still it rains.

The assessor has thus far failed to show up.

Two more homesteads were filed on here last week.

Your correspondent was a Thief River caller Thursday.

Theo. Hyland was at Gully last Wednesday for a load of oats.

C. W. Johnson purchased a fine team of oxen from G. Swanson last week.

Geo. Singer touched things up a little the other day when he placed a large cupalo on his big barn.

The Nesland brothers have furnished Postmaster Suerig with all the necessary office fixtures during the past week.

Enumerator O. H. Olson put the finishing touch to his work up this way last Wednesday. He now has only the town east to finish.

Ole G. Vatendahl was at Thief River last week where he went to receive treatment for his eyes. He was under the care of Dr. Bockman.

Henry Peterson, who worked for some time past for Geo. Singer, left recently and is now in the employ of his brother-in-law, Will Rodman.

Mrs. W. A. Swanson and daughter returned from Thief River last Thursday where Miss Mina had been under the care of Dr. Bockman.

Thor Moen and family arrived here Saturday from near Fosston. They will make their home on the homestead purchased by Mr. Moen last winter.

The Skreland brothers and Mrs. W. A. Swanson and daughter Mina spent a couple of days visiting friends and relatives at Grit during the latter part of the week.

Sunbeam Hunt passed through here last Saturday. He is making arrangements for a cook, mail carrier and a type setter. Surely he intends to go some when he gets started.

C. W. Johnson was caught out in the rain a couple of miles from home the other evening. Charles says he "had to stay" away anyway. We did not see him until the following day. But he still prays for rain.

Charles. W. Johnson says that Editor Hunt is not the only one looking for a cook. There are others. He says he hasn't quite as many warm inducements to offer as the editor, but feels confident he could make some lonely miss everlastingly smile if she would come his way.

Postmaster Singer says that his office is well patronized and has a large cancellation already. Mr. Singer now has one of the best equipped offices in the county. Fifty neat boxes add greatly to the appearance of the place. The mail comes to Rhoda three times a week.

Charles W. Johnson invited a couple of his next door neighbors to his home for a Sunday chat. They arrived promptly but Charles fell asleep during the conversation and was soon peacefully dreaming of the green fields of Illinois and the fair maiden he left behind a few short months ago. Seeing all efforts fruitless the visitors departed and will call again when Charles is awake.

Doctors Said he would not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's kidney cure was recommended to me by a friend and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entrrely well. A. L. Riechert.

Mrs. J. Hanson is visiting relatives and friends at Sletten, Fosston and Thief River Falls.

Mrs. I. Lillo received the sad news recently of the death of her brother who lives at Appleton, Minn.

Mrs. G. Holstad has recently moved here to join her husband who resides on his claim on the north side of the river.

We are glad to welcome our old time neighbor Knut Byklum who has spent some years in his mother country, Norway.

Miss Grace Green closed her term of school in district No. 8 last Friday. She leaves immediately for Red Lake Falls to attend the summer school.

Mrs. Fore was called to Fosston last week on account of the illness of her mother. She expects to meet her mother, Mart Adson, of Duluth, while there.

A Surprise Party.

The Passing of Wylie.

St. Hilaire Spectator: For the first time since 1883 the people of Wylie will today be without mail service by train, the Great Northern surrendering their mail contract and a star route commencing from Red Lake Falls. The railroad company has as yet made no announcement as to whether they will continue to run the freight train down there but it is thought that the service will be irregular, if at all. The property owners of Wylie have taken the matter up with the Great Northern officials, but no agreement has been reached. Legal authorities have been consulted and unless the company comes forward with damages the chances for a big legal fight are excellent. The railroad company seem determined to wipe Wylie off the map. They will no longer sell through tickets to that point and their new folders do not name it as a station.

A Joke on Alaska

Red Wing News: Ray Jones, the distinguished lieutenant governor of Minnesota, is recommended for governor of Alaska by Senator Nelson, Tom Shevlin, E. B. Kellogg, Senator Clapp and other prominent Republicans. Apparently they do not care what happens to Alaska.

Wine of Cardui Cured Her.

ATLANTA, GA., March 21, 1903.

I suffered for four months with extreme nervousness and lassitude. I had a sinking feeling in my stomach which no medicine seemed to relieve, and losing my appetite I became weak and lost my vitality. In three weeks I lost fourteen pounds of flesh and felt that I must find speedy relief to regain my health. Having heard Wine of Cardui praised by several of my friends, I sent for a bottle and was certainly very pleased with the results. Within three days my appetite returned and my stomach troubled me no more. I could digest my food without difficulty and the nervousness gradually diminished. Nature performed her functions without difficulty and I am once more a happy and well woman.

The Era of Noise.

What an age of noise this is! Do you know any single human being who is capable of being silent for an hour at a stretch? I know two, and I value them according to their rarity. Not only does everybody talk, but almost everybody talks loud. I went into a shop the other day, and the clatter of conversation sounded as though the place were full of people. Yet all the noise was produced by three individuals. Why should they shout?—London Truth.

The Classes In England.

In England the upper class gambles, but does not drink; the middle class drinks, but does not gamble, and the lower class both drinks and gambles. It is a characteristic circumstance that the upper class makes laws to prevent the lower class from gambling and that the lower class is in favor of legislation to prevent the upper class from drinking.

ATTENDANCE IS GROWING

The Training School is Proving Very Popular and the Attendance is Growing Daily.

The summer training school now in session in this city is proving very popular with the teachers and others interested in the work and the attendance has materially increased during the past week. Eighty-seven scholars are now enrolled and the number will be increased the coming week.

Conductor C. S. Yeager and his able corps of assistants are working diligently to make the school a success and are succeeding far beyond the fondest expectations of those who are taking an interest in the welfare of the undertaking. The instructors and scholars are all well pleased with the progress that has been made, and the interest manifested by all concerned is certainly commendable and bound to prove of great benefit to the teachers of Red Lake county.

There is a class of fifteen working on first grade subjects, who will take the examination at the close of the school for first grade certificates.

The school has been addressed by several local speakers, Father Fayolle of St. Joseph's church delivering an interesting talk yesterday. All of the instructors have delivered lectures on special subjects and will continue to do so throughout the term. Supt. S. J. Rice, of Redwood Falls, one of the ablest county superintendents in the state, has been secured for a lecture to be given on the 19th of this month. He is said to be an able talker and his visit is looked forward to with interest.

500,000 ACRES FOR FARMS.

State Will Offer Large Tract of Land for Sale.

It was announced at the state auditor's office that approximately 500,000 acres of state land will be sold at public auction next fall. This is a much larger amount than has ever been offered for sale in Minnesota.

A good share of the land is located in the more or less settled portions of North Central Minnesota, and the state officials will be very much surprised if the average price falls below $10 an acre, which means that the state will receive $5,000,000, an unprecedented sum for one year's sale of state lands.

These lands are to be located in Aitkin, Pine, Carlton, Crow Wing, Morrison, Todd, Hubbard, Becker and many other counties. The terms will be 15 per cent cash and forty years' time on the balance at 4 per cent interest.

The state heretofore has never sold more than 100,000 acres, and it has been popularly supposed that this is the limit that the state land commissioner can offer for sale. It appears, however, that this limit applies only to school lands. The land commissioner may sell 100,000 acres of school lands, and as many acres of other state lands, belonging to the university, institutions and other funds, as he deems best.

Knowledge that thousands of land seekers are pressing through Minnesota every year on the way to Canada and the Pacific coast has led the state auditor to place this large amount of lands on the market.

EXCITEMENT UP THE RIVER

Thief River Falls was the Scene of a Fire and a Shooting Affair Last Night.

Word reached this city early this morning that fire at Thief River Falls destroyed two business houses and damaged another. Geo. Kerr's confectionery store and the restaurant conducted by Joseph Peterson were entirely consumed, and the Cyr & Mercier barber shop sustained a badly damaged roof. The fire occurred between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning, and its origin is unknown at this time.

Rumor has it that a stranger was held up and shot by a hobo last night in the up-river town. He was badly wounded but it is thought he will recover. Sheriff Linnihan left this morning for the scene of the tragedy.

One On Standard Oil.

In the hearing of the case of the Bartles Oil Company and others against the Minnesota railway companies before the state railroad and warehouse commission on the 23d, the independent oil companies scored against the railway companies of Minnesota. The complainants asked to have the rates on oil and gasoline, in less than car lots, reduced from third to fourth class, contending that they were paying third-class rates for less than car loads shipments, while shippers of tank cars were accorded fifth-class rates.

The commission saw the justice of the plea, and after Aug. 1, the independent oil dealers will enjoy fourth class rates for less than car load shipments.

COMMISSIONERS WERE BUSY

County Dads Meet in Regular Session and Transact Large Amount of Business.

The commissioners of Red Lake county met in regular session at the court house in this city Monday, all members being present. It proved to be a busy meeting and the commissioners transacted a large amount of business while in the city.

Following is a list of the most important transactions of the session:

$100 was appropriated out of the road and bridge fund for the improvement of Poplar River roads.

Liquor licenses were granted to J. G. Prior, of Wylie, and Remie Lafarvire, Brooks.

W. O. Long, Nels Myran and John Longren were attached to independent school district number 18.

A new school district was organized in section 52, range 40.

Three new towns were organized and will be known as Park, High Landing and Kratka.

H. K. Hommy, of Equality, was granted an auctioneer's license.

The application for abatement of taxes on the M. E. church property at Thief River Falls was granted. Application for abatement of taxes by Leon Laurent and Jos. Tschirhart was rejected.

The town of Lambert was appropriated $100 to be used on the roads, while Emardville was given $75 for the same purpose.

J. K. Wood was appointed engineer of Plummer ditch to be constructed in the town of Emardville, while Wm. Erb, Adam Zeh and W. E. Wood are to act as appraisers.

A supplemental list of grand and petit jurors was drawn and filed with the Clerk of Courts.

County Treasurer Hansen's books, vouchers, ect., were examined and found to be in first class condition.

The Red Lake County Agricultural Society received an appropriation of $150 for this year's fair.

The board adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet again Thursday, July 20th. The board meets next Monday as a Board of Equalization.

Report of Choral Club.

The following is a financial statement of the Red Lake Falls Choral Club, published for the benefit of members and those interested.

There were 44 members who signed the constitution and paid the entrance fee of 50c. This gave the Club $22, money enough to buy the first music. The cantata given June 12th netted $44.10, making the total receipts $66.10. The disbursements were as follows:

Feb. 13—30 copies "Phyllis...	$18 29
June 12—Accompanist.......	5 00
June 19—Opera House.......	12 00
June 19—Gazette, printing...	3 50
June 19—Courier. printing..	3 00
July 1—Wood....	3 00
July 1—Janitor.............	2 00
July 1—K.P. Hall, two nights	6 00
July 1—Presb. church.......	1 00
Total................	$53 79

This leaves a balance of $12.31 to the club's credit which was deposited in the First State Bank.

The club wishes to take this opportunity to thank Prof. Onstad for his untiring efforts in drilling the cantata, also Prof. Chamberlain and Mr. Tracy for their valuable assistance. We also wish to thank the Electric Light Co. for the free use of lights and the managers of the opera house for their generous kindness in allowing the club to practice there so many afternoons and evenings free of charge.

IMPURE MILK AND CREAM.

Farmers Who Ship Cream to Twin Cities to be Watched.

Farmers who ship cream to the Twin Cities at the present time had better change their mode of selling their product and patronize their home creamery. In the present warm weather shipments to the Twin Cities often spoil with the heat and the action of the state pure food department, as contained in the following article, will result in the destruction of large amounts of cream which have become slightly tainted on the journey below: "People who live in the country hereafter will not be allowed to ship impure milk and cream into the Twin Cities.

E. K. Slater, state dairy and food commissioner decided yesterday to station two creamery inspectors in St. Paul and Minneapolis to be on the lookout for adulterated milk and cream. These inspectors will watch the creamers and will keep track of the shipments of milk and cream as they arrive from the country.

"We have found cases where cream more than a week old has been shipped into the Twin Cities to be manufactured into butter," said Mr. Slater yesterday. "Creameries have had to buy this kind of cream and milk because their competitors bought it. Such cream is not fit for butter or for anything else; the only way to insure good butter is to get good milk and cream.

"We expect no trouble in carrying out our plan. The proprietors of the creameries in the Twin Cities appear glad to co-operate with us. It is not to their interest to buy impure milk and cream."

Don't Put It in the Paper.

The Dodge Center Star is worried by people who want the editor to "cut it out." Some one recently offered to double his subscription if only the editor would leave out the baseball news. Another party complained that it was a waste of time to report sermons even in brief. Still another, who had no sympathy for the ladies, threatened to stop the paper if "Society News" were not curtailed. "A sanctimonious looking cadaver came up to the editor's desk," says the Star, "and wanted to know if we did not know that we were injuring the morality of the town when we published elopements, criminal assaults, etc." Another did not care for the "corn cob" locals. He didn't care whether Tom Smith lost a pig yesterday or whether Mary Jones called on neighbor Severson. What he wanted was more about the Pope. And so it went on. About the only way you can satisfy everybody is to do as the St. Paul Globe did the other day and decently quit.

England Relies on Us.

The new naval policy of Great Britain seems to mean the withdrawn of all protection from her colonies on this side of the Atlantic. She trusts to us to interpret the Monroe Doctrine to mean that no foreign power can acquire more land on this continent and that we will follow this out to prevent any country from robbing her, as they would thus acquire more land on our continent. If England will also allow us to make her beer she would also be better off, for no English brew has ever equaled golden grain belt beer and this delightful tonic would do the nation good. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

One Night Only.

Henry Shannon's four-act comedy drama—a play which has been seen in all the principal cities of the west the past season—will be here next Wednesday. The company closes its season July 30th at Duluth after a most prosperous season of forty-eight weeks. The company numbers twelve people, carries special scenery and many specialties are introduced during the action of the play. The company comes well recommended by the press, and money will be cheerfully refunded by Anderson & Wander to any one not perfectly satisfied with the performance. One night only, Wednesday, July 19. Seats on sale Saturday at Anderson's jewelry store.

MAKE HAY IF YOU CAN

Indications that Hay will be High and Scarce on the Market the Coming Winter.

While the COURIER does not particularly feel well qualified to give advice to its farmer readers about how to farm or anything of that sort, after a careful pursual of its exchanges this week it is moved to make the statement, make hay if you can.

The rains which have prevailed in this section recently have been almost state-wide and reports received by the general agents of farm implement companies and others interested in the status of the hay and other growing crops is to the effect that a hay famine next winter is imminent. In some sections meadows are covered with from six inches to a foot of water and the farmers can not get out on them to cut the grass.

Red Lake county has a great deal of good hay land and there is no question but what a good share of the crop will be harvested. It may be a trifle late, but except in isolated sections there is no reason to fear a hay famine of any serious proportions here.

In conversation with the COURIER a gentlemen who should know whereof he speaks predicts that hay will bring as high as $18 per ton in this vicinity next winter and be in demand at that figure.

HAVE DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT.

Many Children Attending School Have Poor Eyesight.

Fully 60,000 pupils of the Minnesota public schools are suffering from defective eyesight, and not less than 10,000 are afflicted with defective hearing.

This is considered a conservative estimate, based on the record of the first year's inspection of the eyes and ears of the school children, which has been carried on by the state board of health, assisted by the state superintendent of public instruction and the school authorities throughout the state.

What is still more significant, the parents of very few of these pupils are taking any apparent precautions against greater defects and possibly loss of eyesight. Of the 3,141 reported as having defective eyesight, only 319, about 10 per cent, are wearing glasses.

When it is considered that poor eyesight and hearing frequently lead to more serious disease of various kinds, the situation may be said to be serious. Physicians say that children frequently contract spinal diseases of the most virulent type by being compelled to lean over their desks to read.

The official report of inspections made during the school year, which has just closed, has been announced by Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health. It shows that of 21,768 pupils examined, 3,141, more than 14 per cent, had defective eyesight, and 512, about 2.33 per cent, suffered from defective hearing.

It is probable that the precentage of pupils having defective eyesight and hearing is greater than this, for the reason that the tests applied by the teachers are very simple and are calculated to bring out only the more serious defects. Moreover, only 18,063 pupils are reported as having normal eyes, and those that are not normal, 3,705, naturally are defective.

Tests were made in fifty-five cities and villages in all parts of the state, and it is thought that the precentage of defective cases will be maintained throughout the state. In 1904 there were 424,663 pupils in the public schools, so that a fair estimate of the number having defective eyesight is something over 60,000 and of those having defective hearing over 10,000.

FATAL EXPLOSION OF ROCK POWDER

TERRIBLE DISASTER OCCURS TO RAILWAY REPAIRERS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Eight Persons Are Instantly Killed and Two Others Are Injured—Bodies of the Victims Are Frightfully Mangled.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 10.—Eight men were blown to pieces and two others were injured by the premature explosion of a big blast of rock powder on the Pennsylvania railroad improvements near New Cumberland, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The accident occurred directly across the Susquehanna river from the scene of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck on May 11, in which 23 persons were killed and many others injured. All the victims of Sunday's disaster were employes of P. S. Kerbaugh & Co., incorporated contractors, who are building the double tracks for the Pennsylvania railroad to connect with the Enola yards.

The Victims.

The dead are: James Wiseman, aged 50, dynamite boss, No. 98 Front avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.; Arthur Green (colored), 23 years old, steam driller, Harrisburg; Robert Thompson (colored), 23 years old, steam driller's helper, Harrisburg; Frank Mullach, a Slav, 43 years old; three Italians and one Slav, known only by numbers.

Not a trace of the two colored men who were killed can be found, and it is supposed their bodies were blown into the river, which is being dragged. An inquest was held by Squire Coble, of Lemoyne. The jury rendered a verdict of premature explosion from an unknown cause, and no blame attached to the contractors.

Horribly Mangled.

All the killed and injured were laborers, aside from Wiseman, whose body was terribly mangled. What could be found of it was identified by the fact that he dyed his hair. His scalp and a portion of his head was found on a hill, 200 yards from the blast.

Count Cassini Leaves.

Washington, July 10.—Count Cassini, Russia's first ambassador to the United States, after seven years' service here, left Sunday for Europe, and will later go to his new post at Madrid. Gathered at the station to bid him Godspeed were nearly every diplomat remaining here, and a number of the ambassador's personal friends.

Woman Burned to Death.

Omaha, Neb., July 6.—Mrs. Anna Johnston, in attempting to light a gasoline stove, mistook leaking gasoline for water and applied a match, causing a terrific explosion, which resulted in the woman's death and the partial destruction of her home.

Assassinated.

Pikeville, Tenn., July 10.—W. L. Tollet, proprietor of a hotel here, and brother of State Senator E. G. Tollett, of Crossville, was waylaid and shot to death Saturday while coming from his farm. No cause is known for the crime.

Milwaukee Fire Chief Dead.

Milwaukee, July 6.—Herman Meminger, chief of the Milwaukee fire department, died Wednesday from the effects of injuries sustained at a fire two months ago, when it was reported he inhaled acid fumes.

Wagon Works Burned.

Owensboro, Ky., July 10.—The Owensboro wagon works were destroyed by fire Sunday night. Loss $50,000.

UNDER THE BAN.

Fraud Order Issued Against Bank in St. Louis by the Postmaster General.

Washington, July 10.—Postmaster General Cortelyou has announced the issuance of a fraud order against the People's United States bank of St. Louis, Mo., its officers and agents, and E. G. Lewis, a publisher, effective July 9. The action bars the company from the use of the mails, after an investigation by the postal authorities as to the details of the business of the institution. The postmaster general in his announcement says: "It is understood that the funds of the bank which have not been borrowed by Mr. Lewis and his enterprises, amounting to about two-thirds of the total amount remitted, are deposited in banks and will be available toward reimbusement of the stockholders, who number upwards of 65,000. It is the intention of the officers of the post office department to cooperate with the secretary of state of Missouri in every proper way for the interests of the investors and depositors."

WILL REENTER CABINET.

Former Secretary of War Root Selected as Head of State Department—He Accepts.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 8.—Official announcement was made here Friday that Elihu Root has been appointed secretary of state. The announcement was made on the authority of President Roosevelt in the following statement given out by Secretary Loeb:

"Elihu Root has accepted the tender by the president of the secretaryship of state. He will take the oath of office in a couple of weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he closes up his business affairs. He will not go to Washington permanently until some time in September."

President Roosevelt is much gratified at Mr. Root's acceptance, and is deeply sensible of the personal sacrifices made by Mr. Root in again taking up the burdens and duties of a member of the cabinet.

VICTORY FOR OIL TRUST.

Kansas Refinery Bill Declared Unconstitutional by State Supreme Court.

Topeka, Kan., July 8.—The law passed by the legislature last winter appropriating $410,000 to build an independent oil refinery at Peru was Friday declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court, in an opinion rendered by Associate Justice Greene. The oil refinery law was considered one of the most direct blows struck at the Standard Oil company by the last legislature, which adopted several measures tending to restrict that concern in the handling of the Kansas product.

Russians Report a Victory.

St. Petersburg, July 7.—Gen. Linevitch, in a telegram to the emperor dated July 5 and confirming the defeat of the Japanese at Sanviatse, when a Japanese battalion was annihilated, says that after the capture of the position and the flight of the Japanese, the latter were reenforced and resumed the fight, but all their attacks were repulsed. The Russians captured a considerable quantity of supplies, and held the position until ordered to retire. The Japanese losses, Gen. Linevitch says, were enormous. Many Russians were wounded in such a manner as to prove that the Japanese were using dumdum bullets.

Begins His Duties.

Washington, July 8.—Secretary Bonaparte arrived in Washington on Friday and took up his duties at the navy department.

RUSSIANS ROUTED ON THE ISLAND.

WHEN JAPANESE LANDED ON SAGHALIEN ISLAND THE RUSSIANS FLED.

"We Suffered no Loss," Reports the Japanese Commander. All the Stores were Blown up Before Retirement.

Tokio, July 11.—The following report has been received from the Japanese army headquarters on Saghalien island:

"Our army, without much resistance, occupied Karasakorsk early on July 8. The enemy burned the town and retired to positions eight miles north, where they resumed resistance. We dislodged them and are now in pursuit.

"At 11 a. m. on July 8 the enemy had retreated to a point 22 miles north of Karasakorsk. We captured two 11-centimeter guns, two 12-pounders and also an amount of ammunition.

"We suffered no loss."

Admiral Kataoka reports under date of July 7 as follows:

"My squadron went north and, acting in conformity with a pre-arranged plan landed marines on July 7 at a point previously chosen. There was no resistance and a portion of our army had already landed.

Under date of July 8 Kataoka reports.

"One of our torpedo destroyers reports on the afternoon of July 7, that Karasakorsk was burning. The forts previously shelled by the destroyer were then silent. Our army arrived at Yenguma on the afternoon of the seventh.

Under date of July 9th Admiral Kataoka says: "The squadron convoyed the transports through dense fogs on July 5th. The fleet preserved good order and reached the point chosen for concentration on the evening of July 7th. The fleet anchored and the work of sweeping the sea of dangerous obstacles was completed. The transports were led in gradually. The warships lowered launches and assisted in the landing of troops, guardships protecting the operation. Admiral Dewa reported that his division had reached the landing place at 6 in the morning and a landing was effected.

Fought for Life.

Minneapolis, June 11.—A quiet and desperate struggle for life occurred on the Lake street bridge Sunday night between husband and wife. The wife, a mother of nine children, had been ill for some time with nervous prostration, leaped from her sick bed and ran for the river. Her husband pursued her and caught her just as she was climbing over the railing. He threw both arms about her and dragged her back. Both fell on the sidewalk and struggled for a few moments, the woman fighting desperately for a chance to die. Passersby intervened and the woman was finally overpowered and taken to her home in a carriage. An officer arrived as she was being taken away, but her friends refused to give the policeman her name.

A Fearful Drop.

Lyon, Mass., July 11.—With a straight drop of 1,000 feet to what seemed certain death, William Canfield, a Boston aeronaut, leaped from his baloon over Lynn common in order to save Mrs. Camille Stafford, a woman aeronaut who ascended with him. She escaped unhurt. He was badly injured by striking the side of a house as his parachute swung in the wrong wind. Five thousand persons witnessed his startling descent.

The baloon was found to be leaking and the gas was escaping rapidly. Mrs. Stafford leaped sometime after Canfield left the baloon, striking in an apple tree from which she was rescued unhurt.

Ravages of Flood.

Pierre, S. D., July 11.—The waters of Bad river have receded far enough to let the people of Fort Pierre begin to take stock. They find that seventeen houses went down the Missouri, and that forty-three are more or less wrecked, while all which withstood the flood are damaged by water. A trip over the flooded district shows pitiful attempts to save something out of the wreck and slime. One man who was working on his lot was asked for the location of his house, and he pointed to two piles of wreckage.

There is scarcely a ranch building in the river valley between Fort Pierre and Midland. At the Bowley and Hollis ranches every building is gone.

Wrecked Saloons.

Iola, Kan., July 11.—Three saloons in West street, in the heart of the business section of Iola, were completely wrecked by dynamite early yesterday. Much damage was done to other property in the vicinity and the loss is conservatively estimated at $100,000. J. E. Thorpe, the owner of one of the saloons, was injured, but not seriously.

Bank Opened Again.

Brainerd, Minn., July 8.—The doors of the Northern Pacific bank of this city were opened by order of Bank Examiner P. M. Kerst, and business was resumed after a suspension of several weeks. The bank was opened with the full consent and approval of the public examiner, the reorganization committee having complied with all requirements and all the effects of the bank having been adjusted carefully. M. T. Dunn of Le Roy, Minn., was elected president and J. A. Batchelder assistant cashier.

TORNADO IN TEXAS.

Portion of State Swept by Furious Storm—Twenty-Four Persons Are Killed.

Dallas, Tex., July 6.—A special to the News from Nacona, Tex., says: A tornado and thunderstorm passed a few miles west and south of here Wednesday afternoon, killing 14 persand and injuring many others and destroying a number of nouses.

Many farmhouses were swept entirely away. The Baptist and Methodist churches at Belcher were considerably damaged. The Methodist church at Montague is reported wrecked, and the courthouse damaged, also other churches there. The Dixie schoolhouse, six miles south of here, was entirely blown away. Hailstones as large as hen's eggs fell here breaking out many window glasses.

Montague, Tex., July 6.—Ten people are dead as a result of a tornado that passed over Montague Wednesday afternoon. They are: A. P. Earl, Miss Sadie Earl, daughter of A. P. Earl; Burk Earl, his son; Baby of Lawrence Pillow, and the Tomlinson family, consisting of husband, wife and four children. Claiborn White, 45 years of age, was fatally injured. Houses totally demolished are: J. F. Clark's drug store; D. Y. Lunn's grocery store and offices, old bank building, occupied by G. L. Alcorn, real estate agent; store of Rowe Hardware company, and 15 dwellings. The tornado lasted perhaps 30 minutes. Hundreds of head of stock in this vicinity were killed outright by the wind. The number of injured is unknown.

FOUND GUILTY.

Jury at Portland, Ore., Convicts United States Senator Mitchell of Grave Charges.

Portland, Ore., July 5.—The jury in the case of the United States against United States Senator John H. Mitchell returned a verdict of guilty as charged at 11 o'clock Monday night. The charge was that Senator Mitchell, while occupying his public position, accepted a pecuniary compensation for practicing before the federal departments at Washington, which, under the federal statutes constitutes a crime. It is expected that the other indictments pending against Senator Mitchell, charging conspiracy with Puter and others to defraud the government of its lands will be dropped. What penalty will be imposed by Judge De Haven can only be conjectured. The statute provides for both imprisonment for not more than two years and for a fine of not to exceed $10,000.

BOAT SWAMPED.

Eleven Log Drivers Are Drowned While Crossing Chippewa River in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, July 8.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Chippewa Falls, Wis., says: Eleven log drivers were drowned in Chippewa river at Little Falls dam Friday. They lost control of the batteau, in which 16 men had crossed the river, and the boat swamped. Following are the names of the dead: Saul Bracket, Eau Claire; Louis Gokey, Max Billard, Flambeau; Pattock Leiden, Stanley; Ole Horen, Chippewa Falls; Joseph Peloquin, Drywood; Andrew Coneyl, Jim Falls; Oscar Barquest, Cadott; Bert Larry, Anson; Byron Ferguson, Chippewa City; Adolph Toutant, Cadott.

To Tunnel the Mississippi.

St. Louis, July 8.—Incorporation papers have been received by the organizers of the Illinois & Missouri Tunnel company formed for the purpose of excavating a tunnel under the Mississippi river between St. Louis and East St. Louis, Ill., for the handling of traffic. The capital stock will be $100,000. It is proposed to build a tubular steel tunnel, 50 feet below the river bed and about a mile in length. Work will probably begin within a year, and it will require a year's time to complete it.

Lone Robber Holds Up Stage.

Meadows, Idaho, July 10.—The stage from Warren to Meadows has been held up by a lone highwayman near Resort station. The bandit covered the driver with two automatic revolvers and compelled him to cut open the mail sacks and throw them down. He then removed all the registered letters. Two passengers and the driver were lined up and relieved of their valuables. The robber then coolly walked away with his plunder, amounting to $1,200 or $1,500. He was unmasked.

Ex-Mayor Dead.

Kenosha, Wis., July 10.—Maj. Frank C. Culley, formerly mayor of the city, and a man well known to the literary world, died here Saturday. Maj. Culley was 67 years of age.

GAINS FORTUNE THROUGH GRAFT

PROMINENT OFFICIAL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE DISMISSED.

Charged with Furnishing Inside Information Which Permitted Brokers to Manipulate the Cotton Market—The Scandal Is Exposed.

Washington, July 10.—As the result of the investigation by secret service agents into the charges made by Richard Cheatham, of Atlanta, secretary of the Cotton Planters' association, that information had been given to cotton brokers in New York by some person or persons in the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, Secretary Wilson Saturday made public an official report in which he states that Edwin S. Holmes, the associate statistician, has been guilty of "juggling" the official report. The report says it has been found that Mr. Holmes communicated advance information to L. C. Van Riper, a New York broker, and M. Haas, of New York, who acted as a go-between, in conveying information from Holmes to other New York brokers, including Theodore Price. Steps have been taken by Secretary Wilson to prevent any further leakage of the department figures, and an entire reorganization of the bureau of statistics and manner of preparing monthly crop reports has been outlined by him. The papers in connection with the investigation were referred to the United States attorney for the District of Columbia, and he has reported that in his opinion a criminal prosecution will not lie against Holems. Holmes has been dismissed from the service of the department.

Holmes Extremely Rich.

The secret service agents followed the operations of Holmes into devious pathways. They found he had grown immensely wealthy in a few years, while receiving a small government salary, and that he had made $72,000 on one deal; that he is building a $200,000 apartment house in Washington; that he conducts a millinery store in New York in partnership with one Moses Haff; that he owns real estate in cities outside of Washington, and a large farm in a northwestern state. To what extent Brcker Price profited by Holmes' leaks it is impossible to learn at this time.

HONORS TO PAUL JONES

France Formally Delivers Remains of Long-Dead Naval Hero to United States.

Paris, July 7.—The ceremony of the delivery of the body of Admiral Paul Jones to the representatives of the United States was held at 3:30 Thursday afternoon in the American church on the Avenue de L'Alma in the presence of a distinguished gathering of the highest official, military and naval dignitaries of France, the diplomatic representatives of many countries and the special ambassadors and naval authorities sent from the United States to receive the body.

The formal ceremony consisted of the delivery of the body by Gen. Porter as the finder and custodian to Mr. Loomis, representing the United States, appointed to receive it, and Mr. Loomis commissioning Admiral Sigsbee to transport it to America. Both Gen. Porter and Mr. Loomis made short addresses during the ceremony. In a brief speech Admiral Sigsbee accepted the commission of conveying the body to the United States.

INDIANA BANK FAILS.

Richmond, Ind., July 7.—J. A. Spekenhier has been appointed receiver of the Commercial bank, of Hagerstown, Ind., on application of President Frank Mason. The liabilities exceed $100,000, while the assets are given as much less than that amount. The cashier, John Bowman, committed suicide last Monday, and this action led to the present receivership. Following the suicide an investigation was made, the affairs of the bank having been almost exclusively in Bowman's hands. According to a statement given out before the application for the receiver, only $1,900 in cash was found, although the assets are believed to be nearly $75,000. Th reason for Bowman's suicide have not yet developed.

Law Held Unconstitutional.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 8.—Judge Fremont Alvord, of the Marion county criminal court, Friday held unconstitutional the law passed by the last session of the legislature placing private banks of Indiana under state supervision. The case will be appealed.

To Separate Church and State.

Paris, July 5.—The bill for the separation of church and state passed the chamber of deputies late Monday night by the decisive vote of 341 to 233. The result was greeted by governmental cheering and opposition hisses, and there was intense excitement.

May Form Alliance.

Washington, July 7. — Japan and China are believed to be on the eve of reaching an agreement as to Manchuria and other important issues growing out of the war. An alliance would have a far-reaching effect on European powers as well as Asia.

THE Republican party needs first of all to get rid of a lot of dead and down timber.

IF Ray Jones is determined to be governor, we are all glad that is to be Alaska rather than Minnesota.

We have Charlie Mitchell's word for it that is better to be a Republican than to be a patriot. At least it's better for Charlie.

IF President Roosevelt patronizes a Minnesota clipping bureau he will hesitate long and earnestly before he gives the Alaska governorship to Ray Jones. Why, actually, half of the Republican country papers have been mean enough to insinuate that Ray is guilty of stealing timber.

PATRICK ELLARD DOWLING, the hero of the public accounts committee, seems undecided whether he will permit the Republicans who voted for Johnson to come back to the fold. Patrick is a stalwart of the stalwarts, and he believes in following the party flag even though it leads straight to hades.

THE politicians of the Republican party credit rank and file with low ideals and sordid ambitions. They imagine the voters can be driven into line by the crack of the party lash. This plan was attempted several times unsuccessfully, but the the politicians are slow to learn their lesson.

THE Windom Reporter man is telling tales out of school in saying that "a popular young man has been laid up a week with painter's colic because he kissed a girl's cheek." But he is fortunate compared with a Duluth young man who is laid up with a sore head because he kissed a married woman's lips.

IT must amuse the tens of thousands of independent voters of Minnesota to be told that they must vote the Republican ticket, whether they like it or not. The "dumb driven cattle" racket has been worked unsuccessfully so often that the self-appointed "leaders" ought to be able to read the future by the light of history.

"IT is very certain," says a farmer in a communication to the St. Peter Herald, "that the time honored old party gags have lost their soothing power in the northwest. The farmers will fill their own dinner pails and go 'gunning' for a lot of 'prosperity' that they have been swindled out of under a tariff which facilitates larceny and rewards extortion. Well, we shall see. It is interesting to note, that in the last election the farmers as a class voted for Roosevelt and Johnson. They are not all tired of Roosevelt and they have not had too much Johnson yet."

To illustrate a point Labor Commissioner Williams tells this story on the lawyers at a recent speech to the labor unionists at Brainerd: "Everybody goes into politics but the lawyer. He just waits until all the rest of them are through, then he skins them all. Hannibal Hamlin was a lawyer, who was vice president with Lincoln, and between campaigns practiced law in Maine. A man in the town where he lived fell into a hole and broke his leg. He sued the city and Hannibal Hamlin had his case. He got a verdict for $1000, but the city appealed to the supreme court, and here he won again, but in the meantime an awful bill of costs had piled up. After settling the matter up, Hamlin sent for his client and handed him a dollar. 'What is this for?' asked the client. 'That's your damages after taking out costs and my fee and other expenses,' said Hamlin. The man looked at the dollar and then at Hamlin. 'What's the matter with this dollar?' he asked. 'Is it bad?' When the lawyers get through you always find the people looking at the dollar."

THE DILATORY COMMISSION.

There is some apprehension that the capitol commission may finish its labors within the two years allotted. Several times recently three or four men have been working all day on the capitol approaches.—Red Lake Courier.

No insinuations, Bro. King. We have Gov. Johnson's word for it that the capitol commission has done its work in a first class manner without suspicion or graft.—Brown's Valley Tribune.

The COURIER has never criticised the capitol commission for the manner in which its trust has been executed. It is the general belief that the "marble pile" has been built without graft. The attempt of the commission to perpetrate itself by hanging on until the next legislature meets, is, however, a manifest injustice to the state. The work of completing the grounds could easily be completed in three months if there was the slightest effort to hustle.

GOV. JOHNSON AT LUVERNE.

An enthusiastic reception was tendered Gov. John A. Johnson by the people of Rock county, this state, on Tuesday last, during his visit at Luverne, where he delivered the Fourth of July oration. Referring to Gov. Johnson's able and eloquent address, Editor Miller of the Rock County Herald, and one of the leading Republicans of the state, pays our chief executive a very high tribute and compliment as will be seen by the following that appeared in this week's issue of his paper:

"Gov. John A. Johnson, the speaker of the day, was introduced. This was the crowning event of the day, and as our splendid young chief executive stepped to the front of the platform under the overhanging flags, tall, resolute, his handsome face lighted by that genial nature and love of his fellows which has won for him the affection of all who know him, yet dignified by the consciousness of his position and the grave responsibilities of his great office, he was greeted by the large audience with an enthusiasm which had in it all the depths of pride in our chief executive, honor for his office and sincere respect, admiration and affection for the man who has so conspicuously honored his exalted position and justified the trust reposed in him. Here, as everywhere, John A. Johnson was equal to the occasion. Like all his oratorical efforts his address was brilliant and inspiring. His clear, resonant voice carried every syllable to the remotest listener and from the first earnest word to the thrilling preoration he held the fixed and delighted attention of the audience. In the main it was a speech of the Roosevelt type—earnest, impressive and patriotic, with a deep and sincere purpose—an appeal for character, patriotism, manliness for the sturdy virtues that transend partizanship and find expression in good citizenship, for sane, decent, simple, earnest living, for education of the kind that makes sound manhood and womanhood, for love of justice and righteousness, and for practical and effective devotion to a high sense of public and private duty. 'I want good government and I care not from whom or what party it comes' was the keynote of the governor's appeal to the broader and higher patriotism that rises above party and partizanship, and the sentiment was most heartily applauded. But the governor did not forget that people liked to be amused as well as instructed and his genial good nature and wit broke out occasionaly in appeals to myrth that relieved the tension of earnest thinking. On the whole it was a magnificent address, and the enthusiastic approval, delight and approbation with which it was received found expression in ways that could not be understood.

"At the close of the exercises and as the governor passed from the platform to his carriage he was fairly besieged by the people who desired to meet him and to give expressions to their good will and admiration. As a matter of fact no governor or other distinguished official who has ever visited Luverne was ever greeted with such manifest respect and sincere affection as was shown toward Governor Johnson at the conclusion of his address."

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living when a friend recommed Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone as well as all the symptoms of Bright's Disease. A. L. Riechert.

The New Governor of Alaska.

Perham Enterprise: Ray Jones has been "mentioned" as a candidate for the position of governor of Alaska, with its wealth of valuable timber. A chap at our elbow suggests that an appointment would be equivalent to making a darkey deacon night watch over a chicken ranch.

The Source of Supply.

New York Times: At last the doctor consented to smile, the nurse was already laughing; the shadow had lifted from the sick room, and everything was well; and after profusely bathing her eyes Aunt Jennie came down to the breakfast table where her two small nieces were seated, wondering what had turned the house so topsy-turvy that morning.

"Guess what I know, girlies," she said gaily. "There's a little baby brother up stairs. He came this morning when you were asleep. What do you think of that?"

"Did he?" exclaimed the sharp-eyed Edith. "Then I know who brought him."

"You do?"

"Yes; it was the milkman. It said so on his cart yesterday."

"Said what?" asked Aunt Jennie, in astonishment.

"Why, families supplied daily!" was the quick reply.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by electric bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." The Baby's Finger Marks.

A lady received the following reply from a neighbor in answer to the question why she allowed her children and husband to litter up every room in the house, and the sentiment will find lodgment in the heart of every homeloving person in the land: "The mark of the little muddy feet upon the floor can be easier removed than the stain when those little feet go down into the highway of evil. The prints of the little fingers on the window pane cannot shut out the sunshine half so much as the shadow that darkens the mother's heart over the one who is but a name through the coming years. And if my John finds his home a refuge from care and trouble, and his greatest happiness within its four walls, he can put his boots in the rocking chair and hang his coat up on the floor every day in the week. And if I can stand it and he enjoys it, I cannot see that it is anybody else's business."

Doctors Said he would not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes; "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's kidney cure was recommended to me by a friend and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entrrely well. Writes: "Your Peruna has been used by me and my friends as a relief for catarrhal troubles with the most beneficial results. I am so convinced of the efficacy of Peruna that I do not hesitate to give it my recommendation."—Wm. Cooper Talley, 713 D St., N. E., Washington, D. C.

General Bigelow Cured.

Gen. J. G. Bigelow, 151 C. St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"Peruna has made me well and it has given me more than ordinary strength and spirit for work."

Gen. O'Beirne of Washington, D. C.,

Writes: "As many of my friends and acquaintances have successfully used your Peruna as a catarrh cure, I feel that it is an effective remedy, and I recommend it as such to those suffering from that disease as a most hopeful source of relief."—James R. O'Beirne, 290 Broadway, Washington, D. C.

General Chase, Ass't Adj. Gen'l, G. A. R.,

Writes: "The excellence of Peruna as a cure or relief for catarrhal disturbances is well established. Many of my friends have been benefited by its use."—B. F. Chase, 28 Harrison St., Anacostia, D. C.

General S. S. Yoder of Ohio,

Writes: "I have found Peruna to be a wonderful remedy. I only used it for a short time and am thoroughly satisfied as to its merits."—S. S. Yoder, Washington, D. C.

General O'Connor of U. V. Legions,

Writes: "If you are suffering from catarrh or physical debility, immediately commence the use of Peruna. It has been of the greatest benefit and service to many of my friends."—Dennis O'Connor, 788 82nd St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Gen. Wright of the Confederate Army,

Writes: "I take pleasure in recommending Peruna. It is a remarkable medicine and should be used by persons who are in need of a good tonic and by sufferers from catarrh."—Marcus Wright, 1724 Corcoran St., Washington, D. C.

Gen. Hawley of Washington, D. C.,

Writes: "I have used Peruna and find it very beneficial for kidney trouble and especially good for coughs, colds and catarrhal troubles."—A. F. Hawley.

Gen. Urell of Spanish War Veterans,

Writes: "Many of my friends have used Peruna with beneficial results as an effective remedy for catarrh."—M. Emmet Urell, 813 12th St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Other Army Generals who praise Peruna are:

Brigadier-General Cook of Washington, D. C.
General Sypher of Washington, D. C.
General Middleton, Hancock Regiment, U. V. U., Washington, D. C.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last, there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In America.

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

Qualified Approval.

"How did you like the opera?"

"First rate," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I didn't care much about the tunes they played, but it was a great comfort to have enough noise to drown the vacuous conversation that was going on around me."—Washington Star.

A Looking Glass.

Mr. Crittick—Miss Artz tells me she does most of her painting now on glass.

Miss Spertz—I think she means with the aid of a glass.—Exchange.

Estray.

Early this spring two yearling cattle came to my place. Owner is requested to call, pay charges, and take same away.

Cough, Cough, Cough.

If your doctor tells you that your cough is the forerunner of consumption try Gloria Lung Balsam. It will do more for you than a change of climate. Best for children. Sold by W. A. Schrieter.

It is Possible

that a pair of glasses might relieve you of your headache. Consult your home optician, he will tell you.—Henry W. Anderson, Optician.

The Cough that Tickles.

If your cough tickles, if your throat is inflamed try Gloria Lung Balsam. It drives away the inflamed patches and stops the cough at once. Best for children. Sold by W. A. Schrieter.

Rheumatism of 50 years standing Cured.

Mr. Salome Boyer, of Goshen, Ind., writes: "I am 64 years old and have suffered from Rheumatism every since my fourteenth year, but thanks to Gloria Tonic I am now completely cured." Sold by W. A. Schrieter.

The time of year has arrived when the thrifty housewife is putting up fruit. The average man can't see the wisdom of putting so much good money into fruit and sugar at the time the job is being done but he appreciates the forethought along in the winter when he is eating it.

Morris L. Harris, of Chicago, is in the city visiting his sister, Mrs. Louis Sieff. Mr. Harris is employed in the post office of his city and has been in the service for a number of years. He is a trick bicycle rider of considerable notoriety and thoroughly enjoys outdoor life. He has a two weeks vacation from his duties.

Wild strawberries are ripe at the present time and parties have gone out quite numerously during the past few days to gather the luscious but "hard to pick" fruit. In spots along the prairie the yield is phenomenally large and pickers report excellent success in filling their pails. The wild fruit is believed by many people of this section to possess a superior flavor to the tame varieties and the small prairie berry is much sought after for preserving.

OLD SORES OFFENSIVE-DANGEROUS

Nothing is more offensive than an old sore that refuses to heal. Patiently, day after day, it is treated and nursed, every salve, powder, etc., that is heard of is tried, but does no good, until the very sight of it grows offensive to the sufferer and he becomes disgusted and morbid. They are not only offensive, but dangerous, because the same germ that produces cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore. The cause is in the blood and as long as it remains the sore will be there and continue to grow worse and more destructive. The fact that thousands of old sores have been cut out and even the bones scraped, and yet they returned, is indisputable evidence that the blood is diseased and responsible for the sore or ulcer.

Some years ago my blood became poisoned, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were closed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again. JOHN W. FUNDIS.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Valuable time is lost in experimenting with external treatments, such as salves, powders, washes, etc., because the germs and poisons in the blood must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. cleanses and purifies the circulation so that it carries rich, new blood to the parts and the sore or ulcer heals permanently. S. S. S. not only removes the germs and poisons, but strengthens the blood and builds up the entire system by stimulating the organs, increasing the appetite and giving energy to the weak, wasted constitution. It is an exhilarating tonic, aids the digestion and puts every part of the body in good healthy condition. Book on the blood, with any medical advice wished, without charge.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Contest a Tie.

St. Paul—Officials of the dairy and food commission are wondering to whom should they award the first prize in the butter scoring contest. Allie Olson of Hector and Alfred Schroeder of Lafayette each scored 97, and under the rules of the commission there is no way of ascertaining who is the winner.

It has been suggested that a coin be flipped to see who gets the prize, but should this coarse be decided on, there is a question as to who should receive the second prize. A. G. Schandall of Elmore scored 96¾, the score next to the highest, and would naturally receive the second prize. A. G. Schangot the second prize, the man who scored 97, but lost on the "flip" would get nothing. J. F. Kielty of Watkins, who scored 96½, expects the third prize. The first prize is $5 cash, the second $3 and the third $2.

Inheritance Tax.

The recent inheritance tax statements under the inheritance law passed by the recent legislature have been filed with the state auditor.

Five St. Paul estates come under the provisions of the inheritance tax law. The estate of Phal D Ferguson, estimated at $250,000, will pay the state about $12,000 on a 5 per cent basis. The estate is left to one heir, and the law allows an exemption of $10,000. The estate of Thomas Schnell, amounting to $72,300, will pay a tax of 1¼ per cent, after a $10,000 exemption has been taken out. The estate of Charles E. Dickerman, amounting to $150,000, is left to five heirs. Each heir is entitled to a $5,000 injunction. The estate of Katherine Stewart, amounting to $7,500, and the estate of Joseph O. Patee, amounting to $115,000 also come under the law.

Fire at Training School.

Red Wing.—The building used as a sloyd shop and laundry at the state training school was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock the morning of July 2. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

The building was a three-story structure of brick and stone, and was used as a workshop in which the boys of the school were taught trades. The basement and lower floors were given up to the laundry and engine room.

The fire started from an unknown cause in the tailor shop and had gained great headway before it was discovered. Much of the material was of a light, combustible nature and burned like kindling. The burned structure was in the rear of the main building. No damage was done to any other building. A common report is that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Prison Population.

Stillwater — Some surprise was caused by the announcement that the number of criminals at the state penitentiary is increasing more than four times as fast as the population of the state. The population of the prison has increased 40.2 per cent since 1900, while the census bureau officials will be highly pleased if there is an increase of 10 per cent in the population of the state.

There are 702 prisoners at Stillwater, by far the largest number in the history of the institution. The number a year ago was 634, three years ago 553 and five years ago 486. Members of the board of control who returned to St. Paul announced that all the cells are full and that prisoners are compelled to sleep in the corridors.

At Isle of Pines.

Mankato—Judge John B. Ogle, the runaway forger and embezzler, who twice tried to kill himself, has been located at Neuva Gerona on the Isle of Pines, the refuge of A. A. Buck, the defaulting cashier of Mankato.

Owing to the fact that the United States has no extradition treaty with the Isle of Pines it will be impossible to bring Ogle back for trial and punishment.

Much Building.

Building permits aggregating $1,000,000 were issued in St. Paul last month. This is the largest amount issued in in one month in the history of the city. This figure is also greater than the total figure for several average months. While nearly one-half of this amount is covered by two large buildings, most of it includes average structures and additions to buildings.

News Notes.

Grand Rapids—A new iron ore district is discovered southwest of here.

Mendota—Falling into a pool caused by high water of the Minnesota river, Arthur Hugo Johnson was drowned. The child's body was taken to St. Paul for burial.

St. Paul—L. A. Rosing of the state board of control objects to locating the administration building at the school of agriculture on low ground.

St. Paul—The state census will show an increase of 300,000 in Minnesota's population.

Minneapolis.—A campaign against slaughterhouses located near the residence portions of some of Minnesota's beautiful cities and villages has been started by the state board of health.

Bemidji—The big logging camps of the R. E. White company at Kelliher were destroyed by fire, together with the clothing, bedding, money and personal effects of 150 men. The total loss is $3,000 and no insurance was carried. Shots fired by a drunken woodsman are supposed to have ignited the buildings.

Minneapolis—A Methodist minister from Hopkins called at the Hennepin county jail for a visit to O. D. Crawford, the murderer sentenced to be hanged at Elk River Aug. 15, but he was in a surly mood and refused to see him or anyone else.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

In buying new, high-priced machinery, can you not think of something to lighten the wife's ceaseless labor? How about a washer, wringer and a bread machine? Say, give us your hand on that.

If a woodtick fastens itself in the flesh, do not pull it out. It will hold on till its neck breaks, and that leaves the head in the flesh, where it festers and makes a sore. Let a few drops of turpentine fall on it and it will let go and fall out.

Does the coat of the carriage horse look dusty and refuse to clean out and brighten up? Drive him enough to sweat him a little, some fine day, and when cleaning him rub him with moist straw. Then see. Also put in his feed a handful of oil meal or linseed meal each day.

A new bulletin has recently been published by Uncle Sam, entitled, "Milch Goats," which will prove of value to those of our old folks who are interested in that subject. Write to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and ask for Bulletin No. 68, Bureau of Animal Industry.]

If you have a patch or field of quack grass that you wish to exterminate, take your hogs into partnership and they will do it for you. Scatter some whole corn on the ground to encourage them to root. As soon as they get a taste of the quack roots they will not stop until every one has been found and eaten.

Have you any especially fine sheep or lambs this summer? Why not let your neighbors see them at the local fairs? You might sell some at good figures. The boys would like nothing better than to show their stock for a few days at the fair. It would make them proud of their sheep and help them to love the old home better.

Farmers Folks who live on broad acres can scarcely realize how much a tiny bit of land means to a city dweller. During the past year the Philadelphia Vacant Lots Cultivation Association allotted vacant city lots aggregating 158 acres, to 756 needy families—with a resulting yield amounting in value to $37,500. Let's think of that, next time we feel inclined to find fault with the "long rows" on our own farms.

"Hello! Mr. Farmer. This is Uncle Sam. The weather for today will be rainy and windy. Better not spray those potatoes until tomorrow. Goodbye Br-r-r-rl" Now all this may read like a fable, but the march of progress bids fair to make it true, everywhere. Already in Ohio, more than 100,000 farmers receive government weather forecasts by phone every work-day morning. Iowa, Illinois and some other states enjoy similar privileges. Secretary Wilson hopes that every farmer in the United States who has a telephone will soon be reached with this up-to-date service.

Vacation Hints

The Northern Pacific Railway is distributing a very interesting booklet on Minnesota Lake Resorts which is just the right thing to help you decide where to spend your vacation. Ask F. A. Nizen, Agent for Minnesota Lakes booklet, postage 4c.

The Stork.

The stork has been known to perish in the flames of a burning house rather than to desert her young.

First Cultivated Rose.

It is said that the first cultivated rose was planted in Belgium in the year 1522. The damask rose was taken to England from France in 1573, the moss rose about 1724 and the China rose fifty years later.

Tobacco For Wives.

Weird "Angel Shark."

A fish known as the "angel shark" and generally found only in the north Pacific has just been caught by a trawler in the North sea. It is over four feet long and has oddly shaped fleshy wings instead of the ordinary fins.

Ether.

Ether was first used in surgical operations in 1846.

Brutal Law.

In England some centuries ago if an ordinary workman without permission moved from one parish to another in search of work or better wages he was branded with a hot iron.

"Fourteenth Guest" Agency.

There is a most curious agency in Paris whose business it is to supply the fourteenth guest. Parisians, like some other people, have a superstitious objection to dinner parties of thirteen, and this agency undertakes to supply at short notice a lady or gentleman "warranted to give satisfaction."

The Book of Job.

The Book of Job is believed to be the most ancient literary work in existence. It is known to have been written prior to the Pentateuch and prior to the promulgation of the law.

Literary Mexico.

Mexico is credited with being at the head of the Latin-American countries in the matter of letters. Besides possessing the oldest organs of Spanish-American journalism, it is said to have in active existence the first library established in America, which is now at least 300 years old.

Potato Pancakes.

Pare and grate eight large potatoes, cut in an onion, beat in four eggs, add a teaspoonful of salt, mix with two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, add and mix well. Fry in a hot skillet.

Bamboos Grow Best at Night.

The growth of the giant bamboos of the East Indies is so rapid that a difference in the rate of increase between day and night can be observed. The growth is more rapid at night, because then the air is more charged with moisture than in the daytime.

The First Typewriter.

The first typewriter was received by the public with suspicion. It seemed subversive of existing conditions. A reporter who took one into a courtroom first proved its real worth.

Autumn Leaves.

It is popularly believed that autumn leaves assume their brilliant hues when touched by the frosts. This is an error. Autumn leaves turn red and yellow and brown and intermediate tones because that is the natural way for leaves to ripen.

Gaboriau's Visitors.

Gaboriau was troubled with visitors, and of those he desired never to see again he suspended photos in his servants' room for guidance. Once an author called. The servants ran to consult the cartes and, being puzzled, asked the visitor to smile, which being complied with he was informed determinedly, "Master is not at home."

The Alps.

Largest Tin Users.

The United States is the largest consumer of tin in the world, but derives its supplies mainly from the Straits Settlements, from Banka and other eastern sources.

Gold Jewelry.

Gold jewelry, says an authority, may be perfectly cleansed by being placed for half an hour in a bowl of warm water to which a generous quantity of ammonia has been added. Stir the jewelry around in the water for a moment, cover the bowl and let stand.

Oil For Waves.

Lighthouses in Denmark are supplied with oil which is pumped on the waves during a severe storm.

Stewed Figs.

Stewed figs are a delicious sauce and make a nice dessert if served with whipped cream. Simmer the figs in sufficient water to cover them, adding a little sugar. Cook till they are tender and have swelled till they seem somewhat plump. Let cool and eat.

Black Diamonds In Brazil.

The black diamond fields in Brazil belong to the government, which farms them out and makes a further profit by a 13 per cent export duty.

Germany's Oldest Inn.

The oldest inn in Germany is the Gasthof Zum Riesen in Miltenberg-on-the-Main, which was already of considerable age when the Emperor Frederick I. stayed there in 1158. Since then it has entertained a succession of historical personages, including Gustavus Adolphus and Martin Luther and in more recent times General von Moltke.

CHEAP EXCURSIONS
TO WESTERN CANADA
$10.00 FOR ROUND TRIP TICKETS
TO THE FAMOUS CARROT RIVER VALLEY

During the month of July the Canadian Northern Railway will sell tickets on any day from EMERSON on the INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY to Melfort and return, good for thirty days, with stop over privileges, for $10.00. Regular trains for the Carrot River Valley leave Winnipeg every Monday and Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. Minnesota and Dakota landseekers should buy tickets to Emerson, the International Boundary, where they can then purchase the $10.00 excursion tickets to Melfort and return.

THE CARROT RIVER VALLEY which now has railway facilities for the first time, is the most fertile part of the great Saskatchewan Valley. Two-thirds of the country is open prairie. The soil is a rich loam varying from one to four feet in depth. The running streams in every township furnish an abundance of pure water. The praries are covered with richly luxuriant grass. There is absolutely no Alkali or stone and there is no section in Western Canada to-day that will produce the same enormous yields of No. 1 Hard Wheat. The country too being equally well adapted to diversified farming. With the splendid railway facilities now afforded by the building of the Canadian Northern Railway through this marvelously rich district, this section of Western Canada will be settled quickly and prices will advance rapidly. Act Now, and get land in the best part of all Canada at First Prices.

Wanted a Big "Bar'l."

A newspaper tells the story of a storekeeper in a country town who, after twice telling a young man that he had no "onions," reverted to the matter after the customer had gone. "I declare," he said, "I do' know but what it was ingans that feller wanted!"

A similar tale is told by a young woman who, being in search of a barrel to catch rain water, applied to the village innkeeper.

"Have you a hogshead that I could buy?" she said, with the careful enunciation that she had learned in childhood.

The innkeeper shook his head.

"Not any sort of hogshead?" she asked, with gentle persistence. "I thought you must have a good many."

"I wonder what set you thinking that?" said the landlord, looking as if he considered her demented. "I haven't kep' a single hog for ten years back, and when I did keep 'em I never had any call for their heads."

It was the young woman's turn to look horrified.

"Oh, I don't know anything about hogs' heads!" she said excitedly. "I want a hogshead, an old molasses hogshead or something."

The landlord looked at her, and light dawned at last.

"I believe you mean you want a hugshud," he said, smiling broadly. "You step this way and take your choice of what I've got."

A Very Funny Joke.

"The head of our firm had a trying experience one Fourth of July," said a commercial man. "He thought he would play a funny joke on his family, so a day or so before the holiday he bought one of those candy boxes made in imitation of a cannon firecracker. He secreted this in the pantry, where he thought it would be safe.

"But his little son, about eight years old, discovered the firecracker and also discovered that it was filled with candy. He helped himself to the contents and finally, finding the box empty, he made way with it and substituted a real cannon cracker.

"Fourth of July came and the head of the family, smiling broadly, came downstairs and placed his big firecracker in the middle of the breakfast table. Then, regardless of his wife's expostulations, he touched a match to the fuse, never thinking but what it was the candy box on the table.

"His son and heir astutely vanished from the scene about this time. In about thirty seconds there was an explosion that wrecked a once happy breakfast table, and one hour later the worst spanked boy in Detroit had sobbingly confessed to an irate father why the joke had failed."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Old Time Dentistry.

In the early days of dentistry a hickory plug was put into the cavity to fill the space where a tooth ought to be. This plug had to be gently pounded into its desired position. Old Judge Peckham was somewhat addicted to strong language, and when the dentist began his work the judge indulged in some classic comment. As the tapping of the plug continued he threw all dignity to the four winds of heaven, and his language became decidedly "more forcible than elegant." When, however, he arose from the chair, after what seemed to him an interminable period of agony, he pulled out all the stops in his vocabulary for a grand climax. The impression on his listener seems to have been deep and lasting. As the judge passed out the dentist grimly remarked to a waiting patient:

"Wasn't it beautiful? It wasn't really necessary to pound half so long, but I did so enjoy his inflection that I almost pounded the hickory plug into splinters. Wonderful command of language the judge has!"—National Magazine.

Musical Fish.

Lake Batticaloa, Ceylon, has the probably unique distinction of being the home of a musical fish. The sounds emitted by these are said to be as sweet and melodious as those which can be produced by a series of aeolian harps. Crossing the lake in a boat, one can plainly distinguish the pleasant sounds. If an oar is dipped in the water the melody becomes louder and more distinct.

A Pencil Tombstone.

A German pencil maker, deceased, has over his grave a gigantic stone representation of half a lead pencil set as a tombstone. It is of red sandstone, with a core of graphite eight inches in diameter.

Lager Beer.

Lager beer was so called because when first made it was stored for months before it was used on a "lager," or frame, in a cool cellar.

Wreckers' Debauch.

The wreck of a ship from Spain strewed the coast of England for six miles near the mouth of the Mersey with oranges, citrons, grapes and barrels of port. Most of the people of a neighboring village were intoxicated for several days.

Magical Scenes in California.

If you contemplate a trip to California with its lovely seaside resorts, orange groves, beautiful groves and quaint old Missions, the pleasantest, shortest and quickest way to the magical scenes is over the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific lines. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is, cattarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitution treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Why Do Other Stove Manufacturers Imitate the Majestic?

It was the MAJESTIC manufacturers that first began putting malleable iron in the top of a range. Today they have, like all good things, many imitators, but not a one of them was made until the MAJESTIC had proven what it was worth. The manufacturers of this range have spent thirty-five years in perfecting this one thing, that's all they make, that's why we've had the success we have have had with it.

LOCAL NEWS.

Race suicide is evidently not one of the failings of North Dakota. Yesterday at La Moure, in that state, Mrs. Evigne E. Reilly presented her husband with three girls and a boy. They are all perfectly formed and normal in every particular, and likely to survive. Mrs. Reilly is 34 and now the mother of ten children.

The young men who compose the Maple Lake camping party left early Saturday morning for the lake and are enjoying out door life at this popular resort. A complete camping outfit accompanied the party and the boys are prepared for any emergency. The following are in the party: Harry, Lee and Ralph Healy, Harry Garceau, Norman Schrieter, Walter Buse, Orson Doe, and J. Drew Marshall.

Geo. Lange who lived in Louisville township several years and moved to Cottonwood last fall on account of his father's ill health, writes friends here that he has suffered from the hail this season and that his crop will be an entire failure. He reports the country to the south as being visited by hard storms this season and says the prospects for a crop in that locality are not very encouraging.

Lewis LaPiere, of Gervais township, left a sample of wheat at the Ed. L. Healy land office last Saturday that certainly indicate that Red Lake county's crops are in a prosperous condition. There are thirty-six heads from one kernel of wheat and the heads range from 4 to 6½ inches in length. It is fine looking grain and if nothing happens between now and harvest time Mr. LaPiere will have a monster crop.

The Minneapolis Journal has again displayed its enterprise by sending to Sweden and Norway its managing editor, Mr. W. B. Chamberlain, who will make a study of the new and interesting political developments in those countries for the benefit of Journal readers. Mr. Chamberlain is an American, a trained newspaper man, and an instructive, unbiased discussion of the situation in these two countries may be relied upon.

The Great Northern railway is in the fruit business on a large scale. Their fruit ranch is located at Monroe, Washington, and the business is conducted under the firm name of Great Northern Fruit Co. Station Agent Tracy received a consignment of raspberries Tuesday which he readily disposed of to the dealers in the city. The fruit company ship their products in small refrigerators and the fruit arrives in this section in first class condition. Raspberries will be coming along during the month of July, blackberries in August, while the month of September will be devoted to dewberries.

A deal was made yesterday afternoon whereby the saloon business conducted for a number of years by J. E. Bray became the property of Ed. Bray, possession being given at 6 o'clock last evening. The new proprietor has been a resident of this city for twenty-four years and has hosts of friends who will be pleased to learn of his new venture, and he will no doubt do a good business. J. E. Bray will go to Northwestern Canada where he has a fine hotel and saloon business. The family will not leave until in the fall.

At the trial held in Crookston Tuesday before Judge Watts in the county seat controversy Messrs. Evenson and Sweaas of Thief River Falls filed a complaint in intervention. The court allowed them to intervene and they were also allowed to file their complaint. Demurr was made to the complaint by Attorneys Grady and Boughton on behalf of three of our county commissioners, on a ground of a defect in parties in the action. It was stated in the demurr that the complaint does not state sufficient facts as to cause of action. The demurr was overruled and it is thought the matter will be appealed to the supreme court of the state.

Mrs. Jeff Porter and young son, living three miles east of the city, had a runway on Main street Monday evening that caused considerable excitement for a few minutes. Their horse became frightened near the post office and ran down the street at at a very fast gait. At the Presbyterian church corner the buggy upset spilling the occupants to the ground and breaking the vehicle badly. Mrs. Porter's collar bone was broken and she was badly bruised and shaken up. The son escaped with minor injuries. Medical aid was immediately summoned and the sufferers are getting along nicely at this writing.

Crookston Times: Mat Milligan, the popular Great Northern engineer, has a crew of cement workers engaged on a full foundation for his residence on South Ash street, and the work is but a prelude to many renovations and improvements which will be put in at the Milligan home during the summer. A two hundred barrel cistern, hot water heating plant, renovation of the interior of the home and general tranformation of the property into one of the prettiest and most conveniently arranged residences of the city will be made during the next few weeks. Contractor Rowe has charge of the cement work.

The election of Messrs. Garceau and Hunt as members of the school board, to succeed themselves, seems to be an assured fact, judging from the talk of our business men and citizens the past week. The gentlemen are certainly capable officials and their work in the past as members of the board speak volumns in their behalf. It is a position that should be filled by competent men,—men who take an interest in the schools and who are qualified to transact the necessary business in a business-like manner. That Messrs. Garceau and Hunt have proven themselves men of this character has been ably demonstrated by their work on the board in the past. The election will be held next Saturday.

Editor George of the Fertile Journal was certainly feeling good last week. Things looked good to him as the following will testify: A drive through the country at this time is a pleasure. Nature is clothed in its loveliest tints. The field of grain, green and verdant and waving in the breezes, present an ever pleasing panorama. The hedges and sides of ditches and banks, railroad and other, are radiant with the fragrant and beautiful wild rose, and everywhere on the prairie which has not been disturbed by the plow or harrow during the spring, will be seen the tiger lily, the blue bell and other summer flowers. The birds sing in the branches and everything smiles as only God can make it. It is a lovely world, and "man alone is vile."

A city girl writes: "It is a fond dream of mine to become a farmers' wife and meander with him down life's pathway." Ah, yes, that is a nice thing, but when your husband meanders off and leaves you without wood, you have to meander up and down the lane pulling splinters off of the fenee to cook dinner, and when you meander along in the wet grass in search of the cows until your shoes are the color of rawhide and your stockings soaked, and when you meander out across twenty acres of plowed ground with a club to drive the hogs out of the corn field and tear your dress on the barbed wire fence, when you meander back to the house, found the billy goat has bunted the stuffing out of your child, and find the old hen and forty chickens in the parlor you'll put your hands on your hips and realize that meandering is not what it is cracked up to be.—Ex.

DEER PARK.

Special to the Courier.

Haying is near at hand.

Crop prospects are good in this vicinity.

Mrs. Peterson, of Gully, is visiting friends in this neighborhood.

Ed. Havik and family, of Grit, visited friends at High Landing last Sunday.

Strawberries and June berries are now ripe but very scarce in this vicinity.

M. E. Hyland was at McIntosh Tuesday, returning home Friday via Gully.

Young prairie chickens are very scarce this year on account of the heavy rains.

Stephen Singer, of Gully, was up to pay his partner, Editor Hunt, a short visit.

Ben Kviste, of High Landing, was back to the old farm in Equality for a load of movables last Thursday.

The weather prophets must have "slipped a cog" on the weather question. No signs of drouth here.

Editor Hunt has received his commission as postmaster of Sunbeam P. O. which is located on his homestead.

The grand fourth of July celebrations proved to be a failure in this part of the country on account of the rain.

Sam and Chas. Swanson are busy these days building a house on Sam's homestead. They expect to move in by the 15th.

Thor Moen and Knut Olson left for the town of Eden last Monday for a couple loads of goods from their old homes, but at this writing have not returned.

There now remains only about twelve quarters of land in Deer Park township that is vacant. Not so bad a record for the first year. Most of those left will go before fall.

Ben Kviste says it has been a practice of his to shave but once a year, and that on the fourth of July if it doesn't rain. It rained nearly all day this year but somehow Ben found time between showers. Ben says he will not be caught that way again. It has got to shine all day or no shave hereafter.

Many people ask why it generally rains on the fourth of July. Can it be we have drifted apart from the spirit and principles our forefathers fought for in the days of the distant past, and now take too much to other "spirits" such as beer instead, and thus forget that we gather to honor the valiant deeds of those who lived before us and uphold the day of our liberty? These beer celebrations have made a world of darkness for many, and too often have stained the day with cold-blooded murder. No wonder it rains.

BADGER.

Albert Lachance drove to the city on business Saturday.

Miss Alyce Quesnell is at present working for Mrs. C. Cadieux in Terrrbonne.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Boisvert, of Lambert, visited at the home of J. Ducharme last week.

Miss Aurore Ducharme arrived home from Lambert last Saturday after working a few weeks for her sister, Mrs. LaCourciere.

A large number of Henry Laurents' young friends pleasantly surprised him Sunday evening. A good time is reported by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fortier, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harren and children and Miss Dautremont, all of Red Lake Falls, were out this way Sunday, and on their way home stopped to see Miss Alma Quesnell, who returned a few days ago from Little Falls.

A "hammering bee" was held at the home Evangeliste Quesnell Saturday and needless to say every participant did his duty as Mr. Queensll's new barn proves. We are sorry to say that Adelard Champeau could not enjoy the entire day as he was quite badly hurt along towards evening. He was up quite high and had a large log in his arm when he lost his balance and fell to the ground, the log falling on him. He is improving at present and his many friends hope that he will soon regain his usual good health.

THE GARDEN KEYBOARD

Get busy right now.

Study the seed catalogues.

Don't neglect the advertisements.

Sow peas as soon as the ground can be worked.

Now will you be good and test your seeds?

Cherries and plums should be among the trees grafted earliest.

An "earliest green eating onion" is one of the new things of 1905.

"Trimming time"—the milder days of late winter and early spring.

"Prune when the knife is sharp," but never when the wood is frozen.

Lettuce and radish seed can go into the ground as soon as the surface can be scratched.

Plowing the garden when the ground is wet makes bad work. Better a good job a few days delayed.

Get the first sowing of sweet peas into the earth as soon as the frost is out. Cover four or five inches deep. Cool weather after planting will not hurt them.

March weather is uncertain, but in many regions seed of the hardier vegetables, such as cabbage, cauliflower, onions, peas, parsnips, lettuce, etc., may be sown when normally good weather condition prevails and the ground is dry.

Has it ever occurred to you that early table turnips may be a very profitable crop? They can be planted very early—often before the weather is settled. Give small dressings of nitrate of soda at intervals and reap a handsome return.

Here is a good grafting wax: Resin, four parts by weight; beeswax, two parts; tallow, one part. Break the materials fine, melt thoroughly together and pour into a pail of cold water. When hard enough, pull and work till it "gets a grain" and is of the color of taffy. The hands must be greased.

Apparently.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris, is, that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumption or pneumonia, it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee, of Vanleer. Tenn. "I had a cough for fourteen years. Nothing helped me until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief, and affected a permanent cure. "Unequalled quick cure, for Throat and Lung Troubles: At all druggists; price 50c and $1.00, Trial bottle free.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver, by taking a medicine which will releive their pain and comfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation. 25c at all druggists.

She Tried Five Doctors.

Mrs. Frances L. Sales, of Missouri Valley, Ia., writes "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble five years; bad severe pains in my back and a frequent desire to urinate. When riding I experienced much pain over the region of the kidneys. I tried five physicians without benefit and then concluded to try Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three $1.00 bottles I was completely cured." A. L. Riechert.

THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught comes nearer regulating the entire system and keeping the body in health than any other medicine made. It is always ready in any emergency to treat ailments that are frequent in any family, such as indigestion, biliousness, colds, diarrhœa, and stomach aches.

Thedford's Black-Draught is the standard, never-failing remedy for stomach, bowel, liver and kidney troubles. It is a cure for the domestic ills which so frequently summon the doctor. It is as good for children as it is for grown persons. A dose of this medicine every day will soon cure the most obstinate case of dyspepsia or constipation, and when taken as directed brings quick relief.

DANVILLE, ILL., Dec. 23, 1902.
Thedford's Black-Draught has been our family doctor for five years and we want no other. When any of us feel badly we take a dose and are all right in twelve hours. We have spent lots of money for doctor bills, but get along just as well with Black-Draught. IRA H. BADER.

Ask your dealer for a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and if he does not keep it send 25c. to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. and a package will be mailed to you.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

RED LAKE COURIER.

VOL. VII—NO. 41. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1905. WHOLE NO. 353.

OFF FOR WINNIPEG

Red Lake Falls Band Will Furnish Music for Canada's Big Show.

This evening the Red Lake Falls band, accompanied by a number of our citizens will leave on the Great Northern for Winnipeg where the band will play tomorrow and Saturday.

Red Lake Falls may well feel proud of this engagement for the band as the exposition management insist on good music and search far and wide for a competent band. That our band has been selected as being the best and most proficient is an honor that all should rejoice in.

Three concerts each day will be given and all the operatic and popular music will be played in an artistic manner. The city will receive considerable publicity through this engagement and it will be the means of attracting attention to this part of the country.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the directors of school district No. 167, Red Lake Falls township, for the following repairs to school building: brick foundation, new floors and new sills, if necessary. Specifications can be had at the clerk's residence. Bids will be opened Saturday, Aug 5th, 1905. The directors reserved the right to reject any and all bids.

j20-a3 Clement P. Mercier, Clerk.

Where are you sick? Headache, foul tongue, no appetite, lack of energy, pain in your stomach, constipation. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will make you well and keep you well. 35 cents. A. L. Reichert.

WILL BE MARRIED.

Miss Mabel Wyer, formerly of this City to be Married Next Week.

The announcement made that Miss Mabel Wyer, daughter of J. I. Wyer, president of the First State Bank, and a former resident of this city, is to be married next Wednesday to John H. Rowe, a prominent young man of Minneapolis.

The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents at Excelsior and will be witnessed by the relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride to be is well and favorably known here, having made this city her home from 1885 until 1900. She has many friends in this section of the country who will wish her joy and happiness unbounded. The groom is a well known lumberman of Minneapolis and is spoken of in the highest terms by all of his acquaintances. The COURIER joins their many friends in wishing them joy and happiness in their new relation.

Life in the Open.

President Roosevelt's enthusiasm over what he calls "life in the open" has spread so rapidly in the last few years that it is recognized as one of the characteristics of Americans that they are keen for out-of-door sports. No one tendency could be more encouraging for us or any other nation. Combine this with a regular use of golden grain belt beer and will soon win the reputation of being the healthiest and safest nation in the world. The beer is unequaled as a tonic and table beverage and should be in every American home. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

ELECTED UNANIMOUSLY

Messrs. Garceau and Hunt Were Re-elected Members of School Board without Opposition.

The school election held at the Lafayette building last Saturday evening proved to be a very quiet and one sided affair. Twenty-nine votes were cast, Messrs. Theo. Garceau and Frank E. Hunt receiving every vote cast.

These gentlemen have a right to feel proud of the result of the election. To be unanimously chosen to succeed themselves is certainly a compliment and shows that they have the confidence of the people of the entire community. The COURIER compliments Messrs. Garceau and Hunt on their popularity and the excellent showing made at Saturday's election.

Patrick's Ambition.

Northfield News: Patrick E. Dowling of Steel Trust county, otherwise known as St. Louis, has been hovering between two ambitions ever since the legislature was half through with its session. First he thought he ought to be speaker of the next legislature; now he would not object to being nominated for lieutenant governor. It takes a wide stretch of imagination to think that the people would entrust the positions of presiding officers to a community that is so plainly dominated by the Steel Trust and the Associated Railroads. The man who will preside over the next State senate in this State must be a man who cannot in anyway be influenced by corporations. And this isn't personal to you, Patrick.

TO THE GREAT BEYOND

Ole Mikkelson Dies at his Home in this City after an Illness of Three Weeks.

Ole Mikkelson, a well known citizen of this city, died last Saturday after an illness of three weeks with typhoid fever. He had been in poor health for a number of years, and when he was taken sick with typhoid little hopes were entertained for his recovery. For a time he held his own but the fight was too much for his strength and he gradually failed until his death.

Mr. Mikkelson was born at New Lisbon, Wis., Nov. 22, 1852, and married Miss Anna Odette at Delevan, Minn., April 6, 1884. He joined the Free Will Baptist church at that place in 1889. The family moved to Murray county in 1896, where they lived for five years, moving to Red Lake Falls four years ago where they have made their home up to the present time. The deceased leaves a wife and one son to mourn his death.

Services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon after which the remains were taken to the Great Northern depot and prepared for shipment to Blue Earth where the interment will be made.

The bereaved family has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their hour of sadness.

A "Mother Goose" Party.

Miss Beatrice Emard entertained a number of her young friends at a "Mother Goose" party last Monday evening. The lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese and small colored glass lanterns, but unfortunately the rain spoiled this part of the program, but nothing daunted old "Mother Goose" and her train of followers took possession of the house where for a few hours high carnival reigned and is befitting when Mother Goose and her characters gather.

The following characters so dear to the young heart were represented: Old Mother Goose and son, Ida Mathias and Preston Hall; Little Jack Horner, Herbert Findeisen; Mary had a Little Lamb, Florence Hennemuth; The Old Woman who went to Market, and the Robber Stout, Lily Zaiser and Peter Crompe; Mary, Mary, quite contrary, Lillian Brady and Clara Rue; Little Boy Blue, Marcus Marshall; The Queen, eating bread and honey, Alice Zaiser; The Maid hanging out her clothes, Gerda Floan; The Frog that would a wooing go, Walter Garceau; Dame Cock-a-doodle-doo & Master Cock-a-doodle-doo, Lorena Zaiser and Theo. Garceau, Jr.; Ladybird, Dora Bray; Little Bo-peep, Rebecca Hunt; Jack Sprat and wife, Henry Borchers and Henry Zaiser; Jack be nimble, Carl Buse; Old Batchelor who brought his wife home in a wheelborrow, Robert Zaiser and Erma Schrieter; The Old Witch, Hazel Healy; The Queen and Knave of Hearts, Beatrice Emard and Rene Bray; Sing a song of six pence, Nap Lemieux; As I was a going along, long, long, Alfred Floan; Peter, Peter, pumkin eater, Peter Crompe; Little Miss Muffet, Austrid Kindseth; Simple Simon, Graham Kindseth; Jack and Jill, Oscar and Isabelle Helm.

The girls' prize was awarded to Miss Rebecca Hunt, the boys' prize going to Robert Zaiser. After refreshments were served the young people departed wishing their hostess happiness and complimenting her on the success of the occasion.

Red Lake County Shows Gain of 3,782

State Census Gives the County 15,917 People—Growth of 30 Per Cent. in Five Years.

Red Lake county's population by the 1905 census, just completed yesterday is 15,917, an increase of 3,782, or about 30 per cent., over the Federal census of 1900, which gave the county a population of 12,195.

The population of the city of Red Lake Falls is 1,782, a decrease of 103 since 1900. This is a most unsatisfactory showing. There is no question but that a great many people have not been counted, for the town is growing and the school attendance is larger than at any time in the past.

The city of Thief River Falls has a population of 3,502, which is an increase of 1639, or about 90 per cent. during the past five years. There is no one so brazen as to claim that there are 3500 people in Thief River, but the enumerator was unduly enterprising. He counted the 500 or more men engaged in building the Soo railroad and the 150 more at work on the water and sewer system and other improvements. Perhaps if a round thousand was taken frow the figures the net population figures of this city would be substantially accurate.

None of the towns have made heavy gains, although Poplar River, Gervais and Rocksbury have done well. The new towns on the reservation show a larger number of inhabitants than was generally expected.

On the whole the showing in Red Lake County is more than satisfactory---it is splendid. The population is almost equal to many of the counties in the southern part of of the state similar area, and the growth is larger relatively, than in any other county of the Red River valley.

The heavy growth in numbers puts Red Lake county in a different class, and some of the county officials will receive increased salaries and allowances as a result. Judge of Probate Tarrant will have his pay increased from $825 to $1,175 and Treasurer Hansen will be entitled to some allowance for clerk hire.

DOING A GOOD BUSINESS.

Red Lake Falls Creamery is a Big Success.

The patrons of the Red Lake Falls Creamery received their checks today for cream delivered to the creamery during June. The price paid to the patrons is 17 cents per pound for butter fat, and this is after 1 and ½ cents per pound had been deducted from the total of the months run for the sinking fund. So in reality the patrons of the creamery received 18½ cents per pound of butter fat for the month of June. This is a very creditable showing and shows that the creamery is being conducted upon an economical basis and that a superior article of butter is being turned out.

Very few farmers realize what the success of the creamery means to this section of the country. But if they will stop to realize that several of the patrons of the local creamery to-day received checks amounting to $55.00 a peice they can at least see what it means in dollars and cents. The creamery is now being run on a business basis, as it has been during all this season. Every dollar is being looked after and patrons will receive every cent they have coming. More cream is needed for then better results can be obtained as the more butter that is turned out the less the expense and so the greater returns per pound. Look this matter over farmers, come in and investigate for yourself, and then at once become a patron of the creamery. In this way you will have an income not dependent wholly upon the weather.

DRAIN LANDS ON A SYSTEM.

Plans for Complete Survey of Swamp Lands.

Rapid progress is being made in preparation for the topographical survey of the state swamp lands in the northern part of Minnesota, authorized by the last legislature.

The United States bureau of geodetic survey and nearly all the railroads running into Minnesota are co-operating with the state officials in preparing the survey, which will be conducted by John Abercrombie, surveying engineer of the state drainage commission.

The railroads are furnishing maps and blue prints of the lands through which they run, and the United States government is furnishing reports on triangulation and geodetic survey which have been made by the federal bureau. The state is getting most of this information without expense; if it had to pay for the information the expense would be many thousand dollars.

This proposed survey is probably the most important movement in the history of drainage in Minnesota and the Northwest. It means that hereafter instead of building patches of ditches here and there the commission will construct a series of main channels as the foundation for a comprehensive system, covering the millions of acres of swamp lands in Northern Minnesota. The state drainage commission will have at its disposal complete information regarding the topography of the swamp lands, the elevations, the depressions, the inclines, the depressions, the levels and the like. When it has an application for a ditch it can refer to the records and tell at a glance whether the proposedditch is feasable.

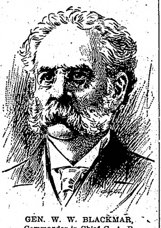
G. A. R. CHIEF DIES WHILE ON A TOUR

GEN. BLACKMAR, GRAND ARMY COMMANDER, PASSES AWAY IN IDAHO.

VETERAN GAINED FAME DURING WAR

Dead Leader's Remains Will Be Taken to Boston for Interment—Baltimore Man Succeeds to Vacant Office—Sketch of Life.

Boise, Idaho, July 18.—Gen. W. W. Blackmar, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. died here of intestinal nephritis. His wife was with him during his illness. The body will be embalmed and taken to the home of the family at Boston. The general arrived here on July 10 on a tour, during which he intended to visit Grand Army posts throughout the northwest. He was ill when he arrived and gradually failed. The seriousness of his condition was kept from the public at the request of his wife.



GEN. W. W. BLACKMAR,
Commander-in-Chief G. A. R.

Gen. Blackmar was born July 25, 1841, at Bristol, Pa. He enlisted in the Fifteenth Pennsylvania cavalry, and subsequently joined the First West Virginia. He served with distinction throughout the war and at Five Forks was promoted on the field by Gen. Custer to the rank of captain. Throughout three administrations, those of Govs. Long, Talbott and Rice, he was judge advocate general of Massachusetts. At the last national encampment of the G. A. R. he was elected commander-in-chief.

The New Commander.

Baltimore, Me., July 18.—By the death of Gen. Blackmar, Capt. John R. King, of this city, senior vice commander-in-chief, becomes, under the laws of the G. A. R., acting commander-in-chief, and will continue such until the next national encampment. Capt. King is pension agent for Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia, and has an office in Washington.

Killed in a Church.

Owingsville, Ky., July 18.—Telegrams from Beattyville, Ky., say that John Miller, of Breathitt county, shot and killed James Crees and wounded James M. Thomas, during a fight in a church on Fraley creek, Lee county. Miller entered the church, according to the report received here, and announced that he was the best man in the house. Crees and Thomas disputed this and the shooting followed. A mob formed to lynch Miller, but the sheriff landed his prisoner safely in the Beattyville jail.

Injured in Elevator Fall.

Philadelphia, June 18.—District Attorney John C. Bell, Assistant City Solicitor Harry T. Kingston, and William Born, of Collingswood, N. J., were seriously injured Monday by a fall of an elevator in the Land Title building, the highest building in the city.

Two Drowned.

Rochester, N. Y., July 18.—By the accidental overturning of a rowboat on Keuka lake, N. Y., Miss Maude Masten, of Pennyan, and Miss Remer Faulkner, of Mansfield, Pa., were drowned. Four others of the party were rescued after much difficulty.

AWFUL DISASTER IN ITALY

ROOF OF A CHAPEL FALLS DURING SERVICES.

Sixteen Women, and Fifty Children Are Killed—Many Otehrs Are Injured.

Fermo, Italy, July 18.—The roof of the chapel of the women's hospital fell in Sunday morning during the celebration of mass, killing 16 women and 50 children, and injuring 16 women and a large number of children. The injured have been taken from the ruins.

Stones fell at first from the cupola, crushing the sisters who were near the high altar. The right wall immediately afterwards fell before escape could be effected. Soldiers and citizens, under the direction of the prefect and the mayor, undertook the work of rescue, but 12 girls only escaped unharmed. The town is plunged in mourning as the victims of the disaster belong to the best families of the district.

MANY DIE FROM HEAT.

Twenty-Three Perish from Intense Humidity—Little Prospects of Relief.

St. Paul, Minn., July 18.—Nine persons were drowned and three deaths from heat occurred in St. Paul and Minneapolis in 24 hours. The drownings were all resultant from accidents while bathing.

Chicago, July 18.—Two deaths and many cases of sunstroke are the accompaniments of the intense heat in Chicago. There is no prospect of relief unless the lake breeze should come to the aid of the suffering thousands. William Dubski fell dead while at work in the Hammond packing plant at the stock yards. He had been complaining of the heat. John Grogn dropped dead while walking about his home. In South Chicago nine infants have perished from the heat.

STEAMER SINKS IN STORM.

Stillwater, Minn., Vessel Turns Completely Over and Founders—Crew Escapes.

Wabasha, Minn., July 18.—The steamboat Clyde, of Stillwater, was struck by a tornado opposite Minneiska, halfway between Winona and this city, Monday, turned completely over and sank in 18 feet of water. The crew escaped.

The boat belonged to Bronson and Folsom, of Stillwater, and had in tow a raft of logs and lumber. Capt. D. B. Newcombe was not on the vessel at the time the storm struck her. The boat is a total loss.

American Squadron Sighted.

Plymouth, July 18.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., from New York, arrived here Monday and reported passing in latitude 44.27 north and longitude 37.12 west the American squadron commanded by Rear Admiral Sigsbee, which is conveying the body of Admiral Paul Jones from France to the United States. Admiral Sigsbee reported all well on board the American warships, adding, "will be off Chesapeake Cape July 22."

Peary Sails for North Pole.

New York, July 18.—Lieut. Robert E. Peary on Sunday started on his long journey in quest of the north pole. His ship, the Roosevelt, which has been lying in the North river, opposite Thirtieth street, since Saturday night, weighed anchor and got under way at 3:10 p. m. The Roosevelt was saluted by all manner of steam and sailing craft on her way to the sea. She passed out the narrows at 4:45 p. m.

Clark's Condition Better.

New York, July 18.—Senator W. A. Clark, who is recovering from an operation upon an abscess in the ear, passed a comfortable night, and the indications are apparently very favorable. Dr. [illegible]Kernon visited the patient, remaining but half an hour.

Little Hope of Recovery.

Des Moines, Ia., July 18.—There is little change in the condition of Speaker Henderson, who is suffering from paresis. Very little hope is entertained for his recovery, although he may linger many months.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 143 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. WEBBER.

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before falling asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that, somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep or eat. Our baby girl was sent away, and all callers barred, because he could not stand a bit of talking. I read of a case of nervous prostration cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. We began giving it to him, and in a few days he was able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nervine saved his life."—MRS. A. G. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.

SLUGGERS BLOCK UNION ELECTION

THUG BAND BEATS LABOR LEADER, LEAVING HIM FOR DEAD.

JUDGES SET UPON, BALLOTS DESTROYED

Chicago, July 18.—Sluggers of the "wrecking crew" type invaded the Chicago Federation of Labor at its semiannual election here and after holding up the judges at the point of revolvers and tearing up the ballots used brass knuckles and slungshots on Michael Donnelly, prominent among the conservative labor leaders, and left him for dead on the floor of Bricklayers' hall. Donnelly's wounds, after he had been revived, were found to be serious. His face, body, legs, and arms were badly bruised and cut. At his home, where he was taken, physicians were unable to estimate his chances of recovery.

Preceding the "slugging" of Donnelly the "wreckers" turned loose upon the judges and clerks who were conducting the election. At the point of magazine revolvers they forced these men into submission, locked them in a small room at one end of the hall, and then destroyed the ballots, ballot boxes and other election paraphernalia.

The exact motive for the attack is a mystery. Some hold the opinion that labor politics was behind it. Others believe that Donnelly alone was marked for a beating. Donnelly himself says he was "too honest to please the labor machine."

Judges and Clerks Cowed.

The riotous scenes were enacted about noontime. All morning the election had been in progress, and active rivalry had accompanied the balloting. President Dold, it was said, up to noon was 50 or more votes ahead of his opponent, O'Neill. Without warning the "wrecking crew" descended. Bricklayer's hall at the time was quiet, and with the exception of a half dozen judges and clerks only a few persons were in the room. There were eight men in the "slugging" party, and they came up the back stairway together. They took possession of the big hall. Marching up to the desks where the judges and clerks of election were sitting they surrounded the four men and covered them with magazine revolvers. "Line up over there with your faces against the wall," was the order. It was obeyed with alacrity.

Ballots and Boxes Destroyed.

The ballot boxes were kicked in, the ballots and tally sheets torn up, and the voting booths wrecked. Nothing was left whole which might be employed afterward to carry on the election. Even the chairs on which the judges had been sitting were broken.

It was only when they had completed the devastation, littering the floor with the ballots and tally sheets, that the "wreckers" turned their attention to Donnelly. He had not yet returned and they awaited his entrance. To insure no interference they locked the judges and clerks, together with the sergeant at arms, in a small cloakroom at one end of the hall.

Murderous Attack.

Donnelly was met at the door as he opened it. Quickly a "slungshot" deftly swung felled the stockyards strike leader. A moment later the eight "wreckers" were kicking and beating him. The first blow had rendered him insensible, but his assailants continued mercilessly to rain fisticuffs on his face and body. They they took turns at kicking him with their heavy shoes. They then left him lying unconscious and made their escape.

Jaguar in New Role.

Colorado Springs, Col., July 18.—More than 2,000 people and four passenger trains on the Colorado Midland railroad have been held at tunnel No. 6, two miles west of Manitou, by a fierce South American jaguar. Before he was captured the animal clawed Joseph Bennett, of this city, cutting a severe gash across the right leg. Miss Delmon, a passenger on one of the trains, became frightened, and in endeavoring to scale a high cliff, fell a distance of 20 feet, breaking her left leg.

Aged Banker Dies.

Oshkosh, Wis., July 18.—Richard T. Morgan, a wealthy pioneer lumberman and banker, is dead at his home in this city, at the age of 76 years. He expired after an illness of several months, with kidney and heart disease. He was president of the National Union bank, Oshkosh, also vice president of banks at Tigerton and Winneconne.

Receiver Discharged.

St. Louis, July 18.—On motion of the attorneys for the People's United States bank, capitalized at $2,500,000, Judge McElhinney, of the St. Louis county circuit court, Monday dissolved the receivership for that institution, and discharged Receiver Selden P. Spencer, appointed by him several days ago on the request of Secretary of State Swanger, of Missouri.

Many Injured in Collision.

Hartford City, Ind., July 18.—Seventeen persons were injured Monday in a collision between a passenger car and a work train on the Muncie, Hartford City & Fort Wayne traction line. All of the injuries with one exception were slight.

MUST YIELD OR GO TO WAR

SWEDEN GIVES NOTIFICATION TO NORWAY.

Seceding Country Must Agree to Terms of Dissolution or Fight.

Stockholm, July 18.—Sweden's dissolution conditions now in course of preparation will possess all the force of an ultimatum, according to Capt. Baumgarten, who introduced in the upper house the resolution to appropriate 100,000,000 kroner ($26,800,000) for use in emergency. The captain has led an influential party in a strenuous fight against the separation of the countries.

"When the riksdag has decided on the dissolution terms," said the captain, "they will represent the country's irreducible minimum from the standpoint of national honor. Their rejection will give no alternative except war. The riksdag is determined that the crisis shall leave no blemish on Sweden's escutcheon. With the exception of the socialists the country solidly upholds this attitude. The king will not oppose it when the steadfastness of the nation's attitude is manifest. Sweden can put 100,000 effectives into the field the week after the declaration of hostilities, and Norway can only put 45,000. Sweden could maintain the same rate of preponderance throughout the war."

RUSSIAN REVOLT RENEWED.

Bloody Battles Between People and Cossacks at Tiflis—Other Rioting.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—Rioting was resumed in Lodz, Warsaw, Odessa and the Caucasian provinces. Dispatches from Tiflic received tell of bloody battles between Cossacks and revolutionists, with the slaughter of soldiers by rioters and the blowing up of government magazines and other buildings. Bombs were thrown in Baku Saturday morning and four police agents were killed. Several Cossack troopers were blown to pieces in Batoum, and in Moscow more than a dozen persons were injured in a cavalry charge on a mob. Cossacks in Lodz killed three men and wounded six persons, including two women, by firing a valley into a mob.

Lodz, July 18.—Part of the Ekaterinburg regiment stationed here mutinied Monday and killed an officer. The mutineers were arrested. Owing to the state of siege the citizens of Lodz are compelled to contribute $1,500 daily towards the maintenance of the troops here.

Warsaw, July 18.—A sergeant of detectives was shot and killed here Monday by an unknown man. A patrol of infantry while pursuing the assassin fired a volley killing a merchant.

ACKNOWLEDGES HIS GUILT

Man Wanted for Wife Murder Is Arrested in Colorado and Makes Confession.

La Junta, Col., July 18.—John Schiskloskas, a Russian, wanted at Belmont, Mass., for the murder of his wife last Wednesday night, was arrested Sunday afternoon by Sheriff Barr, while passing through the city on the Santa Fe railroad. The murderer confessed and gave the full details of the tragedy, which has been puzzling the Massachusetts police. He said that he and his wife were drinking and quarreling Wednesday afternoon and continued their quarrel at a park that night, when her taunts enraged him to such an extent that he cut her throat with a knife and threw the body into a gully. Then he started for the west, making no attempt to conceal his identity. The prisoner expressed his willingness to return without papers, and he will be held by Sheriff Barr pending the arrival of officers from Massachusetts.

Prominent Man Dead.

Paris, July 18.—Emile Arton, one of the principal figures in the old Panama canal scandal, was found dead in his apartments Monday under circumstances indicating suicide. Arton was sentenced in 1896 to eight years' imprisonment for complicity with Baron de Reinach and Dr. Cornelius Herz in the frauds of the Panama Canal company. Arton was the intermediary between Baron de Reinach and the incriminated French deputies, that is between the briber and the bribed.

Woman Kills Girl.

St. Louis, July 18.—In the presence of her mother, Bessie Barnes, aged 15 years, was shot dead on the street in front of her home at 2702 Lucas avenue, Sunday. Mrs. Mary Carder, aged 30 years, is under arrest charged with the shooting, which is said to have been the culmination of ill-feeling between the two families. Mrs. Carder is strapped to a cot at the police station raving over the shooting. By her side were her three small children.

Double Tragedy in Iowa.

Iowa City, Ia., July 18.—William Jones, a young farmer and stock buyer, has shot his divorced wife and also shot S. E. Danger, a farmer, for whom she was working. Both the woman and Danger will probably die. Jones gave himself up. He had been drinking.

American Is Winner.

London, July 18.—In the tennis final singles for the Davis trophy Beals C. Wright (United States) beat Norman E. Brookes (Australasia) 12-10, 5-7, 12-10, 6-4. The match took two hours and a half to decide.

RUSSIANS BADLY BEATEN BY JAPS

MIKADO'S TROOPS STEADILY CONTINUE TO ADVANCE AGAINST SLAVS.

JAPAN CLINCHES ITS CLAIM FOR SAKHALIN

Victory of Islanders Insures Occupation of Czar's Territory—Muscovites in Korea Driven Northward—Advances from Vladivostok.

Tokio, July 18.—It is officially announced that the Russian center holding Darline and vicinity was attacked July 11 and offered stubborn resistance. The attack was renewed at dawn of July 12, when the Japanese dislodged the Russians, driving them in the direction of Mauka. This victory ensures complete occupation of south Sakhalin by the Japanese. Eighty prisoners were taken by the Japanese, among whom was Lieut. Maximta. Four field pieces, one machine gun and ammunition warehouses were captured. The Japanese loss was about 70 men killed and wounded. The Russians lost 160 men.

Reliable information has been received here that the Russian forces in northern Korea have gradually been driven northward since last month and now hold only two positions south of the Tumen river. The latest information from the front, however, reports the advance south of a large force from Vladivostok, but it is believed the Russians will halt at Nokiefsk, north of the Tumen and concentrate their forces to make a resolute stand there against the Japanese advance.

Strength of Linevitch's Army.

Tokio, July 18.—It is officially reported that Gen. Linevitch's force numbers nearly 400,000, and that he is extensively using water transportation to bring forward men, supplies and ammunition. An official who recently returned from Manchuria expresses the opinion that Linevitch plans a great demonstration to synchronize the meeting of the plenipotentiaries, but that he does not intend real aggression.

Will Attend Conference.

London, July 18.—M. Routkowski, the Russian financial agent in London, had not received his appointment to the peace commission, though he expected to accompany the plenipotentiaries to Washington. Since M. Witte's appointment as chief plenipotentiary, M. Routkowski has been sounded by the government, and has signified his willingness to act. M. Routkowski said: "Japan has not yet intimated her terms, and the reports of her alleged terms are generally speculation. Hints have been dropped to Russia from time to time through British and other sources, but nothing positive has yet been proposed, and we have been informed that Japan will lay her definite propositions only before the Washington conference. The Japanese have great confidence in M. Witte, and M. Witte has great admiration for them. The personnel of Russia's commission should convince the Japanese that peace depends on the reasonableness of their terms. I believe Russia's acceptance of peace proposals is a greater show of strength than a continuation of the struggle for the sake of pride. Ending the war and turning her attention to internal improvement and the development of her industries will enhance the prestige of Russia more than a continuation of the conflict until Japan is finally overcome."

Russia Must Uphold Dignity.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—The Novoe Vremya Monday printed the following statement of Russia's position, which may be inspired: "Russia can consent only to such a peace as will affect the dignity or vital interests of the empire. To act otherwise would be fatal to Russia, and would threaten all Europe. Europe no longer believes in Japan's assurances that she will not restrict European interests in the far east. Even in England and America the voices of moral instigators can be heard in favor of the indirect interference of the powers to moderate Japan's demands. Our plenipotentiaries must remember that they must defend the interests, not only of Russia, but also of the other Caucasian powers, and they will find moral support in Berlin, Paris, Washington, and perhaps even in London. Our army in the field is much stronger than it was 15 months ago."

Found Guilty of Murder.

Kansas City, Mo., July 18.—Dr. Louis Zorn, a dentist, who in 1903 shot and killed Albert Sechrest, his tenant, was Saturday found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary. The murder was cold-blooded and unprovoked. Dr. Zorn, who is 50 years old, was wealthy and fought the case stubbornly.

Murdered in Race War.

Chicago, July 18.—John Rakulich, 36 years old, a foreman for the International Harvester company, in South Chicago, was murdered by factions in a race war between rival gangs of Hungarians and colored laborers and thrown into the Calumet river, according to the police, who Monday recovered the body.

Miners Strike.

Hazelton, Pa., July 18.—Alleging that they are not being paid standard wages the 250 employes of the Hazel Mountain Coal company at Black Ridge went on strike Monday. The company is not a party to the award of the anthracite strike commission.

CHANNING SEABURY is learning the ways of frenzied finance. He will soon be eligible to the Equitable directorate.

THE population of Thief River Falls is 3502; Red Lake Falls 1782; St. Hilaire 911. The total increase for the three town is 1651.

OF course the state census is absolutely correct. Look at Thief River Falls. They have 3502 people. Isn't that proof convincing?

THE Duluth News Tribune thinks the Pennsylvania Democrats are no holier than the Republicans. If this is true, God have mercy on Pennsylvania!

THE Block boom for governor seems to be taking impetus. However, in politics the early bird does not usually get the worm. Dunn and Collins were EARLY BIRDS last year.

CHARMING SEABURY demands $5 from the state for attending play day exercises at the state capitol. Many of the other good people of the state attended without asking either per diem or mileage.

SECRETARY SHAW has publicly announced that he is not worrying about the treasury's big deficit, and the St. Cloud Times wonders if it isn't about time for the president to get a secretary who will worry about it.

THE Thief River enumerator evidently believes in taking people at their own estimation. On that basis we are surprised the census returns show no more than 3502. Lots of folks up there believe they are worth more than the ordinary folks.

IT is said the attorneys for the indicted packers will seek by injunction to prevent the trials. That is the limit of legal nerve, observes the Red Wing News. If the process of injunction is much further abused you will see the people rising to abolish it.

THE Minneapolis Journal says that Governor Johnson is reproved by the Pioneer Press for his refusal to approve Channing Seabury's bill against the state for miscellaneous services to the capitol commission. There seems to prevail in St. Paul a feeling that whatever Mr. Channing Seabury puts in a bill for he ought to have. His status as a favorite son in St. Paul is simply great and the governor's failure to appreciate Mr. Channing Seabury at the St. Paul estimate is incomprehensible to some people.

THE cities of the state will materially aid in bringing the state census population to a satisfactory figure. Figures complied by the state census bureau credit 23 of the small cities of the state with a net gain of 26 per cent in population over the census of 1900. Ten cities, in which are included Moorhead, Fergus Falls and Red Wing were credited with a population of 37,673 in 1900. The count this time gives them a total of 49,536, a gain of 30 per cent. Fourteen other small cities, which included Pipestone, Glenwood and Northfield, show a gain of 19 per cent.

EVERYTHING is in readiness for the execution of Edward Gottschalk in the Ramsey county jail on August 8. The hour of the execution was set Tuesday by Sheriff Miesen as between the hours of 1 and 2 in the morning. The rope has been purchased and is now in readiness for the morning of the execution. The gallows have been erected in the basement of the jail. The trap will be sprung by Sheriff Miesen, who will be assisted at the execution by a number of his deputies. A number of lights have been placed in the basement so that it will be almost as light as day.

IT looks to the Windom Reporter as though all grafters look alike to Governor Johnson: "Now there will be a row between the governor and the fellows who built the new capitol, or perhaps more properly speaking, between the governor and Chairman Seabury. The other day the governor refused to allow the payment of Seabury's bill which contained such items as "conferring with Senator Horton, $5.00." It would be interesting to go over the record and see how many such bills "honest" Sam Van Sant put his O. K. on. But Johnson hasn't been in politics long enough to learn the "way that are dark and the tricks that are mean." And then perhaps he isent a very bright student in that respect."

THOMAS W. LAWSON declares that of all men he has studied Minnesota's governor is the ideal candidate for president three years hence. In an address before the Jefferson club at Chicogo last Saturday night Mr. Lawson said: "The most interesting man I found in the West was the governor of Minnesota. I have seen many men and politicians in my day, and since my work began I have been carefully studying to find out what we had growing up in our midst in the way of real statesmen that would serve as presidential timber. Take my word for it, if I know men, I saw one man. Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota, who is made of the stuff for which the American people are looking."

THIEF RIVER FALLS has a progressive and enterprising enumerator. He is also a spiritualist. He can feel the presence of a good many people he never heard of. He went into a trance and saw 3502 people, using a telescope with a double lens. After that he rounded up the dogs and cemeteries, and also caught crews of lumberjacks. The enumerator is also the assessor, and when he starts out on the latter occupation he reverses the telescope and personal property looks so insignificant that it totals $61,000 less than last year. If Thief River has 3502 people they are poorer than Russian peasants, as they have but $37 per head, and the chattel mortgages on file with the city clerk aggregate more than three times this amount. It is time the Thief River folks made their bluff good by paying taxes on an equitable valuation, or confess that the census returns are padded 50 per cent, at least.

New Law in Effect.

A new law having to do with mileage books and tickets issued to railroad companies is now in effect. Under this law the common form of mileage book, or a mileage ticket, is good for travel in the hands of the holder thereof, whereas heretofore it has not been transferable, but good only when presented by the person who bought it.

This law went into effect July 1, but whether conductors have been made cognizant of its provisions cannot be determined. The local railway agents, when interviewed on the subject, stated that they did not know anything about the law, and they could not, therefore, state whether conductors would honor mileage in the hands of persons who had become possessed of it second handed.

The law is Senate File No. 225 and was passed at the last session of the legislature. It is designated as an act providing that certain mileage books or tickets issued by railroad companies operating lines in this state, except interchangeable mileage now in use, shall be good until used, and shall be transferable by delivery and good for travel in the hands of the holder thereof between stations in Minnesota.

Section 2 of the law states simply that the railroad companies accepting such mileage tickets shall not be liable to the owner of such ticket in case they are used by persons not legally entitled to use the same.—Wadena Tribune.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired that I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living when a friend recommed Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all the symptoms of Bright's Disease. A. L. Riechert.

Not a cent wanted unless you are cured. If you are sick and ailing take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. A great blessing to the human family. Makes you well and keeps you well. 35 cents, tea or tablets. A. L. Riechert.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by electric bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorder. At all druggists, price 50c.

Could not turn her Head.

You could not find a worse case of rheumatism in a month's journey as the one tecnetly cured by Gloria Tonic, the victim being Mrs. J. Evans, of Big Rapids, Mich: She writes: "I could not turn my head, nor dress and undress myself, but twelve boxes of Gloria Tonic completely cured me." Sold by W. A. Schrieter.

Doctors Said he would not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's kidney cure was recommended to me by a friend and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well. Brigadier-General Cook of Washington, D. C.
General Sypher of Washington, D. C.
General Middleton, Hancock Regiment, U. V. U., Washington, D. C.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last, there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In America.

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

Qualified Approval.

"How did you like the opera?"

"First rate," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I didn't care much about the tunes they played, but it was a great comfort to have enough noise to drown the vacuous conversation that was going on around me."—Washington Star.

A Looking Glass.

Mr. Crittick—Miss Artz tells me she does most of her painting now on glass.

Miss Spertz—I think she means with the aid of a glass.—Exchange.

THE BUSY STORE GARCEAU & ZAISER

Miss Sathre, of Thief River Falls, who is attending the summer training school in this city, spent Sunday at her home in the up-river town, returning te her school duties Monday.

The county commissioners met as a board of equalization Monday. They will complete their labors in that capacity today and will take up other business continued from last week's session.

John Wilson, of Cottonwood, Minn., was a Red Lake county visitor several days last week. Mr. Wilson is the owner of considerable real estate in this county, and is a firm believer in the future prosperity of this section.

Ralph E. Wyer will go to Minneapolis next Saturday so as to be present at the marriage ceremony of his sister, Miss Mabel, next Wednesday. He will be absent two weeks and anticipates a good time at the lakes.

Contractor Brady was at Crookston last week where he went to look over a bridge that it was thought could be used in the east end of this county. He reports the iron work about all that could be made any use of.

An act was passed by the last legislature making it a misdemeanor to sell or offer for sale the veal of calves less than four weeks old, punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100 or by imprisonment for a period not to exceed 90 days.

John Jacobson arrived in the city from Portland, Oregon, Monday morning and will spend several months in this vicinity with his many old friends. He was formerly a resident of this place and contemplates a most pleasant time visiting among his old acquaintances.

An exchange tells of an editor in South Dakota, who started about fifteen years ago with fifteen cents, and who is now worth $100,000. His accumulation of wealth is owing to his frugality and strict attention to business, and to the fact that an uncle died and left him $99,998.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Faltinson, of Armstrong, Iowa, arrived in the city yesterday morning and are guests at the Chase home. Mr. Faltinson is one of the leading newspaper men of Northern Iowa and is prominent in politics. Mrs. Faltinson will remain in the city for some time.

Frank E. Packard, of Crookston, was in the city Monday rustling business for the Crookston Academy and Business College, which institution he is heavily interested in. He reports the school as being in a most prosperous condition, and says several improvements are contemplated. The school's large building is being overhauled, new departments added to the course of instruction and everything is being done to make it one of the leading institutions of learning in the state.

Sheriff Linnihan went to Thief River Falls Tuesday morning and expected to go into the reservation country from that city to post up the notices for the organization of the new towns authorized at the last meeting of the board of commissioners.

This section of the state was visited by a terific thunder storm last Friday night. The rain fell in torrents and the lightning was extremely sharp and continuous. There were no fatilities but considerable damage was done throughout the country to property.

Dan Johnson left Tuesday evening for Minneapolis where he has accepted a position with a wholesale fruit house. Dan is a bright boy and will make his mark in commercial circles. He has many friends in this city who will wish him unbounded success in his new field of labor.

Fertile has a malt tonic joint and is doing a land office business, says the Journal. The proprietor says the law cannot touch him as the stuff he sells is non-intoxicating. He courts a test case and claims to have the backing of the firm that manufactures the stuff. Sounds like old Iowa talk.

Rev. Father Ansgar left Monday for Milwaukee where he will remain for some weeks at a sanitarium. His health has not been of the best lately and a complete rest is necessary. Rev. Father Alto arrived last week and will have charge of St. Marys church during the absence of the regular pastor.

Attendance at the summer school is still on the increase, ninty-three now being enrolled. The school enjoyed a most able and instructive lecture Tuesday morning by S. J. Race, of Redwood Falls. Mr. Race is a fluent and instructive talker and has the happy faculty of making his address not only instructive but highly entertaining. He has been county superintendent of the schools of his county for eighteen years, so is in a position to talk entertainly of school work.

John Deforge was struck by lightning during the storm Friday night. He had just opened a door at his home to look out when a flash of lightning blinded him, and upon examination it was found that his left hand and arm was badly burned. It was a close call and might easily resulted in a more serious accident.

The storm on last Friday night caused a bad washout on the Great Northern tracks in the new cut south of the depot. All the available section men were kept busy Saturday morning repairing the damage, and there were no trains until about noon. It is said the depot yards were entirely submerged at one time, the tracks being completely covered by the large amount of water.

A young man eighteen years of age was brought to the city Monday evening from Norden township and was adjudged insane in Judge Tarrant's court yesterday morning. Little is known of the unfortunate young man's past. His name was given as Peder Neppert and it is thought his parents live near the the Canadian line. Deputy Sheriff Jarman took him to the Fergus Falls asylum last evening.

Harry Healy went to Park River, North Dakota, Monday evening to play three games of ball with the team of that town against Grafton this week. The county fair is on and there is great rivalry between these two towns on the base ball diamond. If Park River's team is composed of players the equal of Harry they will make the best teams of the country hustle to beat them.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hayden, former residents of this city, were here over Sunday, guests at the home of Mrs. Hayden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krueger. The family has been living at Bemidji for some time past but Mr. Hayden has been in New Mexico the past eight months. He is engaged in the lumber business in the Southwest and the family left the first of the week for their new home in that region.

Some stove men say on the right hand side, but we don't think so, don't believe it's the place at all, and let's tell our reasons why. When on the right hand side, that body of cold water is bound to have effect on the heating of your oven for all the heat must pass by it. Then if you want to heat water only, you have to heat your oven, too. When it's on the left side you heat water much quicker, easier, in fact can have it boiling if you want to. And to heat water only you don't require near the fuel and don't heat up the room.

A HOPELESS FIGHT

It is as impossible to conquer the king of diseases—Contagious Blood Poison—with Mercury and Potash as it would be to conquer the king of the forest in a hand-to-hand encounter, as thousands who have had their health ruined and lives blighted through the use of these minerals will testify. They took the treatment faithfully, only to find when it was left off, the disease returned with more power, combined with the awful effects of these minerals, such as mercurial rheumatism, necrosis of the bones, salivation, inflammation of the stomach and bowels, etc. When the virus of Contagious Blood Poison enters the blood it quickly contaminates every drop of that vital fluid, and every muscle, nerve, tissue and bone becomes affected, and soon the foul symptoms of sore mouth and throat, copper-colored blotches, falling hair and eyebrows, swollen glands, sores, etc., make their appearance. Mercury and Potash can only cover up these evidences for awhile; they cannot cure the disease. S. S. S. has for many years been recognized as a specific for Contagious Blood Poison—a perfect antidote for the deadly virus that is so far-reaching in its effects on the system. S. S. S. does not hide or mask the disease, but so thoroughly and completely cures it that no signs are ever seen again.

SSS

S. S. S. while eradicating the poison of the disease will drive out any effects of harmful mineral treatment. A reward of $1,000.00 is offered for proof that S. S. S. contains a mineral ingredient of any kind. Treatise with instructions for home treatment and any advice wished, without charge.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Half Fare Rates to Minn. State Fair.

There having been some misleading statements regarding half fare rates to the Minnesota state fair, the exact situation should be made plain to the people of Northwest. All lines in the Western Passenger Association have already granted the half fare rate. This includes the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; the "Northwestern" and "Omaha"; the Great Western; the Minneapolis & St. St. Louis; the Burlington and the Wisconsin Central. It will be seen from this that half rates have actually been announced and are assured for all southern and central Minnesota, northern Iowa, eastern South Dakota and western Wisconsin. The Northern Pacific, Great Northern and "Soo" lines have held up the announcement of half rates pending arrangements for protecting themselves against the scalping of state fair tickets; but there is not the least question that these roads will grant the rate as usual and that the official announcement will be made in a short time—perhaps before these lines reach the reader. The people of the Northwest need have no fear that they will not get the usual half fare rate to the Minnesota state fair.

Hay.

Minneapolis.—Scarcity of hay may be felt this fall as a result of the flooding of the low lands along the Mississippi river. Thousands of acres of good meadow land lie along the banks of the river below the Twin Cities and along the headwaters. The July flood will make it impossible to get a crop from these, as the river has been high for so long that the growing grass has been converted into seaweed.

Coming so late in the season, the second crop will be light. The first crop, usually made in the latter part of June or first of July, is an important part of the Northwestern supply. With this cut off, the price of hay grown on the higher grounds probably will be much higher than it has been within recent years. Farmers near the Twin Cities who are fortunate enough to have good hay crops are expecting higher prices than those now prevailing.

Labor Bureau.

Minneapolis.—At a total expense of $170.38 the state free employment bureau, under the management of the state labor department, has effected a saving in the first month of its operation of $860 to the unemployed in search of work and to those who have applied for employees. A total of 430 applicants have been supplied with work, of whom 348 applicants were men and 82 women and girls. In all cases had the men applied to one of the regular fee employment agencies they would have been obliged to pay a fee of $2 each. In addition those who employed them would have been obliged to pay a fee. In the case of the women, those who hired them would have been obliged to pay a similar fee to the regular female employment agencies.

Fish.

Minneapolis.—Minnesota fishermen need not worry about the stock fish in lakes and streams of the state, if the efforts of the state game and fish commission are as successful as they have been this season.

The commission will plant more fry this season than ever before. It secured 110,000,000 pike eggs and is distributing 6,000,000 trout fry to various points throughout the state. Both figures are far in excess of any previous year.

The distribution of the pike fry was finished about the middle of June, and since then Oscar Davies, formerly clerk of the commission, has been engaged distributing the trout. He has stocked the lakes in the vicinity of St. Cloud, Clear Lake, Anoka, Winona and other points in the southern part of the state during the last few days. The commission aims to treat every section of the state fairly.

Improving the Capitol.

St. Paul.—An imposing entrance to the grounds of the new capitol, which may require the vacation of that portion of Wabasha street from Central avenue to Rice street, will probably be the next important task undertaken by the state capitol commission or its successor.

The capitol commission has practically decided not to undertake the construction of an approach this year, and it is possible that the matter will be deferred until after the next session of the legislature. The plan that has been suggested would require the expenditure of considerable money, more than the commission has left out of the $4,500,000 tax levy.

News Notes.

St. Paul—The Commercial club entertains 16,000 children at its Harriet island celebration.

Minneapolis—Margaret Ridge, ten years old, was drowned in Phalen creek.

Stillwater—A company is spending $2,000,000 for a plant at St. Croix Falls to furnish electric power for the Twin Cities.

St. Paul—The jury in the federal court finds Thomas B. Clement guilty as charged in twenty-four of the counts in the indictment.

St. Paul—Tests show that 60,000 children in Minnesota schools have defective eyesight and 10,000 defective hearing.

St. Paul—The Northern Pacific crop report shows crops in good condition, and the outlook good, if warm, dry weather comes.

Eveleth—There will be havoc on the iron range if Attorney General Young succeeds in having mineral leases declared invalid.

It is estimated, says the Ohio Farmer, that if all, or nearly all, of our farmers could be induced to discard the scrubs and use only pure breeds, the increase in the value of poultry would be 100 per cent.

Give us the farmer who takes time to look up, now and then, to see what is going on in the world about him. Living is not all in bending the back over the hoe or in growing good crops. Life is more than a living.

If you are building a new small barn or other farm building, don't go to the trouble or expense of having timber framed, as we used to do. Get a plank of the right width, spike them together with twenties and brace them well. This makes a frame as strong as anybody could ask for, and saves a lot of time and work, too.

Farmers' daughters are educated in many parts of Germany in traveling schools, which go from village to village to give girls over 16 years of age practical lessons in housekeeping, cooking, the selection of food care of poultry and cattle, the cultivation of vegetables and butter and cheese making. The results have been so satisfactory that it is now proposed to add instructions in nursing, cooking for the sick, mending and sewing.

THE PORCUPINE.

Only Known Creature That Eats the Foliage of the Hemlock.

"You don't have to skirmish around much to get feed to fatten one of these hemlock porcupines on," says an old woodsman. "Just sprinkle some salt over a stick of cordwood or saw log for that matter, and he'll eat the whole business and enjoy it as you would mince pie." The customary diet of these animals is hemlock browse. They make themselves a home in a hollow log or under the roots of some old tree, but always within reach of a big hemlock.

The hemlock is their pasture, and they make beaten paths going to and fro between the tree and their home. Once up in a tree the porcupine goes out on the big limbs and, pulling the small branches in with one paw, browses on the pungent leaves. In going through the woods you will find little piles of these fine leaves on the ground under hemlock trees. That means that a porcupine is feeding in the tree, the leaves on the ground being dropped from his feast.

Sometimes a porcupine will remain in a hemlock tree for a week at a time, hugging close to the trunk at night and feeding during the day. This curious little beast is the only known living thing that eats the foliage of the hemlock.

DANGER SPOTS IN A STORM.

Places to Avoid When the Lightning Is Flashing.

Out of doors trees should be avoided in a thunderstorm, and if from the rapidity with which the explosion follows the flash it is evident that electric clouds are near at hand a recumbent posture is the safest. It is seldom dangerous to take shelter under sheds, carts or low buildings or under the arch of a bridge, and a distance of twenty or thirty feet from tall trees or houses is an eligible situation, for should a discharge take place these elevated bodies are most likely to receive it.

It is well also to avoid water, for it is a good conductor, and the height of a human being near the stream may determine the direction of a discharge. Within doors we are tolerably safe in the middle of a carpeted room or when standing on a thick hearth rug. The chimney should be avoided on account of the conducting power of the carbon deposited in it, and gilt moldings or bell wires are sources of risk. In bed we are tolerably safe, since blankets and feathers are bad conductors.

It is injudicious to take refuge in a cellar, because the discharge is often from the earth to a cloud, and buildings frequently sustain the greatest injury in their basements.

THE TERM "IDIOT."

The word idiot is itself of interesting history. Its primary Greek significance was that of a private as distinguished from a public person. Our words idiom, idiosyncrasy, etc., are from the same root. The idiot in Greek was simply one not engaged in public affairs. The beginnings of the degradation of the word are shown in its application soon to the common people as distinguished from the upper classes. It was then applied to unprofessional and lay people and soon became the slurring title of the unskillful and awkward. By slow degrees it became applicable to the stupid and at last to the imbecile and idiot. As late as the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the word was still used in its earlier senses. This long sad history speaks indirectly of the pathetic history of the imbecile. If he was not killed or starved to death by neglect, etc., he was usually reduced to the condition of a beast either about the house or fields or was actually driven into the woods and forced to live in caves, among wild animals, etc. In 1799 Itard took a "wild boy" found in the forests of Aveyron and tried to teach him. The ability of the wild boys and wolf children to live and the number that did so shows that idiocy, as we have later learned, is of all degrees and that a mind may be variously defective in some ways, even idiotic, but in others with capabilities well preserved. Blind Tom, the pianist, and the large number of mathematic idiots are examples that show how far we are from understanding the real nature of idiocy, and they more than suggest the partial retention of sound mentality of the defective, the possibility of seizing upon the one or few normal or even highly developed faculties and perhaps bringing others into co-ordination with them and to normality. The court fools and jesters of the olden times were often such partial idiots and defectives, and they truly lived upon their "wits," which were often better than those of their masters.—American Medicine.

THE VALUE OF EXAMPLE.

To have your child truthful, be truthful.

To have him temperate, be temperate in all things.

To have him kind to others, be yourself kind to others.

Prescribe healthful amusements and so far as you can take part in them.

Prove to him by your life that a good name is to be chosen before great riches.

Teach him that riches are not to be despised, but should never be got by doing harm to others; that when acquired should be treated as a trust, not as a hoard.

To have him honest, present to him in yourself a living example of honesty. The chief part of a child's knowledge comes through observation. Acts mean more to him than speech.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CHEAP EXCURSIONS
TO WESTERN CANADA
$10.00 FOR ROUND TRIP TICKETS
TO THE FAMOUS CARROT RIVER VALLEY

During the month of July the Canadian Northern Railway will sell tickets on any day from EMERSON on the INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY to Melfort and return, good for thirty days, with stop over privileges, for $10.00. Regular trains for the Carrot River Valley leave Winnipeg every Monday and Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. Minnesota and Dakota landseekers should buy tickets to Emerson, the International Boundary, where they can then purchase the $10.00 excursion tickets to Melfort and return.

THE CARROT RIVER VALLEY which now has railway facilities for the first time, is the most fertile part of the great Saskatchewan Valley. Two-thirds of the country is open prairie. The soil is a rich loam varying from one to four feet in depth. The running streams in every township furnish an abundance of pure water. The praries are covered with richly luxuriant grass. There is absolutely no Alkali or stone and there is no section in Western Canada to-day that will produce the same enormous yields of No. 1 Hard Wheat. The country too being equally well adapted to diversified farming. With the splendid railway facilities now afforded by the building of the Canadian Northern Railway through this marvelously rich district, this section of Western Canada will be settled quickly and prices will advance rapidly. Act Now, and get land in the best part of all Canada at First Prices.

Wanted a Big "Bar'l."

A newspaper tells the story of a storekeeper in a country town who, after twice telling a young man that he had no "onions," reverted to the matter after the customer had gone. "I declare," he said, "I do' know but what it was ingans that feller wanted!"

A similar tale is told by a young woman who, being in search of a barrel to catch rain water, applied to the village innkeeper.

"Have you a hogshead that I could buy?" she said, with the careful enunciation that she had learned in childhood.

The innkeeper shook his head.

"Not any sort of hogshead?" she asked, with gentle persistence. "I thought you must have a good many."

"I wonder what set you thinking that?" said the landlord, looking as if he considered her demented. "I haven't kep' a single hog for ten years back, and when I did keep 'em I never had any call for their heads."

It was the young woman's turn to look horrified.

"Oh, I don't know anything about hogs' heads!" she said excitedly. "I want a hogshead, an old molasses hogshead or something."

The landlord looked at her, and light dawned at last.

"I believe you mean you want a hugshud," he said, smiling broadly. "You step this way and take your choice of what I've got."

A Very Funny Joke.

"The head of our firm had a trying experience one Fourth of July," said a commercial man. "He thought he would play a funny joke on his family, so a day or so before the holiday he bought one of those candy boxes made in imitation of a cannon firecracker. He secreted this in the pantry, where he thought it would be safe.

"But his little son, about eight years old, discovered the firecracker and also discovered that it was filled with candy. He helped himself to the contents and finally, finding the box empty, he made way with it and substituted a real cannon cracker.

"Fourth of July came and the head of the family, smiling broadly, came downstairs and placed his big firecracker in the middle of the breakfast table. Then, regardless of his wife's expostulations, he touched a match to the fuse, never thinking but what it was the candy box on the table.

"His son and heir astutely vanished from the scene about this time. In about thirty seconds there was an explosion that wrecked a once happy breakfast table, and one hour later the worst spanked boy in Detroit had sobbingly confessed to an irate father why the joke had failed."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Old Time Dentistry.

In the early days of dentistry a hickory plug was put into the cavity to fill the space where a tooth ought to be. This plug had to be gently pounded into its desired position. Old Judge Peckham was somewhat addicted to strong language, and when the dentist began his work the judge indulged in some classic comment. As the tapping of the plug continued he threw all dignity to the four winds of heaven, and his language became decidedly "more forcible than elegant." When, however, he arose from the chair, after what seemed to him an interminable period of agony, he pulled out all the stops in his vocabulary for a grand climax. The impression on his listener seems to have been deep and lasting. As the judge passed out the dentist grimly remarked to a waiting patient:

"Wasn't it beautiful? It wasn't really necessary to pound half so long, but I did so enjoy his inflection that I almost pounded the hickory plug into splinters. Wonderful command of language the judge has!"—National Magazine.

Musical Fish.

Lake Batticaloa, Ceylon, has the probably unique distinction of being the home of a musical fish. The sounds emitted by these are said to be as sweet and melodious as those which can be produced by a series of aeolian harps. Crossing the lake in a boat, one can plainly distinguish the pleasant sounds. If an oar is dipped in the water the melody becomes louder and more distinct.

A Pencil Tombstone.

A German pencil maker, deceased, has over his grave a gigantic stone representation of half a lead pencil set as a tombstone. It is of red sandstone, with a core of graphite eight inches in diameter.

Lager Beer.

Lager beer was so called because when first made it was stored for months before it was used on a "lager," or frame, in a cool cellar.

Wreckers' Debauch.

The wreck of a ship from Spain strewed the coast of England for six miles near the mouth of the Mersey with oranges, citrons, grapes and barrels of port. Most of the people of a neighboring village were intoxicated for several days.

John G. Lindvet, of Lillo, was in the city Saturday and informed the COURIER that he had just received word from his attorneys that he had won the land case he has been fighting in the land department for over two years. Mr. Lindtvedt in behalf of his mother contested the claim of Miss Husby for the possession of the ne¼ ne¼ of section 35 in Equality township. The case was taken up through the Interior department, and the Secretary recently decided the case in favor of the Lindvets. It is a valuable piece of property and Mr. Lindvedt naturally feels gratified in becoming its possessor. N. Campbell, of Crookston, and Chas. H. Babbitt, of Washington, D. C., were the attorneys who handled the victor's side of the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustein Skreland, of Grit, have been visiting friends and relatives here the past week. Mr. Skreland is highly pleased with our country.

The breaking season is now about over. There has been a large amount of breaking done in this town this season, some parties doing as much as sixty acres.

Last Friday night a bad thunder storm passed over this section. The lightning made things lively but no serious damage was done. Considerable rain fell and haying has been delayed for a few days.

The second payment on lands bought last June are now due. If you have not thought of the matter you had better make arrangements to meet it before the sixty days are up, or else your land will be cancelled without notice.

We understand that several parties intend to prove up at the end of fourteen months. But those doing so should make arrangements to pay their second payment, as that becomes due before the fourteen months are up, and not wait with the intention of paying when you prove, for in that case you stand a chance to loose your land by cancellation, Be prepared, as the government does not intend to show any mercy in the matter. Your correspondent has been reliably informed on this subject.

DRAINAGE CAMPAIGN PLANNED.

State League Will Meet at Crookston to Discuss the Matter.

The best methods of draining the hundreds of thousands of acres of swamp lands in the northern part of the state will be discussed by a meeting of the Minnesota drainage league which will be held at Crookston on Aug. 1st. The organization of the league which was begun a few weeks ago, will be perfected.

Gov. John A. Johnson, State Engineers George A. Ralph and John Abercrombie, the nine Minnesota congressmen and the two United States senators have been invited to speak at the meeting.

"The purpose of the league is to promote sentiment in favor of drainage of swamp lands" said Senator A. D. Stephens of Crookston, who was in St. Paul recently preparing for the meeting. "The league plans to co-operate with the state authorities in drainage lands and it will also take an active part in the drainage of private lands, in which the state is not directly interested.

"We plan to carry on a sort of educational campaign in favor of drainage. It is only necessary to present the practical advantage of drainage to pursuade property owners that it is a good thing. It is a busines proposition for the state and for property owners. If by spending $1,000 in the construction of a ditch, the state increases the value of its land to the extent of $10,000, it has thereby gained $9,000. It is such facts as these that we wish to present to the people.

"Our league is opened to every one who is interested in reclaiming Minnesota's swamp lands. It is not restricted to those who live in the northern part of the state. We have members as far south as Nicollet county, which has recently spent a considerable sum for drainage. In the league are merchants, real estate men, lawyers, in fact all classes of people who are interested in the subject."

She Tried Five Doctors.

Mrs. Frances L. Sales, of Missouri Valley, Ia., writes "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble five years; had severe pains in my back and a frequent desire to urinate. When riding I experienced much pain over the region of the kidneys. I tried five physicians without benefit and then concluded to try Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three $1.00 bottles I was completely cured." A. L. Riechert.

100,000 FISH PLANTED.

Game and Fish Commission Place That Many Yearly.

Minnesota fishermen need not worry about the stock of fish in the lakes and streams of the state, if the efforts of the state game and fish commission to secure fish fry every year are as successful as they have been this season.

The commission will plant more fry this season than ever before. It secured 110,000,000 pike eggs and is distributing 6,000,000 trout fry to various points throughout the state. Both figures are far in excess of any previous year.

The distribution of the pike fry was finished about the middle of June, and since then Oscar Davies, formerly clerk of the commission, has been engaged distributing the trout. He has stocked the lakes in the vicinity of St. Cloud, Clear Lake, Anoka, Winona and other points in the southern part of the state during the last few days. The commission aims to treat every section of the state fairly.

Should the commission plant 100,000,000 fish every year and should half of them, 50,000,000, grow up, the fishermen in future years may catch 50,000,000 fish a year without decreasing the supply. On the supposition that there are 100,000 active fishermen in the state, each fisherman could catch 500 fish a year.

"We have been very successful in getting fish eggs this year," said Mr. Fullerton, "but we have to do well some years to make up for the bad years. It takes a tremendous amount of fish to keep up the supply. The drain on the lakes is almost inconceivable. If one were to know the amount of fish taken out of White Bear Lake every Sunday, he would be surprised.

"In distributing the fish we aim to treat every section of the state fairly. Of course some times we have more applications for fry than we can fill, but this year I believe that we shall have enough for all."

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

Your Watch Is a Compass.

"Most men who own a good watch," said a jeweler, "think they know all about it. They have the number fixed in their memory in case it is stolen. They could probably pick it out from fifty other watches with their eyes shut. But how many men know that their watch is a compass and will tell north from south as accurately as it will tell the time of day? Stanley, the explorer, did not know it until he had groped his way through the dark continent and met a Belgian sailor on the coast. Every watch is a compass. If you point the hour hand to the sun, the south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the dial. Suppose, for instance, it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and II on the watch is exactly south. If it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun and the figure X on the dial is due south. No man need get lost if he carries a watch."

ON A TOUR OF INSPECTION

State Auditor Iverson and a Large Party of Newspaper Men Pass Through the City.

Wednesday morning the band and a number of our business men assembled at the Great Northern depot to greet State Auditor Iverson and a large party of newspaper men who passed through the city on their way to Greenbush.

State Auditor Iverson has been touring the north country for several days looking the country over in the interest of the state immigration society recently organized. The newspaper men accompaning the party represent the leading dailies and agricultural papers of Chicago, Des Moines, Kansas City, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The tour will be the means of advertising the advantages of this section of the country to thousands of people, and no doubt will be the means of bringing hundreds of good citizens to the Valley and other points in Northern Minnesota.

Ed. L. Healy had a magnificent display of grasses and grain at the depot, the visitors expressing great admiration for the exdibit. They left with a better idea of the resources of this county than when they arrived.

DIED AMONG STRANGERS.

Stranger from Middle River Dies Suddenly in this City.

Last Saturday Mathew Ryan, of Middle River, arrived in this city in a critical condition and died Sunday morning at the John Drier home.

It is thought he was on his way to Crookston, where he had friends and by mistake got off at this place thinking he was at that city, He had been sick for several days and was in a critical condition, suffering from a bowel trouble. Dr. Wilkinson was called, and administered to the man's needs, but medical aid had been delayed too long to be of any assistance to the unfortunate man. He was taken to the John Drier home and everything possible done for his comfort. He passed to the great beyond Sunday morning. Peter Ryan, of Crookston was notified of the occurence and he and his family came to this city immediately and took charge of the remains. Mr. Ryan was no relation to the deceased although bearing the same name. They were formerly neighbors back in Wisconsin.

The unfortunate man was between 45 and 50 years of age. He has no relatives or close friends in this part of the country. The funeral was held Monday from St. Joseph's church, Rev. Father Fayolle conducting the last sad rites.

EQUALITY DAMAGE SUITS.

Equality Man asks Damages for Water on Land.

A suit has been filed in district court by T. T. Boe asking for $300 damages caused by overflow on his farm and also restraining the supervisors from further continuing the construction of a certain ditch which he claims has drained a lake onto his land the water taken from its natural course. The case will be tried before Judge Watts. Atty Chas. Martin recently located at McIntosh represented the plaintiff.

Is This a Solution?

The business men of Delevan, Wis., are taking a unique way to get even with the mail order houses in Chicago. They paid their local drayman $40 a month to get the names of those who were receiving freight from mail order houses. When one of these parties went into a Delevan store to buy anything on credit he was refused no matter how good his financial standing was. When they had butter and eggs they were told to sell their produce to Montgomery Ward or Sears & Roebuck. The result was that the town was put on a cash basis and the people were forced to quit trading with mail order houses. —St. Charles Union.

PRETENDING PERCY.

Young Man Arrested Last Night for Stealing Money and Valuables.

A young man giving the name of Percy Brown is in jail in this city being charged with stealing money and rings at the Central hotel yesterday.

Brown is canvassing the surrounding country on a picture enlarging scheme and has been stopping at the Central hotel for three or four days. Miss Gunda Johnson, of Thief River Falls, and Miss Louise Noveid, of Marshall county, are staying at the same hotel, and while at school yesterday morning their room was entered and $25.11 and two valuable rings were stolen.

They did not report their loss to County Attorney Germo until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Brown was suspected immediately as he was seen near the room and a search was made for him. He was found last night by the local police at the Zaiser livery barn having the two rings in question on his person, but the money was not found. As he was intoxicated it is thought he had spent the money during the day.

The authorities are to be congratulated on the prompt apprehension of the thief and it is to be hoped the young ladies will be able to recover their money as well as the jewelry.

One on Teddy.

President Roosevelt received the greatest rebuff of his life at the hands of a woman of the backwoods of Albemarle, who did not know she was speaking to the head of the nation. Few heard it and it is likely the story would never have become circulated had not Mr. Roosevelt let it out.

It occurred at Red Hill, Albemarle county, the little station on the Southern railway where the president left the country home to go the country home purchased by Mrs. Roosevelt. According to his usual manner, the president stopped to shake hands with the crew of the train.

Just at that time he noticed a plainly dressed elderly lady attempting to get on the car. Rushing forward, Mr. Roosevelt assisted her to ascend the steps; he then caught her hand and gave it a regular "executive shake."

The president was dressed in a rough-and-ready costume, and the woman had no idea who he was. Snatching her hand away, and eyeing him wrathfully she said:

"Young man, I dont know who you are and I don't care a cent, but I must say you are the freshest somebody I've seen in these parts."

She then entered the car, and the president turned away, convulsed with laughter.

Hot Weather Tempers.

It is much easier to keep good natured in cold weather than in hot. One may be uncomfortable in cold weather but there is seldom the irritability present that there is when the thermometer begins to soar. Sometimes it seems as if one's power of control has been entirely exhausted. The reason is often with the diet, and you will find that by using golden grain belt beer regularly and eating less meat and heavy foods your temperature will be lower and you will feel more rested and comfortable. The theory of the thing is simple; meat and hearty foods create an over-supply of heat, while this delicious tonic contains the same nourishment, but in a liquid, cooling form, easy to digest. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

Foley's kidney cure was recommended to me by a friend and I immediately sent my son to the store for [illegible] and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entrrely well. BAND AT WINNIPEG.

Red Lake Falls Band Makes Many Friends in Canada.

The Red Lake Falls band returned Monday morning from a most successful trip to Winnipeg. Many new friends were added to the admirers of this organization on the trip, and incidently Red Lake Falls received a whole lot of good advertising through the band's playing.

On Thursday evening of last week the boys gave a concert at Crookston that was listened to by a large crowd of people. Every number received most enthusiastic applause and the band was compelled to respond to an encore at the conclusion of the program. The citizens of Crookston went out of their way to make things pleasant for the members of the band which was highly appreciated.

The "Yankee band" made a hit at Winnipeg. The band boys met the leading citizens of that city and province who entertained in a most lavish manner. The boys playing was a revalation to the Industrial Exposition management and they were not slow in showing their admiration for the good music furnished. The band was to leave Winnipeg Saturday evening but an engagement for two concerts at the fashionable hotel of the city was made for that evening and Sunday so the boys remained another day.

The exposition is all that is claimed for it. It is a big show and is the event of western Canada each year. The management is to be congratulated upon the excellence of the entertainment afforded visitors, and it can be safely said that more people from this section of the country will attend in the years to come.

ROBBED ON TRAIN.

Bemidji Woman Robbed of Money and Tickets.

Mrs. Charles Schmidt of Bemidji who came through this morning accompanied by her four small children enroute to Casselton, North Dakota, was the victim of one of the most despicable robberies which has ever been reported in Northern Minnesota, and but for the kindness and sympathy of passengers upon the train she would have been stranded here without funds or ticket, says the Crookston Times. Mrs. Schmidt after getting along the road from Bemidji some distance, lay down in the car seat and dropped asleep. Her purse was attached to her hand by a silver chain and in it were her tickets and a considerable amount of cash. When she awoke in this city and started to get her little ones off the train she discovered that her purse had been taken and although a vigorous search of the car was made by Conductor Smith not a trace of the missing pocket book was found. The unfortunate woman was in a frenzy over her loss and in her despair appealed to the railroad officials here to provide her with transportation to Casselton; Conductor Smith corrobrating her story in regard to the ticket and loss of purse, the request was denied however, and but for the efforts of Conductor Smith and Brakeman Stansbury, the family would have been stranded here. A purse of sufficient size to purchase tickets and leave several dollars over was raised and the glad light which came in the unfortunate woman's eyes as she was put safely aboard the train by the kind railroaders was more than recompense for their energies in her behalf.

It is supposed by the railroad men that the theif whoever he was perceived the pocket book hanging from the woman's wrist as she slept and pried open the fastenings of the chain while the other occupants of the car were dozing or diverting their attention to other things. The fact that the car was well filed with passengers makes the robbery all the more bold and daring.

Special to the Courier.

Arthur Robillard visited here this week.

Miss Zelia Quesnell was a business caller at the Falls Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Robillard visited friends and relatives at Gentilly Sunday.

Roy Walker left last week for Marshall where he was called by the serious illness of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolphie Champeau spent part of last week at the home of Joseph Champeau in Terrebonne.

Miss Alice Quesnell left Tuesday for Terrebonne where she will work for Mrs. L. C. Cadieux for some time to come.

Mrs. Amede Jolly, of this place, and Mrs. Louis Pigeon, of Terrebonne, are visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity this week.

A large number of people spent Sunday evening at the home of Adelard Laurent, and needless to say all had a most enjoyable time. The party broke up at a "wee small" hour.

A number of our young people took in the Duluth excursion. Among those who went were: Messrs. Edward and Eli St. Ives, Peter La Chance, Medore Robillard, Louis Quesnell and Misses Alice and Anna Quesnell, Amie and Aurore Ducharme and Ella Robillard. All report a most delightful time among their many friends and relatives in the Zenith city.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by electric bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorder, At all druggists, price 50c.

NEW YORK STATE TO APPLY PROBE

METHODS OF LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES TO BE FULLY INVESTIGATED.

Gov. Higgins Makes Request in a Special Message to General Assembly —Body Appoints Commission of Inquiry.

Albany, N. Y., July 21.—Gov. Higgins Thursday afternoon sent to the legislature a message recommending for its consideration the appointment of a joint commission to investigate the business of life insurance as carried on in this state.

Both houses adopted in the afternoon the Armstrong insurance investigation resolution. It appropriates $50,000 for the expenses of the investigation. The senate members of the committee will be Armstrong, of Rochester (chairman), and Tully, of Corning, republican, and Riordan, of New York, democrat. Speaker Nixon said he would not immediately appoint the assembly members.

The Armstrong resolution provides for the appointment of a joint committee to investigate and examine into the business and affairs of life insurance companies doing business in the state of New York, with reference to the investments of said companies, the relations of the officers thereof to such investments, the relations of such companies to subsidiary corporations, the government and control of said companies, the contractural relations of said companies to their policy holders, the cost of life insurance, the expenses of said companies and any other phases of the life insurance business deemed to be proper, for the purpose of drafting and reporting to the next session of the legislature such a revision of the laws regulating and relating to life insurance in this state as said committee may deem proper.

BRINGS BODY OF JONES.

Admiral Sigsbee's Squadron Arrives with Remains of Famous Naval Hero.

Norfolk, Va., July 24.—Thae body of Admiral John Paul Jones, recently found in Paris, as the result of a search inspired and conducted under the direct charge of Gen. Horace Porter, former United tates ambassador to France, passed in the Virginia capes Saturday morning on the United States cruiser Brooklyn, under Rear Admiral Sigsbee, the Brooklyn having as consorts across the Atlantic from France the cruisers Galveston, Tacoma and Chattanooga.

On this coast the fleet was met by the battleship squadron of the North Atlantic fleet in two divisions, the first being under the command of Rear Admiral Evans and the second commanded by Rear Admiral Davis. The three squadrons approached the capes together, the vessels under command of Rear Admiral Evans leading, and the Davis and Sigsbee squadrons closely following. The Sigsbee and Davis squadrons proceeded immediately up Chesapeake bay bearing the body of Admiral Jones toward Annapolis, Md., its last resting place, while the vessels of Admiral Evans' squadron said farewell to the other fleets, and proceeded to Old Point comfort, Va.

DISASTROUS CYCLONE.

Causes Damage Estimated at $100,000 in Racine County, Wis.—Two Lives Lost.

Racine, Wis., July 24.—With a roar that was heard for five miles, a cyclone struck the northern rim of Racine county Sunday, killing two men and damaging property and crops $100,000. The cyclone came from the southwest, and at its first dip struck the large barn of Adolph Meisner, which was torn to pieces, the debris, with grain and farm machinery, being scattered 200 feet. Trees were uprooted and fences blown away, the damage on this farm alone amounting to $5,000. In every quarter grain is ruined, but no other buildings were destroyed. For miles trees can be seen uprooted and fences down. At a farm in Thomsonville, a workman whose name was not known was struck and killed. Near Union Grove, Adam Hunter, an old farmer, was picked up by the storm and his neck broken. At the Haumerson brick yard lightning struck a shed and six men were stunned. Two barns were struck and wrecked. At least a dozen cattle were killed.

Talk of Alliance.

Washington, July 24.—Far eastern advices reaching Washington tell of the effect upon the Chinese of the victories gained by Japan over Russia. READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

Mrs. Jane A. Webber

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 143 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. Your Heart.

When Your Heart Fails to Pump Your Blood, Trouble Results.

Have you heart trouble?

You have, if you find it hard to breathe after walking up stairs, exercising, etc. If you have pain in your left side, in chest, back or shoulder. If you suffer from cold extremities, pale face, blue lips, dry cough, swollen ankles.

If you have fainting spells, breast pang, palpitation, redness of the face, discomfort in sleeping on one side.

The only scientific treatment for this whole train of troubles is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is the prescription of a famous specialist, whose great success in treating obstinate nervous heart disease has made his name pre-eminent in the medical and scientific world.

The medicine will cure you. We know it. We want you to prove it. If first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will give you back your money.

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble. I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. GUNBOAT IS SCENE OF SAD DISASTER

Loss of Life Is Appalling—A Total of Fifty-Nine Known to Be Dead, While Scores of Others Are Badly Injured.

San Diego, Cal., July 22.—Broken and blackened, with her flag flying at half mast, her hold filled with 15 feet of water, the United States warship Bennington lies beached on the shores of San Diego harbor. Fifty-nine of her crew lie dead at city morgues, the fate of a dozen more is as yet undetermined and three-score are stretched upon beds of pain in various hospitals. This is the result of the explosion which wrecked the trim little naval craft and wrought such terrible havoc among her crew at half-past ten o'clock Friday morning.

The Casualty List.

San Diego, Cal., July 24.—A careful compilation of casualties was made at nine o'clock Sunday night, and is as follows:

Buried in military cemetery at Fort Rosecrans, 47; dead now in morgue, 10, awaiting shipment to relatives; dead in fireroom of Bennington still unrecovered, 2; total dead, 59. Injured at various hospitals, 50; missing, 16. Grand total, dead, missing, and injured, 125. Of the injured at hospitals, seven or eight are expected to die. Forty-nine bodies were taken to the cemetery Sunday, but two were brought back upon telegraphic orders for shipment, which reached here after they had been started for the cemetery. Ensign Perry's body has been embalmed, and will be shipped to the naval cemetery at Annapolis.

Boiler Explodes.

The Beninugton at the time of the accident was lying in the stream just off the commercial wharf at the foot of H street. The warship had received orders from the navy department at Washington to sail for Port Harford, where she was to meet the Monitor Wyoming and convoy that vessel to Mare Island navy yard. Steam was up and everything was in readiness for sailing when suddenly, and without any warning whatever, the starboard forward boiler exploded with a deafening roar. The explosion was terrific. People standing on the shore saw a huge cloud of white steam rise above the Bennington. Columns of water were hurled into the air, and for a distance of nearly twice the height of the spars of the vessel.

Boats Go to Rescue.

It was immediately apparent that an awful disaster of some kind had happened on board the warship. The ferry boat Ramona was coming across the bay at the time of the accident. Capt. Bertelsen, of the Ramona, immediately gave orders to change the course of the boat and, instead of continuing his trip to the San Diego side of the bay, hurried to the aid of the stricken warship. The tug Santa Fe, which was tied up at the commercial wharf, the launch McKinley, the government launch General De Russey and a large number of other launches and water craft which were near the scene at the time, also rushed to the assistance of the Bennington and endeavored to lend every assistance possible. By the time the Ramona had arrived many of the sailors of the Bennington who had jumped into the bay to escape the scalding steam had been rescued, and the removal of the wounded, which already had been commenced, was being conducted in perfect order.

A Terrible Scene.

On board the Bennington were presented terrible scenes. The force of the explosion had torn a great hole in the starboard side of the ship, and the vessel was already commencing to list. A section of the upper deck was carried away from stem to stern. Blood and wreckage was distributed over the entire ship, the after cabin and the vicinity of the ship adjacent to the exploded boiler resembling a charnel house. Over it all hung the great cloud of white smoke, which drifted slowly toward the Coronada shore.

Many Blown Overboard.

A dozen or fifteen were blown overboard by the force of the terrific explosion. Capt. Wentworth, who was looking at the Bennington when the disaster occurred, says he saw human bodies hurled over a hundred feet upward. The air was black with smoke, which enveloped the ship. When it cleared away only a few men could be seen on the decks, while a number were floundering in the water. A boat was lowered from the vessel's side and most of them were picked up and taken on board. The shock of the explosion penetrated every section of the ship, blood and ashes being found as far as the stern of the captain's cabin. Portions of the upper deck were carried away and great damage was done in all sections. For a long time the hot steam prevented access to the space between decks, where most of the dead bodies lay, and it was not until late in the afternoon that the last were removed from the boiler rooms. Several bodies were tightly wedged in by a bulkhead that the woodwork had to be hewn away to free them. Most of the bodies had been mangled most beyond hope of recognition.

Boiler Was Unsafe.

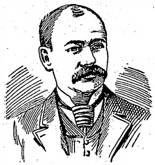
The boiler which exploded, it is said, was regarded as unsafe. Commander Young stated that during a recent return from Honolulu the steam pressure was kept reduced in that particular one. The ship's inner works are a tangled mass of machinery, and she probably will have to be dismantled in order to examine her in injuries.

DEATH'S CALL CAME TO PROMINENT MAN

COL. DANIEL S. LAMONT YIELDS TO SUDDEN ATTACK OF HEART FAILURE.

End Comes After Sickness of But Half an Hour—Long President Cleveland's Private Secretary, and Afterwards Secretary of War.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 24.—Col. Daniel Scott Lamont, secretary of war during the administration of President Cleveland, died suddenly at his home at Millbrook, Duchess county, Sunday night at 9:15 o'clock. Heart failure was the cause of death. Col. and Mrs. Lamont were out driving in the afternoon, and he appeared to be enjoying the best of health. After dinner he complained of feeling ill, and Dr. Stewart, of New York, who is a guest at the house, immediately went to his aid. The physician diagnosed the case as an attack of heart failure, and in spite of the heroic treatment, Mr. Lamont passed away within half an hour. At his deathbed were Mrs. Lamont and two daughters Frances and Bessie. Several guests at the Lamont home were also present when the end came.



DANIEL S. LAMONT.

His Career.

Daniel Scott Lamont was born at Cortlandville, N. Y., on February 9, 1851. He began life in journalism, and from 1885 to 1889 was private secretary to President Cleveland, by whom he was appointed secretary of war on March 6, 1893. Mr. Lamont was vice president of the Northern Pacific railway, and a director and trustee in many railroad and financial corporations. He leaves a widow and two daughters. He was a member of many New York clubs.

Col. Lamont was one of the most trusted political and business advisers of President Cleveland during the latter's administrations. He went with him to Washington first in the capacity of private secretary during Mr. Cleveland's first term, from March, 1885, until March, 1889, and again during his second term from March, 1893, to March, 1897, when he served Mr. Cleveland in the higher position as secretary of war. As private secretary to the president, Col. Lamont was brought in contact with practically all the public men who called at the white house, and the president relied considerably on his judgment in matters political. While in Washington Mr. Lamont made friendships which he retained during his later service in the cabinet. His family entertained largely, and were always prominent in the social affairs of the capital. Col. Lamont's close relations with President Cleveland began at Albany when Mr. Cleveland was governor of New York, and Mr. Lamont was a political reporter.

ROCK LEDGE BLOWN UP.

Government, at Cost of $749,000, Removes Obstruction in New Hampshire River.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 24.—A charge of dynamite weighing 45 tons was exploded under Henderson's Point, in the Piscataqua river, Saturday afternoon, hurling a ledge of rock three acres in extent from the bed of the stream. From the banks of the river and from islands in the harbor about 30,000 persons witnessed the big blast, which is understood to be the greatest ever discharged in this country. Chief Engineer Gregory, of the United States navy department, was in charge and the people were kept at a safe distance. No damage was done to property in the vicinity. The contract price of the undertaking was $749,000. The switch by which the immense blast was discharged was operated by Miss Ethel Foster, the young daughter of the superintendent of the contracting firm. The explosion was the culmination of an engineering project which has been underway for the last three years and which has attracted the attention of experts, both in this country and abroad. It was the removal of a great ledge of rock that obstructed the way to the big dry dock recently completed by the government at the United States navy yard on Seavey's island.

Gen. Blackmar Buried.

Boston, July 24.—Veterans of the Civil War, Sons of Veterans, members of the Relief Corps, and other patriotic societies on Sunday paid honor to the late Gen. Wilmon W. Blackmar, whose funeral was held in this city. During the morning the body lay in state in Memorial hall at the state house, where it was viewed by thousands.

Equitable Official Removed.

New York, July 20.—Chairman Paul Morton, of the Equitable Life Asurance society, summarily removed as comptroller T. D. Jordan, and appointed in his stead William A. Day, assistant attorney general of the United States.

GREAT DANGER FROM OIL FIRES.

THE BIG FIRE IN TEXAS STILL BURNING AND LIABLE TO SPREAD.

Twelve Lives Thought to Have Been Lost So Far. Hundreds of Men are Fighting Fire to Preserve Other Fields.

Houston, Tex., July 25.—The fire in the Humble oil fields, which started Monday night, is still burning fiercely, but it remains confined to the tanks of the Texas company.

While no names are ascertained, it is believed that twelve persons lost their lives. So far as can be learned, these were all negroes, who were employed in trying to prevent the spread of the flames.

Forty-three mules are known to have perished. The managers of the Texas company state that the tanks contained approximately 2,500,000 barrels of oil, which was valued at 25 cents per barrel, and that none of the oil will be saved.

In addition they say the big pumping plant at the tanks were entirely destroyed, making a total loss of more than $6,000,000.

Yesterday the efforts of the fire fighters have been confined to throwing up earthen embankments between the burning tanks, of which there are eleven, and those in which 4,000,000 barrels of oil belonging to other companies are stored.

These tanks are 3,000 and 4,000 feet away from the fire, but the water which covers the field as a result of the rain of Sunday has floated the burning oil to the first level and a sudden boil over may send the burning fluid to the second embankment, which would place the other tanks in greater danger.

The fire is not spreading toward the producing field, and it is not expected that it will. Hundreds of men were engaged last night strengthening the levees, building them higher, and in throwing up additional ridges.

Hoboes Put Up Strong Fight.

Hallock, Minn., July 25.—The police department had an exciting time the other night trying to round up a gang of hoboes whose actions brought suspicion on themselves. They were taking the town by turns trying to sell pocketknives and other valuables. When an attempt was made to arrest them they put up a strong fight. Marsall Olson and his assistants made speedy work of it and lodged them safely in jail. However, Olson was forced to knock one down with his revolver and fire a few shots to keep the others from running away. They were allowed a reasonable time to leave town the next morning.

Drowned.

Appleton, Minn., July 25.—A horse trader named Walker was drowned in the Minnesota river four miles south of here. The bridge across the river is out pending repairs, and the horsemen have been camped on the Lac qui Parle side for some days. Two of them came to Appleton for groceries, crossing in a boat and swimming their horse and buggy. On returning, one of them walked across on the stringers, intending to get the boat for his companion, who, not caring to wait, drove into the river, which at this point is fifteen feet deep, with a rapid current, and the man and horse both drowned.

Sheriff Gets Papers.

Washington, July 25.—Bennett Williams, sheriff of Blue Earth county, Minnesota, was at the state department yesterday and obtained the necessary extradition papers for A. A. Buck, who has been arrested in Cuba. Buck is wanted in connection with the defalcation of the bank at Mapleton, Minn., and is now held in Havana.

Fire at Belle Plaine.

Belle Plaine, Minn., July 25.—Fire starting in the Anderson building destroyed the entire structure, which was occupied by M. J. Mangan's barber shop and Paul B. Buelow's tailor shop. Mrs. Foley's dwelling, which adjoins the Anderson building on the east side, was also destroyed, and Mrs. McDevitt's building on the west side was badly damaged.

Italian Riots.

Racine, Wis., July 25.—Two factions of Italians, seeking to gain control of the Italian colony in the northwest section of this city engaged in a fierce fight yesterday.

Revolvers, dirk knives and other weapons were used. A general riot call was sent in. Two Italians were arrested.

Devastated.

Sydney, N. S. W., July 25.—News has been received here that a hurricane devastated the Marshall islands June 20.

Smashed.

Superior, Wis., Suly 22.—As a result of reckless speeding in an automobile, one man was killed and another injured here yesterday.

The automobile contained a party of three from Duluth, consisting of J. R. Morrow, an attorney; T. A. Rubrecht, a prominent lumberman, and a third man whose identity has not been established as he escaped injury and immediately disappeared.

Morrow was driving the machine at a high speed, swinging back and forth across Tower avenue.

ARISTOCRATIC GRAFTERS.

The poor old Pioneer Press takes its Republicanism like the Blue Grass colonel takes his whiskey—straight. Anything and everything that parades under the party name and bears the party label is swallowed without a grimace or the bat of an eye It defends and supports every Republican candidate, regardless of his standing in private life or as a public official, says the Fairmont Sentinel. It defends every action of a corporation-controlled legislature, no matter in what manner the rights of the producing masses and toilers of the state are trampled under foot. In every clash between the masses and the classes the Pioneer Press is arranged with the interest of its millionaire stockholders and directors.

Understanding as we do the history and the predelictions of this discredited organ of plutocracy, it is easy to see why it should defend Channing Seabury. the silk-stocking president of the capitol commission who last week rendered a bill of $790. embracing practically every working day from December 8 fo June 26 inclusive.

This bill, most of the items of which were trivial and not proper charges against the state, was not approved by Governor Johnson, on the advice of the Republican attorney general. In an official explanation of the reasons for withholding his approval the governor says:

"The spirit of the law, as I construe it, is to the effect that members of the commission are not authorized to act as individuals and that compensation is only premitted when meeting as members of said board of state capitol commissioners. In the itemized bill of Mr. Seabury he practically claims compensation for every calendar day of the year, except Sunday, beginning December 8 and concluding June 26. The items indicate that Mr. Seabury did not give all his time to the discharge of his duties under the act to provide a new capitol for the State of Minnesota."

The governor further holds that Mr. Seabury has no right or authority under the law to hear applications for positions, nor to employ applicants for positions. He has no authority under the law to individually perform actions for the entire board and receive compensation therefor.

Among the items contained in Mr, Seabury's bill we notice:

Conference with Senator Horton	$5.00
Signed certicfiates of indebtedness	5.00
Signed contracts for war pictures	5.00
Mailed contracts for war pictures	5.00
Signed contracts for asphalt walks	5.00
38 days hearing applications for positions	190.00
	$210.00

Nearly all of the remaining items are as inconsequential and of as little importance. And yet the Pioneer Press charges that Governor Johnson is "playing petty politics," and is "in small business" when he refuses to endorse an attemp-ed graft of $5 per day for a period of more than 100 days. The Pioneer Press admits that "many of the items are trivial," and the bill is in itself conclusive that there is no warrant of law for the charges. It is a plain attempt at "graft." and the governor is entitled to the thanks of the people of the state for calling attention to this effort to purloin the public money. Simply because Channing Seabury lives on Summit avenue, wears silk stockings and boasts of aristocratic linage, offers no excuse for a miserable, petty steal. No man has done or can do the state so much service or add so much to the luster of its good name as to be entitled unlawfully to a single penny. That Mr. Seabury cannot claim this money as a legal right is admitted even by his newspaper champion, and yet Governor Johnson is unbraided for not consenting to be a particeps criminis to an illegal and wrongful act! Mr. Seabury is not entitled to pay except for attendance at meetings of the board. A high-salaried man is employed as secretary of the commission to attend to the correspondence and do all work of the office, and it was never contemplated that Mr. Seabury should be paid for work another official is provided to do.

Instead of the action of Governor Johnson being "an exhibition of petty politics," it shows an anxiety to obey the law and defend the rights of the people.

All grafters look alike to Gov. Johnson.

Some of the Minnesota metropolitan dalies—notably the Pioneer Press and Tribune— are much opposed to grafters who live a long ways off. They are severe in cauterizing Depew, but are much offended when Channing Seabury is criticized.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW must be pretty bad. The Pioneer Press asks him to resign.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

Mules are wanted, but not the man kind.

Rub dry cement into the cracks of a leaky trough.

The beef trust is still doing business at the old stand.

There is no excuse for tramps when farmhands are wanted everywhere.

Dust air-slacked lime into cuts. It keeps off flies, checks bleeding and heals.

The quantity of milk may be changed by intelligent feed but the quality is born with the cow.

One hand washes the other. We must all help one another; it is the best and happiest way.

A pound of butter can be made from the same amount of food as a pound of beef. The butter sells for 20 cents and beef for 5 cents.

A crow hunt was recently held by thirty-nine hunters of Elgin and Kane counties, Ill., lasting two days. Their record was 1,131 crows, besides fifty butcher birds and five hawks.

In all of Japan there are only 10,000 square miles of strictly arable land. How such a people could ever develop on such a very limited area a productive soil is the wonder of the century.

By direction of the Secretary of the Interior, 37,800 acres of Indian lands in Minnesota will be opened to settlement August 17. These lands at present are partly in the Fond du Lac, Red Lake, White Earth and the Chippewas of Minnesota reservation.

A farmer residing near Stanhope Iowa, is the possessor of a horse that he states is fifty-two years old. This statement is also vouched by other reputable citizens in that neighborhood. The owner of this aged animals drives him four miles each day to a creamery on a milk wagon.

B. F. Combs of Parker, Kan., says his prospect for a big apple crop this year is the best he ever had. He expects to raise 500 cars, which represents 87,500 barrels. He has never yet sold a barrel of apples for less than $3, and if his prospects keeps up and also the price he will get $262,500 for his apple crop.

New Hampshire has an egg farm that is about the biggest thing in the line yet heard of. This farm contains eight hundred acres, and six hundred houses, accommodating eight thousand and four hundred hens. Gathering eggs daily on this farm must be a little matter like picking up sixty or eighty bushels of eggs a day.

Bulgaria has purchased and ordered some 5,000 American plows. A season of farm activity is therefore following the passage of war clouds. It is a good indication and augurs well for Bulgaria's coming prosperity if some newspaper correspondent does not start off again with the statement that conditions are grave.'

If you see "a dark man comin' with a bundle" meet him at the door and tell him you don't want anything. If all would quit patronizing pack peddlers it wouldn't be a week until there would be none traveling the roads to scare women who happen to be alone at the house, into buying something they don't want just to get rid of them.

The man with the old buggy really takes the most comfort after all With the new one you do not want to go out when it is muddy and the rest of the time you are afraid to go far from home for fear it will rain. About the only way to take comfort with a new buggy is to go out and plaster it up and then you will forget that it is painted.

At an Eastern experiment station it was found that a horse weighing 1,200 pounds and kept at moderately hard work would cost $74.82 per year for board. Foods, of course, are higher there than here. With us it would not cost so much. Taking one horse with another as kept on a farm the cost of keep would not be more, probably than $50.

A breeder of the Polled Angus cattle in central Iowa said the other day that he can produce on his farm one year with another a 1,200 pound Angus steer for each four acres of his farm. This finished steer is worth one year with another about $80, which gives him an income of $20 per acre for his land. It should be said that the use of the farm for this purpose has brought the soil up to a most productive condition.

It is said that in Norway a bucket of water is always placed within reach of a horse when he is taking his allowance of hay. "It is interesting" says the writer of this incident, "to see with what relish they take a sip out of one and a mouthful of the other alternately, sometimes only moistening their mouths, as any rational being would do while eating a dinner of such dry food. A broken-winded horse is scarcely ever seen in Norway.

The meanest man has been found at Indianapolis. He sneaks around in the night boring holes in shade trees, which he fills up with salt and coats over in such a way as to make detection difficult. Unless discovered and taken out, the salt will kill the trees, To think that such a wretch as this could be found anywhere short of the bottomless pit of perdition. He is worse than a wife-murderer. To wantonly kill a tree is a crime which should be made a felony by the laws of every state in the Union.

Honey is the only sweet that may be eaten in any quantity and for a long time without interfering with the action of any of the vital organs. Its food value is twice that of pork, pound for pound, and it has been noticed that presistent honey-eaters are not nearly so liable to disease of the respiratory organs as those who do not use it at all. It is calculated that the entire honey product of 60 bees during their entire life will not amount to more than one pound of honey, an amount that a man with a good appetite would eat in a day without thinking much about it.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last, there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In America.

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

Qualified Approval.

"How did you like the opera?"

"First rate," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I didn't care much about the tunes they played, but it was a great comfort to have enough noise to drown the vacuous conversation that was going on around me."—Washington Star.

A Looking Glass.

Mr. Crittick—Miss Artz tells me she does most of her painting now on glass.

Miss Spertz—I think she means with the aid of a glass.—Exchange.

Mrs. Jos. Tschirhart, who has been sick for some time past, is rapidly improving these days and is now able to be up and around. Her many friends hope she will soon entirely recover.

Mrs. I. D. Converse left Tuesday evening for Cass Lake and will make that place her home hereafter. Mr. Converse is in charge of the Times there and will continue in that capacity in the future.

Joseph Prudhome, of Lake Pleasant township, is erecting a fine new residence on his farm. It is said that the new structure will be a most commodious one and will be complete in every detail.

Our trap shooters have received word from Thief River Falls that eight or ten shooters from that place will be here next Sunday for a friendly contest. The affair will be pulled off at the old base ball grounds.

Crookston Times: Red Lake Falls has a band of which the residents of that place may well feel proud. The work of the organization is excellent and many compliments were heard last evening on the class of music produced.

K. Faltinson returned to his home at Armstrong, Iowa, Tuesday evening after a week's visit in the north country. He thinks well of this country and was agreeably surprised at the resources and prospects of this section.

The state school land sale for Red Lake county will be held in this city Thurday, Oct. 26, at 10 o'clock a. m. State Auditor Iverson will conduct the sale. About 2000 acres will be offered, practically every township in the county being included in the list.

Among those who attended the Winnipeg exposition from this city last week were: Dr. N. M. Watson, Commissioners Sutter, Demann and Falardeau, Joseph Perrault, J. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain and Dr. I. Lemieux.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ericson were Duluth over Sunday, taking advantage of the excursion to visit the Zenith city. Mr. Ericson visited a sister he had not seen for a number of years and needless to say they enjoyed the time very much.

W. U. O. Wilson of the Robertson Lumber Company was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Wilson is traveling auditor for the Minnesota yards. He is a very pleasant and entertaining gentleman to meet and is making friends rapidly.

Adolph Lemiex, one of the prosperous farmers of Louisville, is repairing and building an addition to his residence. When all the improvements contemplated are completed he will have one of the best residences of his neighborhood.

E. B. Howes, the Great Northern civil engineer who was in this city several months last year, was in the city the first of the week shaking hands with old friends. He has been at York, North Dakota, all summer and was on his way to his home in St. Paul for a short vacation.

At a meeting of the board of education Tuesday the contract for a frame school building for the North Side was awarded to J. K. Johnson, but there has been a hitch in the proceedings this afternoon. It is possible a brick building will be erected. The board meets tomorrow to decide the matter.

An eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lasha, living west of the city, met with an accident yesterday in which one of her legs was broken. A team of horses became frightened and unmanageable and ran over the little girl with the above result.

St. Hilaire Spectator: James Brady, of Lake Falls, came up Friday to examine the north bridge. He reported the bridge as unsafe and suggested temporary repairing to prevent the structure from falling into the river. The street commissioner was instructed to do the temporary work.

A new school house in district number eighty-one in Terrebonne is being built. The building will be built of cement blocks made at Dugdale, the lumber for the building being from the Robertson yards in this city. It is to be a commodious building with all the modern improvements.

Roy Linnihan met with a painful accident last Friday. In some manner he smashed one of his fingers with a rock causing a very painful wound. The finger was split and the nail torn off. He is now carring the injured hand in a sling and it will be some time before he fully recovers.

The J. B. Cigar Co. sold their pool tables the first of the week to Z. Bregier who will conduct a pool room at his old location on Main street. Mr. Breiger is having his room neatly papered and otherwise repaired, and having considerable experience in the business, will no doubt run a first class resort.

A party of young ladies went to Maple Lake Monday where they will enjoy themselves for the next two weeks. The following compose the party: Misses Mable Zaiser, Lucy Aunt, Ina Linnihan, Jessie Carver, Stella Hennemuth, Alice Ericson, Mable Rue. Mrs. M. Hennings will act as the young ladies chaperon this week while Mrs. G. H. Tibbetts will act in a like capacity next week.

The many friends of Miss Mayme Linnihan were greived to learn the first of the week that she had been taken suddenly ill at Dugdale where she was visiting friends. Her parents were summoned and she was taken to Crookston yesterday and is now at the hospital in that city. She is said to be suffering with appendicitis, but is reported as being much improved this morning. All hope for her early recovery.

Leo Spillane returned home Tuesday morning from Grand Rapids where he had been working in a printing office for some months past. He will remain in the city and will have charge of his father's confectionery business. Leo has many friends here who will be glad to welcome him home. We predict he will not only hold the trade of the establishment but will add greatly to the volume of the business.

The death of Mrs. Katherine Toulouse occurred at the home of her daughter at Bemidji last week. Mrs. Toulouse was an old resident of Red Lake county, having resided in Lambert for nearly thirty years, and has many friends who will be sorry to hear of her taking away. She was the mother-in-law of Joseph LaChance of this city. Five daughters and two sons are left to mourn her death, Two daughters living in Philadelphia were present at her bedside when her death took place. The funeral was held Wednesday of last week.

County Attorney Germo was called to Thief Riuer Falls last Saturday where a young man 22 years of age, giving the name of Albert Murie was arrested charged with stealing $32.00. At the municipal court he intimated that he desired to plead guilty so he was taken before Judge Watts at Crookston Monday and received a sentence confining him to the reformatory at St. Cloud. Deputy Sheriff Jarman immediately took the young man to the reform school where he is now doing time

Tuesday was "pay day" at the St. Hilaire creamery. On that day $4,000 was distributed among the farmers of that section as money due them for cream for one month. L. A. Carlson, a farmer living east of that town received a check for $85, while a number of patrons received $65 for their month's cream. The creamery is running to its full capacity and Geo. L. Austin, who has charge of the institution is working night and day. These facts should convince the patrons of our local creamery that dairying is a most profitable branch of the farm, and they should put their shoulder to the wheel and help make the venture at this place a success.

Where Should the Reservoir Be on a Range?

Some stove men say on the right hand side, but we don't think so, don't believe it's the place at all, and let's tell our reasons why. When on the right hand side, that body of cold water is bound to have effect on the heating of your oven for all the heat must pass by it. Then if you want to heat water only, you have to heat your oven, too. When it's on the left side you heat water much quicker, easier, in fact can have it boiling if you want to. And to heat water only you don't require near the fuel and don't heat up the room.

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

"S. S. S. for the blood" has grown to be a household saying. When the blood is out of order, or needs treatment from any cause, this great remedy is the first thought of and used by thousands of people all over the country, because it is superior to all other blood purifiers. It is a purely vegetable remedy, and while it penetrates the circulation and forces out all poison and morbid matter, it also builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. During the winter months the natural avenues of bodily waste have become dull and weak and failed to perform their full duty, the blood has been sluggish and an extra amount of poisons and waste matters have accumulated in the system and been absorbed by it. With the coming of Spring and warm weather the blood is aroused and stirred to quicker action and in its effort to throw off these acids and poisons the skin suffers. Boils, pimples, blotches, rashes and eruptions break out and continue until the blood is cleansed and made pure. S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this condition; it clears the blood of all impurities, makes it rich and strong and these skin troubles pass away. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other diseases of the blood are cured by S. S. S. Book on the blood and any advice desired, free of charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

I was suffering from impure blood and a general run-down condition of the system. I had no appetite, was losing flesh, and an all-gone tired feeling that made me miserable. I began the use of S. S. S. and my blood was restored to its normal, healthy condition. My appetite returned, I increased in weight, that "tired feeling" left and I was again myself.

On motion made by Commissioner Shaw and carried unanimously, the following order appointing viewers on County Ditch No. 22 was made.

In the matter of the petition of the Village Council of the Village of Plummer for County Ditch No. 52 in the Conuty of Red Lake, State of Minnesota;

State of Minnesota, }
County of Red Lake, } ss

Whereas, a petition bearing date the twenty-fourth day of May, A. D. 1905, signed by Jno. M. Reed, President, Julius Pleth, J. E. Buskirk and H. H. Finrow, Trustees and Chas. W. Latta, Village Recorder of the Village of Plummer in said County praying for the establishment of a ditch in said County, designated and numbered by the County Auditor as County Ditch No. 22 the route of which is fully described in said petition, together with a proper bond accompanying the same, has been filed with the County Auditor of said County; and said County Auditor has given due notice of the pendency of said petitfon, and the said notice has been published and served as by law required; and having had on said petition pursuant to said notice; and said Commissioners have heretofore duly appointed a competent engineer, to-wit J. K. Wood to make a survey of said ditch:

Now, therefore, we, the Board of County Commissioners of said County, at a regular session held this day, do hereby appoint Adam Zeh, and Wm. Erb and W. E. Wood three resident freeholders of said County, who are not interested in the construction of said proposed work, and not of kin to any of the parties known to be interested therein, to be viewers of said proposed work and of the route thereof. The said viewers shall first take an oath to faithfully perform their duties as such viewers; and thereafter having received a certified copy of the petition for said ditch and of the order appointing them such viewers and of the order of the County Auditor of said County designating the time and place of the first meeting of said viewers, shall meet at the time and place specified in the order of the County Auditor aforesaid and shall proceed to view said proposed work, and the land damaged or benefitted thereby; and having completed said view and examination of said work, shall make and file their report thereof with said County Auditor of said County within thirty days after the date of their first meeting. In their first report they shall in tabular form give the names of the owners of each tract of land so benefitted or damaged by said proposed work, the description of each tract of land so benefitted or damaged (said names of owners to be the same as appear on the County tax duplicates of said County, and the description to be given in legal form), and the total number of acres in each of said tracts, the estimated number of acres in each tract of land to be benefitted or damaged (as the case may be), the number of acres added to any tract by the total or partial drainage of any meandered lake, or the change of any water course and the location and value of such added land, the damage, if any, to riparian rights pertaining to any tract and the amount that each tract of land will be benefitted or damaged by the construction of such work. In case said ditch drains, either in whole or in part, any public or corporate road or railroad, or benefits any such road so that the roadbed or traveled track of any such road will be made better by the construction of said ditch, said viewers shall estimate the benefits arising therefrom to said road, roadbeds or railroads, and repart said benepts together with the names of roads and other particulars necessary to identify the corporations, private or public to be benfitted thereby and and amounts of bonefits of each; they shall report as part of such tabular statel ment the damages awarded to each municipaor other corporation for injury to any road or roadbed, and from the necessary construction and maintenance of any bridge, culverts or other works rendered necessary by the establishment of such ditch, stating the same separately. They shall also report the total estimated benefits in respects to said ditch entire, and branches thereof, if any, and also whether or not, in their opinion, the estimated expense of the construction of said ditch including the damages assessed therefor, is greater than the utility of said proposed ditch; and whether or not said proposed ditch is impractible for any reason, and, if so, stating the reason why it should not be constructed. In making said view and survey of said proposed work and their report thereon, the said viewers shall proceed according to Chapter 230 of the General Laws of 1905.

The Sunbeam is now a weekly visitor in these parts and it seems to be well along on local news.

Wanted at once by farmers—Good haying weather.

The last week's Sunbeam reports a wolf scare in that vicinity last last Monday evening. No one was killed, only one man up a tree.

Sam and Chas. Swanson went to Equality for two loads of movables last Saturday.

Al Ofthus was a business visitor at Plummer last Thursday.

There was a social "hop" at Geo. Singer's last Saturday evening.

Geo. Singer is at present entertaining a bad boil much to his dislike.

A week from next Saturday evening there will be another little social hop at Geo. Singer's. All are welcome.

The Red Lake and Clearwater rivers are about as high now as they were last spring, and people that must cross must swim their teams and stock across, and yet our worthy county commissioners seem to think there is no hurry about a bridge down this way in spite of our petitions.

M. E. Hyland transacted business at Skunktown last Friday.

"Cruely to animals" is a remark often made by officers of the law, when animals are abused to any extent, and generally its offenders are given the limit of the law for each offence. Now we wish to remind our worthy county commissioners that they are daily causing unjust cruelty to animals in their neglect to provide bridges for the general welfare of the public that is compelled to cross the river at the risk of losing ther animals and their own lives. If the petitions for these bridges are not to be respected, they ought to at least have a little feeling for the poor animals, even if the county is buried in debt. Something must be done at once, gentlemen, or other steps will be taken by the petitioners to show that there is a limit to all abuses.

The growth of the giant bamboos of the East Indies is so rapid that a difference in the rate of increase between day and night can be observed. The growth is more rapid at night, because then the air is more charged with moisture than in the daytime.

The First Typewriter.

The first typewriter was received by the public with suspicion. It seemed subversive of existing conditions. A reporter who took one into a courtroom first proved its real worth.

Autumn Leaves.

It is popularly believed that autumn leaves assume their brilliant hues when touched by the frosts. This is an error. Autumn leaves turn red and yellow and brown and intermediate tones because that is the natural way for leaves to ripen.

Gaborian's Visitors.

Gaborian was troubled with visitors, and of those he desired never to see again he suspended photos in his servants' room for guidance. Once an author called. The servants ran to consult the cartes and, being puzzled, asked the visitor to smile, which being complied with he was informed determinedly, "Master is not at home."

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Thedford's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

Your Watch Is a Compass.

"Most men who own a good watch," said a jeweler, "think they know all about it. They have the number fixed in their memory in case it is stolen. They could probably pick it out from fifty other watches with their eyes shut. But how many men know that their watch is a compass and will tell north from south as accurately as it will tell the time of day? Stanley, the explorer, did not know it until he had groped his way through the dark continent and met a Belgian sailor on the coast. Every watch is a compass. If you point the hour hand to the sun, the south is exactly halfway between the hour and the figure XII on the dial. Suppose, for instance, it is 4 o'clock. Point the hand indicating 4 to the sun and II on the watch is exactly south. If it is 8 o'clock, point the hand indicating 8 to the sun and the figure X on the dial is due south. A FINE BRICK BUILDING

North Side to Have a Modern School House—J. K. Johnson Secures the Contract.

At a meeting of the school board last Friday the contract for the new North Side school building was awarded to J. K. Johnson. The building is to be a modern affair and will be built of brick. The contract calls for a two story structure, 43x49 with a concrete foundation. There will be four large class rooms, closets, vestibule and a basement under the entire building. The plans are for a very ornamental front, the windows on the firstfloor to be arched or circular in form. The vestibule will have a cement tiling and the entire building will be modern and up-to-date.

Mr. Johnson began work on the excavation for the building Monday on the new grounds recently purchased by the school district.

Four bids were submitted to the board of education as follows: J. K. Johnson, $6000.00; Ole M. Sivertson, Crookston, $6706.00; Jas. Brady, $6500.00; Aug. Moren, $10,000.

Harry Ives is President.

At Detroit last week the editors of the Northwestern association laid aside social diversions long enough to elect officers for the coming year. Selections were madd as follows: President, Harry E. Ives, St. Hilaire Spectator; vice-president, Mrs. P. Schaefer, Ely Miner; secretary, A. G. Benard, Cass Lake Voice; treasurer, George D. Hamilton, Detroit Record.

BUY NEW GROUND

A deal was consumated at a recent meeting of the board of education whereby the school district becomes the owner of Mrs. Henning's property on the North Side. Eight lots were purchased—lots 1 to 8 inclusive, in block 83, Kretzschmar's addition and the magnificent new school building will be erected on the new property. The consideration was $775.00.

The new ground is a most admirable location for a school building and will be a most desirable place for the new building. There are a number of trees and a fine lawn on the premises, and being a corner property will make a most attractive place when all the improvements contemplated are carried out. North Side residents and the members of the school board are to be congratulated upon the enterprise shown in acquiring this fine property.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the directors of school district No. 167, Red Lake Falls township, for the following repairs to school building: brick foundation, new floors and new sills, if necessary. Specifications can be had at the clerk's residence. Bids will be opened Saturday, Aug 5th, 1905. The directors reserved the right to reject any and all bids.

DETROIT TO BEMIDJI.

The Northern Pacific to Build Across White Earth.

Announcement was made from an authoritative source last week that the Northern Pacific had decided to build a new line of road from Detroit to Bemidji, a distance of about 60 miles.

The new line will cross the White Earth Indian reservation and open a fertile country whose inhabitants have been clamoring for better railroad facilities foa years.

A full engineering equipment consisting of provisions, camping outfit and all necessary supplies was shipped from Minneapolis yesterday and it is understood the engineers will commence the work of running the line sometime next week.

The new line will extend in a northeasterly direction to Bemidji. Detroit is already on the main line of the Northern Pacific and the Soo's Winnipeg line crosses there. Another railroad will make the town an important railroad point.

Nels Bruggeman, a civil engineer of Winnipeg, who is thoroughly posted on the railroad situation in that part of the state through his connection with other lines, says the new branch is of the highest importance to people living in that section of the state.

"The N. P. is first on the ground" he said, "and I understand there will be no delay in pushing the line to completion."

EXCURSION TO WINNIPEG

Northwestern Minnesota Editors Visit the Metropolis of the Great Canadian Northwest.

The members of the Northwestern Editorial association enjoyed a splendid outing last week, their objective points being Alexandria, Winnipeg and Detroit. A party of about thirty boarded a special car furnished by the Soo railway at St. Paul Thursday morning. The first stop was at Alexandria, where the party was shown over the city by the citizens. Afterwards the editors were taken to the lakes for a ride in gasolene launches. A "fish fry" luncheon was served on the lake shore. Senator Nelson was a member of the entertainment committee and extended the address of welcome, which was happily responded to on behalf of the visitors by President Pease and Secretary Bernard. The Alexandria people were most generously hospitable, and to United States Senator Nelson, Senator Ward, E. E. McCrea and the Hennings brothers the editors owe a debt of deepest gratitude. Alexandria is not only a thriving commercial city, but it has unequalled advantages and attraction as a summer resort.

Thursday night at 10 o'clock the party started for Winnipeg, the metropolis of Manitoba, arriving there early the following morning. To most of the editors this was the first visit to Winnipeg, and no one was disappointed at the evidences of growth and prosperity. It now boasts of 100,000 people, and it needs no prophet's eye to see within a decade one of the greatest centers of trade west and north of Chicago. To the west there is an empire extending to the Pacific ocean, all tributary to Winnipeg.

The party was taken in charge by Mr. A. L. Preston, general agent of the Soo railway, who devoted the larger share of three days in looking after the comfort of his guests. Mr. Preston was formerly employed in the city ticket office of that company at St. Paul, and he seemed entirely at home in a crowd of Minnesota people. In passing we wish to acknowledge the many kindnesses shown by Mr. L. P. Green, traveling passenger agent of the Soo, who was with the party during the entire trip.

Among the many attractions provided for the party at Winnipeg were a scenic street car ride and a visit to the fair. The exposition is similar in many respects to the Minnesota state fair, and the varied exhibits of fruits, cereals, live stock, etc., is a surprise to one unacquainted with the rapid development of Manitoba. At the fair grounds a luncheon was provided by the officers of the exposition, and an hour was given to a list of appropriate toasts.

While of course Manitoba is a part—and an important part—of the Dominion, she has full power in making and enforcing local laws and regulations, and to the average American many peculiarites are noticeable. Perhaps the most forcible example is the observance of the Sabbath. If everyone doesn't go to church he is at least forbidden many of the liberties of St. Paul or Minneapolis. The saloons close at 8:30 Saturday evening, remaining closed until Monday morning; the street cars are not allowed to run; base ball games and other sports are prohibited, and even the parks are unavailable to the working classes, as they are all a considerable distance from the business section, and the working classes cannot afford carriages or automobiles. There is not a Sunday newspaper in Manitoba, or for that matter in the Dominion. Sunday theatres are forbidden. In fine, they have a puritanic Sabbath—one that would do credit to the Massachusetts colony of two hundred years ago. Whether or not it is more satisfactory, or whether the people generally like it better we do not know. The Winnipeggers are satisfied perhaps because they are used to it. It is a day of church-going and home-staying, and is undeniably a relief to the anxious father and mother with children of an age when their feet are wont to stray. Whatever the week-day temptations, Sunday affords no additional trials, as is the case in the average city in America.

One of the pleasant features of the stay in Winnipeg was the serenade given the party at the Corona hotel by the Red Lake Falls band. The editors—and for that matter all who heard the music—all agree that Red Lake Falls has the best band of any town of its size in North America. I have heard a great deal of praise for Prof. Onstad and his band, and the trip to Winnipeg was worth a great deal in advertising the town and its vaunted musical organization.

The return from Winnipeg commenced Sunday evening, but before dispersing the party enjoyed day at Detroit the queen of the summer resorts. The entertainment consisted of a carriage ride about the city, a steamboat ride through the chain of lakes, a delightful luncheon at one of the club houses on the lake shore, a serenade by the Detroit band, and a dancing party at Hotel Minnesota. Detroit people know how to entertain and especially to George D. Hamilton, editor of the Record, and his estimable wife the boys and girls of the party owe a great deal. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton delight in looking after the comfort of others and have the happy faculty of making their guests feel at home. Mr. Hamilton, by the way owns the model country printing office of Minnesota, and the newspaper instinct of the average editor prompts him to be jealous of the remarkable success of the Record and its genial editor. Detroit is a city of pretty homes, beautiful lakes and groves, and enterprising business men and citizens.

Tuesday evening the crowd arrived at St. Paul, convinced that they had never had a more delightful time in their lives. The president of the association, G. S. Pease, the veteran editor of the Anoka Union, may well be proud of the success of the outing.

OUR SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

Fell Off in Population Because Young Men Seek Cheaper Lands.

The decrease in population in Southern Minnesota counties during the past five years, shown by the census returns thus far, is accounted for by Superintendent G. H. Wright of the state census bureau as the result of changing conditions, and not through the fact that this section is not as prosperous as it was former years. Census returns from counties in the northern part of Iowa show a similiar condition.

"There is only an imaginary line dividing Iowa from Minnesota, and census returns from the northern portion of our neighboring state show the same decline in population as in the southern counties in Minnesota," said Mr. Wright. "Those sections of the two states were settled earlier than other sections, and they have endured the same experiences that all older settlements suffer.

"Land in the southern part of the state has reached a high price, and farmers are not slow to take advantage of that. They sell their holdings at big prices, and purchase land in the northern part of the state, North Dakota or Canada, where land is cheaper. Then some people have the pioneering habit. I have known some who have struck out three times for the wilderness.

"Then take the grown up children. They daughters marry and move away with their husbands. The sons go to sections of the state where they can purchase cheaper land. Some times the father, who has become prosperous, buys land for his son in the northern part of the state, say, and starts him up that way."

SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSES

Red Lake County Training School Closed Tuesday—Was a Very Successful School.

The summer training school closed Tuesday after a term of eight weeks of a most successful school. It was one of the largest schools in the state, the attendance reaching over the one hundred mark. All the teachers were very enthuiastic in the work, and both instructors and scholars worked hard to make the school a great success.

Conductor Yeager and his able corps of instructors are deserving of great praise for the success of the school, and their work will be remembered by the teachers of this county for some time to come. State Supt. Olson was very enthuiastic over the school at this place and pronounced it one of the very best held in the state this summer.

Supt. Olson delivered a lecture to the school last Thursday morning, and in the evening spoke to a large audience at the Metropolitan opera house. Both addresses were interesting and instructive and were productive of much good to all who are interested in educational matters.

Friday evening a reception was given the members of the school at the Lafayette school building. The band orchestra furnished several selections in the usual artistic manner, and Mrs. Chase and Miss Iza Tibbitts each sang a solo. Refreshments were served and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Prof. Hoverstadt, of the experimental farm at Crookston, addressed the school Saturday. His talk proved very interesting, his audience learning something new along the lines of scientific farming.

Yesterday about forty of the teachers attended a picnic at the Healy mill. Boat rides and other amusements made a most pleasant day.

The balance of this week will be devoted to examinations. Most of the teachers are still in the city and will not leave until Saturday.

NEVER BETTER.

The Crop Outlook in Red Lake County Promising.

Despite the many rumors in circulation concerning the prevalence of black rust in the wheat fields of Minnesota, conservative business men in this sity who have examined the wheat from various farms in this county, declare that the wheat nor the stalk have been affected by rust. While some claim to have discovered some rust on the leaves, they believe that a continuation of the present favorable weather will mature the crop without the least particle of damage.

The crop outlook in Red Lake county was never better according to local crop experts. Wheat has headed rapidly during the continued weather of the past three weeks and is in excellent condition. In fact, it now looks as if the wheat crop in Red Lake county would be one of the largest and best in years.

Farmers are feeling well sattsfied with the crop outlook and say that not only wheat, but all other crops as well, have grown and matured at an astonishing rate during the past twenty days of clear weather. Oats are especially heavy this year and the yield will be heavier than in years. Flax and barley are both showing up well and both grains will yield heavily.

The hay crop this season was one of the best in years. While some of the wild hay could not be cut owing to the extreme wet weather of June, yet the crop of timothy and clover was one of the heaviest crops ever known and fully recompensed the farmers for the loss of wild hay in the lowlands. Haying will be almost completed by the last of this week and the harvesting of barley has already commenced. Potatoes are being dug and are a fairly good crop. They were in many cases, however, injured to some extent by the excessive moisture in June and will be more or less susceptible to rot.

A FINE BRICK BUILDING

North Side to Have a Modern School House—J. K. Johnson Secures the Contract.

At a meeting of the school board last Friday the contract for the new North Side school building was awarded to J. K. Johnson. The building is to be a modern affair and will be built of brick. The contract calls for a two story structure, 43x49 with a concrete foundation. There will be four large class rooms, closets, vestibule and a basement under the entire building. The plans are for a very ornamental front, the windows on the firstfloor to be arched or circular in form. The vestibule will have a cement tiling and the entire building will be modern and up-to-date.

Mr. Johnson began work on the excavation for the building Monday on the new grounds recently purchased by the school district.

Four bids were submitted to the board of education as follows: J. K. Johnson, $6000.00; Ole M. Sivertson, Crookston, $6706.00; Jas. Brady, $6500.00; Aug. Moren, $10,000.

Harry Ives is President.

At Detroit last week the editors of the Northwestern association laid aside social diversions long enough to elect officers for the coming year. Selections were madd as follows: President, Harry E. Ives, St. Hilaire Spectator; vice-president, Mrs. P. Schaefer, Ely Miner; secretary, A. G. Benard, Cass Lake Voice; treasurer, George D. Hamilton, Detroit Record.

The Courier Stationery Store has a line of new box papers.

BUY NEW GROUND

A deal was consumated at a recent meeting of the board of education whereby the school district becomes the owner of Mrs. Henning's property on the North Side. Eight lots were purchased—lots 1 to 8 inclusive, in block 83, Kretzschmar's addition and the magnificent new school building will be erected on the new property. The consideration was $775.00.

The new ground is a most admirable location for a school building and will be a most desirable place for the new building. There are a number of trees and a fine lawn on the premises, and being a corner property will make a most attractive place when all the improvements contemplated are carried out. North Side residents and the members of the school board are to be congratulated upon the enterprise shown in acquiring this fine property.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed bids will be received by the directors of school district No. 167, Red Lake Falls township, for the following repairs to school building: brick foundation, new floors and new sills, if necessary. Specifications can be had at the clerk's residence. Bids will be opened Saturday, Aug 5th, 1905. The directors reserved the right to reject any and all bids.

DETROIT TO BEMIDJI.

The Northern Pacific to Build Across White Earth.

Announcement was made from an authorative source last week that the Northern Pacific had decided to build a new line of road from Detroit to Bemidji, a distance of about 60 miles.

The new line will cross the White Earth Indian reservation and open a fertile country whose inhabitants have been clamoring for better railroad facilities foa years.

A full engineering equipment consisting of provisions, camping outfit and all necessary supplies was shipped from Minneapolis yesterday and it is understood the engineers will commence the work of running the line sometime next week.

The new line will extend in a northeasterly direction to Bemidji.

Detroit is already on the main line of the Northern Pacific and the Soo's Winnipeg line crosses there. Another railroad will make the town an important railroad point.

Nels Bruggeman, a civil engineer of Winnipeg, who is thoroughly posted on the railroad situation in that part of the state through his connection with other lines, says the new branch is of the highest importance to people living in that section of the state.

"The N. P. is first on the ground" he said, "and I understand there will be no delay in pushing the line to completion."

EXCURSION TO WINNIPEG

Northwestern Minnesota Editors Visit the Metropolis of the Great Canadian Northwest.

The members of the Northwestern Editorial association enjoyed a splendid outing last week, their objective points being Alexandria, Winnipeg and Detroit. A party of about thirty boarded a special car furnished by the Soo railway at St. Paul Thursday morning. The first stop was at Alexandria, where the party was shown over the city by the citizens. Afterwards the editors were taken to the lakes for a ride in gasolene launches. A "fish fry" luncheon was served on the lake shore. Senator Nelson was a member of the entertainment committee and extended the address of welcome, which was happily responded to on behalf of the visitors by President Pease and Secretary Bernard. The Alexandria people were most generously hospitable, and to United States Senator Nelson, Senator Ward, E. E. McCrea and the Hennings brothers the editors owe a debt of deepest gratitude. Alexandria is not only a thriving commercial city, but it has unequalled advantages and attraction as a summer resort.

Thursday night at 10 o'clock the party started for Winnipeg, the metropolis of Manitoba, arriving there early the following morning. To most of the editors this was the first visit to Winnipeg, and no one was disappointed at the evidences of growth and prosperity. It now boasts of 100,000 people, and it needs no prophet's eye to see within a decade one of the greatest centers of trade west and north of Chicago. To the west there is an empire extending to the Pacific ocean, all tributary to Winnipeg.

The party was taken in charge by Mr. A. L. Preston, general agent of the Soo railway, who devoted the larger share of three days in looking after the comfort of his guests. Mr. Preston was formerly employed in the city ticket office of that company at St. Paul, and he seemed entirely at home in a crowd of Minnesota people. In passing we wish to acknowledge the many kindnesses shown by Mr. L. P. Green, traveling passenger agent of the Soo, who was with the party during the entire trip.

Among the many attractions provided for the party at Winnipeg were a scenic street car ride and a visit to the fair. The exposition is similar in many respects to the Minnesota state fair, and the varied exhibits of fruits, cereals, live stock, etc., is a surprise to one unacquainted with the rapid development of Manitoba. At the fair grounds a luncheon was provided by the officers of the exposition, and an hour was given to a list of appropriate toasts.

While of course Manitoba is a part—and an important part—of the Dominion, she has full power in making and enforcing local laws and regulations, and to the average American many peculiarites are noticeable. Perhaps the most forcible example is the observance of the Sabbath. If everyone doesn't go to church he is at least forbidden many of the liberties of St. Paul or Minneapolis. The saloons close at 8:30 Saturday evening, remaining closed until Monday morning; the street cars are not allowed to run; base ball games and other sports are prohibited, and even the parks are unavailable to the working classes, as they are all a considerable distance from the business section, and the working classes cannot afford carriages or automobiles. There is not a Sunday newspaper in Manitoba, or for that matter in the Dominion. Sunday theatres are forbidden. In fine, they have a puritanic Sabbath—one that would do credit to the Massachusetts colony of two hundred years ago. Whether or not it is more satisfactory, or whether the people generally like it better we do not know. The Winnipeggers are satisfied perhaps because they are used to it. It is a day of church-going and home-staying, and is undeniably a relief to the anxious father and mother with children of an age when their feet are wont to stray. Whatever the week-day temptations, Sunday affords no additional trials, as is the case in the average city in America.

One of the pleasant features of the stay in Winnipeg was the serenade given the party at the Corona hotel by the Red Lake Falls band. The editors—and for that matter all who heard the music—all agree that Red Lake Falls has the best band of any town of its size in North America. I have heard a great deal of praise for Prof. Onstad and his band, and the trip to Winnipeg was worth a great deal in advertising the town and its vaunted musical organization.

The return from Winnipeg commenced Sunday evening, but before dispersing the party enjoyed day at Detroit the queen of the summer resorts. The entertainment consisted of a carriage ride about the city, a steamboat ride through the chain of lakes, a delightful luncheon at one of the club houses on the lake shore, a serenade by the Detroit band, and a dancing party at Hotel Minnesota. Detroit people know how to entertain and especially to George D. Hamilton, editor of the Record, and his estimable wife the boys and girls of the party owe a great deal. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton delight in looking after the comfort of others and have the happy faculty of making their guests feel at home. Mr. Hamilton, by the way owns the model country printing office of Minnesota, and the newspaper instinct of the average editor prompts him to be jealous of the remarkable success of the Record and its genial editor. Detroit is a city of pretty homes, beautiful lakes and groves, and enterprising business men and citizens.

Tuesday evening the crowd arrived at St. Paul, convinced that they had never had a more delightful time in their lives. The president of the association, G. S. Pease, the veteran editor of the Anoka Union, may well be proud of the success of the outing,

J. F. K.

OUR SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

Fell Off in Population Because Young Men Seek Cheaper Lands.

The decrease in population in Southern Minnesota counties during the past five years, shown by the census returns thus far, is accounted for by Superintendent G. H. Wright of the state census bureau as the result of changing conditions, and not through the fact that this section is not as prosperous as it was former years. Census returns from counties in the northern part of Iowa show a similiar condition.

"There is only an imaginary line dividing Iowa from Minnesota, and census returns from the northern portion of our neighboring state show the same decline in population as in the southern counties in Minnesota," said Mr. Wright. "Those sections of the two states were settled earlier than other sections, and they have endured the same experiences that all older settlements suffer.

"Land in the southern part of the state has reached a high price, and farmers are not slow to take advantage of that. They sell their holdings at big prices, and purchase land in the northern part of the state, North Dakota or Canada, where land is cheaper. Then some people have the pioneering habit. I have known some who have struck out three times for the wilderness.

"Then take the grown up children. They daughters marry and move away with their husbands. The sons go to sections of the state where they can purchase cheaper land. Some times the father, who has become prosperous, buys land for his son in the northern part of the state, say, and starts him up that way."

SCOURGE SCARES SOUTHERN CITY

OUTBREAK OF YELLOW FEVER IN NEW ORLEANS CAUSES ALARM.

Fifty-Seven Deaths from the Awful Pest Are Recorded—Southern Towns Almost Panic Stricken—Business Paralyzed.

New Orleans, July 31.—The yellow plague is spreading. Here and there in parts of the city remote from the original infected district new foci are appearing. But the health authorities are hopeful, and the citizenship—rich and poor, women as well as men—is working, with the awful memories of a quarter of a century ago as an inspiration, to throttle the epidemic in its infancy. If human energy can do it, it will be done.

City Is Isolated.

New cases reported up to 6 p. m. Sunday, 27; total cases to date, 283; deaths Sunday, 3; deaths to date, 57. Though it was Sunday the work of sanitation, fumigation, oiling and screening went on just the same, and will continue daily until the city has been thoroughly screened and made mosquito proof.

New Orleans is an isolation hospital. Apprehension of contagion, born of the dread past, has caused the neighboring states to inclose the Crescent City of the south within the walls of quarantine. The last gap in the wall was filled when the entire state of Tennessee, following the quartines established by Memphis and Chattanooga, closed its doors against the city and all points where yellow fever is prevalent.

Mississippi, with Gov. Vardaman firm in his determination that no refugee from Louisiana shall cross the state line or set foot on the gulf shore, hems the stricken city on one side. Texas interposes a barrier even to a pathway to healthful zones on the other side. The waters of the gulf of Mexico are the only refuge for those who might flee, but at ports beyond the gulf the quarantine still raises its hand, not only against the residents of New Orleans, but travelers unfortunately caught here at this time.

Panic in Small Towns.

A dispatch Saturday from Drs. Wasdin and Donald, who are in charge of the case at Lumberton, states that no new cases have appeared and they feel confident of their ability to stamp out the infection without further spread. The order requiring all persons to exhibit health certificates before entering Mississippi went into effect Saturday. The most disquieting news in the yellow fever situation Saturday is the evidence that panic is increasing in the smaller towns of Louisiana and Mississippi and that a disposition is growing to revive the disastrous commercial quarantines of 1897, when some of the country towns even refused to receive ice or hardware from New Orleans. Columbia, La., bars all kinds of merchandise except hardware. Utica, Miss., will not receive freight of any kind; Osyka, Miss., will take no fruit or vegetables; Jackson, La., wants no household articles from New Orleans. Several towns in Tennessee and others along the Mississippi Valley road in Mississippi refuse to allow express matter of any kind to be put off; Port Gibson will not take bread nor anything wrapped in burlap that may be shipped from this city. Some of the Texas towns are asking that the mails be fumigated.

Will Meet in Toronto.

London, July 27.—The British Medical association has accepted the invitation to meet at Toronto in 1906.

GREAT COAL COMBINE.

Interests Estimated in Value at $50,000,000 Have Been Consolidated.

Columbus, O., July 28.—Coal, railroad and dock properties, conservatively estimated to be worth $50,000,000, in which Columbus capital is largely interested, were combined into one company at a meeting held Thursday in New York, according to advices from the metropolis. It will be the second largest coal corporation in the world, and be known as the Sunday Creek company, taking its name from one of the coal producing concerns included, the Sunday Creek Coal company. Seven coal corporations owning properties scattered throughout Ohio and West Virginia, and employing in the neighborhood of 16,000 men, are now to operate under one directorate and set of officers. In the consolidation of the interests leading officials drop out to make room for those who figure in the reorganization, which becomes effective on August 1. The companies included in the consolidation, which are now a part of the Sunday Creek company, are the Sunday Creek Coal company, the Buckeye Coal & Railway company, Ohio Land & Railway company, Continental Coal company, Kanawha & Hocking Coal & Coke company, St. Paul & Western Coal company, and Boston Coal, Dock & Wharf company.

GONE TO HIS REWARD.

Death Calls Isaac W. Joyce, Methodist Bishop of Minnesota—Many Years in the Ministry.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 28.—Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, Methodist bishop of Minnesota, died at his home, No. 310 Groveland avenue, at 1:20 o'clock this morning, as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage and consequent attack of paralysis which he sustained while delivering a sermon at the Red Rock (Minn.) campmeeting on Sunday, July 2.

Bishop Joyce came to Minnesota six years ago. Previous to that time he had been presiding bishop of the Methodist missionary field work in China and Japan. It is said of him that he has spoken in the cause of religion in every civilized country of the world. Before going abroad he was a pastor at Chattanooga, Tenn., for four years, and at Cincinnati, O., six years. He is a graduate of Hartsell university, a United Brethren institution of Ohio. Bishop Joyce was 69 years old. He is survived by a wife and one son, Col. Frank M. Joyce, of this city.

TRAIN IS DITCHED.

Accident on Santa Fe Road Near Lemont, Ill.—One Man Is Killed.

Chicago, July 31.—The outgoing California express of the Santa Fe railroad, one of the heaviest of the transcontinental trains, went into the ditch at Lemont at 10:45 Saturday night. The smoking car and reclining chair car were overturned completely and smashed up, being rolled 30 feet from the track; the dining car and the four Pullmans were derailed. One man was killed outright and several were injured, some of them fatally. The wreck was attributed to high speed on a sharp curve.

Swedish Loan Arranged.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 31.—Arrangements have been completed by the government and a syndicate of banks at Hamburg, Berlin, Paris and Brussels, headed by the Stockholm Commercial bank for an immediate credit of $12,500,000, half of the loan authorized by the riksdag.

Five Killed in Wreck.

Atlanta, Ga., July 27.—A freight train wrecked in the Central of Georgia railway yards in the western part of the city Wednesday caused the deaths of three white men and one negro and fatal injuries to Yardmaster Fred Woodall.

CONDEMNED MURDERER AND BIGAMIST REPRIEVED IN NICK OF TIME.

Gov. Deneen Acts When Assured Case Will Be Carried to Supreme Court, and Postpones Hanging Until August 25.

Chicago, July 29.—Gov. Deneen at 12:40 o'clock Friday granted Johann Hoch a reprieve until August 25, when the appeal of his case will be taken to the state supreme court. Mrs. May Wilson, known for her efforts to keep Capt. Streeter out of prison, started the train of events which eventually brought the governor's order for a stay by appearing at the county jail and promising to furnish the $600 necessary for taking Hoch's case to the supreme court. On this vague promise Mr. Deneen made a telephonic request that time set for the hanging be delayed an hour or so. Meanwhile Attorney Albert T. Thompson, a friend of Isadore Plotke, counsel for the bigamist, appeared on the scene in the role of "preserver" and gave $500 in new $10 bills toward the "Hoch defense fund." The receipt of this money, coupled with Plotke's promise to take his client's case to the supreme court, led State's Attorney Healy to ask the governor for the reprieve, and it was granted. It was 12:50 o'clock when Jailer Whitman, his face beaming with happiness, entered the death chamber and officially notified Hoch that he had been granted another lease of life. Hoch, at that time, had but 70 minutes more to live according to the mandate of the circuit court.

Five Murders Charged.

Five murders, in addition to the crime of wholesale bigamy, are attributed to Johann Hoch. The victims were his wives, and arsenic was the agency that ended their lives. Hoch, according to the police investigation of his carer, made matrimony his source of living for nearly ten years, making a specialty of German widows of the working class, whom he wedded and deserted after obtaining their savings.

Of the earlier history of Hoch and the marriages incident thereto little is known, but he confessed to having had 11 wives, six of whom are living. The wives who died and whom he is accused of having murdered are:

Huss, Mrs. Jacob—Married in Wheeling, W. Va., in 1877; died in three months, leaving Hoch $2,500.

Steinbrecker, Mrs. Julia—Married in Chicago August 5, 1895; died leaving Hoch $4,000.

Bartles, Mrs. Henry—Married in Cincinnati in March, 1897; died shortly.

Becker, Mrs. Mary—Married in St. Louis in 1903; died after a two days' illness.

Welcker, Mrs. Marie—Married in Chicago December 10, 1904; died January 12, 1905.

Hoch began his career in Chicago in 1892. In that year he married and lived under the name of C. A. Mayer. His wife, whose name is unknown, died three weeks after the wedding.

Last Episode His Undoing.

The particular matrimonial episode that led to the unmasking of Hoch as a "Bluebeard" was his marriage last December to Mrs. Marie Welcker, owner of a candy shop at Willow and Larrabee streets. After an illness of 23 days the woman died, exhibiting the symptoms of arsenical poisoning. A week later Hoch married the sister of his newly buried wife, and deserted her shortly afterward, and the case then was reported to the police.

January 19 last, the day following the charges made against Hoch by another sister of Mrs. Welcker Hoch, he disappeared with $750 which his new wife had given to him. He was captured in New York January 30.

Twenty-Three Killed.

Liverpool, July 28.—An electric express train on the Lancashire & Yorkshire railroad, bound from Liverpool to Southport, collided Thursday evening with an empty stationary train at the Hall Road station, causing the death of 23 persons and the injury of many. The first car of the express, which was crowded, was smashed to pieces and only six of its occupants escaped.

Held to the Grand Jury.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 28.—Gus A. Consman, formerly cashier of the failed Vigo county national bank, waived preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner A. M. Higgins on Thursday, and was held to await action of the federal grand jury, which meets in November. He furnished bonds for $10,000. Consman is charged with embezzling $1,000 of the bank's funds.

Voted for Lincoln.

Rochester, N. Y., July 31.—John W. Stebbins, for many years a prominent resident of this city, died Saturday night at the age of 86 years. He served in the assembly in 1855, and took a prominent part in the election of William H. Seward as United States senator. In 1864 he was a Lincoln presidential elector.

DOUBT IS CAST ON PEACE MOVE.

NOT IMPROBABLE THAT NEGOTIATONS WILL FAIL IS JAP BELIEF.

Witte Says Conditions Must be Necisarily Based on Present Existing Conditions. The Conference May be Useless.

Tokio, Aug. 1.—Hot discussions prevails here among the people and in the press regarding what settlement the Japanese should make with Russia in the forthcoming peace negotiations.

Public opinion generally is agreed that the time is not yet ripe for peace overtures. Japanese people and press are doubtful. It is declared to be improbable that the negotiations will fail, as was the case in the Franco-Prussian war.

Many different opinions are held by prominent men in all classes as to what terms Japan ought to demand from Russia.

The following are understood as being generally agreed upon:

That the leases of Dalny, Port Arthur and other concessions obtained by Russia in Manchuria be transferred to Japan.

That Manchuria be opened to the commerce of the world, and the administration of Manchuria be taken in hand by Japan until order is restored completely.

That the Russian warships interned in neutral ports be delivered to Japan.

That the Eastern Chinese railway become Japanese property.

That the island Sakhalim be ceded to Japan.

That that part of the Amur region ceded to Russia by China in virtue of the Pekin treaty be ceded to Japan.

That the Amur and its tributaries be declared neutral waters, and the warships of the powers be allowed to use the waters freely.

That a certain area on the frontiers of China and Siberia be made a neutral zone, where all military operations shall be prohibited.

That minimum indemnity be from two to three million yen.

FIRE.

The Village of Excelsior Narrowly Escapes Destruction by Flames.

Minneapolis, Aug. 1.—A fire which threatened to destroy the business portion of the village of Excelsior broke out about 1 o'clock Monday morning in the Excelsior bakery located on the south side of Water street.

As soon as it was discovered that the fire could not be handled by the local fire department a call was sent to this city for help.

A steamer and two hose carts with the necessary horses and men were at once dispatched to the scene of the fire.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis railway supplied an engine and three cars for the apparatus, and the run to Excelsior was made in time to check the fire and to prevent its spread.

The Miller block, north of Elliott's meat market, was also in danger at one time, but the timely arrival of the Minneapolis firement saved it from burning..

Hakin's cafe across the street from the bakery caught fire but was saved with slight loss.

The bakery building was owned by Gust Pfeiffer, and the bakery was operated by George Dansow. The loss to building and contents will be about $4,000.

Struck Gas.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Aug. 1.—The Fergus Gas company, which is headed by Senator Cole, got its drilling apparatus into shape during the past week and struck its first gas pocket or vein at a depth of 63 feet. A pipe 12 inches in diameter is being put down. This pipe fills with water to within four feet of the surface. The gas bubbles up through the water and burns freely when lighted. The company will now suspend operations for a short time in order to make some tests before going further.

To Fight Standard Oil.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—Negotiations practically have been completed by which the Mellons, the Pittsburg bankers, will combine all of the important oil interests of Kansas and the Indian Territory. Thus the Mellons will control the most powerful company independent of Standard Oil in the southwest.

Burned.

Staples, Minn., Aug 1.—The Palmer operahouse burned at 5 o'clock Sunday morning; loss, $7,000, with $5,000 insurance. The grocery firm of W. E. and O. C. Poore lost $3,000, partly covered by insurance. C. A. Poore, clothing, loss $2,000, partly covered.

RUSSIANS FLY IN DISORDER

Japs Capture Town of Rykoff and Strike Hard Blow at Retreating Enemy.

Tokio, July 31.—The following dispatch has been received from the Japanese army headquarters: "Our independent cavalry which entered Rykoff (on Sakholin island, 45 miles northeast of Port Due) July 27, withdrew on finding order in the city unfavorable to its occupation. Our army, intending to crush the enemy's forces before they retreated from the eminences west of Rykoff, commenced to advance at 3 a. m. of July 28. The van, together with an independent body of cavalry, advanced by forced marches, taking and dislodging the enemy holding the northern extremity of Rykoff and rushed into the town. Confused street fighting ensued, but the town was completely taken at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. The enemy's main strength, which opposed our right column, fled in disorder southward, taking the short route leading to Pareono. On July 28 a detachment which was sent south in pursuit of the enemy met the enemy's infantry, some 800 strong, at a point six miles south of Rykoff, and killed over 200 and captured 500. The enemy's strength opposed to our right column was some 3,000 infantry and four guns and four machine guns, and that opposed to our left column, some 2,000 infantry and four guns. The enemy's loss in trophies is under investigation."

St. Petersburg, July 31.—Gen. Stoessel has been relieved of command of the Third Siberian army corps.

DEADLY THUNDERBOLT.

Lightning Strikes Crowd at Coney Island and Kills Five Persons.

New York, July 31.—During a thunderstorm of terrific intensity which passed over New York Sunday afternoon five persons were struck by lightning and instantly killed, and nine were seriously injured at the Parkway baths, Coney island. At the same time one man was killed and three others prostrated at Gravesend beach. The intense heat of the morning attracted a great multitude to the shore resorts, and late in the afternoon, when the storm blew up from the westward the Parkway beach was thronged with bathers and spectators. The rain descended in torrents and hundreds of men, women and children sought shelter under the big bathhouse, which is elevated above the sand on piles. The lightning was incessant, and terrific thunderclaps shook the bathhouse, to the terror of the crowd huddled together beneath it. A few minutes before five o'clock a bolt struck the flagstaff and grounded in the very thickest of the crowd. Nearly 50 persons were prostrated and the rest, screaming with terror, rushed out into the storm. Those who had remained in the water were also panic-stricken and fled in all directions, not daring to enter the bathhouse, which appeared to be on fire. Ambulances were summoned from all the nearest hospitals, and on their arrival five persons were found dead and nine unconscious under the bathhouse. The bodies of all were scorched by the electric fluid.

To Stop Smuggling.

New York, July 27.—The custom house authorities intend to take active measures to stop the extensive smuggling of tobacco at Bayonne, N. J., where on Saturday 27 bales of Sumatra tobacco, valued at about $2,000, were seized in the house of a woman who is said to be the agent of a gang of smugglers. There have been 20 cases of alleged smuggling lately at Bayonne, and in every instance the vessels belonged to the Standard Oil company.

Deficit Scaled Down.

Washington, July 31.—The monthly statement of the government receipts and expenditures, which will be issued by the treasury department on August 1, will show the receipts for July, 1905, to have been approximately $49,180,000 and the expenditures about $62,960,000, leaving a deficit for the month of $12,680,000. The deficit last July was $17,900,000.

Call for Farm Hands.

Des Moines, Ia., July 28.—One of the most urgent calls for harvest hands received in this city has come from North Dakota, where a local employment firm was notified that 1,000 men were wanted in that state to harvest the wheat crops.

Has Resigned.

Washington, July 27.—Announcement is made at the department of agriculture that Mrs. Bertha Burch, private secretary to former Statistician Hyde has resigned and that the resignation has been accepted.

THE INDEPENDENT VOTER.

The Brainerd Dispatch has recently delivered itself of a preachment on party allegiance, taking its text from a recent paragraph in THE COURIER. Editor Halstad maintains that the mugwump is an unmitigated nuisance and ought to be abated. He condemns, eloquently and vigorously, the independent voter who thinks for himself rather than take his views ready-made from the office of a campaign chairman down at St. Paul.

Long ago a prophet said "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," and the Republican leaders are giving added evidence to the truth of the adage. They imagine the average voter to be so thoroughly imbued with the notion that Republican policies and candidates are sacred things, and that a scratch on the Republican ticket is an insult to the state. These "leaders" ought to know better than to advance such puerile arguments. They have enough bats on the head to have learned the lesson that the Minnesota voter is a free and independent animal who is neither led to water nor made to drink of a decoction that smells bad.

Under existing conditions the Republican voter has no voice in nominating a ticket or constructing a platform. The ticket is named by one of the several crowds that want the offices; the platform dictated by Bill Grimshaw or some other representative of the Federal end of the machine. It is no wonder the voter tires of this sort of thing, and the breaking away from the thraldom of party prejudice is a sure and certain indication that the voter is getting his eyes opened.

No man nor no party has a mortgage on a voters conscience. If a candidate for office fails to come up to the required standard; if he is notoriously corrupt or unfitted; if he has robbed the people, or if he is controlled by interests that will use him for purposes of plunder and prostitution, it is the duty of the intelligent, and God-fearing voter to use every effort and employ all legitimate means to defeat him.

The idea that a candidate should be supported because he is on "my ticket"—Bah! Better call back the Roman oligarchy and be done with it.

THE Faribault Pilot calls upon the governor to order an investigation of the accounts in the office of the board of control. Why not? The people are entitled to know how their money has been spent. It would be better for the state if every department should be subject to rigid investigation. The overhauling in the auditor's office, for instance, has resulted in a number of wholesome reforms.

RECIPROCITY with Canada is not a probability of the near future. The United States has dilly-dallied too long, and the special interests of Canada—the lumbermen and manufacturers—have discovered that they do not want competition from the United States. In the meantime the farmers on both sides of the line are getting the worst of it.

PAUL MORTON will need more than a presidential whitewash to repair the damage to his reputation. Many of the leading Republican papers are now charging that as president of the Equitable he is the tool of Thos. F. Ryan, the Wall street gambler who controls the capitol insurance company.

THE St. Paul Dispatch still insists that the Seabury incident is "a political play" on the part of Governor Johnson. Maybe it is, but the people of Minnesota like to see the grafters exposed, whether they be of the royal purple or plebian.

CHARLIE MITCHELL'S paper, the Fairmont News, has gone out of existence, having been purchased by the Independent. Mr. Mitchell will leave Fairmont, and rumor has it that he is slated for a federal job.

MINNEAPOLIS is getting to be a big girl now, and how proud she must be of the fact that Loren Fletcher succeeds to John Lind's shoes.

ONE by one the heroes fall, and there'll be more yet ere the campaign against graft is o'er.

CAN NOT BUILD THE CANAL.

J. D. Yeomans, formerly a member of the inter-state commerce commission, says the Panama canal project is the biggest humbug of the age and that it will never be built. Among other drawbacks to the scheme he points out the following:

"The Penama canal is the biggest humbug of the age. I have no hesitation in saying that, in my opinion there will never be a canal built there. No important American engineer who was not paid for it ever hazarded the opinion that there would be a canal there. The last monthly report of the work done shows that it will take 110 years to finish it The weeds grow in one end faster than they can carry out dirt in the other.

"No engineer has ever found a rock or clay bed in that celebrated Culebra cut, where the U. S. has done most of its work. There has been a cut of 30 feet there and thirty inches rain falls in thirty hours down those banks. Does anyone suppose that the alluvial soil won't wash down in there to make a mud canal too thick for a government dredge boat to keep afloat in?

"The Nicaragua route was feasible, and for that reason it was abandoned. I was a member of a syndicate prepared to build the canal for $120,000,000 tons of merchandise annually. We were prepared to do the work in four years. This looked too much like a canal, and the great influnces behind the present transcontinental transporation business suddenly ceased opposing the canal project and pushed the clamor over to Panama. The men who run our big railroads know what Panama is. By the Nicaragua route as projected a ship could leave New York harbor and arrive in San Francisco in eighteen days. No freight train is scheduled to go overland inside of twenty three days. That's what struck in the Nicaragua project. Red tape, civil service reforms and yellow fever will do the rest."

The Seabury Investigation.

Blue Earth Post: Governor Johnson is doing his duty, his whole duty in holding up the bill of Channing Seabury, chairman of the capitol commission. It will be a good thing for the honest members to have every item scrutinized from the start to finish. Johnson is doing his duty—doing what Lind and Van Sant failed to do. There is no more call for praise on the part of his admirers than there is for criticism by his political enemies. Honest officials court the closest scrutiny and grafters deserve it. On the face of it, Seabury's bill looked as if it should have been handed in at the office of the Equitable Assurance company of which "the late" Chauncey Depew was a member of the board of grafters.

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

Governor Johnson Calls on Citizens to Observe the Holiday.

Governor Johnson yesterday issued a Labor Day proclamation, setting aside Monday, Sept. 4th as the day. Unlike the formal proclamation of former executives, Governor Johnson, in passing, makes some general comments upon the subjects of labor, capital and problems arising from the relations of capital to labor. The proclamation follows:

The legislature of the state having designated the first Monday in September of each year as labor day and it being desirable that this day be generally observed,

Now, therefore, I, John A. Johnson, governor of said state, pursuant to law and costom, do hereby request that on Monday, Sept. 4 A. D. 1905, there be a general suspension of trade and toil. Labor is the basis of all wealth and prosperity. In the community of interest so essential to our well being and our progress, the relation of the employer and employee should not be strained. Between capital and labor there should be difference. Labor, seldom asking for more, should always be given a fair chance. In all problems involving any difference between capital and labor there should not only be a just toleration, but wise and patriotic consideration. On this day let there be not only the recreation of the holiday but a discussion of problems looking toward a settlement of differences, the realization of the true dignity of labor and the establishment of all industry on the basis of equal rights to every citizen. Let full co-operation follow and in the enjoyment of this day let the central thought be the up-building of the state and nation and the elevation of the citizen to the highest possible standard.

GRAIN BOARD OF APPEALS.

Members Organize and Elect Arthur Evenson Chairman.

Gov. Johnson last week reorganized the new state board of grain appeals, the members of which will take offices Aug. 1. The following members were assigned to Minneapolis: Arthur Evenson, St. Peter; W. F. Keslo, Hallock, and S. F. Thorson, Winthrop. The following members will sit at Duluth: Philander McCarger, Fergus Falls, T. B. McManus, Crookston, and Theo. Thorson, Glenwood.

Neither division of the board, however, will be identified permanently with Duluth or Minneapolis. It was decided that two boards should rotate between Duluth and Minneapolis. The two divisions will make alternate shifts weekly between the Zenith City and Minneapolis. This is the first time that such an arrangement has been secured. Gov. Johnson attempted to have the old board do this during the last few months of its existence, but it flatly refused to do so.

Arthur Evenson was chosen chairman of the board. He has been a member for the last six months, having been selected to succeed the late Martin Lally. The members assigned to Duluth left last evening to acquaint themselves with the conditions there.

Railroad Tracks Creep.

The rails on a track that appears to be well laid often begin to move lengthwise, so slowly that their motion is imperceptible, until its results have accumulated, but with such great force that nothing will stop it. The onward movement of the rail tears up spikes, and shears off steel bolts. The motion is always in the direction of traffic and is due to the moving trains. To prevent this is still a question unanswered, but golden grain belt beer will prevent ill health. Get a case for home use. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

[Catarrhal Dyspepsia and Nervous Prostration Makes Invalids of More Women Than all Other Diseases Combined.]

Miss Anna Prescott

Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Miss Louise Matt.

Miss Anna Prescott, in a letter from 216 South Seventh street, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"I was completely used up last fall, my appetite had failed and I felt weak and tired all the time. I took Peruna for five weeks, and am glad to say that I am completely restored to health."—Anna Prescott.

Mrs. Leone Dolehan, in a letter from the Commercial Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"For two months my physician experimented with me trying to cure a hard cold which settled in my stomach, causing inflammation and catarrh. I have now been well for six months, and I give all the credit to Peruna." — Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Peruna will be found to effect an immediate and lasting cure in all cases of systemic catarrh. It acts quickly and beneficially on the diseased mucous membranes, and with healthy mucous membranes the catarrh can no longer exist.

Miss Louise Matt, 1259 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Peruna is a most wonderful medicine for catarrhal and stomach troubles.

"I suffered so long with indigestion and dyspepsia, and tried many things to cure me, without relief. I finally bought a bottle of Peruna and in just six weeks I was entirely rid of my stomach trouble."—Louise Matt.

A Letter From Mrs. Senater Warren.

"I am constantly troubled with colds, cough, etc., but thanks to your good medicine, Peruna, I always find a prompt cure."—Mrs. F. E. Warren.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

THE INDEPENDENT VOTER.

The Brainerd Dispatch has recently delivered itself of a preachment on party allegiance, taking its text from a recent paragraph in THE COURIER. Editor Halstad maintains that the mugwump is an unmitigated nuisance and ought to be abated. He condemns, eloquently and vigorously, the independent voter who thinks for himself rather than take his views ready-made from the office of a campaign chairman down at St. Paul.

Long ago a prophet said "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," and the Republican leaders are giving added evidence to the truth of the adage. They imagine the average voter to be so thoroughly imbued with the notion that Republican policies and candidates are sacred things, and that a scratch on the Republican ticket is an insult to the state. These "leaders" ought to know better than to advance such puerile arguments. They have enough bats on the head to have learned the lesson that the Minnesota voter is a free and independent animal who is neither led to water nor made to drink of a decoction that smells bad.

Under existing conditions the Republican voter has no voice in nominating a ticket or constructing a platform. The ticket is named by one of the several crowds that want the offices: the platform dictated by Bill Grimshaw or some other representative of the Federal end of the machine. It is no wonder the voter tires of this sort of thing, and the breaking away from the thraldom of party prejudice is a sure and certain indication that the voter is getting his eyes opened.

No man nor no party has a mortgage on a voters conscience. If a candidate for office fails to come up to the required standard; if he is notoriously corrupt or unfitted: if he has robbed the people, or if he is controlled by interests that will use him for purposes of plunder and prostitution, it is the duty of the intelligent, and God-fearing voter to use every effort and employ all legitimate means to defeat him.

The idea that a candidate should be supported because he is on "my ticket"—Bah! Better call back the Roman oligarchy and be done with it.

THE Faribault Pilot calls upon the governor to order an investigation of the accounts in the office of the board of control. Why not? The people are entitled to know how their money has been spent. It would be better for the state if every department should be subject to rigid investigation. The overhauling in the auditor's office, for instance, has resulted in a number of wholesome reforms.

RECIPROCITY with Canada is not a probability of the near future. The United States has dilly dallied too long, and the special interests of Canada, the lumbermen and manufacturers, have discovered that they do not want competition from the United States. In the meantime the farmers on both sides of the line are getting the worst of it.

PAUL MORTON will need more than a presidential whitewash to repair the damage to his reputation. Many of the leading Republican papers are now charging that as president of the Equitable he is the tool of Thos. F. Ryan, the Wall street gambler who controls the capitol insurance company.

THE St. Paul Dispatch still insists that the Seabury incident is "a political play" on the part of Governor Johnson. Maybe it is, but the people of Minnesota like to see the grafters exposed, whether they be of the royal purple or plebian.

CHARLIE MITCHELL's paper, the Fairmont News, has gone out of existence, having been purchased by the Independent. Mr. Mitchell will leave Fairmont, and rumor has it that he is slated for a federal job.

MINNEAPOLIS is getting to be a big girl now, and how proud she must be of the fact that Loren Fletcher succeeds to John Lind's shoes.

ONE by one the heroes fall, and there'll be more yet ere the campaign against graft is o'er.

CAN NOT BUILD THE CANAL.

J. D. Yeomans, formerly a member of the inter-state commerce commission, says the Panama canal project is the biggest humbug of the age and that it will never be built. Among other drawbacks to the scheme he points out the following:

"The Penama canal is the biggest humbug of the age. I have no hesitation in saying that, in my opinion there will never be a canal built there. No important American engineer who was not paid for it ever hazarded the opinion that there would be a canal there. The last monthly report of the work done shows that it will take 110 years to finish it The weeds grow in one end faster than they can carry out dirt in the other.

"No engineer has ever found a rock or clay bed in that celebrated Culebra cut, where the U. S. has done most of its work. There has been a cut of 30 feet there and thirty inches rain falls in thirty hours down those banks. Does anyone suppose that the alluvial soil won't wash down in there to make a mud canal too thick for a government dredge boat to keep afloat in?

"The Nicaragua route was feasible, and for that reason it was abandoned. I was a member of a syndicate prepared to build the canal for $120,000,000 tons of merchandise annually. We were prepared to do the work in four years. This looked too much like a canal, and the great influnces behind the present transcontinental transporation business suddenly ceased opposing the canal project and pushed the clamor over to Panama. The men who run our big railroads know what Panama is. By the Nicaragua route as projected a ship could leave New York harbor and arrive in San Francisco in eighteen days. No freight train is scheduled to go overland inside of twenty three days. That's what struck in the Nicaragua project. Red tape, civil service reforms and yellow fever will do the rest."

The Seabury Investigation.

Blue Earth Post: Governor Johnson is doing his duty, his whole duty in holding up the bill of Channing Seabury, chairman of the capitol commission. It will be a good thing for the honest members to have every item scrutinized from the start to finish. Johnson is doing his duty—doing what Lind and Van Sant failed to do. There is no more call for praise on the part of his admirers than there is for criticism by his political enemies. Honest officials court the closest scrutiny and grafters deserve it. On the face of it, Seabury's bill looked as if it should have been handed in at the office of the Equitable Assurance company of which "the late" Chauncey Depew was a member of the board of grafters.

LABOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

Governor Johnson Calls on Citizens to Observe the Holiday.

Governor Johnson yesterday issued a Labor Day proclamation, setting aside Monday, Sept. 4th as the day. Unlike the formal proclamation of former executives, Governor Johnson, in passing, makes some general comments upon the subjects of labor, capital and problems arising from the relations of capital to labor. The proclamation follows:

The legislature of the state having designated the first Monday in September of each year as labor day, and it being desirable that this day be generally observed,

Now, therefore, I, John A. Johnson, governor of said state, pursuant to law and costom, do hereby request that on Monday, Sept. 4 A. D. 1905, there be a general suspension of trade and toil. Labor is the basis of all wealth and prosperity. In the community of interest so essential to our well being and our progress, the relation of the employer and employee should not be strained. Between capital and labor there should be difference. Labor, seldom asking for more, should always be given a fair chance. In all problems involving any difference between capital and labor there should not only be a just toleration, but wise and patriotic consideration. On this day let there be not only the recreation of the holiday but a discussion of problems looking toward a settlement of differences, the realization of the true dignity of labor and the establishment of all industry on the basis of equal rights to every citizen. Let full co-operation follow and in the enjoyment of this day let the central thought be the up-building of the state and nation and the elevation of the citizen to the highest possible standard.

Gov. Johnson last week reorganized the new state board of grain appeals, the members of which will take offices Aug. 1. The following members will sit at Duluth: Philander McCarger, Fergus Falls, T. B. McManus, Crookston, and Theo. Thorson, Glenwood.

Neither division of the board, however, will be identified permanently with Duluth or Minneapolis. It was decided that two boards should rotate between Duluth and Minneapolis. The two divisions will make alternate shifts weekly between the Zenith City and Minneapolis. This is the first time that such an arrangement has been secured. Gov. Johnson attempted to have the old board do this during the last few months of its existence, but it flatly refused to do so.

Arthur Evenson was chosen chairman of the board. He has been a member for the last six months, having been selected to succeed the late Martin Lally. The members assigned to Duluth left last evening to acquaint themselves with the conditions there.

Railroad Tracks Creep.

The rails on a track that appears to be well laid often begin to move lengthwise, so slowly that their motion is imperceptible, until its results have accumulated, but with such great force that nothing will stop it. The onward movement of the rail tears up spikes and shears off steel bolts. The motion is always in the direction of traffic and is due to the moving trains. To prevent this is still a question unanswered, but golden grain belt beer will prevent ill health. Get a case for home use. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

[Catarrhal Dyspepsia and Nervous Prostration Makes Invalids of More Women Than all Other Diseases Combined.]

Miss Anna Prescott

Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Miss Louise Matt.

Miss Anna Prescott, in a letter from 216 South Seventh street, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"I was completely used up last fall, my appetite had failed and I felt weak and tired all the time. I took Peruna for five weeks, and am glad to say that I am completely restored to health."—Anna Prescott.

Mrs. Leone Dolehan, in a letter from the Commercial Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"For two months my physician experimented with me trying to cure a hard cold which settled in my stomach, causing inflammation and catarrh. I have now been well for six months, and I give all the credit to Peruna."—Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Peruna will be found to effect an immediate and lasting cure in all cases of systemic catarrh. It acts quickly and beneficially on the diseased mucous membranes, and with healthy mucous membranes the catarrh can no longer exist.

Miss Louise Matt, 1259 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Peruna is a most wonderful medicine for catarrhal and stomach troubles.

"I suffered so long with indigestion and dyspepsia, and tried many things to cure me, without relief. I finally bought a bottle of Peruna and in just six weeks I was entirely rid of my stomach trouble."—Louise Matt.

A Letter From Mrs. Senater Warren.

"I am constantly troubled with colds, cough, etc., but thanks to your good medicine, Peruna, I always find a prompt cure."—Mrs. F. E. Warren.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

"For two months my physician experimented with me trying to cure a hard cold which settled in my stomach, causing inflammation and catarrh. I have now been well for six months, and I give all the credit to Peruna."—Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

"Peruna will be found to effect an immediate and lasting cure in all cases of systemic catarrh. It acts quickly and beneficially on the diseased mucous membranes, and with healthy mucous membranes the catarrh can no longer exist."

Miss Louise Matt, 129 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Peruna is a most wonderful medicine for catarrhal and stomach troubles.

"I suffered so long with indigestion and dyspepsia, and tried many things to cure me, without relief. I finally bought a bottle of Peruna and in just six weeks I was entirely rid of my stomach trouble."—Louise Matt.

A Letter From Mrs. Senator Warren.

"I am constantly troubled with colds, cough, etc., but thanks to your good medicine, Peruna, I always find a prompt cure."—Mrs. F. E. Warren.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Fire Warning.

The forest preservation law of Minnesota requires that an abstract of the penalties as furnished by the Forest Commissioner be published by the County Commissioners in the official paper of their county, and the same is accordingly hereby published:

Where Should the Reservoir Be on a Range?

Some stove men say on the right hand side, but we don't think so, don't believe it's the place at all, and let's tell our reasons why. When on the right hand side, that body of cold water is bound to have effect on the heating of your oven for all the heat must pass by it. Then if you want to heat water only, you have to heat your oven, too. When it's on the left side you heat water much quicker, easier, in fact can have it boiling if you want to. And to heat water only you don't require near the fuel and don't heat up the room.

Some stove men say on the right hand side, but we don't think so, don't believe it's the place at all, and let's tell our reasons why. When on the right hand side, that body of cold water is bound to have effect on the heating of your oven for all the heat must pass by it. Then if you want to heat water only, you have to heat your oven, too. When it's on the left side you heat water much quicker, easier, in fact can have it boiling if you want to. And to heat water only you don't require near the fuel and don't heat up the room.

SPEAK FOR THE BLOOD

Skin Diseases speak for the blood and tell of the acid-laden, poisonous condition of that vital fluid, and of its effort to throw off and rid the system of the poisons and waste matters that have accumulated in it. Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Boils and diseases of this type are all caused by a weakened and polluted blood circulation, and though they may have lain dormant in the system during the cold weather, at the coming of Spring and Summer, when the blood is reacting and making extra efforts to expel all morbid and poisonous matter, they make their appearance. External remedies cannot cure; they soothe and give temporary relief, but often clog the pores and glands, and the poison causing the trouble is thus shut up in the system to break out afresh later on. S. S. S., a purely vegetable blood remedy, cures all skin diseases by going down into the circulation, driving out all poisons and waste matters, strengthening the blood, leaving the skin soft and smooth, and building up the entire system by its tonic effect. S. S. S. cures Nettle Rash, Poison Oak and all skin diseases that enter the system through the pores and glands, as well as those that have their origin in the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any advice wished, without charge.

In 1896 I experienced at times patches on the inside of my hands that itched and burned, causing much discomfort. I was convinced I was afflicted with a type of Eczema. I consulted several physicians, and used several external applications, receiving but slight temporary relief. I decided to try S. S. S., and soon I found myself entirely cured.

ECHOES.

"Eenie, meenie, miney mo,
Crack a fenney, finey fo,
Ommanuga, poppatuga,
Rick, stick, dan do."
No sense for savants wisdom laden
Lies within that childish strain;
But there's bliss that comes from Aidenn
Down life's golden shore again,
When the lay that used to throb us
Comes from out the long ago,
Time, old graybeard, cannot rob us
Of our "eenie, meenie mo."

"Entry, mentry, cutey corn,
Apple seed and apple thorn,
Wire, brier, limber lock,
Six geese in a flock."
Ah! old graybeard, you can never
Still the song that used to thrill,
Hide away the forms that ever
Troop along the meadow hill.
Song of cheer and mery laughter!
Lad and lassie, they will flock
Through the years of the hereafter
With their sunny "limber lock."

"One zaw, two zaw, zig zaw zam,
Bobtail, vinegar, ticklum tan,
Harum, scarum, virgum marum,
Stringlum, stranglum, buck and John."
Ah! we recall each joyous fellow,
And each lassie sweet and fair,
With the silver moonbeams mellow
Spreading halos o'er them there,
And again their faces meet us
As no other faces can;
And their voices come to greet us
With the dear old "zig zaw zan."

"Eenie, meenie, monie my,
Bassaloney, boney, stry,
Hare, ware, crown, nack,
Alko, balko, we wo wack."
No classic stanzas laid before us
E'en by master hands can thrall,
Cannot thril us and implore us,
Like that far-off echoing call.
There is throb of joy and frolic,
Sweetness of the days gone by,
Trembling in each ringing rollick
Of our "eenie, monie my."

THE EVICTION OF MONSIEUR

By
J. C. PLUMMER

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"OUT on the street he goes, bag and baggage," said Mrs. Raggett, "unless he pays me what he owes me. And to-morrow morning, too."

"I think Musseer Grande means all right," remonstrated Capt. Gaggett, somewhat feebly.

"You are a nice judge of people, you are," retorted his wife, scornfully, "there's not a rum-sucking old sailor about the wharves who hasn't borrowed money from you, and they all mean well. You'd think the Old Boy meant well, I suppose, if he stuck you on his fork."

Capt. Raggett, guiltily conscious of having loaned Capt. Simon Bond a dollar, that very morning, held his peace.

"For a whole month that old Frenchman has been promising me my money," continued Mrs. Raggett, "says he's a letter coming from France with a lot of money in it. Where's the letter, I'd like to know? I won't be made a fool of no more."

"Wait until to-morrow night," pleaded Capt.. Raggett, "the letter may come tomorrow."

"Letter from the moon," sniffed his wife, "there's no letter, you ninny; he's only playing off on me for time."

"If you please," said a gentle voice from the staircase, "is it that the post has come not yet?"

"Yes, he's come, gone and forgot it," replied Mrs. Raggett, roughly.

"And no letter," cried Monsieur Grande, with a gesture of despair. "I am desolated, Madame Raggett. Again I cannot fulfil my promise. But patience, Madame, it must come, it must come."

"There may have been gales at sea," put in Capt. Raggett.

"Yes, yes," exclaimed the Monsieur, "and held the ships ahead, no aback; patience, Madame, patience."

The old man ascended the stairs to his room, supperless, for Mrs. Raggett had made no hospitable sign.

Monsieur Grande was the sole boarder at the Raggett mansion. The tall, thin, old Frenchman, with the oval of his face accentuated by the grey imperial at his chin, with his gentle manners and perpetual struggle with the idioms of the English language, had made many friends in the neighborhood, but he had never made a favorable impression on Mrs. Raggett. That strenuous lady denounced his gentleness as weakness, and his mistakes in language, stupidity. At first the Monsieur made a meagre living, writing for some Franch newspaper, but, latterly, his contributions seemed unwelcome, and he became back in his board. Then a letter came from France, and the Monsieur came to Mrs. Raggett, his face as radiant as a sunny day in June. In his excited manner he read that a legal matter had been settled in France, and that a remittance of 3,000 frans would be made the monsieur by the next mail. Monsieur trod on the air. He invited both the captain and his wife to a dinner at a French restaurant, and to the theatre afterwards. He promised treats, galore, to the neighbors, and presents to the dirty children, who loved to play tricks on the old Frenchman.

But day succeeded day, and the letter came not. Day by day the irony of Mrs. Raggett changed to insulting mockery, and the gentle old man was overwhelmed with shame. Wistfully he watched for the postman each day, and sadly he bowed his head, as he passed the house, without leaving the expected missive.

Capt. Raggett, entering his room, stealthily, found the old man sitting with his face on his hands.

"Ahoy, musseer," said the captain, softly, "here's a bit of bread and 'am I hooked from the safe. Eat it."

"I am desolated," groaned the monsieur, "will the letter nevaire come?"

"Musseer," said the captain, suffering from a throat obstruction, "you'd better get ready to weigh anchor to-morrow."

"Comment?" asked the monsieur.

"The missus 'll ask you to get out to-morrow," explained the captain, still suffering with impeded utterance. "I want to give you the word."

"I must leave; is it that I must leave?"

"That's what she says," said the captain, "and you come straight down to the schooner Nautilus. I'll give you a berth."

"But, my letter, captain. It will come here, and I must be here to get it."

Capt. Raggett shook his head, sadly. He did not believe in the letter, but not for the world would he have had the monsieur suspect his doubts.

Mrs. Raggett arose the next morning, in a first rate humor for an eviction. She had slept poorly, and had discovered that her husband had loaned a dollar to Capt. Bond. She ate breakfast with a ferocious gleam in her eyes, which chilled the blood of the captain, and directly the meal was finished she prepared for action.

"Mister Grande," she said, sharply, entering the room of the old Frenchman, "I've come for the money due me."

"Mais the letter, it has not come," exclaimed the old man. "When it comes I will pay you."

"Mister Grande," said Mrs. Raggett, "you will do me the favor of leaving this house and board."

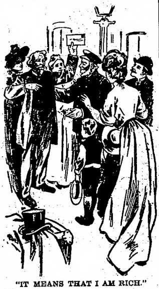
Monsieur Grande made no move to leave. He sat, as if stunned, in his room.

Mrs. Raggett was a woman of prompt action. She summoned a ragged, slattern of a man, called Pete, who did odd jobs for enough to buy a drink, and ordered him to carry the monsieur's scanty furniture out on the sidewalk.

The neighbors gathered, as the small pile of effects were placed alongside the gutter, and commented in undertones. When the last piece of furniture was out of the room, Pete grasped the arm of the old man, as he leaned against the wall, and began to drag him out. Then something happened. Pete lay down, suddenly, on the floor, his head striking the boards with a thump, and Capt. Raggett, his face as red as a lobster, escorted the old man carefully down stairs.

Pathetically, the old man perched himself on the pile of his household goods, and concealed his face with his hands. The neighbors looked on, silently. Many of them had undergone the same misfortune in their time, and their sympathy was not the less, because they were silent. They were not wont to be expressive of their emotions.

Suddenly, the old Frenchman's head arose, a hopeful, wistful expression came into his eyes, for away up the street he saw the grey uniform of the postman. He came briskly down the street, stopping at one house after another, until he reached the Raggett house.



"IT MEANS THAT I AM RICH."

Monsieur gazed at him, eagerly.

"Nothing," said the postman, shaking his head.

"Rien," groaned the old man, his head dropping on his breast.

Mrs. Raggett laughed scornfully, and Capt. Raggett, who was leaning against the mantel-piece in the lowest possible spirits, was so depressed at the nondelivery of the letter that he knocked a nickel clock off the mantel and with it a mass of papers tucked behind the clock.

"Orkard idjut," exclaimed Mrs. Raggett.

The captain solemnly picked up the clock and replaced it. Then he gathered up the papers. There was one bulky envelope from some installment house which had come unsealed and contained advertising matter. As the captain picked this up another letter dropped from out of the advertisements.

"What's this?" exclaimed he, "a letter for M. M. Francois Grande. Where did this come from?"

Mrs. Raggett colored. "I suppose it got tucked into that there other letter and nobody noticed it," she said. "Let me see it."

"It belongs to Musseer Grande," said the captain, and he bore it to him.

With eyes gleaming, with gaelic utterances pouring from his lips, the old man opened the letter. There was the draft for 3,000 francs, and, more, a promise of a like sum in two months.

The old Frenchman waved the draft, triumphantly.

"I was sure, captain," he exclaimed. "It is that I am riche. It is that we have a dinner at the restaurant, that the friends have presents and the children have bon-bons."

Mrs. Raggett was harsh, but she had some feeling. She declined the invitation to the dinner.

"It'd have choked me," she exclaimed.

Monsieur still boards at the Raggett house. His articles sell again, and in two months' time another draft and another dinner, more presents, more bonbons for the children.

If the imported ants really destroy the boll weevil, they will be forgiven any additional annoyance they cause in connection with the picnic pie and cake.

THE TERM "IDIOT."

The word idiot is itself of interesting history. Its primary Greek significance was that of a private as distinguished from a public person. Our words idiom, idiosyncrasy, etc., are from the same root. The idiot in Greek was simply one not engaged in public affairs. The beginnings of the degradation of the word are shown in its application soon to the common people as distinguished from the upper classes. It was then applied to unprofessional and lay people and soon became the slurring title of the unskillful and awkward. By slow degrees it became applicable to the stupid and at last to the imbecile and idiot. As late as the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the word was still used in its earlier senses. This long sad history speaks indirectly of the pathetic history of the imbecile. If he was not killed or starved to death by neglect, etc., he was usually reduced to the condition of a beast either about the house or fields or was actually driven into the woods and forced to live in caves, among wild animals, etc. In 1799 Itard took a "wild boy" found in the forests of Aveyron and tried to teach him. The ability of the wild boys and wolf children to live and the number that did so shows that idiocy, as we have later learned, is of all degrees and that a mind may be variously defective in some ways, even idiotic, but in others with capabilities well preserved. Blind Tom, the pianist, and the large number of mathematic idiots are examples that show how far we are from understanding the real nature of idiocy, and they more than suggest the partial retention of sound mentality of the defective, the possibility of seizing upon the one or few normal or even highly developed faculties and perhaps bringing others into co-ordination with them and to normality. The court fools and jesters of the olden times were often such partial idiots and defectives, and they truly lived upon their "wits," which were often better than those of their masters.—American Medicine.

THE VALUE OF EXAMPLE.

To have your child truthful, be truthful.

To have him temperate, be temperate in all things.

To have him kind to others, be yourself kind to others.

Prescribe healthful amusements and so far as you can take part in them.

Prove to him by your life that a good name is to be chosen before great riches.

Teach him that riches are not to be despised, but should never be got by doing harm to others; that when acquired should be treated as a trust, not as a hoard.

To have him honest, present to him in yourself a living example of honesty. The chief part of a child's knowledge comes through observation. Acts mean more to him than speech.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE PORCUPINE.

Only Known Creature That Eats the Foliage of the Hemlock.

"You don't have to skirmish around much to get feed to fatten one of these hemlock porcupines on," says an old woodsman. "Just sprinkle some salt over a stick of cordwood or saw log for that matter, and he'll eat the whole business and enjoy it as you would mince pie." The customary diet of these animals is hemlock browse. They make themselves a home in a hollow log or under the roots of some old tree, but always within reach of a big hemlock.

The hemlock is their pasture, and they make beaten paths going to and fro between the tree and their home. Once up in a tree the porcupine goes out on the big limbs and, pulling the small branches in with one paw, browses on the pungent leaves. In going through the woods you will find little piles of these fine leaves on the ground under hemlock trees. That means that a porcupine is feeding in the tree, the leaves on the ground being dropped from his feast.

Sometimes a porcupine will remain in a hemlock tree for a week at a time, hugging close to the trunk at night and feeding during the day. This curious little beast is the only known living thing that eats the foliage of the hemlock.

DANGER SPOTS IN A STORM.

Places to Avoid When the Lightning Is Flashing.

Out of doors trees should be avoided in a thunderstorm, and if from the rapidity with which the explosion follows the flash it is evident that electric clouds are near at hand a recumbent posture is the safest. It is seldom dangerous to take shelter under sheds, carts or low buildings or under the arch of a bridge, and a distance of twenty or thirty feet from tall trees or houses is an eligible situation, for should a discharge take place these elevated bodies are most likely to receive it.

It is well also to avoid water, for it is a good conductor, and the height of a human being near the stream may determine the direction of a discharge. Within doors we are tolerably safe in the middle of a carpeted room or when standing on a thick hearth rug. The chimney should be avoided on account of the conducting power of the carbon deposited in it, and gilt moldings or bell wires are sources of risk. In bed we are tolerably safe, since blankets and feathers are bad conductors.

It is injudicious to take refuge in a cellar, because the discharge is often from the earth to a cloud, and buildings frequently sustain the greatest injury in their basements.

The Stork.

The stork has been known to perish in the flames of a burning house rather than to desert her young.

First Cultivated Rose.

It is said that the first cultivated rose was planted in Belgium in the year 1522. The damask rose was taken to England from France in 1573, the moss rose about 1724 and the China rose fifty years later.

Tobacco For Wives.

Weird "Angel Shark."

A fish known as the "angel shark" and generally found only in the north Pacific has just been caught by a trawler in the North sea. It is over four feet long and has oddly shaped fleshy wings instead of the ordinary fins.

Ether.

Ether was first used in surgical operations in 1846.

Brutal Law.

In England some centuries ago if an ordinary workman without permission moved from one parish to another in search of work or better wages he was branded with a hot iron.

"Fourteenth Guest" Agency.

There is a most curious agency in Paris whose business it is to supply the fourteenth guest. Parisians, like some other people, have a superstitious objection to dinner parties of thirteen, and this agency undertakes to supply at short notice a lady or gentleman "warranted to give satisfaction."

The Book of Job.

The Book of Job is believed to be the most ancient literary work in existence. It is known to have been written prior to the Pentateuch and prior to the promulgation of the law.

Literary Mexico.

Mexico is credited with being at the head of the Latin-American countries in the matter of letters. Besides possessing the oldest organs of Spanish-American journalism, it is said to have in active existence the first library established in America, which is now at least 300 years old.

Potato Pancakes.

Pare and grate eight large potatoes, cut in an onion, beat in four eggs, add a teaspoonful of salt, mix with two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, add and mix well. Fry in a hot skillet.

Bamboos Grow Best at Night.

The growth of the giant bamboos of the East Indies is so rapid that a difference in the rate of increase between day and night can be observed. The growth is more rapid at night, because then the air is more charged with moisture than in the daytime.

The First Typewriter.

The first typewriter was received by the public with suspicion. It seemed subversive of existing conditions. A reporter who took one into a courtroom first proved its real worth.

Autumn Leaves.

It is popularly believed that autumn leaves assume their brilliant hues when touched by the frosts. This is an error. Autumn leaves turn red and yellow and brown and intermediate tones because that is the natural way for leaves to ripen.

Gaboriau's Visitors.

Gaboriau was troubled with visitors, and of those he desired never to see again he suspended photos in his servants' room for guidance. Once an author called. The servants ran to consult the cartes and, being puzzled, asked the visitor to smile, which being complied with he was informed determinedly, "Master is not at home."

The Alps.

The Alps are situated in six states, the largest division being in Austria.

Largest Tin Users.

The United States is the largest consumer of tin in the world, but derives its supplies mainly from the Straits Settlements, from Banka and other eastern sources.

Gold Jewelry.

Gold jewelry, says an authority, may be perfectly cleansed by being placed for half an hour in a bowl of warm water to which a generous quantity of ammonia has been added. Stir the jewelry around in the water for a moment, cover the bowl and let stand.

Oil For Waves.

Lighthouses in Denmark are supplied with oil which is pumped on the waves during a severe storm.

Stewed Figs.

Stewed figs are a delicious sauce and make a nice dessert if served with whipped cream. Simmer the figs in sufficient water to cover them, adding a little sugar. Cook till they are tender and have swelled till they seem somewhat plump. Let cool and eat.

Black Diamonds In Brazil.

The black diamond fields in Brazil belong to the government, which farms them out and makes a further profit by a 13 per cent export duty.

Germany's Oldest Inn.

The oldest inn in Germany is the Gasthof Zum Riesen in Miltenberg-on-the-Main, which was already of considerable age when the Emperor Frederick I. stayed there in 1158. Since then it has entertained a succession of historical personages, including Gustavus Adolphus and Martin Luther and in more recent times General von Moltke.

LOCAL NEWS.

Deputy Sheriff Jarman went to his home at Thief River Falls Monday morning after spending several days here. There has been considerable business in the Sheriff's office lately and owing to Sheriff Linnihan's enforced absence Mr. Jarman has been on the jump.

While driving home fron St. Hilaire one night last week Fred Zaiser met with an accident that laid him up for several days. One of the lines of the harness broke and the team ran away. The buggy was upset and Mr. Zaiser was thrown to the ground with great force, He lit on his shoulders and was considerable bruised. He was confined to his home for a couple of days but is again able to be about.

Maple Lake has been visited this season by more people than ever before and is fast becoming one of the most popular summer resorts of Northern Minnesota. Seventy-two cottages are now located there and they have been occupied most of the summer, besides there have been numerous camping parties. Most of the young people of this city have been at the popular resort this summer and all report a delightful time.

that he was not insane. It seems the young man's parents live in Rosseau county and that he had been sent to Fergus Falls from that county before. He was taken to that county Tuesday and turned over to the authorities who will be responsible for him in the future. What cost Red Lake county has been to in the matter will be refunded by Rosseau. It is thought the young fellow will be sent to the home for the feeble minded at Faribault.

Hugh McRae, employed in the state land commissioners department, arrived in the city Tuesday and in company with Adam Zeh, of this city, and Louis Perenteau, of Terrebonne, is out this week appraising the state lands in Red Lake county. All state lands, including school sections and swamp land, will be gone over. There are about 12,000 acres in the county and the gentlemen will be at their labors about two weeks.

Hallock Enterprise: On their way home on the flier last Sunday evening, the Red Lake Falls Band, after filling a two day's engagement at the Winnipeg fair, gave our citizens a few lively airs which was much appreciated. This musical organization is one of the best in state. It has about thirty members in all, and each are thorough musicians. The boys are now considering a proposition to go to Portland, Oregon. As the band is made up of business men who own and operate their own business establishments in Red Lake Falls, they are at liberty to go and come when they like, and it is altogether likely that they will make the trip. The organization is under the direction and leadership of Prof. Onstad, formerly director of music at St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn.

Did you ever happen to ride on a train through the country when a farm dog would run out and run along after the cars barking to the fullest capacity of his lungs, says an exchange. The dog attracts a little attention from the passengers at first, but the train soon pulls away from him. He and his wail are lost in the distance. The train hasn't been injured a particle, but the dog is tired and out of wind. Well, said the writer, that dog is just like a lot of people in this world. They loose no opportunity to bark at the trains of successful business men. The dog imagines the train is running away because it does not fight back but the train is back the next day and will continue to come along after the dog is out of wind and gone to the happy hunting grounds. So when you are in the field dont bid for business with a bark at your competitor. In rush of business affairs people have no time to pay attention to the barker. Attend strictly to your own affairs and saw wood. After a while you will get enough so you want have to bark.

We noticed a large number of catalogues at the Great Northern depot yesterday from Sears, Roebuck & Co. The books were put up in boxes without any marks as to where they come from. The three boxes were addressed to three different parties of this section who will no doubt distribute them to the farmers of this vicinity. When any of our good farmer friends are tempted to buy something from these catalouges just stop and consider a few things. Look through the book and see how much these fellows are willing to give for the betterment of your condition. How much do they say for the maintainance of your schools, roads, township and county government? Can you find anything in the catalogue that gives any light on how much they pay for your butter and eggs, or other products you have for sale? Times have been pretty hard for a number of people in the Northwest the past year. Have some of our local merchants been carrying your account for a number of months waiting for your crops to pay your obligations? Will Sears, Roebuck & Co. trust you? Not much, and you pay just as much or more for their merchandise as you would if you kept your trade at home, where it would help build up the country.

Summer School Resolutions.

Whereas, our summer school is about to close, we, the teachers of Red Lake county, actuated by a desire to show our deep sense of gratitude and hearty appreciation of the untiring efforts of our instructors and county superintendent, and for the favors conferred upon us by the Board of Education and the people who so generously assisted us with our reception.

Resolved, that our best wishes are due to our instructors and that it is our earnest desire that they be with us again next year;

Resolved, that the county superintendent has made the summer school and teachersa ssociation a success in Red Lake county and has been very faithful in the interests of the teachers;

Resolved, that we express our gratitude to the Board of Education for the many favors shown us;

Resolved. that we heartily appreciate the hospitality of the people cf Red Lake Falls;

Resolved, that a copy of these resulutions be printed in the Red Lake Courier and the Gazette.

Teachers of Red Lake county.

Don't Take Out Your Dog.

Local sportsmen who have habitually "trained" their dogs during the month of August just prior to the opening of the hunting seasons will do well to pursue the provisions of the game law passed at the last session of the legislature.

Section 28 of the amended game and fish law prohibits the use or training of hunting dogs during the month of August and declares that dogs allowed to run at large in fields during the month shall be considered public nuisances and may be killed by any person. Their owners are also subject to arrest for a violation of the game laws. In the past when a game warden came across an offender in the fields before the opening of the season the excuse offered was that he was "simply training my dogs." The time-worn excuse will not go any longer.

That "wonderful" English potato, the Eldorado, has suddenly dropped in price from a maximum of about $2,000 a pound, to a maximum of about twenty-five cents. Which shows that it requires more than a big price to maintain a "wonderful" reputation. Too much booming is not good for either seed potatoes or investors' pocketbooks.

A so-called "express company" is sending letters from New Haven, Conn., to western farmers, advising that the "company holds one boxed typewriter directed to you, on which there are charges amounting to ninety-five cents; package will be promptly forwarded upon the receipt of the amount; otherwise will be sold for charges." Of course the whole thing is a swindle.

Of all the booms we know of, the one that does the country the most good is the boom in young men. It is their day. They are in demand everywhere. The farmer who has a half a dozen or so and can keep them with him is a good deal better off than he would be with a lot of the stock of some mining speculation away off, nobody knows where. We believe in the boom for boys and girls.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees, the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.

Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3 DONT'S
Don't boil it too long.
Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving.
Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)
(Lion-head on every package.)

He was confined to his home for a couple of days but is again able to be about.

Maple Lake has been visited this season by more people than ever before and is fast becoming one of the most popular summer resorts of Northern Minnesota. Seventy-two cottages are now located there and they have been occupied most of the summer, besides there have been numerous camping parties. Most of the young people of this city have been at the popular resort this summer and all report a delightful time. that he was not insane. It seems the young man's parents live in Rosseau county and that he had been sent to Fergus Falls from that county before. He was taken to that county Tuesday and turned over to the authorities who will be responsible for him in the future. What cost Red Lake county has been to in the matter will be refunded by Rosseau. It is thought the young fellow will be sent to the home for the feeble minded at Faribault.

All state lands, including school sections and swamp land, will be gone over. There are about 12,000 acres in the county and the gentlemen will be at their labors about two weeks.

Hallock Enterprise: On their way home on the flier last Sunday evening, the Red Lake Falls Band, after filling a two day's engagement at the Winnipeg fair, gave our citizens a few lively airs which was much appreciated. This musical organization is one of the best in state. It has about thirty members in all, and each are thorough musicians. The boys are now considering a proposition to go to Portland, Oregon. As the band is made up of business men who own and operate their own business establishments in Red Lake Falls, they are at liberty to go and come when they like, and it is altogether likely that they will make the trip. The organization is under the direction and leadership of Prof. Onstad, formerly director of music at St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn.

Did you ever happen to ride on a train through the country when a farm dog would run out and run along after the cars barking to the fullest capacity of his lungs, says an exchange. The dog attracts a little attention from the passengers at first, but the train soon pulls away from him. He and his wail are lost in the distance. The train hasn't been injured a particle, but the dog is tired and out of wind. Well, said the writer, that dog is just like a lot of people in this world. They loose no opportunity to bark at the trains of successful business men. The dog imagines the train is running away because it does not fight back but the train is back the next day and will continue to come along after the dog is out of wind and gone to the happy hunting gronnds. So when you are in the field dont bid for business with a bark at your competitor. In rush of business affairs people have no time to pay attention to the barker. Attend strictly to your own affairs and saw wood. After a while you will get enough so you want have to bark.

We noticed a large number of catalogues at the Great Northern depot yesterday from Sears, Roebuck & Co. The books were put up in boxes without any marks as to where they come from. The three boxes were addressed to three different parties of this section who will no doubt distribute them to the farmers of this vicinity. When any of our good farmer friends are tempted to buy something from these catalouges just stop and consider a few things. Look through the book and see how much these fellows are willing to give for the betterment of your condition. How much do they say for the maintainance of your schools, roads, township and county government? Can you find anything in the catalogue that gives any light on how much they pay for your butter and eggs, or other products you have for sale? Times have been pretty hard for a number of people in the Northwest the past year. Have some of our local merchants been carrying your account for a number of months waiting for your crops to pay your obligations? Will Sears, Roebuck & Co. trust you? Not much, and you pay just as much or more for their merchandise as you would if you kept your trade at home where it would help build up the country.

Don't Take Out Your Dog.

Local sportsmen who have habitually "trained" their dogs during the month of August just prior to the opening of the hunting seasons will do well to pursue the provisions of the game law passed at the last session of the legislature.

Section 28 of the amended game and fish law prohibits the use or training of hunting dogs during the month of August and declares that dogs allowed to run at large in fields during the month shall be considered public nuisances and may be killed by any person. Their owners are also subject to arrest for a violation of the game laws. In the past when a game warden came across an offender in the fields before the opening of the season the excuse offered was that he was "simply training my dogs." The time-worn excuse will not go any longer.

Of course the whole thing is a swindle.

Of all the booms we know of, the one that does the country the most good is the boom in young men. It is their day. They are in demand everywhere. The farmer who has a half a dozen or so and can keep them with him is a good deal better off than he would be with a lot of the stock of some mining speculation away off, nobody knows where. VOL. VII—NO. 44. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUG. 10, 1905. WHOLE NO. 356.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

John B. Bourden, a Resident of Red Lake Falls for Twenty-Eight Years Passes to the Great Beyond.

John B. Bourden, one of the first settlers of this section, died at his home in this city last Thursday, after an illness of several days.

Mr. Bourden was one of the pioneers of this section of the country and had a large acquaintance and many friends. In company with two brothers, J. W. and P. N. Bourden he moved here at a early day and by hardship and toil helped develope a wilderness into a garden of Eden.

He was born Jan. 1, 1842, at La-Prairie, Canada, and came to this country in 1860, locating at Chatfield, Minn. He enlisted in the union army and served two years and nine months in the civil war. He moved to Red Lake Falls twenty-eight years ago.

He leaves a wife and seven children, the oldest son being a resident of Minneapolis.

The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church Saturday, a large number of friends being present to pay their last respects to an old friend and neighbor.

Mrs. Bourden and family wish to thank the many friends who so kindly assisted them in their time of sorrow.

WILL MOVE TO FARGO

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre to Leave this Month.—"Mc" has a Fine Business Opening.

Attorney Wm. A. McIntyre has announced that he has accepted an offer to engage in business at Fargo, North Dakota, and the family expect to move to that city the latter part of this month.

Mr. McIntyre is to be associated with the law firm of Pierce & Tenneson, one of the best and foremost law firms in the state. Mr. Pierce is state senator from his district and is one of the prominent men of North Dakota. Mr. McIntyre's connection with this prominent firm will get him into the business and social world of that section right from the start.

"Mc," as he is familiarly known in this city, is a young man of great promise and will be a credit to the firm he will affiliate with. By diligent attention to business and his practical ways he has made a great many friends both in and out of his profession. He is eminently qualified for the position he will occupy in his new location and the COURIER predicts a great future for him.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre have been residents of this city for a number of years and have hosts of friends who will be sorry to learn of their intention to leave the city. Their place will be hard to fill and their departure will be a source of great regret by a large number of people. May they enjoy happiness and prosperity in their new home.

The Courier Stationery Store has a line of new box papers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE

Red Lake Falls to be the Scene of a Union Sabbath School Institute to be held Aug. 30-31.

On August 30 and 31 there will be a union Sabbath school institute held at the Presbyterian church in this city. The affair will be in charge of Mrs. Jean E. Hobart, of Minneapolis, primary secretary of the State Sabbath School Assn., and Mr. John Orchard, of Fargo, North Dakota, the general secretary of the North Dakota State Assn., both experts in religious education.

This Institute will be the first ever held in the county and presents a rare opportunity to parents and Sunday school workers in the county and nearby places. Those attending from out of town will be entertained by the people of the city. The program will appear in the papers next week.

CAN DO BETTER NEXT TIME.

Thief River Falls People Believe a few Transients were Overlooked.

It is reported that Thief River Falls people are dissatisfied with the late census returns. It has been remarked that a few people arrive in that village most every day on the Soo, departing on the G. N. As the enumerator had so many trancients to watch, it is said he failed to get all these people. It is now realized that more assistants should have been provided, and it is proposed that precautions be taken not to have this grave error occur five years hence.

The Courier stationery store is showing some unusually handsome box papers these days.

A FAVORABLE IMPRESSION

Iowa Editor is Highly Pleased with Red Lake Falls and Surrounding Conntry.

Editor Faltinson of Armstrong, Iowa, who recently visited this city, was favorably impressed with the country as the following extracts from a recent issue of his paper testifies: On July 18th the writer left Armstrong for a trip to Red Lake Falls, Minn, and before returning went to Winnipeg, Canada. The crops looked fine all the way from Armstrong to Winnipeg. We were in northern Minnesota when the report was published in the daily papers that the black rust was destroying the wheat. It was a pure fabrication sent out by the manipulators of the market.

The first one hundred miles north of Minneapolis is not very good farming country but the rest of the state north is one vast wheat field with pieces of oats and flax here and there. The flax crop is exceptionally good and a yield of twenty bushels to the acre is expected.

At Red Lake Falls we found the Armstrong people happy, contented and apparently prosperous. Red Lake Falls is the county seat of Red Lake county and has a population of a little less than two thousand. It is, indeed, a pretty town and the scenery in and around town is equal to that in any part of the state. Clear Water river empties into the Red Lake river near the town. The scenery along these enchanting rivers may not be a match for Alpine Europe, but it is certainly beautiful, Besides furnishing so much pretty scenery these rivers furnish water power for all the industries in that country. Red Lake Falls has two flour mills the best in the state. We drove in every direction from the town and found a rich and beautiful agricultural country, The country seemed to be settled with a happy and prosperous people. The great fertility of the soil is unquestioned and the enormous crop of wheat and flax, nearly ready for the reaper proves it.

The people of the town feel proud of their band, and they have good and sufficient reason. Prof. Onstad is a man of wonderful musical ability and under his able and thorough instructions this band is now acknowledged to be the best in the state of Minnesota. They play music that only first class professional bands are capable of playing. They are known not only at home and in their own state, but even across the British line and were employed to play at the Winnipeg Exposition. The exposition surpasses any of our state fairs, they employ many bands, but only good ones. The Red Lake Falls band was declared by Canadian critics to be the best band at the exposition and they had to compete with a large regimental band. When their time expired at the exposition the leading cafe and hotel in Winnipeg employed them to give concerts. This shows the music was appreciated No other band was thus honored, in fact the whole band was treated as guests of the city and officers of the exposition. Any city in the country would be proud of the Red Lake Falls band.

CAME NEAR LOSING LIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Emil LaCoursiere Had a Thrilling Experience While Crossing River.

Last Saturday while crossing the Red Lake River in Louisville township Mrs. Emil LaCoursiere met with an accident that came near proving fatal.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCoursiere were on their way to the city to do their trading and were crossing the river on the ferry when the accident befell them. Mrs. LaCoursiere and the child were setting in the buggy while Mr. LaCoursiere was handling the ferry. When about half way across a small rope broke and frightened the horses. They backed off the boat throwing Mrs. LaCoursiere and child into the river. The child was grabbed by its mother when the buggy went into the water and they were carried down stream fully five hundred feet before Mr. LaCoursiere could rescue them. The river is high these days and the water is extremely treacherous. It was a narrow escape from what might easily have proven a serious a serious accident.

TO RUN BY GAS,

Jos. Helm has a Scheme to Handle Binders in Wet Weather.

Jos. Helm, one of our implement men, has forwarded plans to four different manufacturers of gasolene engines whereby one of these handy affairs can be attached to a binder and be run in soft ground.

It is Mr. Helm's idea to have the engine run the machinery that cuts, elevates and dumps the grain, horses being used to pull the machine through the field. If the present wet weather continues there will be a lot of grain that it will be impossible to cut on account of the fields being too soft. A team of horses could pull a binder through the average field if they were relieved of the extra power needed to run the machine. Mr. Helm is waiting to hear from his suggestions and he may have something practical to offer the farmers in the near future.

MAKES WAR ON TIMBER BARONS.

Attorney General Seeks to Recover $40,000.

Attorney General Young has begun a campaign against alleged timber trespassers. C. J. Jelley, special counsel of the department, who has been investigating claims against several companies, has reported that about $40,000 is due the state from timber trespass. Should the companies fail to pay the amount, Mr. Young says that he will bring suit,

Mr. Jelley has been busy with his investigation for several weeks. He finds that in some instances the companies cut timber after their permits had expired and without having them renewed, In other instances he reports that the companies went beyond the authority given them in their permits.

For instance, it has been customary for the state to make contracts with timber companies to cut green timber. Mr. Jelley says that in many instances the companies cut "dead and down timber" under these permits and paid less than the contract price. Mr. Jelley holds that since there was nothing in the permits about "dead and down timber," this should be paid for at the regular contract price, whether it is worth that much or not.

Mr. Jelley has investigated twenty-five alleged cases of timber trespass, and reports that the state has a claim in most of them. In a few cases the technicalities of the law will bar the state from recovering.

Was in Poor Health for Years.

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansficid, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." Railroad Tracks Creep.

The rails on a track that appears to be well laid often begin to move lengthwise, so slowly that their motion is imperceptible, until its results have accumulated, but with such great force that nothing will stop it. The onward movement of the rail tears up spikes and shears off steel bolts. The motion is always in the direction of traffic and is due to the moving trains. To prevent this is still a question unanswered, but golden grain belt beer will prevent ill health. Get a case for home use. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

MILWAUKEE JURY INDICTS PFISTER

PROMINENT AND WEALTHY CITIZEN CHARGED WITH THEFT OF BIG SUM.

Indictment Causes a Sensation—True Bills Against Four Others Returned—Milwaukeean Makes a Counter Attack.

Milwaukee, Aug. 5.—Charles F. Pfister, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Milwaukee, was indicted by the grand jury of Milwaukee county Friday, charged with stealing $14,000 belonging to the Wisconsin Rendering company of this city. At the same time indictments were returned against four others, the charge of bribery being alleged in three of the indictments and one of perjury. The list of persons for whom capiases were issued and the charges are as follows: Charles E. Pfister, capitalist, one indictment; larceny. John F. Dittmar, formerly supervisor, one indictment; bribery. George F. Reichert, supervisor, one indictment, embracing 14 counts; bribery. Barney A. Eaton, state senator, one indictment; bribery. Frank F. Schultz, formerly newspaper reporter, one indictment; perjury.

The indictment against Mr. Pfister alleges that on March 30, 1901, the accused was bailee of a large sum of money said to be $14,000, said amount being placed in his hands and deposited with him for the Wisconsin Rendering company, for the purpose of obtaining for the Wisconsin Rendering company a large and valuable contract from the city of Milwaukee for the collecting, transporting and disposing of garbage, and if not so used and expended to be returned to the Wisconsin Rendering company, and not having bene used for the purpose aforesaid, and whilst he was bailee of said sum, did unlawfully, feloniously and fraudulently steal, take and carry away and fraudulently convert the same to his own use.

Indictment Causes Sensation.

The indictment caused a profound sensation. Mr. Pfisetr is engaged in many of the biggest enterprises of Milwaukee. He is a director of one of the leading banks, owns a large interest in a big tannery, is proprietor of a large hotel and owns one of the leading newspapers of the city. He has perhaps done as much or more than any other citizen of Milwaukee in building up the city.

Pfister Makes Counter Attack.

Milwaukee, Aug. 7.—Charles F. Pfister, who was indicted by the grand jury Friday, charged with larceny as bailee of $14,000, has issued a defiance to his accusers, which was practically an invitation to come forward at once and prove their case. His action took the shape of a civil suit commenced against the Wisconsin Rendering company, Fred S. Gross, Joseph Schaaf, R. Schoyer, Charles Fredrich and Henry J. Killilea. These defendants were members of the rendering company, or guarantors of the company's notes, and Mr. Pfister demands the return of $6,542 said to be due him.

The suit was followed almost immediately by a voluntary statement from Fred C. Gross, president of the rendering company, emphatically denying that Mr. Pfister owes the company any money, and also denying ever having made any charges against Mr. Pfister before the grand jury of having any knowledge of information on which such an indictment could be based.

Wood Alcohol Kills Two.

Milwaukee, Aug. 2.—Two inmates of the house of correction are dead and four others are dangerously ill in that institution from drinking wood alcohol, said to have been obtained at South side resorts some days ago, before the victims were sentenced to the workhouse. The dead: Daniel Coonan, dock laborer, aged 45 years; Charles D. Knauer, machinist, aged 50 years.

Many Escape from Jail.

Sioux Falls, Ia., Aug. 5.—There was a wholesale jail break from the county jail Friday morning, eight prisoners escaping. They were charged with burglary and highway robbery.

GARRISON SURRENDERS.

Island of Sakhalin Now Entirely in Hands of Japanese—Prisoners to Be Liberated.

Tokio, Aug. 5.—The island of Sakhalin is now entirely in Japan's hands. Practically the entire Russian force on the island, 70 officers and 3,200 men, surrendered with all guns, ammunition, stores, papers and military supplies, on July 31. A Japanese civil government over the island will be established at once, the officials being on their way.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Japan will free the thousands of Russian political prisoners who have been exiled to Sakhalin island. Sakhalin has been Russia's penal colony for many years. On the island there are between 20,000 and 30,000 convicts. Thousands of these are there as exiles from Russia because of political offenses. Their only crime has been their opposition to the autocracy and the bureaucracy.

These exiles will be set at liberty by Japan. All of them who desire to emigrate to foreign lands will be permitted to do so. The convicts who enlisted as volunteers in the Russian militia will, of course, be treated as prisoners of war. These provisions will apply to all prisoners, without regard to their nationality, race or origin. Many of the prisoners are Jews, and their compatriots in the United States recently petitioned the Japanese government to grant freedom to "all victims of political oppression" now on the island. Any of the prisoners who desire to make their homes on the island will be permitted to do so on declaring their allegiance to Japan.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 3.—A coalition ministry was formed Wednesday as follows: Minister of State, Christian Lundeberg; minister of foreign affairs, Count A. F. Wachtmeister; minister of justice, Judge C. A. Berg; minister of war, Col. L. H. Tingsten; minister of marine, S. A. A. Lindman; minister of the interior, J. Widen; minister of finance, Herr Biersert; minister of education and eccelesiastical affairs, Herr Hammarskjold; minister of agriculture, A. D. Petersen; ministers without portfolio, Herren Pettersen and Staaff.

Herr Lundeberg, the new premier, is vice speaker of the first chamber of the riksdag and chairman of the special committee appointed by the riksdag to deal with the crisis resulting from the dissolution of the union.

Many Seeking Homesteads.

Denver, Col., Aug. 2.—Advices from Grand Junction, Col., and Vernal, Price and Provo, Utah, indicate that the work of registering applicants for homesteads in the Uintah reservation is proceeding in an orderly manner. The registration opened Tuesday and will continue for 12 days. Thousands of people are in line at the registration places, although early registration affords no advantage to the applicants, as the land will be distributed by a drawing, which begins on August 17.

"Soo" Celebration Ends.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 4.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the Sault Ste. Mrs. Jane A. Webber

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 143 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. No One But Yourself if You Don't Get Well When Sick.

All we can do is give advice.

Of course that's easy.

But our advice is really worth a little more to you than most people's, for we offer to give you the first bottle of our medicine free, if it fails to help you.

We could not afford to do this unless our medicine was good. Such an offer, on the wrong kind of medicine, would put a merchant prince in the poor house.

Dr. Miles' Nervine, however, as years of experience have proved, is a medicine that cures the sick.

Those whom it cannot benefit—less than one in ten thousand—we prefer to refund their money.

All we ask of you is to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for your complaint. If you suffer from sleeplessness, nervous exhaustion, dizziness, headache, muscular twitchings, melancholy, loss of memory, weak stomach, poor blood, bilious troubles, epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, etc., we will guarantee to benefit you or refund your money.

You are the doctor.

"My son Bert, when in his 17th year, became subject to attacks of epilepsy, so serious that we were compelled to take him out of school. GOVERNMENT IS FIGHTING FEVER

NATION TAKES FULL CONTROL OF YELLOW SCOURGE SITUATION IN THE SOUTH.

Present Progress of the Disease—Prominent Church Prelate Stricken with Disease—Memphis Orders Doors Closed.

New Orleans, Aug. 7.—The federal government has taken control of the yellow fever situation. Gov. Blanchard Friday afternoon sent a request to that effect to President Roosevelt, and the latter immediately directed Surgeon Gneral Wyman to take every step in his power to meet the situation.

The citizens of New Orleans have promised their hearty and unrestricted cooperation in the work to be undertaken by the federal government, and will meet certain financial requirements imposed by the marine hospital service as a preliminary to assuming the responsibility.

Gov. Blanchard's appeal to the president was the result of the action of a mass meeting of citizens held here in the afternoon at which the opinion was expressed that federal control would result in an immediate restoration of confidence throughout the south, and would do away with all danger of conflict between the states over quarantine regulations.

No passengers from New Orleans or other points where fever exists or develops later will be permitted to leave trains at points in the quarantined district. Health certificates issued by officials in the fever zone will not be accepted until ten days after persons left infected districts.

Progress of Disease.

The fever report up to six p. m. Sunday was as follows: New cases, 28; total to date, 105; new sub-foci, 2; total sub-foci to date, 93.

The report is a great improvement over those during the middle of the week, and the fact that there were only two new sub-foci, one uptown and one downtown, is a source of special encouragement. An effort is being made to determine the number of cases of fever under treatment, and allowing ten days, which is a liberal estimate, for a patient to either recover or die. It is figured that there are now 233 cases under treatment.

Archbishop Chapelle Striken.

Archbishop Placide Louis Chapelle of the diocese of New Orleans has been stricken with the fever. The entire city was grievously shocked when the news of this misfortune was announced by the board of health. Dr. Larue is unable to trace the infection, as the archbishop has not been out of his residence but once in a week or more, when he took a short carriage ride accompanied by his niece. He has not been in the infected district, though there are cases of fever not far from his residence. Dr. Larue believes that a stray mosquito from an infected house is the cause of the illness.

Confidence Renewed.

President Roosevelt's quick response to the appeal of New Orleans, directing Surgeon General Wyman to take hold of the yellow fever situation, was reflected in a feeling of renewed confidence throughout the city. It is believed that federal control will quickly stamp out the pest. Business and financial circles immediately showed a buoyant effect.

Memphis Closes Its Doors.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 7.—This city has ordered its doors closed to the outside world, beginning this noon, and no person can enter unless holding a permit signed by Dr. Heber Jones, president of the board of health, or Secretary Marcus Haase. These permits, it is announced, will be issued only in urgent cases and when it is positively known that the applicant has not been in a fever infected district. No recognition will be given health certificates from any source. This drastic action was taken by the city council Saturday night, after receiving a numerously signed petition from representative business and professional men. The health authorities say the city was never in better sanitary condition. A large majority of the citizens, however, favor what is known as a shotgun quarantine, and, in deference to their wishes, a cordon of guards was placed around the city.

Southern Illinois Shuts Doors.

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 3.—That portion of Illinois lying south of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad, which extends from St. Louis to Vincennes, Ind., was declared Wednesday to be quarantined against all fever infected points.

Bank Robber Breaks Jail.

La Cross, Wis., Aug. 2.—Earl Trainor, member of the famous Eddie Fay gang of alleged post office robbers and safe blowers, who was arrested here at the head of a gang of three recently on the charge of burglary of a dozen post offices in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, broke jail, leaving his companions in the lurch. Trainor was wanted also at Scottsburg, Ind., and other places, and the post office inspectors who caused his arrest considered it one of the most important in the northwest since Eddie Fay himself was arrested. Fay also broke jail at Janesville, and is still at large.

Post Office Robbed.

St. Louis, Aug. 4.—The safe of the post office at Boles, 47 miles west of here, was blown open by robbers, who secured $200 in cash and $140 worth of stamps. The interior of the office was badly shattered.

MOODY TO PROBE STRIKE.

Government Attorney Asks Investigation—Sends Orders for Information.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Attorney General Moody Saturday telegraphed the United States district attorneys at Madison, Wis.; Milwaukee, Wis.; St. Paul, Minn.; Fargo, N. D.; Helena, Mont.; Boise, Idaho; Spokane, Wash.; Seattle, Wash.; and Portland, Ore., to investigate the facts as to the interruption of telegraph service on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads in view of the government's duty to keep unobstructed the avenues of interstate commerce. The Western Union Telegraph company in connection with the inquiry Saturday announced that that company "and its employes are in no way involved in the strike of the railroad telegraphers.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—President Perham, of the telegraphers' union, said he welcomed the fullest investigation of the strike, when told of the action of Attorney General Moody. Officials of both railways declared the strike is practically a closed incident. They claim that three-fourths of the stations are supplied with agents. Train service showed improvement. James J. Hill is expected here August 10 and the telegraphers will ask him to intervene. A defection of strikers in Idaho is reported.

SAD BOATING ACCIDENT.

Four Persons Drowned by Capsizing of a Boat Near Verna, Minnesota.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 2.—Four lives were lost by the capsizing of a small skiff on Swan river, five miles north of Verna, Itasca county, near Ingstrom's Landing.

The names of the unfortunates are: Edith Tichenor, Goldie Tichenor, Everett Tichenor and Mrs. J. M. Pogue, settlers of that portion of the country.

Immediately after the accident a party was organized at Verna and went to assist in the search for the bodies, but up to five o'clock Tuesday afternoon no trace whatever was to be had. The search continued through the night. Mrs. O. E. Pogue was a member of the crowd, but saved her life by clinging to the boat until near enough to the shore to reach bottom. The other members of the party, two sisters and one brother, were unable to swim.

AFRICAN NATIVES DEFIANT.

Inhabitants of German Provinces Rebel—Outbreak Causing Great Concern.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—The governor of German East Africa telegraphed Saturday to the colonial bureau of the foreign office that the natives in the Maturbi mountains north of Kilwa have risen, also that there has been an outbreak on the coast at Samanga during which several warehouses were burned. The causes of the discontent appear to be unexplained. While rebellions are in progress in other German African colonies, East Africa hitherto has been quiet. The outbreak, therefore, causes some concern. The government is thoroughly tired of these colonial wars in which considerable sums of money have been sunk without bringing either profit or glory.

Dr. Koch Acquitted.

Mankato, Minn., Aug. 2.—The jury in the third trial of Dr. George R. Koch, charged with the murder of Dr. L. A. Gebhardt, his brother dentist, at New Ulm, Minn., on the night of November 1, 1904, Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty, after three hours of deliberation. The case has been a sensational one, and has held the close attention of the people of the northwest.

Desperate Negro Killed.

Lewisville, Ark., Aug. 4.—After killing two persons, seriously and probably fatally shooting two others, one a woman, and less seriously shooting two more, Ike Kinney, a desperate negro, was killed in a river bottom at Doeila, six miles south of Lewisville, at noon Thursday after a hot fight with a posse of citizens that had surrounded him.

Wisconsin Centenarian Dead.

Glidden, Wis., Aug. 2.—A. M. Katon, who was born in Ireland 115 years ago, and believed to have been the oldest man in the northwest, died Tuesday. Mr. Katon came here many years ago. He was remarkably well preserved for his age, and was in many ways not as decrepit as men many years his junior.

Illinois Bank Robbed.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 3.—The bank at Royal, Champaign county, was broken open and robbed of $4,000 early Wednesday. Nitroglycerin was used and the explosion, which blew the safe door through the roof, was heard for miles. The robbers escaped.

HUGE DOCKS SWEPT BY FLAMES.

HALF A MILLION LOST IN HOBOKN CONFLAGRATION OF MYSTERIOUS ORIGIN.

Many Lives in Peril. Two Hundred Persons Make Desperate Dash for Safety. Railroad Systems are Tied Up.

New York, Aug. 8.—A great fire destroyed the entire water front property of the Delaware, Lackawana & Western railroad at Hoboken last night. The fire started at 9 o'clock. At midnight the united fire fighting forces of Weehawken, Hoboken and Jersey City had succeeded in getting it under control. The loss is estimated at half a million. So far as is known there is no loss of life.

It was feared that the flames would extend to the Hamburg American docks to the north, and tugs from all the steamship and towing lines in the harbor poured torrents of water into the flames to prevent their spread. Further to the north are the piers of the North German Lloyd, recently constructed, and every preparation was made to move the great liners should the flames spread so far.

The list of destroyed property includes the D. L. & W. railroad depot and its great train shed; the ferry house with its sheds; the building of the public service corporation, in which scores of street cars were stored; the two ferry boats, Hopatcong and Binghamton, and all the private property facing the ferry shed at the ferry house.

The train shed was one of the largest along the water front. It was 600 feet long and 200 feet wide and contained nine tracks.

The fire started from the ferryboat Hopatcong, which was lying in the Emergency slip to the north of the regular ferry slids. She had been put for the night. No one was abroad her but the watchman.

No one could tell how the fire was started. It seemed scarcely sixty seconds before the entire boat was enveloped in flames. The ferry house went like a match box, and in another five minutes the rear depot and the train shed were in flames.

There were 200 people in the ferry house awaiting a boat to New York. A man burst into the waiting room ordering "all out at once."

The crowd did not realize the danger but saw it a second later when a great flare lit up the windows. They crushed through the doors and driveway to the strret and all escaped before the building was enveloped.

Preparing for Battle.

London, Aug. 8.—According to the Tokio correspondent of the Telegraph, the position of the Russians in Manchuria, despite General Linevitch's grandiose dispatches, is not enviable. This will soon be revealed in a practical form.

The Japanese enveloping movement will be three or four times greater than it was at Mukden. General Linevitch's rear guard is threatened, as is also his flank in the direction of Vladivostok, through the coast territory and from the mouth of the Amur river.

Price of Peace.

New Castle, N. H., Aug. 8.—Japan has decided on the delivery of an ultimatum to Russia at the opening of the peace negotiations. Under instructions from Tokio, Barom Komura and Minister Takhira will present a note to the Russian representatives containing two series of demands. The first will be those Japan fixes now as the price of terminating the war; the war; the second, those she will exact should Russia decide to continnue the struggle.

Government Horses.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 8.—The United States government is about to establish a vast breeding farm and horses in southern Livingston county. The Indian Creek farm has been leased for the purpose, and the work of installing the necessary buildings will commence at once. It is proposed to make this farm the most extensive of the kind in the country and it is hoped to furnish a very considerable portion of the horses required by the government.

Drowned.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 8.—Owing to a want of presence of mind in all but one of twenty occupants of a launch which had collided with a rowboat, two of the three occupants of the rowboat drowned within a dozen feet of the launch. The drowned were Fred Steffeuson, aged 20, and his sister, Madeline, aged 16.

Two Children Burned.

Montevideo, Minn., Aug. 8.—E. J. Lindquist's blacksmith shop burned yesterday, and two children perished in the flames. Mrs. Rever had her leg broken in jumping through a window. The financial loss is $3,000.

Dog Shoots Master.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 5.—William Hoffman, a farmer residing near Lancaster village, was wounded in the leg by a bullet from a gun discharged by his dog. Hoffman carried a loaded gun into the field while cutting hay, and dropped the gun to the ground near a fence before taking up his scythe. His dog, which followed him from the house, found the gun and in scratching at it pulled the trigger, discharging the weapon. The ball entered the calf of Hoffman's leg, tearing an ugly hole.

Killed 5,314 Wolves.

The wolf bounty law has cost the state of Minnesota nearly $29,000 during the year ending June 30, 1905. The county auditors of the various counties have sent in vouchers for 5,314 wolves for which bounties have been paid. This represents a total bounty of $28,799.00. The state pays the bounty of $7.50 for each full grown wolf and $1 for each wolf cub. The bounties are paid by the county auditors, who in turn collect from the state. In some counties wolf hunting is highly profitable. In Beltrami county a bounty of $16 is paid for each female wolf killed. Of this amount the county pays $7.50 and the state a like amount. Itasca county drew the largest amount during the past year $1,729. Other Tail county received $1,673 and Kittson county $1,664.

The Drama of the Century.

Klaw & Erlanger's mammoth mechanical production of Gen. Lew Wallace's mighty play, "Ben Hur," with its lustrous Star of Bethlehem, its camels, Arabiam steeds, Oriental trappery and mimic splendor of the "gorgeous East," is beyond dispute the most elaborate spectacle ever staged in the history of the world. Its series of seventeen scenes present to the eyes a feast of multifarious beauty and variety, all set to a symphonic accompaniment of graceful music. The exciting episodes such as the galley scene, with its horde of chained slaves, the sea fight, the rescue in mid-sea and the thrilling race with two chariots and eight horses, combined with the picturesque scenes illustrating the Wise Men in the desert, the moon-lit lake in the Orchard of Palms, where Ben-Hur and Iris enjoy seclusion and make love in Iris' barge, the palm waving worshipers on Mount Olivet and the Grove of Daphne with its nymphs Devadasi, dancing in their skins of beasts to the music of the kissing cymbals, simply captivate the great audience that are nightly in attendance wherever it is being enacted.

Whatever may be thought of the purely dramatic element supplied by William Young in his adaptation of General Wallace's unique romance, it must be admitted that the result is an effective appeal to four classes of play-goers—the spectacle loving, the sensation loving, the book lovers who like to see their favorite novels enacted on the stage and the religious people of the community who are always attracted when a play containing healthy religious influence is presented.

"Ben Hur" is now in its seventh season with no abatement in interest. Its booking at the Metropolitan Opera House, St. Paul, for the week of Aug. 28th, and the Metropolitan Theatre, Minneapolis, for the week of Sept. 4th, will attract hundreds from this vicinity. It will be well for those who intend to witness it to write in advance and reserve seats.

HORSE ON SNOWSHOES NOW

Swede Mail Carrier in Wyoming Has Steed Equipped for Heavy Travel.

Saratoga, Wyo.—Uncle Sam has to overcome many difficulties in winter time to supply mining camps in the mountains with mail. The town of Dillon, which is supplied tri-weekly from this place, is at an altitude of 9,000 feet. Up to the 1st of February the mail contractor managed to keep the trail open for sledges, but there came such a snowfall at that time that sleds had to be abandoned and the mail carried on snowshoes.

The contractor has secured the services of a Swede who has a horse which he has taught to travel on snowshoes, and from this time on the horse will draw a specially constructed handsled, capable of carrying from 100 to 200 pounds. This will enable the people of Dillon to get small packages of express and other light matter along with their mail. The difficult portion of the road is about four miles in length on the top of the divide, where the snow is very deep.

FIND CASH BURIED BY REDS

Pot Containing $2,000, Supposed to Have Been Left by Indians, Unearthed in Texas.

Mount Pleasant, Tex.—T. A. Ledbetter has dug up a pot containing nearly $2,000 in gold coin 20 miles north of here. The coin is all United States money except one or two pieces, which are either Spanish or Mexican coins.

Years ago an old Indian stated that some kind of a treasure had been buried near where Ledbetter made his find, and parties made a search for it at that time, but were unable to find anything and gave up the search. Several trees near the place had Indian marks on them. The money is in a good state of preservation.

Forty Skeletons in Cave.

News has been received from the Vancouver island coast of the discovery by prospectors of a cave on the seashore between Quatsino sound and San Joseph bay, at the north of Vancouver island, in which 40 skeletons were found. The prospectors found most of the skeletons intact. Some of the skulls were broken. It is possible that the cave was the burial place of an Indian tribe.

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

[Catarrhal Dyspepsia and Nervous Prostration Makes Invalids of More Women Than all Other Diseases Combined.]

Miss Anna Prescott

Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Miss Louise Matt.

Miss Anna Prescott, in a letter from 216 South Seventh street, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"I was completely used up last fall, my appetite had failed and I felt weak and tired all the time. I took Peruna for five weeks, and am glad to say that I am completely restored to health."—Anna Prescott.

Mrs. Leone Dolehan, in a letter from the Commercial Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"For two months my physician experimented with me trying to cure a hard cold which settled in my stomach, causing inflammation and catarrh. I have now been well for six months, and I give all the credit to Peruna." — Mrs. Leone Dolehan.

Peruna will be found to effect an immediate and lasting cure in all cases of systemic catarrh. It acts quickly and beneficially on the diseased mucous membranes, and with healthy mucous membranes the catarrh can no longer exist.

Miss Louise Matt, 1259 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"Peruna is a most wonderful medicine for catarrhal and stomach troubles.

"I suffered so long with indigestion and dyspepsia, and tried many things to cure me, without relief. I finally bought a bottle of Peruna and in just six weeks I was entirely rid of my stomach trouble."—Louise Matt.

A Letter From Mrs. Senater Warren.

"I am constantly troubled with colds, cough, etc., but thanks to your good medicine, Peruna, I always find a prompt cure."—Mrs. F. E. Warren.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H, Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For several months I was given up to die, I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctor's drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief and in a short time, I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at all druggists; price 50c.

RHEUMATISM ROBS LIFE of PLEASURE

Rheumatism does more than any other disease to rob life of pleasure and comfort. It is so painful and far-reaching in its effects on the system that those afflicted with it find themselves utterly unable to enjoy bodily comfort or any of the pleasures of life. Some are bound hand and foot and suffer constantly with excruciating pains, swollen, stiff joints and muscles, and often distorted, crooked limbs, while others have intervals of freedom, during which they live in constant fear and dread of the next attack, when, at the least exposure to damp weather, or slight irregularity of any kind, the disease will return.

I had been troubled with Rheumatism for two years, had been under the treatment of physicians, and tried everything recommended to me, but all to no avail. My knee and elbow joints were so stiff that I could not use them. I was unable to do my household work, and was truly in a pitiable condition. S. S. S. cured me after using it for awhile, and I unhesitatingly give it the credit it so much deserves.
Sta. A., E. Liverpool, O. MRS. M. A. DECKER.

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, produced by food lying undigested in the stomach, poor bowel action, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the system. External applications, such as liniments, oils, plasters, etc., do not reach the cause and can only give temporary relief. The blood must be cleansed and purified before a cure can be had. S. S. S. attacks the disease in the right way—it neutralizes the poison and filters out every particle of it from the blood, stimulates the sluggish organs and clears the system of all foreign matter. It cures the disease permanently and safely because it contains no harmful minerals to derange the stomach and digestion. Book on Rheumatism and any advice you wish, without charge.

Commissioners Meeting.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., July 20, 1905

Pursuant to adjournment, the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county met at the Court House at nine o'clock a. m.

Present, Commissioners Sutor, Demann, Johnson, Shaw and Falardeau.

The bonds of the following depositories for county funds as accepted by the Board of Auditors were on motion approved: Merchants State Bank of Red Lake Falls, $30,000; Bank of Red Lake Falls, $10,000, First State Bank of St. Hilaire, $20,000, Merchants State Bank of St. Hilaire; $15,000, First State Bank of Brooks, $10,000, Citizens State Bank, Thief River Falls, $20,000, First National Bank, Thief River Falls, $25,000, First State Bank, Thief River Falls, $20,000.

Commissioner Sutor offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved that the sum of $100 be and is hereby appropriated from the County Road and Bridge Fund to aid the Town of Louisville in repairing the bridge across Roux Creek in said Town, the same to be paid to the Treasurer of said Town of Louisville when the said repairs are completed out of any money in the County Treasury available for such purposes.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded and adopted by unanimous vote.

The list of personal property taxes for the year 1905 as returned uncollected by the Sheriff, was revised by the Board and citations ordered to be issued as follows:

THE ISLAND OF TANGIER.

Strange Yet Beatific Conditions Prevailing Upon This Little Body of Land.

In Chesapeake bay, 125 miles south of Baltimore, with which city communication by boat three times a week may be depended upon during the summer season, is the strange Island of Tangier, so completely isolated from the usual lines of travel that it hardly seems possible that it can be a part of the state of Virginia. * * * Imagine if you can, writes Charles E. Fairman, in Four-Track News, an island about five miles long and three-fourths of a mile in width, with a population of nearly 1,500, where each house is connected with Chesapeake bay by a tiny canal; an island where the population has built homes along one narrow street but nine feet in width, without sidewalks, road-bed or gutter; an island where the women go about with bare feet and calico gowns during the week, and where the men leave for their work at an early hour on Monday morning and remain away until Saturday afternoon; an island where intoxicating liquors are not sold, where billiard-rooms and pool-rooms are unknown; an island where one physician and the minister constitute the professional class; an island where profanity is punished by fine; an island without a jail or lock-up, and where religion is the rule, and to be outside of the church is to be outside of the pale of the best society; an island where public cemeteries are unknown, and where the dead of each home are buried in the front yard; if you can imagine all this you may have some faint idea of the peculiar surroundings of the inhabitants of Tangier.

HUNTER'S ODD EXPERIENCE

Fox and Hawk Attempt to Purloin Quail His Gun Had Brought Down.

Dr. William Rowland, of Pasadena, who was up at Middle Ranch quail shooting a few days prior to the close of the season, had a most unique experience, relates an Avalon correspondent of the Los Angeles Times.

He ran upon a covey of quail, and, flushing them, dropped one with his left barrel, and then, at considerable of an angle, dropped another with the right barrel. Turning to his first bird, he was just in time to see a fox snatch it up and start to run away with it. Quickly pumping another cartridge into his gun, he let the fox have it, knocking him stiff. After reconnoitering a minute, and finding his first bird, he was returning to pick up the second, when something shot down like an arrow from the skies in front of him, the object proving to be an osprey.

The quail had been wounded, and its flutetring attracted the attention of the big hawk, which, while sailing through the ether had an eye out for a quail dinner, and, darting upon the wounded bird, was about to cheat the hunter out of his quarry. Dr. Rowland, while amazed at the turn of events, did not propose to stand for such a play, and, training his ready gun on the bold robber, with a pull of the trigger put him out of commission, and saved both his birds.

PHOTOGRAPHING AN OWL.

Easy of Accomplishment If a Dog Be Brought to View of the Bird.

The great horned owl may also be fascinated by a dog, writes Silas A. Lottridge, in "The Great Horned Owl," in St. Nicholas. And the photographing of the great horned owl under these conditions is not difficult; wait until the owl seizes the fowl and stops to rest on the return to the woods; then let a dog be led to within 20 or 30 feet of the owl, and the bird will be all attention for the dog and take no apparent notice of the person leading it. The behavior of the owl at such times is very amusing. It stands motionless, gazing intently at the dog; but after a few minutes, if the dog remains quiet, the bird seems to become nervous, and steps first to one side and then to the other, hissing, snapping its beak, and ruffling its feathers. After this the owl will usually try to make off with its prey; but if another halt is made, the bird's actions show even more nervousness. While the owl's attention is thus attracted is the time to approach within "photo-distance" to get the "snap-shots."

The Papal Flag.

The papal flag is comparatively unfamiliar outside of the Eternal city. The war flag of the defunct temporal power of the pope was white, and in its center stood figures of St. Peter and St. Paul with the cross-keys and tiara above them. The flag of the merchant ships owned by the subjects of the states of the church is a curious combination, half yellow and half white, with the design of the cross-keys on the white. In the banner used by the crusader king of Jerusalem, Godfrey, the only tinctures introduced were the two metals, gold and silver, five golden crosses being placed upon a silver field. This was done with the intention of making the device unique, as in all other cases it is deemed false heraldry to place metal on metal.—Chicago Journal.

A SENSIBLE LAWN FOUNTAIN

Suggestion for the Beautifying of the Grounds About the Farmhouse.

The general idea of a lawn fountain seems to be a vase-like affair standing up from the ground and looking generally inartistic. It is because of an unwillingness to have such an affair before one's house that many are deterred from having a fountain upon the lawn. It is possible, however, says the Country Gentleman, to have a simple, yet artistic, fountain that will not only prove attractive, but will be inexpensive.

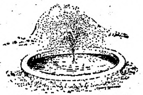
HOW THE FOUNTAIN IS BUILT.

As this wall is made, a waste-pipe should be inserted, as suggested, the top of this being the limit to which the water can rise in the fountain. The top of the low wall should be nicely rounded and smoothed. The upper end of the supply-pipe should have a spray nozzle, so that a shower of spray may be sent up, to fall gracefully over into the water of the tank. The height to which the water will rise depends, of course, upon the force with which the water is pressed through the supply-pipe from its source. It also depends upon the nozzle. A very fine spray will not rise to the height of a coarser spray, or a solid stream of water. Much of the work of making such a fountain can be done by the owner of the place, in which case the only expense would be for a little cement and the iron pipe.



THE FOUNTAIN COMPLETED.

FERTILIZE THE GARDEN.

The Absolute Necessity of Enriching the Soil If Good Crops Are to Be Secured.

After you have given the time and the energy in spading and digging and hoeing and raking your garden spot into shape, have spent money for good seeds that you have carefully planted, you certainly expect to have a crop of nice, luscious vegetables, providing you have given the garden the proper cultivation. You will not have, though, if you do not feed the soil that is to feed the plants that are to grow into feed for you. Don't expect an impoverished soil to grow vegetables, says the Farmers' Review. That is one of the impossibilities. If you do not know it now you will find it out to your regret and cost if you try it. Give the garden the heaviest dressing of fertilizers of any spot on the farm. Use all the old, well-rotted manure that you have available and then add a liberal quantity of such of the commercial fertilizers as your soil most needs, and nearly all soils need all of the elements of fertility to grow vegetables to perfection. Buy of a reliable manufacturer some of his best complete vegetable manure and apply it at the rate of from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds per acre. It will cost something to do this, but the return that will be made to you in the crop will amply repay you for the expense.

RYE MAKES GOOD PASTURE

How One Farmer Manages to Get Good Feed for His Live Stock.

I draw the manure on the sod ground, plow and harrow well, then plant to corn and cultivate well, writes a New York farmer in the Farm and Home. The next spring I plow the corn, top-dress with stable manure and sow oats. As soon as the oats are off, plow and top-dress again, then sow to rye. In six weeks I have big feed and pasture the rye until it ferezes.

The last of May I cut the rye as soon as it heads, and the stock like it and do well on it. In the spring I seed on the rye with equal parts of clover and timothy. I pasture this in the fall, and the rye will be headed out the second time.

I cut the grass for hay three years, and plow again and follow the same rotation. I manage a piece of land this way every year, have nice fall feed and never fail to have big crops. Last fall I got first and second premiums on my corn at our fair. My rye was very stout and five feet tall, the grass so stout that I could not cut it with a machine until I cleared a place for it to run.

Early War on Weeds.

The early killed is the easy killed weed and the weed that robs the crops the least. Proper bedding is essential in making richer manure, as well as increasing the bulk.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Margerite Caron and son, Chas., and daughter, Miss Aura, of Calumet, Michigan, arrived in the city Saturday for a visit with their son and brother, Oliver Caron, on the North Side. Mrs. Caron and the party came by the great lake route and had a most delightful trip.

At a meeting of the fire department Saturday evening a $225 running cart was purchased of Thos. Johnstone, the well known fire appartus man of Crookston. The boys also passed a resolution asking the city council to purchase a chemical engine.

A fellow jumping on a Great Northern train Tuesday morning nearly lost his footing and came near falling under the wheels. The crowd on the platform were somewhat excited before the man was finally hauled on the platform of the moving car.

County Surveyor Wood was in the city Monday night. He was on his way to his home at Thief River Falls after having been at work about a week at Fertile. A farmer near Fertile is going to put in a system of drain tile and will drain 500 acres. Mr. Wood laid out the work for him.

There was a young base ball tournament at the ball grounds Sunday afternoon. The first game was between the "Ridge" and a nine from this city. The "Ridge" won by a score of 28 to 16. The second game was between the kids of St. Hilaire and this place. Our youngsters won by a score of 9 to 6. The kids played better ball than the older fellows.

Red Lake county should have an exibit at the state fair this year. A wonderful showing could be made of the resources of this county and it would be the means of attracting attention to this section of the state. No better grain or grasses can be found than have been raised in this neighborhood this season and a most creditable exhibit could be made. Our land men and other public-spirited citizens should take this matter in hand and see that Red Lake county is represented at the fair.

A certain newspaper man in Iowa relates an experience that might shed some light on the mail order business. He was at the town depot and saw a farmer friend receive a set of harness from Chicago. He attempted to prove to the latter that he was making a mistake as many local dealers would furnish him the same or better goods just as cheap, and keep the profits at home. "But," said the farmer, "this is the first time I have heard that there is a harness shop in this town. I have taken your paper for five years and have never seen a line of advertising in it about such an institution in all that time. But you can bet the Chicago house has kept me posted."—Alexandria Citizen.

Many years ago thirty of the girls who sealed and labeled the cans in the canning factory at Alton, Iowa, got so warmed up drinking fermented juice, that they took off all their superflous clothes, sealed them in and labeled them. They got mixed with several thousand cans of preserves and for months thereafter it was nothing uncommon when you had company to open a raspberry preserve label and turn out a pink hair ribbon and a pair of stockings and many an old apron or a corset cover. Only a short time ago the landlady of a hotel was absent mindedly looking out of a window while dumping a can of supposed peaches when out rolled two hip pads. She didn't notice it and a near sighted boarder ate one for a waffle. The can was bought of a merchant who didn't advertise and it had been on his shelves for over twenty years.

STATE HAS ABOUT TWO MILLION.

Census Returns Show Big Increase Over 1900.

A conservative estimate made by the state census bureau officials shows that Minnesota has a population of nearly two millions. There are a few returns from scattering districts to be received before the exact figures can be announced. It is expected that the tabulation will be completed and verified in a few days.

Early returns indicated that the increase during the past five years would not be more than 8 to 10 per cent, but the counties in the northern part of the state show heavy gains, so that the total showing is better than was at first expected. With a few incomplete returns Itasca county shows a population of 11,428, as compared with only 4,573 five years ago. The districts that are yet to be heard from will swell the figure 200.

It is estimated that Itasca county will show an increase of more than 150 per cent in the past five years. The village of International Falls has a population of 587. Five years ago returns were received from only sixty townships and villages in Itasca county, while this year nearly 150 townships and villages have been heard from.

The increase in population in Northern Minnesota is due to the homesteader and settler, large numbers of whom have moved there during the past five years. The state census bureau will show returns from more than 100 cities, villages and towns this year, as against 108 five years ago, and 77 ten years ago. Clearwater and Beltrami counties will show a population of nearly 19,000, an increase of 75 per cent. These counties until recently were one.

The increase for twenty-seven counties in the northern part of the state during the past five years follow: Itasca, 7,000, estimate; Beltrami and Clearwater, 8,000, estimate; Carlton, 5,170; Cass, 1,715; Cook, 290; Crow Wing, 2,403; Benson; 1,344; Kenabec, 1560; Kittson, 1.789; Lake, 1,619; Mille Lacs, 1,810; Otter Tail, 2,853; Pine, 3,323; Red Lake, 3,760; Roseau, 4,179: St. Louis, 34,587; Stearns, 2,655: Todd, 2,423; Wadena, 1,396; Hubbard, 1,430; Marshall, 1,600, estimate; Polk, 1,500, estimate; Norman, 500, estimate; Wilkin, 180; Clay, 1,515; Becker, 1,651; Morrison, 1,600, estimate.

These counties increased in population more than 175,000 in the last ten years.

Horse Plague.

A disease known as "swamp fever," in Kitson, Red Lake, Polk, Stearns, Benton and Meeker counties, is killing off horses at a rate that has caused the state live stock sanitary board to devote close attention to the subject.

The epidemic originated in Manitoba, and spread to the Red River valley, since which time cases have occurred in most of the northern counties. The manifestations of this horse sickness are peculiar and the disease is invariably fatal after an attack of from four to eight weeks. The affected animal becomes highly feverish and developes a voracious appetite, maintaining this voracity throughout the period of sickness and at the same time constantly losing flesh until it becomes too weak to stand. The state authorities are making experiments to discover the origin and nature of the disease, which the farmers believe to be due to a poisonous weed. Dr. H. M. Bracken, of the state board of health, said the trouble was one that had been gone into very thoroughly by that board. His investigations show that the trouble was probably due to some form of bacteria. The bacteriological department of the state university sent two expeditions through the Red River valley and even into Manitoba, and they spent a considerable time in efforts to isolate the unknown microbe.

"I am aware that the disease is still killing a good many valuable horses and, so far as I have been able to discover, there is no remedy for it.

A later report says that Dr. Langevin when seen at Crookston in regard to the reported cases of swamp fever in the Red River Valley and the wide spread condition of the plague stated that so far as he was aware, "there had not been reported one single case of swamp fever so far this summer. The weather is of the right sort however to bring on the horse trouble which it is believed is caused by a germ in marsh water and grass during wet seasons of the year. The reports which originated in the Minneapolis papers however are grossly exaggerated."

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

Don't get excited this month. It takes the life right out of a man to fret and storm around at nothing. Keep up the steam, but don't forget to keep the regulator in good working order.

A new method of cutting and curing timothy hay is to use a self-binding machine, shock the bundles as you would grain, and after they are thoroughly dried put them in a stack or mow for future use. Hay thus prepared is easily handled.

Now, please don't invest any money far from home, where you can not keep tag on it. The concern that offers you more than five per cent on your investment, especially if it is in a distant city, will bear watching. Four per cent is about all that money will earn these days. Why risk the principal for a big interest?

If all the 14,995,000 tillable acres of Japan were merged into one field a man in an automobile, traveling at the rate of fifty miles an hour, could circle arable Japan in eleven hours. The state of Colorado has an area of about sixty-six million acres, or 103,925 square miles. Of this 35,000 square miles, or 22,400,000 acres are capable of producing crops under irrigation. The area already under cultivation is about 10 per cent of what is possible—about two and a half million acres,

Every year scores of men fail in the poultry business. They start out with a grand flourish and put a lot of money into houses and other furnishings; but after all they do not make a go of it. Why? In many cases the difficulty is that the most these men think of is the money they get out of it. They do not care particularly about the hens, and it is a fixed fact that to win in any kind of a business, a man must love his calling. If he does, he will put more than money into the work, he will put himself into it, and that brings success.

What the farmers want is not the abolition of the crop reports by the agricultural department as some people seem to think, but some assurance that the reports will be accurate when issued. Secretary Wilson has been bombarded with requests from all quarters, even while he was investigating the irregularities in the cotton report, not to discontinue either that or any of the other reports. The government is in better position to collect accurate reports of the tobacco and cotton crops than any private grower and if the farmers are assured that the reports are handled by honest officials they will be glad enough to have them.

What great changes have come about in the way of doing work in the past forty years. The manner of cutting grain has changed more than any thing else and with the change the expense has been decreased until today harvesting is done at about one-third the expense necessary thirty and forty years ago. At the time hand rake reapers were in use the help necessary through the harvest season was a driver, a man to rake off, flour men to bind and one to shock. Therefore it will be seen that seven men men were needed to do what a driver and a shocker will do now. The work that to-day costs $4 per day in the early times would have cost from $12 to $20 per day. Of course it must be taken into consideration that the machinery costs more than it did forty years ago.

Here is a new swindle that is being worked among the farmers and those wanting to dispose of real estate. A farmer receives a letter asking him to list his farm for sale. According to the blanks furnished, the farmer asks the firm to try to sell his place, by advertising it for months, and agrees to pay the firm fifty cents an acre when they have fulfilled their part of the agreement. On close examination, it is found that the firm agrees to do nothing but advertise the farm, and nothing is said as to how, what extent or where it will be advertised. Whenever the advertising is done the commission is due, whether a purchaser has been found or not. Farmers who have signed this kind of contract have been advised by their attorneys to settle the best they can and err no more.

Director Charles D. Walcott of the United States Geological Survey states that the government owns about 600,000,000 acres of vacant land. Of this land the greater part is arid. About 6,500,000 acres is irrigated. There is water available for many more. Most of this land already irrigated is in Colorado and California, Much of the land will cost $25 or $30 when provided with water. It is estimated that if $300,000,000 was expended during the next forty years in a large and consistent scheme of irrigation, the lands improved would be worth by the end of that period, not less than $2,000,000,000. Uncle Sam can still provide us all a farm, but it will be a more expensive one than those of the free-homesteads of 100 years ago. But the new farms are insured against drought—and that is a pretty good thing.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years" writes Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without immediate relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

Merchants State Bank
Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dep't. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $100 to $200. These are saving accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us.

Some stove men say on the right hand side, but we don't think so, don't believe it's the place at all, and let's tell our reasons why. When on the right hand side, that body of cold water is bound to have effect on the heating of your oven for all the heat must pass by it. Then if you want to heat water only, you have to heat your oven, too. When it's on the left side you heat water much quicker, easier, in fact can have it boiling if you want to. And to heat water only you don't require near the fuel and don't heat up the room.

VOL. VII—NO. 45. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUG. 17, 1905. WHOLE NO. 357.

WILL UNDERGO OPERATION.

Albany Deforge to be Operated on at Fosston.

Theo. Deforge left Tuesday evening for Fosston to be present at an operation to be preformed on his brother, Albany Deforge, at the hospital in that town.

Albany Deforge, a young man of nineteen years, has been laid up for a year and a half with some trouble affecting one of his knees. The injury that has caused him so much trouble is a peculiar one, and it is not known what started the trouble. He has been at the hospital in Fosston for the past six months.

In the operation to be performed the knee cap will be taken off and an examination of the bones made. If the bones are found to be diseased the leg will be amputated as it is thought there is no remedy if such should be the case. It is to be hoped the young man will receive immediate relief from his suffering.

A Court House Story.

Treasurer Hansen is telling the following story at the court house these days:

He says during the late unpleasantness between Norway and Sweden that King Oscar telegraphed Gov. Johnson to send him one thousand Swedes as he expected war with Norway. The Governor answered that is was impossible to send the Swedes when he received the following message: "If impossible to send 1,000 Swedes kindly send 50 Irishmen."

HAS QUIT BUSINESS.

J. B. Cigar Company Is a Thing of the Past—LaPlante to Go West.

The J. B. Cigar Co. has closed its doors, the proprietor, A. J. LaPlante, deciding to quit the business the first of the week. He thought the prospects for future business were not promising so concluded to close out the stock and will move to Tacoma, Wash., as soon as he gets his business affairs settled up.

The closing of this concern throws two or three men out of employment and it is to be regretted that the firm was not better patronized. Mr. LaPlante has an offer of a good position in the western country and also can engage in business there if he so desires.

To Get Rid of Wild Oats.

A certain farmer gives his plan of getting rid of wild oats, says an exchange:

"I had a thirty acre field that would grow nothing else. I plowed it in the fall about two inches deep and horrowed it. In the spring there came up a grand crop of wild oats. I left it until June 15, when I plowed it about five inches deep and sowed a crop of barley on it. When the barley came up I could see a head of wild oats here and there. I went through the thirty acres carefully but did not get more than two dozen heads and a grand crop of barley. I plowed it again in the fall and sowed it to wheat in the spring. There was not a stem of wild oats but I got thirty bushels of wheat to the acre."

FIRE AT PLUMMER.

Fire Destroys Two Business Houses at the New Town on the Soo.

Plummer was visited by its first fire Monday morning. The origin of the blaze is unknown and had considerable headway before discovered. The fire started in the Rothstein butcher shop and the family living up stairs had difficulty in escaping with their lives. The butcher shop and harness shop of A. Reihe were entirely consumed. The citizens turned out and fought the flames and made heroic efforts to save the buildings but the fire had too good a start and it was impossible to save them.

We understand the loss will be total there being no insurance on the buildings or stocks.

To Calm Waves by Bombardment.

Shells filled with oil, intended to calm a stormy sea when fired into it, have been invented in France. The effect of a film of oil in reducing the size of waves is well known, but in the case as a moving vessel it is difficult to reach those in front, among which the ship's progress will soon bring it. Wooden shells are now used, which break when they strike the water, allowing the oil to distribute evenly over the surface and guard the ship's progress. Golden grain belt beer will calm your nerves and guard you against ill health. You can't afford to be without it. Order a case of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

Young Man Arrested at Thief River on a Serious Charge.

Frank Lemere, known as "Kid" Lemers, is in the county jail at this place charged with a serious offense. The "Kid" is an all around man as his business card indicates. He announces that he is a diver, loop the loop artist, dancing, contortionist; also a fighter and wrestler at 118 lbs. He also seems to have few accomplishments not mentioned on his card.

Last Friday night he found a thirteen-year-old girl at Thief River Falls and induced her to go to a hotel with him where he kept her all night. Her parents becoming alarmed sent officers out in search of her and the couple were located the next day. The young man was immediately put under arrest and had his hearing Monday and Tuesday. He was bound over to await the action of the grand jury in October and arrived at the county jail last evening and will be a boarder of Sheriff Linnihan's until that time.

THIS COUNTRY BEST.

Minnesota Offers Better Business Opportunities than Canada.

The Bemidji Pioneer says: Jack and Peter Losa have just returned to Blackduck after an extensive land seeking trip through Canada. In addition to looking for lands, they have sought out opportunities for a business opening. [In both respects however they have returned disappointed. Both these gentlemen state that they found no business openings which could compare with those in Beltrami county, while the lands which they were shown were poor indeed in comparison with Minnesota lands.

In the efforts to induce settlers to buy lands many of the Canadian agents are thoroughly unscrupulous. While there is much fine land in Canada, the work of some of these Canadian land sharks, who board every train and interview every possible land seeker, pressing him with offers of land and inducing him to stop off and look at lands far from the railway, admitting the lands along the line of the railroad are poor but claiming that the lands further back are exceptionally rich. Both Mr. Pacha and Loso declare that every train is bringing back more land seekers than are now being taken into Canada, and in their opinion the Canada land boom is collapsing.

Said a prominent Bemidji real estate man this afternoon "with the petering out of the boom of Canadian lands I confidently expect to see a great influx of settlers to Northern Minnesota. We have been passed by for a time but our turn is coming again, and I think very soon. Once the settlers get started in Northern Minnesota, no land boom can ever dislodge them and the permanent prosperity of the country will be assured."

A Little Cream Talk.

It pays to raise cream for the following reasons: There is always a spot-cash market for it. The market on cream and butter can never be cornered, because it doesn't keep over any length of time, and the fresh article is always preferable to the old or adulterated article. That's where the farmer comes in. He has the cow that produces the fresh butter and no one else can have it, because it takes a farmer to keep cows. Hark, farmers! An average cow brings in $45 a year in clean cash, and besides enough more to pay for her living. Ten cows will make $450 a year. A farmer that has a good herd of cows, is always good at bank or stores. But experience has shown us that a farmer with a good herd of cows needs no help from bank or stores; he has the cash and does business where it best suits him. Keep your heifers, they make cows, and the time is here when they will bring you a good price whether you keep them or sell them. What other article will do as much for you?

SOO TO CUT IN.

Rumored Extension to Moorhead, Fargo and Northerly.

The Soo railroad will soon be extended through Moorhead and Fargo, if current reports can be relied upon.

The line will branch off the Winnipeg line in Dent, Minn. in Ottertail county, running through the northeast corner of Ottertail county and the southeast part of Clay county, between the main line of the Northern Pacific and hitting the apex of the triangle formed by the crossing of the two roads, at Moorhead, thence northwest from Fargo, striking the Soo line at or in the vicinity of Carrington, N. D.

The extension of the Soo in this way would mean the cutting into more territory which the Great Northern and Northern Pacific have up to this time regarded as their own to be divided up between them as they might see fit. With the Soo in the field freight rates ought to be adjusted with more regard to the shipper. Reports are not definite as to the time when the extension will be made.

INDIANS ARE NOT DYING OUT.

Increase Nearly 50 Per Cent in Past Five Years.

Final figures on the Indian population of the state have been announced by the state census bureau. The figures show that the red men have increased nearly 50 per cent in Minnesota during the last five years. The total Indian population in 1900 was 6,492, as against 10,225 in 1905.

A controversy has arisen in Norman county which will lead to the partial recounting of the White Earth reservation Indians who hold allotments in that county. The citizens of Norman county declare that the Indians should be regarded as citizens, as they hold allotments, and that their numbers should be credited to Norman county.

In order to settle the dispute, D. C. Lightbourne, formerly assistant insurance commissioner, has been selected to make the recount.

	1905	1900	Inc
White Earth	4968	3436	1482
Leech Lake	1920	1001	919
Fond du Lac	885	367	519
Bois Fort	762	530	232
Grand Portage	362	108	254
Red Lake	1327	1450	*189
Totals	10225	9942	....

*Decrease.

A great many of us waste so much time wishing we could do some great good for the world that we miss numerous opportunities to do little things that would in the aggregate amount to a great deal.

WARNING FOR MERCHANTS.

Clever Forgers Are at Work and Merchants Taken In.

The merchants of this section of the state should be on their guard against clever forgers who are operating in various parts of the state. Their method is to buy clothing and other merchandise, presenting checks in payment therefor, and taking the difference in cash. The checks are forgeries and a number of merchants in the southern part of the state have been victimized.

The Minnesota Bankers association has sent out postal cards of warning against these forgers. The cards state that at Worthington a man going by the name of Fred Hanson passed a forged check for $34, drawn on the Adrian Exchange bank, in payment for a suit of clothes, taking the difference in cash. He later passed a another check on a different merchant for $18 for payment for a pair of shoes, taking the difference in cash. The last check was signed by J. C. Cook drawn to the order of Fred Hanson.

Hanson is described as a man about thirty years old, light complexion, heavy sandy moustache, light brown hair, about five feet, eight inches tall, weight about 140 pounds. He passed as a land owner and appeared very cool and collected when making his purchases and passing the forged checks.

SOO BRIDGE TOO LOW.

Temporary Bridge Across Red River at Oslo Obstructs Navigation.

A complaint has been made to the government that the Soo railroad company has constructed a bridge across the Red river at Oslo, which obstructs navigation.

The structure is a temporary one, owing to the inability of the company to get steel for the construction of a drawbridge, which is required by the goverment. Steel has been laid on the temporary wooden bridge, and steamboats cannot pass beyond that point.

The East Grand Forks Transportation company owing a line of steamers on the Red river, have for years hauled a vast amount of grain from the country beyond Oslo, and this company has filed a protest with the goverment against the maintenance of any bridge across the Red river that will interfere with navigation.

The Soo line is now constructed to within two miles of Ardoch, about ten miles west of the Red river, and work is being rushed as rapidly as possible in order that the road may be given opportunity to handle a large portion of the crop from that section of the state.

The East Grand Forks Transportation company is just as anxious to bring out a big part of the crop along the river north of Oslo, and a demand for the removal of any obstructions to navigation may give the Soo company considerable trouble.

BROEK IS SPOTLESS TOWN.

The Neatest in the World—Located in the Netherlands.

The town of Broek, in the Netherlands, attains the distinction of being one of the neatest towns in the world, and no municipal expense is spared to uphold that honor. The 2,700 inhabitants are so strongly bound by municipal rule that to throw a piece of paper or waste of any kind in the public streets entails a twentyfive-cent fine, and it is only recently that horses have been allowed in the streets. Once a year every house is visited by the town cleaners, who scrub it from top to bottom, inside and out, without any expense to the tenants.

The business streets are swept at frequent intervals and not a weed or bit of rubbish is allowed on the residence streets, many of which are bordered with beds of flowers during the summer months.

DOZEN MEET DEATH IN A COLLISION

PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHES INTO A FREIGHT NEAR KISHMAN, OHIO.

VICTIMS ARE MOSTLY FOREIGN LABORERS

Many of Those Killed Were Riding in Smoker Which Was Crushed as If Made of Paper—At Least Twenty-Five Others Injured.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—A fast eastbound passenger train on the Nickel Plate road collided with a westbound freight train early Sunday at Kishman, O., near Vermillion, resulting in the death of 12 persons, while at least 25 others were injured. The wreck, according to the officials of the company, was caused by a misunderstanding of orders, or neglect to obey them on the part of the crew of the freight train.

Victims Mostly Laborers.

Aside from the engineer, the men killed on the passenger train were all riding in the smoking car at the head of the train, and were mostly foreign laborers in the employ of the Standard Oil company on their way from Fort Seneca, O., to Brookfield, O., in charge of a foreman. Engineer C. C. Poole of the passenger train was killed at his post, while trying to reach for the air brake after seeing the headlight of the freight train. His fireman, Haefner, saved himself by jumping.

Car Crushed Like Paper.

When the trains came together, almost everybody in the smoker was dozing. The sudden jar hurled them out of their seats into the aisle and threw several persons to the roof and sides of the car, which seemed all at once to crush in like a paper bag, pinning down each passenger in the position in which he had been caught. The passengers in the second car escaped more easily, as there the violence of the impact was not so severe, although few got off without cuts, bruises, sprains or broken bones. The two rear cars were sleepers, and they withstood the shock without suffering serious harm. No passengers in the sleepers were injured.

Train Ordered to Siding.

President Canift, of the Nickel Plate, stated that from the information in the hands of the officials, the freight train crew had orders to go on the siding at Kishman and there await the passage of the passenger train. Why this was not done in time to permit the passenger train to go by, or a flagman sent out, has not yet been learned. A rigid investigation is, however, being made by the railway officials. It is said that the watch of the engineer of the freight train was slow, and that the engineer believed he had eight minutes to get his train on the siding before the passenger train was due. The freight train had slacked speed, and was about to back in on the siding from the main track when the passenger train came tearing along at a rate of 45 miles an hour and dashed into it.

Injured Doing Well.

Monday morning all of the injured victims of the Nickel Plate wreck were reported by the hospital authorities at Lorain as being out of danger with the possible exception of two. E. E. O'Hara, of Findlay, O., whose left leg was amputated, is recovering rapidly from the shock. Engineer Kirby, of the freight train, who is generally blamed for the wreck, is at his home in Bellevue and refuses to see anyone. His mind is said to be deranged as a result of the accident.

Mayor Tracks Holdup Man.

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 15.—Mayor McCaskrin, who is also acting as city marshal, had a long chase after a holdup. A man named Lee Crosswhite is said to have struck a woman in the face and snatched her pocketbook containing ten dollars. The mayor happened on the scene shortly after the occurrence and took after Crosswhite, who, however, eluded his pursuer.

CHICAGO STRIKE INDORSED

SHEA SWAYS TEAMSTERS TO APPROVE RECENT STRUGGLE.

Many Delegates Criticise Action of President — Bitter Contest Expected.

Philadelphia, Aug. 15.—In a manner which was severely criticised by many delegates President Shea, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Monday secured the convention's indorsement of the Chicago strike. President Shea refused to have the roll called on the motion, insisting that a viva voce vote was sufficient. Although there were many nays, President Shea declared the motion carried.

The motion to approve Shea's actions and the course pursued during the Chicago strike by the executive board was made by A. J. Dean, of Chicago. George Innis, of Detroit, made an address demanding the roll call. Shea ignored the demand and forced an immediate vote, resulting in the indorsement of himself and the executive board.

A resolution was unanimously adopted vesting authority in the general president with the sanction of the executive board to appoint in any city or town where conditions will warrant some representative of a local union who shall receive a weekly recompense of not more than ten dollars from the international organization for the purpose of securing new members. The resolution was drawn up by President Shea.

The most important work left for the convention is the report of the committee on officers' reports, which is expected to indorse Shea. The report of the constitution committee is expected to bring a bitter contest. The Turley forces will try to limit Shea's powers.

President's Kin in a Runaway.

Sayville, L. I., Aug. 15.—Gladys and Eugenie Roosevelt, cousins of President Roosevelt, were injured in a runaway here Monday, Gladys probably fatally. The girls are daughters of John E. Roosevelt, an uncle of the president, Gladys being 16 years old and Eugenie 18. Both are accustomed to handle spirited horses, but during their daily drive Monday their horse, drawing a high cart, ran away and dashed the vehicle against a tree. Gladys, who drove the horse, was thrown against the tree headfirst and was picked up unconscious. Physicians who worked over her for an hour were unable to revive her and believed her skull was fractured.

Buried with Military Honors.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The late Rear Admiral A. E. K. Benham, United States navy, retired, who died at Lake Mahopac, N. Y., last Friday, was buried here Monday with full military honors. The funeral services were held at St. Thomas' church, the body being interred at Arlington. The escort was composed of a detachment from the army and marine corps.

Typos in Session.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 15.—The International Typographical union opened its annual convention here Monday. The premier of Ontario, the mayor of Toronto and other officials made addresses of welcome. President Lynch of the union responded. A universal eight-hour day will be discussed in the convention.

Death of Pioneer Lumberman.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 15.—C. L. Jenks, a pioneer Wisconsin lumberman, is dead at his home here, aged 65. He has been one of the most extensive lumber operators on the Mississippi and its tributaries in Wisconsin and Minnesota since 1850 when he first began business here. He leaves a large fortune.

Japs Raise Sunken Ships.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 15.—News has been received from Port Arthur that over 70 vessels, including the battleships Peresviet, Poltava, Retvizan, Pobieda and Pallada and the cruiser Bayan have been raised, and the work of salving the merchant steamers sunk at the harbor mouth for blocking purposes has been let to Japanese firms.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 143 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. Your Heart

May Be Weak. One Person in Four Has a Weak Heart.

One of the surest signs of a weak heart is shortness of breath after exercise.

Your heart is not able to pump the blood fast enough to your lungs.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands.

No one can afford to allow a weak heart to go without medicine, because weak heart means poor circulation, and poor circulation means weak lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, etc.

If, therefore, you suspect heart trouble, begin taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The Heart Cure will do you good, as it is a splendid tonic for the blood and nerves, and will revitalize your entire system.

Finally, remember, Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will do you good.

If it doesn't—your money back.

"I was afflicted with heart trouble for three years. I would be apparently all right, and without a moment's warning would fall as though shot. The attacks were frequent, and a terrible dread possessed me, as I never knew when or where, nor under what conditions I would be attacked, and whether I would survive them. I consulted and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians of the state. Not finding relief from this source, I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and began to improve at once. I used ten bottles, which entirely cured me, as I have not had an attack for five years."—MRS. JOHN DRESBACK, Leipsic, O.

PEACE ENVOYS MAKE PROGRESS

RUSSIA ACCEDES TO JAPAN'S DEMANDS AND WILL LEAVE KOREA.

"Open Door" Policy Wins in Manchuria, but the Chinese-Eastern Railroad is Given to China—Crisis Expected Today.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 15.—Although very rapid progress was made with the peace negotiations yesterday three of the twelve articles, which constitute the Japanese condition of peace, having been agreed to by Mr. Witte, and Baron Rosen on behalf of Russia, neither of the two articles, to which Mr. Witte in his reply returned an absolute negative, was reached.

The crisis, therefore, is still to come, It may be reached today as the cessation of Sakhalin comes first in the list.

The three "articles" as they are officially designated in the brief communications authorized to be given to the press, which were disposed of yesterday are in substance as follows:

First—Russia's recognition of Japan's "prepondering influence" and special position in Korea, which Russia henceforth agrees is outside of her sphere of influence, Japan finding herself to recognize the suzeranity of the reigning family, but with the right to give advice and assistance to improve the civil administration of the empire.

Second—Mutual obligation to evacuate Manchuria, each to surrender all special privileges in that province, mutual obligation to respect the "territorial integrity" of China and to maintain the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations in that province (open door.)

Third—The cession to China of the Chinese Eastern Railroad from Harbin southward.

There never was any question about the acceptance on the part of Mr. Witte of these "articles" the first two covering in more emphatic from the contentions of Japan in the diplomatic struggle which proceeded hostilities. The third is a natural consequence of the result of war.

The cession of the railroad, the building of which cost Russia an immense sum, estimated by some at between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000, is to China.

HILL STUDIES STRIKE.

The Striking Telegraph Operators Now Look For a Definite Answer.

St. Paul, Aug 15—James J. Hill returned home yesterday morning from New York, and Louis W. Hill, his son, returned about the same hour from the Pacific coast. The striking telegraph operators now look for a definite answer as to whether the strike will be arbitrated or whether it will be a fight to the finish.

J. J. Hill was closeted all morning in his private office with officials of his road, and the details of the strike situation were gone over. It was announced that Mr. Hill would have nothing to say until his personal investigation is completed.

The strikers believe that if he has any statement it will be an expression of willingness to hear their demands and submit to arbitration. They believe that if he wants to fight it out he will refuse to say anything and continue on the same theory as his subordinates; that the strike is over and that there is nothing to be said.

A New Volcano.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 15.—A volcano throwing off molten lava and in active operation has been discovered in Nevada by Messrs. McClure, Wheeler and Sommers, cattlemen of Lovelock.

The volcano is located in Rye Patch, Humboldt county. Although that section has been traversed for years, the crater has just been found for the first time. The men were in search of cattle when they came on the stream of lava, and tracing it to its source, found the volcano. The rocks for some distance around were so hot that they could not touch them with their bare hands.

Lost Man Found.

Hinckley, Minn., Aug. 15.—With his rifle resting against a nearby tree, the body of Oscar Haney, who disappeared ten days ago, was found by relatives. The discovery was made near a big swamp one mile from his home.

It is believed he came to his death by lightning, as a sapling near the body was burned, and other evidences of a stroke of lightning were found.

The coroner decided an inquest was not necessary.

Caught in Machinery.

Yankton, S. D., Aug. 12.—Miss Christine Summers, while visiting the cement works, of which her father has been foreman for many years, got too close to a shaft in the engine room and in a second her waist had wrapped around whirling bit of steel, and she was drawn into the machinery. The engineer, most fortunately, saw the danger at once and shut down promptly. This alone saved Miss Summers from a terrible fate. As it was, her arm and chest were badly larcerated, while the waist was torn off.

FEARED FOR THE PRESIDENT

ALLEGED PLAN TO BLOW UP HIS SPECIAL TRAIN FOILED.

Erie Railroad Officials Change Route on Roosevelt's Return Trip to Washington.

New York, Aug. 15.—That Erie railroad officials were alarmed for the safety of President Roosevelt on his way from Chautauqua to Jersey City on Saturday is shown by the fact made known Sunday that the president's car did not come in over the main line. Instead, the Chautauqua special was broken in two at Suffern, N. Y., and the presidential party was brought in by a roundabout way over two small branch roads.

President Roosevelt is said to have objected to the unusual precautions taken, but acquiesced when positive orders from President Underwood, of the Erie, were shown him. These orders were issued as a result of a letter received by the Paterson police, which said there was a plot to blow up the president's train near Ridgewood, N. J.

The Chautauqua special was stopped at Suffern early Saturday morning. There was a consultation over the telephone, followed by a consultation of railroad men at which it was decided to send the president to Sparkill, a small town on the Hudson, three miles below Nyack, by a little single track road, known as the Piermont branch, and thence into Jersey City on the Northern railroad, a branch having its terminus in Nyack.

President Roosevelt was awakened and told of the change in the schedule, as the officials did not like to take the responsibility without his consent. The president after some discussion said that he was "in the hands of the Erie," and while he had no fear of his train being wrecked on the main line, he would do what the railroad men thought best.

Slow time was made over the Piermont branch and the Northern railroad and extra men guarded every part of both roads.

SPECIAL SESSION UNLIKELY.

President May Abandon Plan for Extra Meeting of Congress in November.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Notwithstanding the more or less definite announcement which has emanated from various sources during the last few months, congress may not be called into extraordinary session next November for the purpose of enacting railroad rate legislation, as had been planned. Indeed, the indications are now that no extraordinary session will be held this year.

This statement is made on the authority of President Roosevelt himself. He has not decided the question definitely yet, and probably will not reach a determination of it until he shall have returned to Washington the latter part of September. The chances of an extraordinary session appear, however, to be fading.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the president to induce him not to call an extra session. So much interest has been manifest in the subject throughout the country that the president has received a large number of letters regarding it. Many senators and representatives have urged against an extra session. They point out that practically nothing will be gained by an extra session that will begin not more than three weeks before the opening of the regular long session, and that it will cause some inconvenience to many members of congress in both branches. Taking these things into consideration, the president has reserved a definite decision of the matter, the chances, as noted, being that the session will not be called.

Landslide Buries Many.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 15.—Sunday afternoon a tremendous landslide came down about half a mile west of Spencer's Bridge, near Ashcroft, British Columbia, sweeping the waters of the Thompson river over the entire Indian village, leaving nothing but wreck in its path. The landslide caused a wave from ten to 15 feet high up the river, carrying ferry and all small boats before it The number of dead and injured are placed at nearly 50. There were 60 Indians in the village when the landslide occurred and not more than a dozen escaped injury or death.

Temperance Advocates Use Dynamite.

Millersburg, O., Aug. 15.—The saloon run by Louis Maschke and Jonas Deetz was wrecked early Monday by dynamite. The explosion shook up the country for a mile and hundreds of people in this city rushed out of doors in their night clothing to see what was the matter. The saloon was located over the bridge just outside of town and the explosion wrecked the interior, tore off the roof and shattered the front. There has been considerable excitement here over the temperance question and a local option election has been called on September 2.

Wealthy Farmer Hangs Himself.

Ottumwa, Ia., Aug. 15.—J. B. Ritchie, 75 years old, a wealthy retired farmer of Davis county, committed suicide at his home near Boomfield Sunday by hanging. Despondency because of ill-health is supposed to have been the cause.

River Claims Two More Victims.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 15.—William H. Klawitter, aged 50, and Albert Bergaus, aged 50, have been drowned in the Mississippi river while bathing. Six drownings have occurred here in the past few days.

DREAD DISEASE IS SLOWLY SPREADING

YELLOW FEVER GAINS GROUND IN NEW ORLEANS DESPITE WORK OF AUTHORITIES.

FEW NEW CASES FROM POINTS OUTSIDE CITY

Health Officials Blame People for Their Failure to Cooperate and Causing Spread of the Scourge—Arrange to Ship Fruit.

Following is the latest yellow fever report:

New cases in New Orleans since six p. m. Sunday, 37.*
Total cases to date, 981.
Deaths Monday, 7.
Total deaths, 161.

*Includes 19 new cases reported late Sunday night and not included in total.

New Orleans, Aug. 15.—The second month of the fight against yellow fever in New Orleans began Monday with reports of new cases at noon indicating that the figures for the day would easily approximate those Sunday. There were 12 deaths Sunday, a slight excess over the figures for the preceding few days, but this increase is to be expected owing to the large number of cases reported for the past five days. The disease is slowly spreading in New Orleans despite the magnificent work of the federal authorities, but the increase in new cases outside of the Crescent City is almost imperceptible.

Dr. White Blames Residents.

Dr. White attributes the spread of the disease to the people's failure to notify the health officials of the appearance of the fever. If all cases were reported to him as soon as discovered he could send out his aids and put up screens and take other measures to isolate all patients immediately. One instance is that of a daughter of a well-known lawyer. She is said to have had a typical case and to have been treated only by a near-by druggist. When discovered by a doctor her condition was hopeless. Sunday she died. The consequence is that steps are to be taken to compel druggists to make prompt report of all cases of illness that come under their observation.

Citizens Fail to Cooperate.

Fumigation and screening are delayed too often, says the doctor, because the citizens do not give the full cooperation that the health officials need if the epidemic is to be fought successfully. Dozens of cases are on record which show conclusively that the people had moved away from a house where infection had existed. This Dr. White proposes to stop, and, while no drastic measures are being taken, he is enforcing his authority. The effectiveness of the district headquarters which are making close investigations of the 17 districts is responsible for a large number of the new cases.

Object to Arsenic Test.

Dr. Reginald Barkley Leach, who has offered himself as a living experiment station for the test of the "arsenization process" which he claims is a cure for the fever, has been notified that the Orleans Parish Medical society would not stand sponsor for his experiments, the reason being that only a theory existed, and the test might prove simple self-murder.

Arrange to Ship Bananas.

An arrangement between the fruit importers and the marine hospital and public health service has been arrived at permitting the shipment of bananas from Chalmette, seven miles below this city. A positive order prohibiting the shipment of this fruit from the city was issued a few days since. The present agreement provides that bananas may be brought to Chalmette and transshipped from that point, the cars carrying them to be carefully screened and the work to be done under the supervision of an official of the public health service.

Negro Succumbs to Disease.

Included in the deaths of the preceding 24 hours was that of a negro. Very few cases have appeared, however, among the negro population. There is a case reported from Spanish Fort, a former summer resort on Lake Pontchartrain, where there now is a large colony of fishermen. It is the first case that has appeared there. No new case has been reported at Milneburg, near Spanish Fort, for two weeks. Past Assistant Surgeon Berry was reported Monday to be doing well. He has passed the first stage of the disease, and if he weathers the secondary stage, which is almost due, he is expected to be up and about before the week is out.

The citizens' committee continued their work of raising subscriptions. With the state and city contributions nearly $254,000 has been raised. It is purposed to make the fund $300,000 if possible, to cover all eventualities.

The federal authorities have begun the room to room inspection of the whole city. That has already been done in the originally infected area, but it is now being done in every ward, and it is expected to turn up every concealed case of fever that exists.

Child Makes Record Swim.

Boston, Aug. 15.—Rose Pitonof, aged ten years, of this city, Sunday swam a mile in Dorchester bay in 33 minutes. The child's performance, which was witnessed and recorded by competent judges, is believed to be the best record ever made by a girl amateur swimmer in open water.

AN American bank has failed in Manilla. This shows that it is not a matter of climate.

MORE than 5,000 persons annually disappear in the United States and are never heard from again.

IT has been estimated that should any one desire to purchase the railways of the world his outlay would amount to something like $36,680,000.

THE chewing gum trust—no small concern either, for it has $3,000,000 of preferred and $6,000,000, of common stock—has paid its dividends and turned $326,000 into its surplus.

"The Russian people can rely on me says the czar. They had relied on him in the past and of late years have commenced to lose confidence. The czar can no longer rely on his people.

A highly esteemed contemporary is advertising a coming article on "How to make money." A great many gentlemen have plunged themselves into rather serious difficulties by doing that same.

THREE hundred Chinese were admitted into the United States last month. There is no evidence that they have been missed from the four hundred and more millions of the inhabitants of the Chinese Empire.

Commoner; The bankers who loot their own bank and the railroad patrons who extort from their own patrons are creating more sentiment in favor of government savings banks and the public ownership of railroads than all the advocates of these things combined.

WHAT are known as the Scripps-McRae newspapers, claimed to be the most successful combination in this country, are discontinuing their Sunday editions. One of the latest to do so is the St. Louis Star, which recently united with the Chronicle.

IT is rumored that John Eastman, editor of the Thief River Falls News, will announce himself soon as a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative from this district. John has many friends in this section and will no doubt make a strong fight for the place.

AN exchange tells of a man who died. The very first day in heaven, as he wanted to go sight-seeing, an angle guide was given him. Before long he noticed a number of persons each drawing a ball and chain. "How is this?" he said. "Isn't this heaven?" The angle smiled and replied: "Why these are not bad men, but they came from Red Lake Falls and we have to chain them or they would go back."

THOMAS A. EDISON, the inventor, is confident that he will soon solve the problem of electric power for wagons and carriages and the use of such power at fifty-eight per cent of the cost of horses. Edison has accomplished marvels in the realm of electricity, and he may solve the problem of a cheaper than horse power for the road and boulevard. He cannot, however, discover a substitute for the horse on the race track.

DON'T PUT IT IN THE PAPER.

THE Dodge Center Star is worried by people who want the editor to "cut it out." Some one recently offered to double his subscription if only the editor would leave out the base ball news. Another party complained that it was waste of time to report sermons even in brief. Still another, who had no sympathy for the ladies, threatened to stop the paper if "Society News" were not curtailed. "A sanctimonious looking cadaver came up to the editor's desk," says the Star "and wanted to know if we did not know that we were injuring the morality of the town when we published elopements, criminal assault, etc." Another did not care for "corn cob" locals. He didn't care whether Tom Smith lost a pig yesterday or whether Mary Jones called on neighbor Severson." What he wanted was to have more about the pope. And so it went on. About the only way you can satisfy the people is to do as the St. Paul Globe did the other day and decently quit.

SENATORIAL DISTRICT GAINS.

The population of this senatorial district has gained about 43 per cent in the past five years. We now have 54,708 as compared with 38,270 in 1900.

The figures for 1905 and 1900, by counties are as follows:

	1905	1900
Norman	18,200	15,055
Red Lake	15,955	12,195
Beltrami	14,314	11,030
Clearwater	6.239	*
Totals	54,708	32,240

At present this district has one senator and two representatives. When a reapportionment is made this senatorial district will undoubtedly be divided into two districts, giving each a senator and one a representative. The only way the district could be divided would be to place Norman and Clearwater together. Combined their population is 24,349. Red Lake and Beltrami have together 30,269. Or if the legislature saw fit to keep the present district together we would be entitled to one senator and about five representatives.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For several months I was given up to die, I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctor's drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief and in a short time. I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at all druggists; price 50c.

Was Wasting Away.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years" writes Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without immediate relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less thad two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." During the summer kidney irregularaties are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

Wet goods for men and dry goods for women break up many homes.

Openwork stackings are in high favor with chiggers and women folks.

All carnivorous animals lap up water with the tongue. Herbivorous animals, as the horse and ox, suck it up.

Cut down or gridle any tree during this month and there are nine chances in ten that the tree will die, root and branch.

If the words "Use me right" were branded on the side of each horse they own, we beleive some people would have better looking teams.

Introduction of American vines in French vineyards has increased the yield from sixteen to twenty-two barrels an acre to from thirty-eight to forty-eight barrels.

The trouble is that the hired man does not intend to remain a hired man. He is figuring to boss somebody himself as soon as he can. And the hired girl does not intend to remain a hired girl, only till the chance comes when she will want one herself.

If you have a piece of ground full of weeds let the pigs help you clean it up. Scatter shelled corn over the ground, and they will soon begin to root for the scattered kernels and will get a taste of the roots and will hunt and work until the ground is perfectly clean.

How far have you drifted from those good resolutions you made the first of the season? Is the orchard as clean as you told yourself you would have it this year, and is the garden free of weeds that might make seed to grow another year. We're apt to get further off on this proposition than we imagine we are.

Little attention has been given to Cuban affairs outside of the government and commercial interests. Few are aware that great changes have taken place on the island in the agricultural line and that other products than sugar and tobacco are receiving the attention of the people living outside of the cities. It is not known that the government of the island has turned its attention to developing the resources of the soil and is having experts prospect the different provinces, test the land and report upon its value as a producer. Samples of soil have been sent to the United States for anlysis as to adaptability for raising fruits, vegetables, sea island cotton and other things. Experiments are being carried on by graduates from the Agricultural Department at Washington.

The writer of a communication in the Atlanta Constitution says there is more good soil in Cuba than in the valley of the Nile, and that not one sixth of the productive area is used. A portion of the island is mountainous, but the soil is good to the tops of the hills.

The close proximity of Cuba to the United States will in time make it our great winter fruit and vegetable garden. Whatever concerns it concerns us and its development agriculturally will be advantageous to us.

The Drama of the Century.

Klaw & Erlanger's mammoth mechanical production of Gen. Lew Wallace's mighty play, "Ben Hur," with its lustrous Star of Bethlemen, its camels, Arabiam steeds, Oriental trappery and mimic splendor of the "gorgeous East," is beyond dispute the most elaborate spectacle ever staged in the history of the world. Its series of seventeen scenes present to the eyes a feast of multifarious beauty and variety, all set to a symphonic accompaniment of graceful music. The exciting episodes such as the galley scene, with its horde of chained slaves, the sea fight; the rescue in mid-sea and the thrilling race with two chariots and eight horses, combined with the picturesque scenes illustrating the Wise Men in the desert, the moon-lit lake in the Orchard of Palms, where Ben-Hur and Iris enjoy seclusion and make love in Iris' barge, the palm waving worshipers on Mount Olivet and the Grove of Daphne with its nymphs Devadasi, dancing in their skins of beasts to the music of the kissing cymbals, simply captivate the great audience that are nightly in attendance wherever it is being enacted.

Whatever may be thought of the purely dramatic element supplied by William Young in his adaptation of General Wallace's unique romance, it must be admitted that the result is an effective appeal to four classes of play-goers—the spectacle loving, the sensation loving, the book lovers who like to see their favorite novels enacted on the stage and the religious people of the community who are always attracted, when a play containing healthy religious influence is presented.

"Ben Hur" is now in its seventh season with no abatement in interest. Its booking at the Metropolitan Opera House, St. Paul, for the week of Aug. 28th, and the Metropolitan Theatre, Minneapolis, for the week of Sept. 4th, will attract hundreds from this vicinity. It will be well for those who intend to witness it to write in advance and reserve seats.

Was in Poor Health for Years.

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." Delano, Miss.
Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sir:—"I feel perfectly well of catarrh. I did as you directed me to and took Peruna and Manalin. The third of March I gave birth to a ten pound baby girl and we are both well and happy. I am very thankful to you and Peruna saved my life. I recommend it to everyone and can't praise it enough.

"I send you my own and my baby's picture. She is so sweet and good,—she is a Peruna baby. I have such good health now. I do all my housework and take care of my baby and feel so good.

"There are three or four of my neighbors using Peruna now since it did me so much good. They were just run down, and they think it is fine, it is so good to give strength."—Mrs. W. McRoberts.

Something You May Not Look At

When buying a rangn you want to examine every little detail. We find so many people are even apt to overlook the larger details. Take for instance the fire back, be sure you feel the weight of it before you buy a range, it's the very heart of it, it's life. One section of the MAJESTIC weighs over ten pounds, the complete fire box over one hundred pounds.

That's why we so seldom hear of anyone buying a fire back for this range.

Monday this section was visited by one of the hardest rains of the season. It is thought it will greatly retard the work of harvesting the fast ripening grain as it will be impossible to run a machine on a great many fields on account of the wet condition of the ground. Conditions are not as favorable as they might be.

Judge Tarrant is getting ready to install a new standing desk in his office. It is to be a neat affair and Nick says his office will be one of the neatest and most complete offices in the land when all the improvements contemplated are in place. He is rather "stuck up" over the matter and makes life misevable for the other officers.

The "Progressive Entertainers" who were billed to appear at the opera house last evening changed their mind suddenly and cancelled the engagement. The company arrived on the Great Northern evening train and finding that a street show was to be given by a slack wire artist they hurried across town and took the Northern Pacific south. The slack wire man thereupon secured the hall and gave his entertainment there instead of in the street as first intended.

Something You May Not Look At

When buying a rangn you want to examine every little detail. We find so many people are even apt to overlook the larger details. Take for instance the fire back, be sure you feel the weight of it before you buy a range, it's the very heart of it, it's life. One section of the MAJESTIC weighs over ten pounds, the complete fire box over one hundred pounds.

That's why we so seldom hear of anyone buying a fire back for this range.

MALARIA A Poison Breathed into the System

The air arising from low, marshy places, damp cellars, stagnant ponds and pools and from decaying vegetable matter, as well as the gases from sewers, is loaded with germs of malarial poison. The water we drink, that has not been properly filtered and purified, is also full of these germs and microbes, and as we daily breathe and drink millions of these into the system, to be absorbed by the blood, the entire body begins to feel the effects of the poison. The most common form of Malaria is "chills and fever," but when the blood is thoroughly saturated with the poison it becomes so weak and polluted that abscesses, carbuncles, boils, sores, ulcers and other skin diseases result. Malaria also affects the liver, kidneys, bowels and stomach, producing a chronic state of biliousness that often results in jaundice or some malignant fever. In cases of Malaria the blood must be purified before the body can regain its natural health. S. S. S. contains purifying and tonic properties possessed by no other blood medicine, and is the ideal remedy for the treatment of Malaria. It destroys the germs of the disease and builds up the weakened, polluted circulation. It enters into the blood and forces out every particle of poison and waste matter and adds strength and activity to it. S. S. S. improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the entire system by its alterative and purifying action, and Malaria, with all its bad effects, is permanently driven from the system. Book on the blood and any medical advice, without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

MALARIA IN HIS SYSTEM FOR YEARS.

For several years I suffered with Chills and Fever, caused by Malaria in my system, and each summer for several years I would have a relapse. Finally my physician prescribed S. S. S. It entirely cured me; I have never been troubled since. 913 W. Market St., Louisville, Ky. I. SHAPOFF.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

New Kind of Trout.

St. Paul.—Black spotted trout similar to those seen in the Yellowstone Park are about to be introduced in Minnesota. Executive Agent Fullerton received 150,000 eggs from the game and fish commissioner of Colorado. The eggs will be hatched at the St. Paul hatchery and the fry will be distributed about the trout streams in which it is thought that the black spotted fry will do the best.

"We have never had any black spotted trout in Minnesota, but I believe that they will thrive here," said Executive Agent Fullerton. "They flourish in Yellowstone Park, and I see no reason why they should not flourish in Minnesota. They are of the cutthroath variety, having two red blotches under the gills, causing the appearance of a cut throat.

The game and fish commission has distributed about 6,000,000 trout fry this summer. Of this number 5,000,000 were hatched at Indian Mounds and 1,000,000 at Glenwood.

Fish Exhibit.

Hamline.—Work on the installation of the fish and game exhibit in the fish and game building at the stair fair grounds has progressed so far that some idea of the beauty of the grotto is manifest. The state fair board secured the aquaria used in the Minnesota fish exhibit at the St. Louis exposition last year and they are being put in the state fair fish building in permanent form so that they may be used from year to year hereafter. A grotto of boulders will appear to line the entire interior of the building, the effect being carried out overhead with suitable decorated canvass giving the effect of a well constructed stage setting. The only light admitted will be from behind the tanks so that the specimens of fish will be seen easily and very closely.

Soda Fountain Bursts.

Minneapolis. — The bursting of a tank highly charged with carbonic acid gas attached to the soda fountain in the drug store of A. B. Crowell, 1012 Hennepin avenue, caused the death of W. L. Hughes, a young clerk.

The young man, who was only eighteen years of age, was in the basement attaching a cylinder of carbonic acid gas to the gas and water tank of the fountain. It is not known how the explosion occurred, or what caused it, but the young clerk must have been bending over the apparatus. At any rate the lower part of his body was terribly torn, and both his thigh bones were broken, and the combined injuries resulted in his death just as the police ambulance got him to the city hospital.

Killed.

Duluth —William Haburt of West Duluth, aged seventeen years, who with a companion named William Little, a lad of the same age, went berrying near the city, is dead as a result of accidental shooting. The boys had expected to stop in a shack but they could not find the building. Becoming alarmed at noises in the woods, they climbed trees when darkness set in. Each had a revolver, and at intervals they fired the weapons to drive away real or imaginary dangers. One of the shoots from Little's revolver entered Haburt's heart and he fell from the tree, dead.

Big Increase.

Minneapolis.—Itasca is the banner county of Minnesota, in ratio of increase since 1900. The federal census gave the county 4,573 people. The official count for 1905 gives it 11,439, an increase of 6,856, or 150 per cent. Rosseau's official population is 11,191, an increase of nearly 60 per cent, and Carltons county's increase is 52.5 per cent. Kanabec county increased 47 per cent, Aitkin 41.5 per cent, Lake county 34.8 and Red Lake 30.8. All other counties show a less rate of increase than Hennepin, which grew 28.2 per cent in five years.

News Notes.

Bemidji—An emery wheel in a machine shop burst, and fragments went flying through walls and ceiling, but fortunately without injuring any of the workmen, of whom a number were standing near.

Excelsior—Four Minneapolis people came within a ace of drowning in one of the most sudden and severe storms that have swept over Lake Minnetonka in many years.

St. Paul—Lawrence Ploe, 52 years old, was fatally injured while working on his own house, which he had recently moved to a new location. The brick walls were propped up. As he was working one of the props gave way and he was buried underneath the bricks.

Duluth—Lake Freighter Tom Adams of the Adams Transportation company arrived here with thirteen passengers, guests of the company, and two of them sick with diphtheria. The ship was placed in quarantine.

Winona—John Fiedler, an old resident of Fountain City who had been employed in the stone quarry, fell from a ledge to his death.

Crookston—Work on the construction of a $15,000 building at the farm experimental station for a school of agriculture and domestic science will be begun soon.

Washington—The monthly report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Degraw shows that on Aug. 1 rural routes to the number of 1,218 were in operation in Minnesota and more than 190 petitions for the service awaited action.

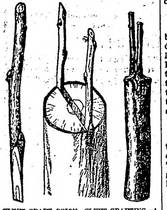
NOW FOR GRAFTING.

March at the North, or When the Leaves Begin to Push Out.

Grafting is now in order on all favorable days. Varieties of grafting are many, but cleft grafting represents the method commonly in use for the grafting of orchard trees where the old top is to be removed during the course of a few years and a new one is to be grown in its place. The ideal time for this top grafting is when the leaves are just pushing out, for then the wounds of grafting heal rapidly. But in practice if a large amount of work is to be done it may be necessary to begin from one to two months earlier and to continue several weeks beyond the ideal point of time. The whole operation of cleft grafting appears clearly in the illustration after Bailey.



CLEFT GRAFT SCION—CLEFT GRAFTING—A WAXED STUB.

SPRING IN THE GARDEN

Set shrubs and vines as soon as the ground settles.

Be ready to jump right in and make the best use of every fine day.

Those choice seed potatoes may sprout too soon if not kept cool.

When warm enough to uncover the rosebushes, a little fine manure or fertilizer forked in around the roots will tickle them greatly.

For perfect roses prune in March. Cut back about one-third of last year's growth on hybrid perpetuals.

If you did not blanket the rhubarb with manure last fall, give it a nice top dressing of fine compost now and place half barrels over a few of the plants to hurry them along.

For the new potato Noroton Beauty it is claimed that it is "the earliest potato ever grown, being sixteen days earlier than the Old Early Rose, of which it is a lineal descendant, and the best all round potato in existence."

Use Prizetaker or any of the large globe kinds for the new onion culture. Sow in flats, hotbed or greenhouse and transplant to the open as soon as the ground is in good working condition.

Bear in mind that the new soil inoculation by artificial cultures is just as applicable to garden beans, peas and sweet potatoes as to field crops. Some wonderfully good things are already told about its work by those who have practiced it.

Onion seed cannot be sown too early. It will germinate and grow even in the wet and cold if the ground has been properly fitted. There's the rub. The soil cannot be made fine till it has dried out. Just here comes in the "new" onion culture, seeds sown under glass and plants set out when the soil is well prepared.

No better seed tester is needed than this: Place the seed between a fold of cotton flannel cloth and lay it on a plate. Moisten but do not saturate the cloth with water. Cover with another plate and keep at a temperature of about 70 degrees F. By the end of three days good seed should have germinated 90 per cent or more.

RAISING DRAFTERS.

Advised by an Iowa Man as a Good Investment on High Priced Land.

"Where are the drafters to come from that are now so eagerly sought by buyers at all the horse markets?" asked Mr. H. G. McMillan before the Iowa state farmers' institute. At the same time answering his own question, Mr. McMillan said that the supply of heavy mares is very limited. Farmers who owned good mares a few years ago sent them to market because they believed that the days of profitable horse breeding had passed. As a result of this unwise policy, before an adequate supply of drafters can again be grown for market draft mares will have to be produced first from which to raise the supply in the future. This will take years to accomplish, so that it may be reasonably expected that the price of draft horses will continue firm for years.

Good Returns In Colts and Farm Work.

While pure bred stallions have been selling in many cases at seemingly high figures, pure bred draft mares can yet be obtained at a very reasonable figure. The Iowa or Illinois farmer who owns one hundred or one hundred and fifty dollar land cannot make a better investment than to buy a pair or two of pedigreed draft mares. At the price at which such mares are now selling, if given proper care, they will bring in a larger return on the investment than any stock that can be placed on this high priced land.

In addition to producing colts that the draft horse breeders and dealers will gladly buy at $100 or $300 when a year old, they will do the work required on the farm just as well as or better than mares that produce colts that are only worth $100 when fully matured.

The Era of Noise.

What an age of noise this is! Do you know any single human being who is capable of being silent for an hour at a stretch? I know two, and I value them according to their rarity. Not only does everybody talk, but almost everybody talks loud. I went into a shop the other day, and the clatter of conversation sounded as though the place were full of people. Yet all the noise was produced by three individuals. Why should they shout?—London Truth.

The Classes In England.

In England the upper class gambles, but does not drink; the middle class drinks, but does not gamble, and the lower class both drinks and gambles. It is a characteristic circumstance that the upper class makes laws to prevent the lower class from gambling and that the lower class is in favor of legislation to prevent the upper class from drinking.

Great Inducements.

Wild Animals.

Zoologists say that all known species of wild animals are gradually decreasing in size.

Trees In Iceland.

Iceland seems to be hardly as destitute of trees as some suppose, an old idea being that it possesses only a single tree. An investigation shows that the island really contains woods having various trees of considerable size and that the climate is not unfavorable to tree growth.

Cheese Sellers of France.

In France a cheese seller is as familiar a sight on city streets as a fruit man is in our cities.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last, there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In America.

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

Qualified Approval.

"How did you like the opera?"

"First rate," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I didn't care much about the tunes they played, but it was a great comfort to have enough noise to drown the vacuous conversation that was going on around me."—Washington Star.

THE GARDEN KEYBOARD

Get busy right now.

Study the seed catalogues.

Don't neglect the advertisements.

Sow peas as soon as the ground can be worked.

Now will you be good and test your seeds?

Cherries and plums should be among the trees grafted earliest.

An "earliest green eating onion" is one of the new things of 1905.

"Trimming time"—the milder days of late winter and early spring.

"Prune when the knife is sharp," but never when the wood is frozen.

Lettuce and radish seed can go into the ground as soon as the surface can be scratched.

Plowing the garden when the ground is wet makes bad work. Better a good job a few days delayed.

Get the first sowing of sweet peas into the earth as soon as the frost is out. Cover four or five inches deep. Cool weather after planting will not hurt them.

March weather is uncertain, but in many regions seed of the hardier vegetables, such as cabbage, cauliflower, onions, peas, parsnips, lettuce, etc., may be sown when normally good weather condition prevails and the ground is dry.

Has it ever occurred to you that early table turnips may be a very profitable crop? They can be planted very early—often before the weather is settled. Give small dressings of nitrate of soda at intervals and reap a handsome return.

Here is a good grafting wax: Resin, four parts by weight; beeswax, two parts; tallow, one part. Break the materials fine, melt thoroughly together and pour into a pail of cold water. When hard enough, pull and work till it "gets a grain" and is of the color of taffy. The hands must be greased.

The Creamery For Ice Cream.

The creamery industry in Maryland is in some respects quite different from that found in the west, inasmuch as most of those in this state do not confine themselves to the making of butter, but make butter only as a means of utilizing surplus and sell most of their products as cream or ice cream. The selling of the products of creameries for cream and ice cream rather than the making of it into butter has enabled the farmer to realize better prices than would be obtained otherwise. Some creameries of the state that have made all of their products into butter have been run quite successfully, while many have been a disappointment to the farmers and could not hold their patronage because of the low prices paid for milk.—C. T. Doane.

Feeding Plantation Mules.

The ration now fed to mules at one of the large Louisiana sugar factories consists of eight pounds of corn and cob meal, two pounds of cottonseed meal, eleven pounds of molasses and fifteen pounds of pea vine hay, the cost being 14.5 cents per head. It is stated that this ration has diminished the cost of feeding the mules one-half and at the same time improved their health.

The Suburban Home.

The suburban house expresses freedom from restraint; it is the home of children; it means purer air; it means more room to move around in; it means gardens, and it implies a social life which years of city living may never engender. These are matters of first importance, and when to them is added the material advantage of lower rents the superiority of the suburban house over the city dwelling is established. There are long rides by trolley or train; there is the necessity of keeping early hours, there are difficulties with limited grocery, butcher and bakery service; there are other practical drawbacks. But over and beyond these is the abiding space of freedom of movement, of ample air and sunlight, of a place to live in.

And that is exactly what a house is for. It is neither to look at nor to serve as an ornament to a highway. That it should be ornamental and should be viewed with interest are matters of course that are extremely desirable, but after all it is the house within that counts; that makes suburban life bearable, adds to its joys, increases its advantages, cements its superiority to every other sort of living unless it be the country life pure and undefiled.—House Beautiful.

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

The K. P. lodge gave a farewell party to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McIntyre last evening at the lodge rooms. Cards were indulged in and refreshments served. It proved a delightful evening's entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre have hosts of friends in the city who regret their departure for Fargo.

Arthur Stivers, formerly a member of the COURIER force, but now employed at the Times office in Crookston, met with an accident last Saturday afternoon. One of the iron frames weighing about one hundred pounds fell upon his breast, breaking several ribs. He was immediately removed to the hospital and received medical treatment.

The law firm of Germo & Farley now has one of the largest law libraries in Northern Minnesota, having recently purchased the library of Attorney McIntyre, who will move to Fargo in the near future. Messrs. Germo and Farley now have between four and five hundred volumes, the list including all the important text books, digests and reports. The gentlemen may well feel proud of their library.

Adam Zeh, Wm. Erb and W. E. Wood, appraisers of ditch number 22, were at the Auditor's office yesterday making out their report and appraising the damages and benefits of the big ditch. It was announced about the court house that their report would be favorable for the construction of the ditch. This ditch is near Plummer and there has been considerable talk both pro and con in regards to the feasibility of the undertaking.

H. E. Zimmerman, boiler inspector for this district, was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Zimmerman is an electrician and has charge of the plant at Ada. He is considered an authority on matters of that kind and has a wide reputation. He is heavily interested in lands, having large holdings in Canada of which he speaks most enthusiasticly. The COURIER enjoyed his visit immensely and trusts he may drift this way again soon.

"Billy" Ittner received word the first of the week from Harry L. Williams, the coach of the University foot ball team, that all members of the squad were requested to report at Coney Island Sept. 1st. for practice. Coney Island is one of the sopular resorts on Lake Wanconia and has been the meeting place for the foot ball team for a number of years. Billy will report on time and it is said J. Drew Marshall will accompany him and endeavor to get on the second team.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Puschinsky arrived in the city Tuesday morning and will make their home hereafter with their son, Benj. The old people have retired from active business life and came to this place to enjoy their declining years in peace and happiness. They were accompanied here by a son—Ed. Puschinsky—of Hamilton, Ontario, who remained but a short time. He is foreman of a large manufacturing plant in Hamilton and could not be away from his work for any length of time.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH.

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands are liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the public ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands require the establishment and construction of a public ditch along the following described route in the Town of Gervais in said County of Red Lake and that the construction of the same would be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at the southwest corner of Section 12 in Township 151, Range 43, (Town of Gervais,) in said County, thence going north on the Section line to the northwest corner of the south-west quarter of Section 12 in said town and range, thence going west on the quarter line to about the center of Section eleven (11,) thence running southwest to the southwest corner of Section eleven (11,) thence running south through the eastern part of Section 15 to at or near the southeast corner of Section fifteen (15,) thence running south at or near the section line between Sections 22 and 23 of said town and range and terminating at the southeast corner of Section 22 in said town and range, having as its outlet a creek or coulee. Or if the engineer finds a better outlet at the next creek or coulee one half mile further west, then change the outlet into that creek.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such drainage ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred thirty (230), of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905.

A SENSIBLE LAWN FOUNTAIN

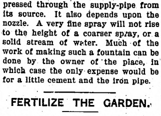
Suggestion for the Beautifying of the Grounds About the Farmhouse.

The general idea of a lawn fountain seems to be a vase-like affair standing up from the ground and looking generally inartistic. It is because of an unwillingness to have such an affair before one's house that many are deterred from having a fountain upon the lawn. It is possible, however, says the Country Gentleman, to have a simple, yet artistic, fountain that will not only prove attractive, but will be inexpensive.

Fig. 1 shows the method of construction. A circular space of the size desired is dug in the ground, to a point below the frost line. This is to be filled nearly to the surface of the ground with loose stones, wider at the bottom than at the top, that the frost may have no chance to "lift" on the outside. The supply pipe must be put in position as the stones are filled in, the diagram showing the position. Over the top of the loose stones place a layer of cement. Around the edge of the circular space lay up a little wall of stones, placing cement between them, and covering the outside, top and inside of this little wall completely with the cement.

HOW THE FOUNTAIN IS BUILT.

As this wall is made, a waste-pipe should be inserted, as suggested, the top of this being the limit to which the water can rise in the fountain. The top of the low wall should be nicely rounded and smoothed. The upper end of the supply-pipe should have a spray nozzle, so that a shower of spray may be sent up, to fall gracefully over into the water of the tank. The height to which the water will rise depends, of course, upon the force with which the water is pressed through the supply-pipe from its source. It also depends upon the nozzle. A very fine spray will not rise to the height of a coarser spray, or a solid stream of water. Much of the work of making such a fountain can be done by the owner of the place, in which case the only expense would be for a little cement and the iron pipe.



THE FOUNTAIN COMPLETED.

FERTILIZE THE GARDEN.

The Absolute Necessity of Enriching the Soil If Good Crops Are to Be Secured.

After you have given the time and the energy in spading and digging and hoeing and raking your garden spot into shape, have spent money for good seeds that you have carefully planted, you certainly expect to have a crop of nice, luscious vegetables, providing you have given the garden the proper cultivation. You will not have, though, if you do not feed the soil that is to feed the plants that are to grow into feed for you. Don't expect an impoverished soil to grow vegetables, says the Farmers' Review. That is one of the impossibilities. If you do not know it now you will find it out to your regret and cost if you try it. Give the garden the heaviest dressing of fertilizers of any spot on the farm. Use all the old, well-rotted manure that you have available and then add a liberal quantity of such of the commercial fertilizers as your soil most needs, and nearly all soils need all of the elements of fertility to grow vegetables to perfection. Buy of a reliable manufacturer some of his best complete vegetable manure and apply it at the rate of from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds per acre. It will cost something to do this, but the return that will be made to you in the crop will amply repay you for the expense.

RYE MAKES GOOD PASTURE

How One Farmer Manages to Get Good Feed for His Live Stock.

I draw the manure on the sod ground, plow and harrow well, then plant to corn and cultivate well, writes a New York farmer in the Farm and Home. The next spring I plow the corn, top-dress with stable manure and sow oats. As soon as the oats are off, plow and top-dress again, then sow to rye. In six weeks I have big feed and pasture the rye until it ferezes.

The last of May I cut the rye as soon as it heads, and the stock like it and do well on it. In the spring I seed on the rye with equal parts of clover and timothy. I pasture this in the fall, and the rye will be headed out the second time.

I cut the grass for hay three years and plow again and follow the same rotation. I manage a piece of land this way every year, have nice fall feed and never fail to have big crops. Last fall I got first and second premiums on my corn at our fair. My rye was very stout and five feet tall, the grass so stout that I could not cut it with a machine until I cleared a place for it to run.

Early War on Weeds.

The early killed is the easy killed weed and the weed that robs the crops the least. Proper bedding is essential in making richer manure, as well as increasing the bulk.

Conviction Follows Trial

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use

Lion Coffee,

the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity?

This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity.

If the verdict of MILLIONS OF HOUSEKEEPERS does not convince you of the merits of LION COFFEE, it costs you but a trifle to buy a package. It is the easiest way to convince yourself, and to make you a PERMANENT PURCHASER.

LION COFFEE is sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages, and reaches you as pure and clean as when it left our factory.

GAVE A WRONG IMPRESSION

Damaging Report in Twin City Papers Last Week Causes Much Anxiety to Those Interested.

Last week an article appeared in several of the city papers stating that the crops in this vicinity were entirely ruined. This is not true. It is true the heavy rains of last week threatened 'dire disaster to the crops, but the exceptionally fine weather of the past week has made a wonderful change in the situation. Red Lake county never had a better crop and the only cause for worry at the present time is that there may be more rains before the grain is cut.

The fine weather the past few days has done wonders in drying the fields and hundreds of acres have been harvested that were dispaired of last week. There are a number of fields that are yet too wet to allow a binder to work, but with a continuation of the present fine weather most of these fields will be saved. There may be some low places that will be slow to dry but the loss will be small.

Reports such as was sent to the dailies last week do great harm to the country, and the COURIER is correcting the grave error in response to many inquiries from parties living in other localities but who are interested in the welfare of this section of the country.

FOR BENEFIT OF FARMERS

Juries for Fall Term of Court not to be Called until November, so Says Judge Watts.

Judge Watts sent word to County Attorney Germo the first of the week not to call the grand and petit jurors until Nov. 13th, giving as his reason that he wanted the farmers of this section to have all the time possible in which to do their fall work. The term is set to meet Oct. 30th, and the Judge will be on hand at that time to transact any necessary business, but work for the juries will be postponed until Nov. 13th, giving the farmers two weeks more in which to get their fall work out of the way.

The action of Judge Watts will be greatly appreciated by the farmers of Red Lake county and the citizens at large. It is a foresight and commendable spirit characteristic of the Judge and his many friends in this county will appreciate his action.

Burning Molasses and Coal.

Although it may seem tremendously funny, it is true that molasses is being mixed with common coal dust to make a form of briquette which is said to be a splendid form of fuel. A little linseed oil is also mixed in to prevent the briquette from absorbing water. It may also seem odd to take golden grain belt beer as a medicine for few medicines are so delicious. However, the best medicine, like golden grain belt beer, is the kind to keep you from getting sick rather than that which is taken after it is too late. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson Crookston.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES

Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railways Reduce Rates on Grain from this City to Markets.

Red Lake Falls citizens were greatly interested and pleased when the announcement was made the first of the week that the railroads of the northwest had decided to make a reduction in the freight rates on grain. Freight agents of the different roads got together last Friday and decided to cut the rates on grain from all sections of the Northwest. The local shippers will enjoy a rate of two cents per hundred less than formerly and it should mean just that much more per hundred to the farmer.

It was at first supposed that the Great Northern was the only road giving the reduction, but it has developed that that road was acting with the rest of the roads in the matter. It is said that the cut is made to meet rates on the Canadian roads who made a bid for the business of the northern country last year and succeeded in securing no little amount of it.

LANS FOR NEXT YEAR

ed Lake Falls Commercial Club Starts a Movement for an Exhibit at State Fair Next Year.

At a meeting of the Commercial Club held in the city hall Monday evening a movement was started for an exhibit of Red Lake county products at the Minnesota State Fair in 1906. A resolution was passed appointing Mayor Duffy one of a committee of five to ask the county commissioners for an appropriation for an exhibit at next year's fair. The other members of the committee will be chosen from different parts of the county and it is thought that by an united effort Red Lake county can make a most creditable showing. It is a laudable enterprise and should meet with the hearty approval of all public spirited citizens of the county.

Resolutions were also passed regretting the departure of Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre from the city. The departure of these people is keenly felt by all.

The Great Northern railroad was also the recipient of thanks and good will in a resolution in regard to the decrease of freight rates on grain and flour from this city to the twin cities.

It is to be hoped that the Commercial Club will meet more frequently and discuss matters of interest to the community. In united action there is strength, and it is the "all pull together" that accomplishes results.

Resolutions of Regret.

Whereas, Attorney W. A. McIntyre, for several years past a prominent resident of this city, has deemed it advisable to seek a larger and more lucrative field of service, and

Whereas, We fully appreciate the sterling qualities and business ability of W. A. McIntyre and feeling that his removal from our midst is accompanied by a great loss to the community. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Commercial Club of the City of Red Lake Falls, exceedingly regret the removal of Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre from our city and hope they will be successful in their new field of labor.

Further Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and copies furnished to the local papers for publication.

BY THE COMMITTEE.

Resolutions of Appreciation.

Whereas. The Hon. James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad, has voluntarily reduced the rates on wheat and wheat products, two cents per hundred pounds, and,

Whereas, said reduction will result in great financial benefit to our farmers and people at large, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Commercial Club of the City of Red Red Lake Falls, duly appreciate the action of Mr. Hill and extend our gracious thanks for his interest in behalf of the Northwest.

Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Mr. Hill and published in the local papers.

A New Swindle

Here is a new swindle that is being worked among the farmers and those wanting to dispose of real estate. A farmer receives a letter asking him to list his farm for sale. According to the blanks furnished, the farmer asks the firm to try to sell his place, by advertising it for months, and agrees to pay the firm fifty cents on acre when they have fulfilled their part of the agreement. On close examination, it is found that the firm agrees to do nothing but advertise the farm, and nothing is said as to how, what extent or where it will be advertised. Whenever the advertising is done the commission is due, whether a purchaser has been found or not. Farmers who have signed this kind of a contract have been advised by their attorneys to settle the best they can and err no more.

VETERAN ANSWERS LAST CALL

Joseph Goyette, one of the few G. A. R. Boys, is Called to the Great Beyond.

Tuesday evening at his home in this city Joseph Goyette breathed his last after an illness of some months. The old gentleman had been suffering from lung trouble for months and the end was not unexpected.

Deceased was born at St. Isdore, Quebec province. Canada, about seventy-five years ago. When 20 years of age he moved to this country, locating at Green Bay, Wis., then but a small trading post. From Green Bay he moved to St. Paul and while in the latter city enlisted in the Union army. He served his adopted country three years in the civil war, and made a proud record for valor and fortitude. He moved to Red Lake county a number of years ago, being a resident of Louisville township until seven years ago when he moved into the city. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters to mourn his death.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning from St. Joseph's church, the deceased having been a member of that congregation for a number of years.

HUNTERS' LICENSES.

Auditor Ford is in Readiness to Issue Licenses to Sportsmen.

The first of the week County Auditor Ford received the hunters' licenses from the state authorities at St. Paul. The licenses are printed on heavy manila paper and are made up of the body of the license describing the licensee and his residence, checks for the auditor and the state authorities and a set of five shipping tags which are to be used in the shipment of the game. These shipping tags provide for the transfer of one moose, 2 deer and two shipments of game birds. Under the law this last cannot exceed fifty birds. Upon presenting the coupon at the station the station agent cancels such of them as agrees with the proposed shipment. There is also included in the license a shipping tag for the shipment itself.

In application for the hunting license it must be made out at the office of the county auditor of the county of which you are an inhabitant. Otherwise it is not a license under the law.

WYLIE TO FIGHT.

Citizens Organize to Take Issue with Great Northern Railway.

St. Hilaire Spectator: The people of Wylie held a mass meeting last Thursday and elected Peter Hansel, J. G. Prior and C. B. Cruzen a committee to go to St. Paul and lay their grievances before the state railroad and warehouse commissioners. The committee were here Thursday afternoon and state that the town and country are greatly excited over the later developments. It seems that orders have been issued to tear down the two elevators and that the work will commence in a few days. It is stated that Romsos Bros., who conduct a general merchandise store, and Leppert Bros., who run a hardware store, have made a settlement with the Great Northern and will move to North Dakota. The other business men at Wylie and a number of farmers in the surrounding country now propose to fight, and the sending of the committee to St. Paul is the first gun in the campaign. One hundred farmers and business men will each contribute ten dollars to start the ball rolling and it is intimated that an action will be brought in the courts at once.

HARVEST IS IN FULL BLAST

Merry Hum of the Binder Heard in Every Direction—Ideal Weather for Work Prevails.

The farmers of Red Lake county are about the busiest people in the universe these days. The first of the week the annual grain cutting began and the hum of the binder is to be heard on every side. Last week's hard rain storms cast a gloom upon the section as the grain was ripening very fast and the large amount of water in the fields made harvesting impossible. But all this has changed. The weather man turned on ideal weather the first of the week and the ground has been drying up very rapidly. If the present weather continues until the last of this week the bulk of the cutting will have been done. There are some low places that are still too wet for a binder but with the the present weather this will be remedied.

Among the farmers who have reported progress this week is J. C. Mathews, of Dorothy, who was in the city Tuesday morning attending to some repairs on his machines. He said he cut forty acres of wheat Monday and that his fields were fast getting in condition for work. He reports the grain in his neighborhood as being fully matured and that the farmers were making a desperate effort to harvest the yield with all possible speed. The crops in Red Lake county are said to be above the average.

MUCH TIMBER IS STOLEN.

Report of Wholesale Trespass Reach Timber Board.

Reports of wholesale timber stealing in Northern Minnesota were filed with the state timber board by the state cruisers, who have returned from a cruise, and the board has decided to make a determined campaign to arrest the offenders.

The evidence which the state has collected is kept secret that the board may more easily apprehend the offenders. Members of the board, after an all day session yesterday, refused to divulge the information they had received, further than to state that startling discoveries of timber trespass had been made.

It is said that several million feet of timber are envolved, and that if the board carries out its plans it will collect many thousand dollars. It is thought that the trespass was deliberate, and the state will insist on treble damages. The trespass was committed about two years ago and it is of such a nature that no blame attaches to any present or former state official.

Simultaneously with the reports of trespass information reached the board that several million feet of state timber in Northern Minnesota is in danger of fire or windfall, and it was decided to hold a public sale at the capitol at ten o'clock on the morning of Oct. 17. This timber is located in Beltrami St. Louis, Itasca, Cass, Cook and Lake counties.

"There are millions of feet of timber in these counties liable to damage or entire loss through fire and windfall," said D. Elliout, one of the state cruisers who conferred with the board yesterday. "In fact the state lost a great deal of timber through forest fires last spring and while there has been considerable rain since then there is still much danger of forest fires. Much of the timber is so situated that if a fire should start the state would lose a vast quantity.

"There is lots of timber in danger of windfall. This is due to the fact that timber companies have cut large quantities of timber in these counties and the state timber is left unprotected from the wind."

The board instructed the cruisers to make another tour of the counties for the purpose of estimating and appraising the timber to be sold.

"It is impossible to tell at this time how much timber will be sold," said Mr. Iverson. "It all depends on what condition the timber is found in and on other conditions such as the weather, etc. Under the law the board is authorized to sell at any time such timber as is in danger of fire and windfall, and we shall confine ourselves to this class of timber."

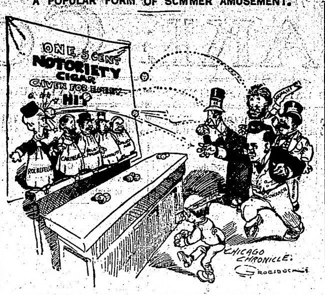
A POPULAR FORM OF SUMMER AMUSEMENT.



CHECK THE FEVER IN NEW ORLEANS

HEALTH AUTHORITIES HAVE THE SCOURGE APPARENTLY UNDER CONTROL.

Number of New Cases and Deaths Are Decreasing—Danger of Epidemic Growing Less—Quarantines Sadly Affect Business.

New Orleans, Aug. 21.—Following is the official report to six p. m. Sunday: New cases, 45; total cases to date, 1,385; deaths, 4; total deaths, 196; remaining under treatment, 381. No better evidence of the fact that the visitation of mosquito fever is not only being controlled here, but that there is a chance for its eradication, can be found than in the daily reports of cases and deaths. For several days the number of new cases has shown a decline, while the number of deaths have been remarkably low, considering the number of cases reported a week ago. The death list indicates that practically every case that develops is now being reported, and that means that the modern method of treatment to prevent spread is being applied. When that condition is assured the end of the visitation is in sight and it looks as if that condition is approaching.

Appears in New Quarter.

Among the new squares that have been infected is that in which the supreme and civil district courts and the St. Louis cathedral are located. Heretofore the fever has fringed it without invading it, but a number of Italians are now down with the fever in a row of ancient houses standing next to the civil district court building. Extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent any further infection of the square. Many lawyers daily visit it, as do a large number of Catholics attending services at the cathedral.

Quarantine Affects Business.

The rigid quarantines, which have been maintained now for five weeks, are beginning to tell on business generally. The oyster industry will probably feel the full effects of the restrictions as the open season begins September 1. Retail merchants have not suffered severely, but wholesalers whose receipts are measured by the business they do with the surrounding country are still seriously affected. As the regular business season opens here on September 1, strong appeals are being made through circulars and otherwise in cities, towns and counties in restoring freight traffic.

Gulf Coast Tied Up.

The discovery of nearly a dozen cases of yellow fever at Mississippi City, on the gulf coast, within three miles of Gulfport and the fact that Jackson has tied up the gulf and ship island road by the declaration of quarantine against the entire Mississippi coast, leaves New Orleans the only avenue open to the gulf coast towns. Alabama has on a tight quarantine already, against these towns, and with the rest of Mississippi quarantined against them, the reason why there should not be daylight communication with New Orleans, as was the case during the prevalence of the fever in 1897, has disappeared. Several thousand people here summer on the coast, including bankers, merchants and professional men. Many have handsome homes there. When the coast quarantine against New Orleans was put on by Mississippi they left their families at their summer homes. The raising of the quarantine would enable them to visit their families daily.

Clerk and Cash Gone.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Sent to the bank with a satchel containing $10,000 belonging to Charles A. Stevens & Bros., No. 111 State street, Gus Bobbs, 22 years old, an employe of the concern, disappeared Thursday afternoon. In the opinion of Charles A. Stevens the young man fled from the city with the cash. Investigation has proven, it is said, that Bobbs played the races and was fond of poker.

Record Crop Expected.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18.—From recent estimates made of the citrus crop for next year indications point to a record-breaker. That there will be upwards of 85,000 carloads is certain, and the aggregate may reach 40,000 cars.

GRANTS PEOPLE'S PRAYER

Czar of Russia Orders Formation of National Assembly with Important Powers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—Russia's national representative assembly, the fruit of decades of stress and striving for reform, which endows the Russian people with the right of being consulted through their chosen representatives in the suggestion, preparation and repeal of legislation, to-day takes its place among the fundamental institutions of the empire. In a solemn manifesto Emperor Nicholas announces this morning to his subjects the fruition of his plans summoning the representatives of the people, as outlined by him in a rescript issued on March 3 last, and fixes the date for the first convocation as mid-January, and in a ukase, addressed to the senate, formally orders that body to register as the imperial will a law project, formulating the nature, powers and procedure of the new governmental organization.

The national assembly will be a consultative organization in connection with the council of the empire and not a legislative body. The powers of the emperor remain theoretically absolute. As the emperor is the supreme law giver and autocrat, the decisions of the Douma have only a recommendatory and not a binding force, though the rejection of any legislative measure by a two-thirds' majority of both houses is sufficient to prevent that measure from becoming law. The representatives of the people will have not only the right to be heard on any legislation proposed by the government, but also can voice their desires on new laws and will have the right to exert a certain supervision over budgetary expenditures. The suffrage, though wide, is not universal. It is based on property qualification, the peasantry having a vote through membership in communal organizations. A considerable portion of the residents of the cities, possessing no lands, together with women, soldiers, civil functionaries, etc., are without suffrage.

LORD CURZON QUITS.

Tenders His Resignation as Viceroy of India—Earl of Minto Succeeds Him.

London, Aug. 21.—The resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedleston, as viceroy of India and the appointment of the earl of Minto as his successor, was announced at the India office Sunday. According to the correspondence, which is issued in the form of a white book, it appears that Lord Curzon's resignation was cabled to that office on August 12. The correspondence shows a decidedly bitter feeling between Lord Curzon, the India office and Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the forces in India, over the new plan of army administration in India. Lord Curzon's dissatisfaction came to a head with the refusal of the cabinet to appoint Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Barrow, on Lord Curzon's recommendation, military supply member of the council.

Railroads Kill 10,046.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Railroad statistics for the year 1904, as given in the annual report of the interstate commerce commission, show that there were at the end of that year 297,073 miles of railroad in the United States. An appalling death list—10,046—represents the year's toll of human life taken in railway accidents. In addition, 84,155 persons were injured.

Doomed Man a Suicide.

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—In the presence of the "death watch" Lambert Niehaus, under sentence to be hanged Monday for killing his brother-in-law, Saturday committed suicide by stabbing himself in the abdomen three times. Death was instantaneous.

A Remarkable Case.

Honolulu, Aug. 18.—A dispatch by wireless telegraph from Hilo says that Hena, the Hawaiian wife of Kailua, a Chinese, gave birth to one child on last Thursday, two on Sunday, one on Monday, two on Tuesday morning and one on Tuesday night. All are dead.

Hanged Himself.

Botzen, Austria, Aug. 19.—Jori, the anarchist who was arrested while meditating an attempt on the life of Emperor Francis Joseph during the emperor's forthcoming visit to Botzen hanged himself in prison Friday.

READ THIS, YE SUFFERING WOMEN!

NUTRIOLA COMPANY—Gentlemen: I had been an invalid for over 10 years. KIDNEY TROUBLE had caused such a weakness in my back that I was unable to work standing up. Then disease peculiar to my sex fastened upon me and my life became one round of UNENDING TORTURE, such as only one afflicted as I have been can know. To stand upon my feet for five minutes was a torture unspeakable. The terrible DRAGGING DOWN SENSATION would send such a feeling to my brain as to impair my vision and drive me almost insane. Nervous Headache was my constant visitant, and the slightest noise would drive me almost wild. The doctors told me I could never get well. I learned of NUTRIOLA and applied for treatment. As a result I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH. From 98 pounds I increased in weight to 143 pounds. I have never seen a sick day since. I now weigh 158 pounds. I would not be back again where I was before I took NUTRIOLA for all the wealth of the world. May God bless you in your efforts to help suffering humanity. Your grateful servant, MRS. JANE A. For Pain

Take a Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pill, and the Pain will disappear Like Magic.

Not by paralyzing the nerves and glands, like opium, morphine, cocaine, and other dangerous drugs, but by increasing the natural secretions.

This action is obtained as a result of modern discoveries in medicine, making it possible to relieve pain without bad after-effects.

You can safely depend upon Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills to relieve and cure such pains as Neuralgia, Headache, Stomachache, Menstrual Pains, Rheumatism, Backache, Toothache, etc.

They will also, by their calming action on the nerves, almost instantly relieve such distressing feelings as Dizziness, Car-Sickness, Indigestion, Irritability, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, etc.

Not merely do they relieve, but they also absolutely cure, because by persevering in their use, you do away with the cause.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are guaranteed that first package will benefit, or your money back. Never sold in bulk.

"I am thankful for the good Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have and are doing me. Ever since the war I have had spells of severe throbbing headache, caused by catarrh, until six years ago, I began taking Anti-Pain Pills, the only remedy that ever gave me relief. Since then I have not had one hard attack, because I take a Pill and it overcomes the difficulty."—GEO. SAUNDERS, Greensburg, Ind.

PLAN FOR PEACE IN GRAVE PERIL

PLENIPOTENTIARIES FAIL TO AGREE ON IMPORTANT FEATURES OF JAPAN'S TERMS.

President Roosevelt Again Appears in Role of Peacemaker—Believed to Have Suggested Arbitration of Disputed Points.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 19.—At Friday's session the peace plenipotentiaries were unable to agree upon Article 11, relating to the limitation of Russia's sea power, and it was deferred. Article 12, providing for the grant of fishing rights on the Russian littoral, was unanimously agreed upon. The articles which were passed over did not come up Friday. The protocols will be drawn up during the three days' interim and on Tuesday the final struggle will come. The next sitting of the conference will be held at three p. m. Tuesday.

Japs Have Yielded Nothing.

The Japanese have been implacable throughout the six days' sittings. They have listened and explained, but they have yielded not an iota of the substance of their original demands. M. Witte accepted outright seven of the twelve Japanese conditions, one in principle and four, including the main issues, indemnity and Sakhalin, he rejected. The other two, limitation of naval power and the surrender of interned warships, might have been arranged had there been any prospect of agreement on the two points upon which the divergence seemed irreconcilable.

In the oral discussion of the terms, M. Witte yielded upon two articles, but substantially the result of the 13 sittings of the plenipotentiaries has only been to emphasize the position taken by M. Witte in the written reply he presented last Saturday to the Japanese terms. And now both sides turn to home for the last word before the cards are thrown face upward upon the table next Tuesday, for the impasse reached Friday by the plenipotentiaries is recognized to be only a diplomatic friction. If in the interim fresh instructions are received by either side compromise is yet possible. But the chances are recognized to be slim. So far as the Russian plenipotentiaries are concerned, there never was a chance of their yielding both indemnity and Sakhalin. The cession of Sakhalin without indemnity was, according to the best inside information, the extreme limit to which M. Witte would ever consent to go, and the emperor has not yet given the word even to concede that.

President as Peacemaker.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 21.—President Roosevelt, it is believed, has played his trump card and averted a disastrous ending of the peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H. At the request of the president Baron Rosen came to Oyster Bay Saturday afternoon and had a long talk with Mr. Roosevelt regarding the status of the negotiations and the stumbling blocks that have stopped further progress by the envoys. Mr. Roosevelt, in all probability, pointed out to Baron Rosen that, indemnity and all, it will be cheaper in the end for Russia to end the conflict and devote herself to internal improvements and the development of her vast resources; that the first thing Russia should do is to build up a navy.

He pointed out that without a navy the island of Sakhalin which Russia declines to cede,, is of small value, and, as according to the president's idea ,it takes a generation to build up a navy, he probably suggested that Sakhalin was not worth bothering about.

Besides Sakhalin and the indemnity there remain articles 10 and 11, referring to the transfer to Japan of the warships interned in the Pacific and the limitation of Russia's naval forces in Pacific waters, These conditions, it is believed Baron Rosen put before the president as particularly bitter pills to swallow, but the president's proposal, it is believed, affects these points also in such a way as to make them acceptable to Russia.

Favors Arbitration.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 21.—There is good authority for announcing that the feature of the proposition of President Roosevelt, communicated through Baron Rosen to Mr. Witte, and transmitted by the latter to Emperor Nicholas, was based upon the principle of arbitration. Whether the proposal contemplates arbitration of all the articles upon which the plenipotentiaries have failed to agree, or only upon the question of indemnity cannot be stated with positiveness, but it is more than probable that it relates only to indemnity, or to indemnity and the cession of the island of Sakhalin. Neither is it possible to say whether the president has yet made a similar proposition to Japan. The customary diplomatic proceedings in such a case would be to submit the proposal simultaneously to both countries, but there might be an advantage in securing the adherence of one before submitting it to the other. To Emperor Nicholas, the author of The Hague peace conference, the suggestion of arbitration which will necessarily immediately command the sympathy of the public opinion of the world will be particularly hard to reject. If he agrees, Japan, if she has not already done so, will be all the more bound to submit her claim to the decision of an impartial arbitrator. Acceptance by both sides would involve a great extension of the principle of arbitration as nations have heretofore declined to arbitrate questions involving their honor and dignity."

STATE FAIR TIME HAS COME ONCE MORE.

The Week of September 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 to be the Annual Gopher Holiday Season.

THE FAMOUS DAN PATCH THE STAR ATTRACTION OPENING DAY

Half-Fare Rates Have Been Made by All Railroads for the Entire Northwest—Every Division Crowded With Exhibits—Strong Amusement Program Afternoons and Evenings.

Bright and early Monday morning, September 4, the Minnesota state fair will be opened to the public. It will continue through the week, closing on Saturday night, Sept. 9, at 11 o'clock, and every hour of the six days will be replete with interest. A year of hard work has been put into the preparation. It is believed that the fair will be more perfect in every department than ever before, more worth seeing, and stronger in every way as a promoter of the interests of the state.

Half-fare rates have been made on all railroads centering at Minneapolis and St. Paul. For 200 miles south and east these rates apply, while the liberality of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines gives the people to the west, as far as the Missouri river, the same low rate.

The rates go into effect Saturday, Sept. 2, so that people in any part of Minnesota or the Dakotas may reach the cities by Saturday night, Sunday or Monday morning in plenty of time for the events of the opening day. This is important, for the first day of the fair will be the best this year. All exhibits will be in place by 9 a. m. During the morning United States Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa will make the formal opening address. In the afternoon there will be the full program of amusements, including the appearance of the famous Dan Patch in an attempt to lower his world's record of 1:56.

Dan Patch is the most remarkable horse in the world. He is easily the fastest harness horse alive, or that ever lived, the only horse that ever paced a mile under two minutes, and the horse with the brightest prospects. For Dan Patch is still a comparatively young horse and may startle the world again with great achievements.

The Minnesota state fair race track is in the pink of condition, and is now pronounced by experts to be the fastest track in the country. So it is expected that Dan can come close to his record and everything possible will be done to insure a record-breaking heat. He will go three heats with a runner at one side.

Dan Patch will appear only Monday, Sept. 4. His other engagements preclude any other appearance at this fair. It will be easily the greatest race track event of the year, and something that no one should miss seeing.

On Monday there will also be a great racing program, including one of the new $2,500 purse races and the fastest trotting race—the 2:10 class for $1,500. All the great specialty attractions will be seen during the afternoon. This is the list:

Band Concert—First Regiment Band.

Sensational high wire performance.

The Five Flying Moores—Aerial Trapeze Act.

Fearless High Diving—120 feet into net.

Ladies' Relay Race—three daring riders in 24-mile race, four miles each day, changing horses at the end of each mile in front of the grand stand.

The Death-Trap Loop—Hazardous, death-defying "loop-the-loop" act by "The Great Babcock."

Balloon ascension and parachute drop.

These attractions, with the exception of the ladies' relay race, will also be repeated in the evening, concluding with Pain's latest pyrotechnic spectacle, "The Fall of Port Arthur." Pain's productions need no introduction to northwestern people. They have been seen from year to year at the state fair, and always give satisfaction. The Port Arthur portrays scenes with which everyone has become familiar during the past months and will be of thrilling and absorbing interest.

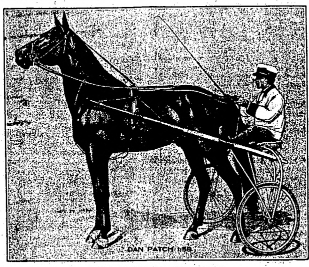
Babcock's Death Trap Loop act is probably the most exciting ever seen in a public performance. It was given last year at the state fair and attracted more attention than anything else on the program.

The program given above will be repeated in substance each afternoon and evening of fair week, Dan Patch, of course, excepted, as he will be on hand only on Monday.

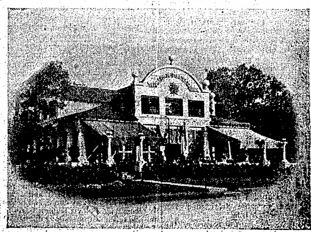
Other amusements will include the Merry Pike with its specialties, wild animals, tame elephants and camels, illusions, and all sorts of curiosities and entertainments. There will be music on the grounds at every turn. Liberati's world famous military band will give two concerts daily, and the Minnesota State Band, First Regiment Band, Third Regiment Band and other musical organizations will take part in the various programs.

In all divisions the fair will be overflowing. The fair has been made the rendezvous for the fine herds of cattle which will make up a special train for the Portland exposition, starting just after the close of the Minnesota fair. This will bring many fine cattle and horses to the show, and with the national exhibitions of the Shorthorn and Hereford associations will produce the greatest cattle show ever seen in one place. Agricultural Hall will be in finer shape than ever before and will have a larger and more representative exhibit. The farm machinery department has spread all over the northeast corner of the fair grounds and will be by all odds the largest exhibit ever gotten together.

C. N. Cosgrove of Le Sueur is president of the fair this year, as for several years past, and E. W. Randall is secretary. B. F. Nelson of Minneapolis is first vice-president, C. M. Griggs of St. Paul second vice-president, and the board of managers is made up of J. M. Underwood, Lake City; L. D. Baird, Austin; W. M. Liggett, St. Anthony Park; Wm. E. Lee, Long Prairie; D. S. Hall, Buffalo Lake; G. W. Patterson, Worthington.



THE MARVELOUS DAN PATCH.
The fastest harness horse in the world who will go against his own world's record of 1:56, at the Minnesota State Fair, on Monday, Sept. 4th—Opening Day—only.



THE MINNESOTA ST. LOUIS BUILDING.
This building was first erected on the grounds of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis. After the close of the World's Fair it was turned over to the Minnesota State Fair and brought to the Fair Grounds where it has been rebuilt in a permanent way. It will be headquarters for the newspaper men of the state.

$1.00 Per Year, in Advance.

If "reciprocity is the legitimate child of protection" it is a long time being born.

CHARMING SEABURY might properly be allowed $5 per day for mailing a resignation to Governor Johnson.

THE St. Paul Dispatch political writer devotes about half his space to taking back what he said yesterday.

PETER E. HANSON, secretary of state, offers himself as a vicarious sacrific in case the Republicans care to unanimously agree on a candidate for governor.

GOVERNOR CUMMINS brings a severe indictment against the Republican party in saying that "reciprocity has been coddled in conventions and crucified in congress."

DOWIE commands his faithful followers to present a baby each year at the baptismal fount. It is apparent that equal suffrage has no place in the Dowie creed.

ACCORDING to the federal census bulletin the value of the railroads in the United States is $11,244, 852,000: and the value of Minnesota roads is $446,000,000, placing the state fifth in point of railroad investment.

SAID the sick man to the lawyer: "Let me explain about my property." Said the lawyer to the sick man: "Leave that all to me." Said the sick man to the lawyer: "Well, I guess I might as well. You will get it all anyway."

WHEN nothing else can be said against a public man he is called "a political accident." As a matter of fact the majority of our most capable officials and statesmen are "accients." And, its nothing to their discredit.

CHARLIE MITCHELL has the charming habit of not allowing the truth to interfere with a choice bit of imagination. Recently Charlie discovered that the Standard Oil company intended to finance a Democratic daily at Minneapolis. This is probably as nearly a correct statement as could be expected from Charlie.

THE staid old Pioneer Press is growing pessimistic again, and sees dark spots on the political sky. There is danger even, according to this authority, of a desertion of millions of Republican voters to the Democratic party unless the Senate wakes up and shows some sympathy with the people on the tariff and reciprocity questions.

THIS is tit for tat. The St. Peter Herald says: We have not been authoritatively informed that the former editor of the Herald has contracted the presidential itch. At any rate his chances of reaching the presidency are better than those of Congressman McCleary of getting the chairmanship of the committee on appropriations."

IT is given out that P. Coerner of Litchfield will be a candidate for state treasurer before the next Republican convention. Mr. Koerner is the son of a former treasurer, and he is at present a deputy in the office of Treasurer Block. Mr. Koerner is an active, enthusiastic young man, and he is going to give some of the older heads pointers on politics.

REPORTS compiled by State Labor Commissioner Williams indicate a heavy increase in the number of children under sixteen years old in employment. In the whole state there are 1,729 children at work, as compared with 770 a year ago. There are 614 at work in St. Paul, 713 in Minneapolis and 186 in Duluth.

AND now the story is going the rounds of the newspaper that Tom Lawson made money on his western trip, says the Preston Times. If paying his own railroad fare and hotel bills and getting no share of the gate receipts is making money, Lawson must no doubt plead guilty. The story is probably the invention of men of the Rockefeller class who would stoop at nothing in throwing discredit on Lawson in order neutraize his terriffic onslaught on the Wall street thieves.

EMERSON, Man., has a dog license law that will doubtless prove effective. All those who have not paid their license on their respective canines within a given time will be summoned to appear in court to answer to a misdemeanor and will be fined according to the terms of the ordinance. This would seem to us to be a more effective way than taking revenge on the life of the poor dumb brutes who owe their existance to the generosity of their masters.

THE Great Northern railway has announced a substantial reduction in grain rates. The decrease amounts to an average of nearly two cents on every bushel of grain raised in the northwest. The decrease from Red Lake county points will be about one and one-half cents per bushel, and the really desirable feature of the reduction is the fact that the farmer gets the direct benefit. James J. Hill could give no better evidence that he is desirous of building up the great northwest.

SAM GORDON of the Browns' Valley Tribune run short of editorial stuff last week, and gave us a few of the epigrams prepared for his Sunday school class. This is a sample: "You have no doubt noticed that it is very difficult to obliterate the marks of a pencil by applying pencil marks. So it is with character; a misdeed once performed is difficult to hide by other misdeeds. The better way is to begin over by turning to a new clean leaf." But Sam always says something scintillating, whether in church or sanctum.

EZRA G. VALENTINE, one of the prominent lawyers and politicians of northern Minnesota, died last Saturday at his summer home near Battle Lake. Mr. Valentine was a resident of Breckenridge and gained his popularity as one of the early exponents of the drainage theory. He was a member of the first board of state drainage commissioners, and much of the good work accomplished during the past fifteen years is attributable to his efforts. In 1902 Mr. Valentine was a candidate for congress. He was an honest, patriotic citizen, deeply interested in public affairs from the purely unselfish standpoint of an intense desire to benefit his fellows.

SOME people have a peculiar notion of honesty. Last week a man dropped into a department store at St. Paul and bought four cents' worth of shoestrings. He handed the girl a quarter and told her to keep the change. Acting on the suggestion she took four coppers from her purse and sent them to the cashier, keeping the quarter. It now turns out that the shoestring purchaser was a detective, and the girl was arrested for larceny. Now, this is strange. The department store lost not a penny, and the twenty-one cents was offered as a gratuity. It is hard to understaud how the girl could be a thief. The department store may object to their girls receiving gratuities, but a violation of the rule would not be sufficient cause for arrest on the charge of larceny. There are some queer inconsistencies in law.

Was in Poor Health for Years.

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansficid, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." The Virginia Bonds.

At a recent meeting of the state board of investment Treasurer Block proposed the sale of $2,145,000 in Virginia bonds belonging to the Minnesota school fund, in order to provide funds to buy the various county drainage bonds. The other members of the board—Governor Johnson, Chief Justic Start and Auditor Iverson—declined to concur, and the Virginia bonds were not sold.

Treasurer Block is a candidate for governor, and his friends argue that those opposed to his plan are opposing drainage. This argument, however, is controverted by Auditor Iverson, who says there will be plenty of money on hand to take care of the drainage bonds without selling any of the invested securities of the school fund. It is really too bad that Treasurer Block's first great campaign is one should fare so badly.

G. B. Burhans testifies after four years.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." OLD PEOPLE

Their Pains and Ailments

Any taint of the blood quickly shows itself with old people, and troubles, which a younger, more vigorous constitution holds in check, take possession of those of advanced years. A mole, wart or pimple often begins to inflame and fester, terminating in a sore that refuses to heal. Wandering pains of a rheumatic character are almost constant, the joints get stiff and the muscles sore, while sleeplessness and nervousness make life a burden. The natural activity of the body is not so great in old age and all the organs get dull and sluggish, failing to carry out the waste matters and poisons accumulating in the system and they are taken up and absorbed by the blood, rendering it weak and unable to properly nourish the system. There is no reason why old age should not be as healthy as youth if the blood is kept pure and strong. S. S. S. is purely vegetable and is the safest and best blood purifier and tonic for old people, because it is gentle, but at the same time thorough in its action, purifying the blood of all poisons and foreign matter, strengthening it and toning up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. Almost from the first dose the appetite increases, the general health begins to improve and the pains and ailments pass away.

I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which left me almost a physical wreck. To add to my wretched condition, Rheumatism developed. In a short time after beginning S. S. S. I was relieved of the pains and have gained in flesh and strength and my general health is better than for years. I heartily recommend S. S. S. for all blood diseases.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic. Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H, Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For several months I was given up to die, I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctor's drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at all druggists; price 50c.

Was Wasting Away.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years" writes Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without immediate relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less thad two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." During the summer kidney irregularaties are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

DEATH AND LOSS BY TORNADOES.

FARMER KILLED NEAR LANESBORO, MINN AND CROPS ARE RUINED.

Homes are Wrecked in Many Places, and Stock Slaughtered by the Elements. Storms in Other Sections.

Lanesboro, Minn., Aug. 22.—The storm of Sunday night was severe in this territory, several points in southern Minnesota being hard hit. One man was killed and several people injured. Crops are reported to have suffered to a considerable extent.

Four farms were in the path of the storm near Pilot Mound, nine miles north of this place. T. Danielson, owner of one of the farms, was killed in his house, which was totally demolished. All of the buildings on his place were wrecked. Iver Haugen, who was at the Danielson home, was seriously injured. The other members of the Danielson family escaped unhurt.

The farm buildings belonging to William Cocker, Andrew Menes, and Frank Sanders were wrecked. Mrs. Mrs. Frank Sanders had her arm crushed.

The storm struck this section about 8 o'clock. Rain came down in torrents, the wind bew a terriffic gale and vivid lightning illuminated the black sky, bringing terror to the residents of Lanesboro, Rushford and the surrounding.

Sacred Heart, Minn., Aug. 22.—A hurricane passed through this village last night at 8 o'clock, and all all the grain in stacks in its path were blown down.

H. O. Aaris' barn, three miles west of here was blown down, the horses and cattle being pinned in the debris. Three cows and one horse were killed. One barn here in town was blown down, and a good many fruit and shade trees were uprooted. About two inches of rain fell in 25 minutes.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 22.—Traffic on the Milwaukee and Burlington roads was completely demoralized by the storm. At Weaver, Minn., a large section of the Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks were carried away and mail trains are running over a temporary track and are from five to seven hours late.

Yankton, S. D., Aug. 21.—This city witnessed the worst storm within three years last night, which caused a heavy loss to crops in this vicinity. The wind blew at the rate of 56 miles an hour and the rain and hail came down in torrents.

Airship Stirs City.

New York, Aug. 22.—Thousands of persons witnessed a genuine trip of an aerial machine Monday that skimmed through the air with the grace of a bird. After rising to a height of about a quarter of a mile above the strange ship made a voyage of more than two miles and came back to earth almost on the spot where the navigator said it would land.

It was exactly 1:22 p. m. when the airship, with its inventor, A. Roy Knabenshue of Toledo, at the helm in the huge egg-shapped baloon, left its anchorage in a vacant lot at Sixty-second street and Central Park west and rose straight in the air. Just fifty-four minutes later the ship landed gently on the greensward of Central park.

Drowned.

Jefferson, Wis, Aug. 22.—Frank Hall, his oldest daughter, aged fourteen, and his oldest son, aged twelve, were drowned in Crawfish river, about two miles west of here.

Hall and his wife were on the shore fishing, while the two children were bathing. The girl was in distress, and the father rushed into the water to her rescue. He succeeded in bringing her part way to the shore, who said, "I can do no more," and sank.

The son went to their assistance, but he lost his strength and sank.

Teaches the King.

New York, Aug. 22.—Ralph Leo Ray of Lancaster, Wis., has begun his duduties as tutor in the Amerlean language and customs to King Alfonso of Spain in the royal palace at Madrid. His letters to his parents, who reside here, declare that the process of introducing the youthful king to the idiom of Uncle Sam's language is progressing happily for both teacher and pupil.

Blown Up.

Winnepeg, Man., Aug. 22.—Two miners, named John Manskey and William Kolonkoshi, were killed in Pit No. 4 of the Canadian American Coal and Coke company mines. They had fired an overhead blast and remained at a distance until the smoke cleared away. A large mass of coal gave away and both men were buried beneath it.

Death on Railroads.

Washington, Aug. 19. The annual report of the interstate commerce committee, giving the railroad statistics for the year 1904, shows that the total number of casualties to persons on the railways in the United States was 94,201, of which 10,046 represented the number of persons killed and 84,155 the number injured.

Of the persons killed, 441 were passengers, and the number wounded was 9,111, or one person killed out of every 1,622,267 carried, and one injured out of every 78,523 carried.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH.

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands are liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the public ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands require the establishment and construction of a public ditch along the following described route in the Town of Gervais in said County of Red Lake and that the construction of the same woule be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at the southwest corner of Section 12 in Township 151, Range 43, (Town of Gervais,) in said County, thence going north on the Section line to the northwest corner of the south-west quarter of Section 12 in said town and range, thence going west on the quarter line to about the center of Section eleven (11,) thence running southwest to the southwest corner of Section eleven (11,) thence running south through the eastern part of Section 15 to at or near the southeast corner of Section fifteen (15,) thence running south at or near the section line between Sections 22 and 23 of said town and range and terminating at the southeast corner of Section 22 in said town and range, having as its outlet a creek or coulee. Or if the engineer finds a better outlet at the next creek or coulee one half mile further west, then change the outlet into that creek.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such drainage ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred thirty (230), of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Let the boastful man have his own way. He won't listen to you anyway.

The only way to tell a love story, after all, is in kindness and good cooking.

It is too late to congratulate some people after they have been married as long as a week.

A great many people have consciences that would require an alarm clock to wake up.

Artificial roses never appear to so poor an advantage as when they bloom on a girl's cheeks.

Come to think of it, if you hate any one don't you hate his laugh more than anything else about him?

A pessimist is one who sees the time ahead when he will break with a friend and therefore tells the friend nothing. An optimist sees only eternal friendship and tells the friend all.—Atchison Globe.

The Creamery For Ice Cream.

The creamery industry in Maryland is in some respects quite different from that found in the west, inasmuch as most of those in this state do not confine themselves to the making of butter, but make butter only as a means of utilizing surplus and sell most of their products as cream or ice cream. The selling of the products of creameries for cream and ice cream rather than the making of it into butter has enabled the farmer to realize better prices than would be obtained otherwise. Some creameries of the state that have made all of their products into butter have been run quite successfully, while many have been a disappointment to the farmers and could not hold their patronage because of the low prices paid for milk.—C. T. Doane.

Feeding Plantation Mules.

The ration now fed to mules at one of the large Louisiana sugar factories consists of eight pounds of corn and cob meal, two pounds of cottonseed meal, eleven pounds of molasses and fifteen pounds of pea vine hay, the cost being 14.5 cents per head. It is stated that this ration has diminished the cost of feeding the mules one-half and at the same time improved their health.

The Suburban Home.

The suburban house expresses freedom from restraint; it is the home of children; it means purer air; it means more room to move around in; it means gardens, and it implies a social life which years of city living may never engender. These are matters of first importance, and when to them is added the material advantage of lower rents the superiority of the suburban house over the city dwelling is established. There are long rides by trolley or train; there is the necessity of keeping early hours, there are difficulties with limited grocery, butcher and bakery service; there are other practical drawbacks. But over and beyond these is the abiding space of freedom of movement, of ample air and sunlight, of a place to live in.

And that is exactly what a house is for. It is neither to look at nor to serve as an ornament to a highway. That it should be ornamental and should be viewed with interest are matters of course that are extremely desirable, but after all it is the house within that counts; that makes suburban life bearable, adds to its joys, increases its advantages, cements its superiority to every other sort of living unless it be the country life pure and undefiled.—House Beautiful.

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

The Courier stationery store is showing some unusually handsome box papers these days.

Attention is again called to the Sunday School Institute at the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday and Thursday August 30-31. Two Sunday School experts, Mrs. Hobart of Minneapolis and Mr. Orchard of Fargo will have charge of the work. All are invited to attend the meetings. The program, which is a splendid one appeared in this paper last week.

Swanson, the river cook, arrived in the city last week for his annual visit. Following his usual custom he gave a bean supper Sunday evening at the Joe Belair home. The band was present besides a large number of other citizens, and all enjoyed the spread immensely. Swanson's bean bakes are looked forward to with pleasure by a large number of our people.

A. Delorme arrived in the city Saturday from Northwest Canada where he has a claim. He is located 30 miles north of Calgary, Alberta, and reports the country as prospering. He is engaged in the stock business extensively and says he finds a ready market for his cattle right at home. Thousands of people are moving into that province and business is booming. On his way here he saw Ed. Bray who is located at Calgary. He reports that Ed. is doing a fine business in the hotel line and has bright prospects for the future.

Hunters in this section are getting ready for the season's sport which opens Sept. 1st. Already most every gun in the city is spoken for for the first day's shooting and many are the plans and schemes for the sport. It is satd there is only a fair crop of chickens this year owing to the wet season drowning out the young birds. Ducks are said to be plentiful to the north of us and great sport may be looked for in this line. The wild rice yield this year has been heavy and the ducks are said to be in fine condition. There will be a wholesale slaughter after the first.

Aim To Keep Truants in School.

Few boys and girls of school age will be wanderimg on the streets of Minnesota cities and villages during school hours after the 1907 legislature, if Gov. John A. Johnson, Superintendent of Public Instruction J. W. Olsen and Labor Commissioner W. H. Williams carry out a plan which they have under consideration.

These officials, who have held several conferences during the last few days, propose to draft a law for submission to the next legislature providing for the appointment of truant officers in the congressional districts to enforce the compulsory education and child labor laws.

Minnesota's child labor and compulsory education laws at present are two distinct statues, and according to these officials they are so conflicting as to make the laws practically worthless. It is proposed to draft one law prohibiting children under sixteen years from working in any factory, mill or workshop and requiring children of eight to sixteen years of age to attend school.

It is proposed to appoint a truant officer for each of the nine congressional districts and to give him full power to compel children to attend school. It is suggested that the truant officers work in conjuction with the inspectors of the state labor bureau. It will be impossible for one officer to look after all the children of a congressional district. The inspectors of the labor bureau will keep on the look out for children out of school and report their names to the truant officer.

Supt. Olsen had a conference with Mr. Williams on the subject and expressed himself as pleased with the plan. The officials will draft a law several months before the next session of the legislature, so that there will be plenty of time to wage a campaign for its passage.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

It does not pay to use the milking stool on the cow.

George Gould has gone into the poultry business, and he is making it pay.

Prices for good short-haired hides are now claimed to be higher than twenty years past.

An up-to-date farmer will not tolerate dung-hill hens any more than he would scrub cows or swine.

If you use fly paper, put it high in the room. There you will catch more flies, and you will not be nearly so apt to get caught yourself.

The carrot is so called because
It's worth its weight in gold
For feeding cows and horses, too,
Throughout the winter cold.

A tin wash basin will last but a short time, as commonly used. To make it last a long time, keep the bottom of it painted with common cil paint.

Look out for the picture-enlarging agent who promises, for a dollar, a fine pastel from your treasured photograph. Don't let him have photograph or money—if you value either.

Never frighten young animals that you have on the farm. Colts are very sensitive. Stroke the young calves on their sides, be gentle to the swine, and be quiet among the sheep.

Because a cow was imported from across the sea is not a dead sure sign that she is just what you and I think she ought to be. Lots of miserably poor cows come from the other side of the ocean.

The farmer usually has a little time in August when he can rest, if he will—a sort of breathing spell between the work of the earlier summer and that of the fall; and he should make the most of it.

Do not cut short your own day's work and leave the hired man to milk the cows after dark. Did you ever think what misery a cow must be in with a big bag pressed just as full of milk as it can hold?

More than 600 head of cattle have been ordered killed by the state authorities of Wisconsin since January 1. They are trying to stamp out tuberculosis which is so prevalent there among the cattle.

Make a definate central plan for the conduct of the farm; then every season let experience seek to revise and improve it a little. Keep a record of the failures as well as the successes. Perhaps it will help you to avoid them next time, so have them located on your chart.

Do not permit water to stand in the buggy body. If moisture gets into the sills and frame of the body, the box is liable to open at the corners, as they are bone dry, and if they swell nothing can keep the corners from opening. Wet carpet left in the bottom of the bed is likely to cause the same result.

And we notice that automible clubs while pretending to a desire to protect the public, are always on hand with a powerful lobby when the legislatures meet, trying to prevent the farmers from getting adequate laws passed, usually with success; and then they are seen rushing to the courts in order to have nullified such feeble laws as have been enacted.

The department of Agriculture has issued a 776 page book and contains much valuable information, especially on matters which directly interest the farmer. But it also treats of agricultural problems in the United States island possessions. It is beautifully illustrated with color-plates and halftone cuts and has statistics galore. It is really a book of great value to anyone interested in agriculture or fruit growing. You can obtain one free of charge by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

There is great need of educating the farmer in the care and right use of the machinery on the farm. It is estimated that there is made and sold each year in this country about $100,000,000 worth of farm machinery and that this goes into the farmers' hands, one-half of whom do not know how to select it wisely or to keep it in proper condition. By the improper care given it the loss runs into millions of dollars annually. In addition it is stated that implement manufacturers lose large sums of money in making and attempting to introduce machinery unsuited to the work it is intended to perform, with a resultant loss to both farmers and manufacturers.

AUTO IS WRECKED.

Son of Millionaire Thomas F. Walsh Killed—Five Others Are Injured.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 21.—Vinson Walsh, son of Thomas F. Walsh, the millionaire mine owner of Colorado, was killed and four of his companions injured in the wreck of an automobile at Kaston's beach, near this city, Saturday afternoon. All of the injured are young people, prominent members of the Newport summer colony. They are Miss Evelyn Walsh, sister of the man killed; Mrs. Evelyn L. Kernochan, of Hempstead, L. I.; Harry Oelrichs, son of Charles M. Oelrichs, of New York; Herbert J. Pell, Jr., son of Herbert Pell, of New York.

All of the injured will recover. Miss Walsh was the most seriously hurt. Her right leg was fractured above the knee and she was badly cut and bruised. Mrs. Kernochan and Messrs. Pell and Oelrichs were only briused.

Vinson Walsh, who was considered one of the most expert chauffeurs in Newort, despite his youth, was driving the car, although his chauffeur was along. He was noted for his fondness for traveling at a high rate of speed. At the end of Kaston's beach there is a small creek crossed by a wooden bridge. The approach to the bridge is down a steep grade, and this fact gave an added impetus to the heavy car, which already was running at a dangerous rate of speed. Just before the big touring car reached the bridge a tire on one of its rear wheels burst. This caused the heavy machine to swerve from its course just as it came upon the bridge. The machine struck the wooden railings of the bridge with full force, crashing through them as if they had been of glass.

The bridge is six feet above the surface of the water in the creek. As the automobile went crashing through the railing and over the edge of the bridge, it turned a half somersault, landing in the water upside down with all five of its occupants and the chauffeur beneath it. Fortunately a number of other automobile parties, who also were returning from the Clam Bake club, were following close behind, and help was at hand almost instantly.

THE VIRGINIA DISASTER.

Thirteen Bodies Taken from Cars Which Plunged Into River—Five Persons Missing.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 199.—The removal Friday of the two Atlantic Coast line cars which plunged into the open draw at Elizabeth river Thursday afternoon revealed but two bodies in the first car, making the number of bodies recovered 13, with five persons missing. None of the injured now in the hospitals will die, but a majority of them will be sent to their homes in a day or two. The bodies of the dead will be forwarded to their homes to-day. A careful examination of the bottom of the river showed no more bodies, and the railroad officials are convinced that the death list is now complete, though reports are still current of a much heavier loss of life. All day long the operations of the rescuing and wrecking crews continued. There were reports that in the raising of one of the submerged cars the end of the coach was loosened and bodies were washed back into the stream and floated away with the tide. Later reports, however, denied this story. The small casualty list in the first car, which was completely submerged, is explained by the theory that when the emergency brakes were applied many of the passengers thought a collision was imminent and they rushed into the second car, and all of them had time to escape, except two, before the car finally sank beneath the surface of the river.

The train was running at a rate of 15 or 20 miles an hour as it approached the bridge. The specific orders of the road to stop all trains at the bridge, whether the draw is open or not, were apparently ignored. The train plunged into the abyss. Both engineer and fireman discovered the open draw too late to stop the train. The air brakes were applied, but did not work properly.

Disaster at Butte, Mont., Which Kills Ten Persons and Injures Many Others.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 21.—Ten persons were killed and 25 or 30 injured, some seriously by a collision between a Great Northern freight train and a crowded suburban street car at a grade crossing of the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Sunday night at 11 o'clock. Two bodies have been recovered from the wreckage, but have not yet been identified. Maggie Harrington, of Butte, is among the killed. Miss Shaw, a young woman stopping at the Florence hotel, Butte, is dying.

HOW ARE YOUR TAXES?

State Auditor Iverson Sends a Statement to Co. Auditor Ford—Gives Warning to Property Owners.

County Auditor Ford received the following communication from State Auditor Iverson the first of the week. It should be of interest to all property holders and the COURIER prints the letter in full;

"An examination of the lists of real estate, forfeited to the state for the non-payment of taxes, under the old law and also under the 1902 law, discloses the fact that a great many people have been exceedingly careless in the matter of taxes, for in thousands of cases one year, and in hundreds of cases only a half year's taxes are delinquent, including farm, village and city property. These omissions may have occurred four, five or ten years ago, and the amount may be small, but under the law the tract is forfeited to the state and subject to sale. The sale will be held about November first next. In nearly all of such cases the taxes will be paid or redeemed when the personal notice of expiration of redemption is served upon the owners thereof. This will impose quite an expense upon such owners."

Every real estate owner in the state should examine the forfeited tax lists on file in the county auditor's office and also in the state auditor's office, to see whether or not he has forgotton to pay any of his taxes in years gone by.

WILL LIVE WELL.

Rich Diet for State's Charges Promised in the Future.

The inmates of the state institutions will live in luxury the coming winter. They will have all the raspberry jam and strawberry preserves they can eat, besides vegetables such as celery, cabbage, squash, turnips, onions, potatoes, tomatoes.

Reports received by the state board of control are that the farm and gardens conducted with the several institutions were never in more luxuriant condition. Large crops of vegetables for the inmates and feed for the horses and stock are predicted.

The Hastings insane asylum has a forty-acre garden this year, as big as a fair sized farm. It is predicted that this garden will grow more vegetables than the inmates can eat during the winter; the surplus will be given to the prisoners of the state prison at Stilwater.

Equally favorable reports have been received from other institutions.

The corn is reported to be doing well, and the barley, oat and potato crop will be large.

The aggregate value of the farm and garden products raised at the several institutions this year, if weather conditions continue favorable, will be approximately $150,000. The figures last year were within $25,000 of this.

BRAINS ARE AT A PREMIUM

Governor Johnson, in a Current Magazine Article, Discusses the Chances of the Young Man.

Gov. John believes that the opportunities for young men to win success are greater to-day than ever before in the history of the world. In an article on "America's Prizes for Honest Men." in the September number of Men and Women, he says that brains in young men are at a premium.

The governor does not believe that the so-called trusts are entirely bad. They at least furnish abundant opportunities for young men of energy, thrift and persererance. While the combinations of capital have absorbed many smaller industries, the governor points out that capable and honest men are needed to manage the affairs of the larger industries.

The governor says in part:

"The vast combinations of capital commonly called trusts, which have monopolized to themselves so many industries, have, of course had their influence on young men in those particular lines of business. These combinations are found mostly in manufacturing and transportation, and have revolutionized the business methods in their field of activity. Before these combinations sprung into power, a great number of individuals and corporations were engaged in these various lines, and the ambitious young man worked with the possibility in mind that he might in time become an independent manufacturer himself. In the branches of industry which are now controlled by combines this incentive has been removed, but there are still great opportunities for young men who enter these fields, even though the business be operated by trusts.

"Men of brains, energy and proper training are in great demand in these powerful combinations of capital, and the man who shows himself to have mastered the details of the business in which he is engaged will find that there is a place for him in which his ability is needed and will be recognized.

"The formation of these great combinations and the attendant evils which have resulted to the country from their organization and their methods, have made the demand for young men of the right kind greater than ever before.

"What this country now needs is young men of ability, who are thoroughly honest. We need men to carry their honesty with them in the conduct of their business; men who believe that honesty and integrity are the first requisites to success and who will insist upon honesty in the men selected to represent him in the conduct of the affairs of the nation, state and community.

"Whichever way we turn we read of graft and crockedness in all branches of business and political life. Charges of dishonesty and corruption in various departments of the national government, in banks and insurance companies, and in fact in practically every branch of organized endeavor, we read of in the newspapers and magazines and hear discussed from the lecture platform. The country seems to be steeped in a veritable saturnalia of crime and corruption.

"The present agitation and the resulting investigations will undoubtedly result in clarifying the moral atmosphere The conditions which now exist are mainly due to the craze for accumulating vast fortunes in a short time which always follows mad speculation."

His closing sentence is: "Be honest, work hard and be always ready and you will succeed."

Keep Your Eyes on Johnson.

Jordan Independent: We are assured that the big men of the east, and the little men, too, for that matter, are watching no public figure with a greater degree of interest than that of our own governor. It is well known there that he is a man of remarkable magnetism: that he is a leader who attracts; that he represents reform and square dealing in an age of graft; that he is young and just on the threshold of possibilities, and that he is strong and wise. Also, he is a western man and the longheaded men of the Atlantic coast regions who are prone to look well into the future have a feeling in their bones that the strong, vigorous, virile West will soon demand its own and ask one of its own sons to step up and take one of the high places.

And why not John A. Johnson, the latter day Lincoln? Why should not the east "keep its eyes" on him? He has earned recognition and right well. The east has not shown weak powers of divination in casting its scrutiny toward the present occupant of the governor's chair in Minnesota. It has proved once again that it has its hand on the pulse beat of the nation and felt the healthy throb, "Johnson."

Yes, Johnson is a comer. It is aggravating to the old school of planners and schemers and waiters in politics to see him rise so quickly, but his heart beats with the heartbeat of the masses and that's why they're keeping their eyes on Johnson.

SPLIT LOG DRAG.

Rocksbury Farmer Demonstrates its Usefulness and Merit.

There has been considerable said in the papers of this section of late regarding the merits of the split log drag in the building of good roads. They are so simple and cheap to make that every farmer could have one by a small amount of energy, but we have heard of only one in operation.

Mr. Charles Eglsten of the town of Rocksbury, according to the Thief River Press, has used a split log drag from his farm on the east side of the river north to Greenwood cemetery, the city limits of Thief River Falls. As all will remember this road has always been a very rough clay road and in wet weather almost impassable. By the use of only a split log drag this piece of road has been converted into one of the best highways in the state of Minnesota, and the cost of getting it in this fine condition has not been great.

In Missouri, where the split log drag originated, each farmer runs one from his own gate to his neighbor's front gate towards town. If the farmers around here would get the "Missouri habit" we would soon have fine roads, and Mr. Elgsten has demonstrated that the split log drag is all right.

In Persia women "marry out" on contract, returnable to their parents in "good order and condition" when the contract is up. The purchase price is, like your room rent, payable in advance. But Persia is not the only country where wives are bought.

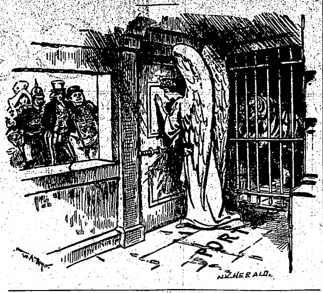
"THE LADY OR THE TIGER?"



JAIL IS STORMED BY AN ANGRY MOB

NEGRO ACCUSED OF ATTACK ON WHITE WOMAN TAKEN FROM THE PRISON.

His Captors Hang Him from a Bridge In Newbern, N. C., and Then Fill His Body with Bullets—Perpetrators Unknown.

Newbern, N. C., Aug. 28.—John Moore, a negro, 20 years old, was taken from Craven county jail, in this city, early Sunday morning and lynched by a mob of 100 masked men armed with rifles and revolvers. With his hands tied behind him, the negro was led out about a third of a mile from the jail to the draw of Neuse river bridge, hanged to one of its braces and his body riddled with bullets. The mob attacked the jail between one and two o'clock Sunday morning. Entrance to the jail was affected by forcing the jailor to surrender the keys. As soon as the attack was discovered the naval reserves were called out to attempt to prevent the lynching. Crowds rushed to the bridge. Sheriff J. W. Biddle was quickly on the scene, pleading that Moore be left to the law, but his efforts were unavailing, and the mob carried out its plans.

Moore entered the country store of George Eubanks, at Clarks, seven miles from Newbern, last Friday, when the proprietor's wife was the only one in. The negro attempted robbery, and struck Mrs. Eubanks on the head with a meat ax, fracturing bones and inflicting injuries which, if they do not prove fatal, will at least cause not only disfigurement, but lifelong suffering. Mrs. Eubank screamed, and people came to her rescue. The negro fled, but was captured in a swamp after a chase of a few miles, and was placed in jail.

CHICAGO MUST PAY.

Jury Says City Shall Reimburse Railway Company for Cars Burned in "Debs Strike."

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Chicago has reaped the harvest of the whirlwind of the Debs A. R. U. strike of 1894. A jury in Judge Frost's court in Wheaton brought in a verdict of $100,000 against the city in favor of the Panhandle railroad. The amount represents, in the opinion of the jurymen, the damage done the road by the burning of its freight cars in the strike riots. The railroad sued for $140,000. The jurors decided that $40,000 was represented by merchandise in transit and the city should not be held responsible for this. But they held that the city should not escape financial liability for the failure of the authorities to curb the mobs and prevent the burning of the cars.

The Panhandle was not the only railroad to lose by fires in the Debs' strike. After the struggle, started at Pullman by Debs' newly organized American Railway union, was a few days old, it began to grow too unwieldy for its leader. His only policy, as he saw the railroads resisting successfully and his own followers falling away, was to extend the strike. As the strike extended it became more vicious. When the railroads had succeeded in moving trains, rioting began in the freight yards. This bred new disorder and the torch came into use. Some one set fire to a few freight cars, and they were destroyed. Whole freight yards were set ablaze within a week.

Private Bank Closed.

Paris, Ill., Aug. 28.—The bank at Metcalfe, Ill., a private concern owned by John L. Gobin, of Clinton county, closed its doors Saturday. Cashier C. M. Smith made a statement that Gobin bought the bank recently and shortly afterward drew a note for $10,000 payable to himself, taking the money out of the deposits. Mr. Smith says this note disappeared Friday from the bank assets, leaving in the bank $10,000 in assets to pay $20,000 due depositors, and under such circumstances he declined to open the doors. Mr. Gobin left town Friday.

Bathers Drowned.

Kilbourne, Wis., Aug. 24.—Ben Dennis, of Chicago, and Sophia Nordbloom, an attendant at Pine Glenn resort, a summer boarding house on the river below Kilbourne, were drowned Tuesday. They were in bathing and stepped off a ledge into deep water and, being unable to swim, failed to get out.

MANY FLOOD VICTIMS.

Twenty-Five or Thirty Lives Lost as Result of Cloudburst in Colorado.

Trinidad, Col., Aug. 26.—A cloudburst in the vicinity of Rhode canyon, through which ordinarily a small stream of water runs, converted the canyon into a raging torrent through towns of Berwin and Tabasco, wrecking everything in its path and drowning numbers of persons. The property loss is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars, suffered mostly by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and the Southern Railway company.

The Colorado & Southern branch line to Berwin was washed away and a heavy volume of water rushed down the canyon all night, making it impossible to penetrate to the point where the loss of life is said to have occurred. Rumors are in circulation that 12 to 20 houses were swept down the canyon and 25 to 35 lives were lost.

According to information received from Hastings Friday possibly 14 persons were drowned in the floods at Tabasco, 16 miles north of Trinidad.

A telephone message from Hastings Friday afternoon stated that 18 persons are known to be dead or missing. Six bodies have now been recovered, among them being a woman with the body of a six-months-old child clasped in her arms.

FOOTPAD KILLS WOMAN.

Rich Widow Shot Dead on Fashionable Residence Street in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Mrs. Effie Mize, 53 years old, a wealthy widow who came to Chicago recently from New York and was stopping at the Del Prado hotel, Fifty-ninth street and Washington avenue, was shot and killed shortly after 9:30 o'clock last night by a highwayman who accosted her in front of the residence of Alderman Frank I. Bennett, No. 5807 Washington avenue, and, after thrusting a revolver in her face, demanded her money. In company with Mrs. Mize at the time was Mrs. F. A. Wilson of Lee Cruz, N. M., who is also a guest at the hotel. Mrs. Wilson ran the moment she realized the man was a highwayman, but instead of following her example Mrs. Mize grappled with the robber. She fought desperately for a moment, and realizing that he was in danger of being captured the highwayman tore himself loose and stepping back a few paces fired two shots. One bullet struck Mrs. Mize in the heart and the other shattered her right wrist. She fell to the sidewalk and was dead when residents attracted by the shooting arrived. The murderer escaped.

WAIVES ALL CLAIM FOR AN INDEMNITY

PRESIDENT SAID TO BE AUTHORIZED BY JAPAN TO OFFER THIS CONCESSION.

WOULD ARBITRATE PRICE OF HALF OF SAKHALIN

Roosevelt Given Chance to Settle War on This Basis—Mikado and His Advisers Hold Important Conference at Tokio.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 29.—The press has definite knowledge that several days ago President Roosevelt was authorized on behalf of Japan to waive all claim for indemnity or reimbursement for the cost of the war and to cede back to Russia the north half of Sakhalin island, leaving the "redemption" price of the same to the arbitration of a mixed commission.

Misunderstood by Czar.

This statement was transmitted to the Russian emperor through the American ambassador at St. Petersburg. A telegram announced that the czar's reply was "partially responsive." There is reason to believe that this proposition on behalf of Japan was not clearly understood at Peterhof, but was supposed to be a revival of the effort of Japan to secure an indemnity under the guise of purchase money for the fraction of Sakhalin.

Call Sakhalin Japanese Territory.

The Japanese contention is that Sakhalin island is de facto Japanese territory and that Russia has no means at her command for its present recovery. It is understood that Mr. Witte has accepted this view in principle and expressed the judgment that Russia should pay something in the nature of redemption money. It is believed that the Tokio cabinet council, held Monday, considered this phase of the question.

Conference Postponed.

At the request of Minister Takahira the next cession of the peace conference, which was to be held at three p. m. Monday, was postponed until Tuesday. There was a persistent report that President Roosevelt had made a new appeal to the emperor of Japan. At ten o'clock Sunday night, after a two hours' conference between Mr. Takahira and Mr. Witte, in the Russian envoy's room in the hotel annex, the announcement of a postponement was made. Mr. Witte explained that Mr. Takahira had told him that no new instructions had reached him from Tokio, and fearing none might be received before the meeting scheduled for Monday afternoon he had suggested the propriety of postponing the meeting until Tuesday. To this Mr. Witte said he had readily assented. It is learned that the conference between Messrs. Witte and Takahira did not bear upon the question of the cession of Sakhalin or the question of indemnity.

Kept Alive by President.

The peace conference is likened to a dying man kept alive by oxygen administered by President Roosevelt. Yet no actual evidence can be obtained here that the president has made a new appeal to the emperor of Japan. What may have been only a slip of the tongue from Mr. Witte was so interpreted. Speaking of the final decision of the Tokio government he remarked upon the 14-hour difference of time betweeen Oyster Bay and Tokio, but then hastily corrected himself and said "New York and Tokio." Certainly the president has not initiated new representations at Peterhof. Emperor Nicholas' reply to Ambassador Meyer was of such a nature as to preclude another tentative in that direction at this stage. Later the way might be open, but for the moment to offer new advice in the face of what practically amounted to an ultimatum from the emperor on the subject of indemnity might be to court a rebuff.

New representations at Tokio alone would perhaps not be in accordance with the president's role. At least it would constitute a change in his attitude. Heretofore he has not acted as mediator, but as the head of a state friendly to both parties, tendering his good offices and friendly advice impartially and simultaneously to both. The president took good care that this should be distinctly understood. The compromise he suggested to Peterhof he suggested simultaneously to Tokio. It would seem more probable therefore that the president has not attempted to influence directly the question of Japan's response to the flat refusal of Russia to pay anything in the shape of indemnity.

Witte Is Skeptical.

Mr. Witte frankly expressed skepticism of the effect of any new proposal Japan may be able to offer. He does not believe Japan will withdraw entirely her demand for reimbursement of the expenses of the war, and to scale it down or attempt to disguise it in another form he declared would not change the situation.

Mr. Takahira is quoted as having replied in the negative when asked whether any modification of the Japanese proposal would touch the question of indemnity. But such a response may only have been technical. A clear road out of the embroglio by which Japan could obtain a very large sum and Russia stand by her present declaration can be discerned if Japan will offer in a new proposal to withdraw the price she places upon the redemption of the northern half of the island and place it upon a basis, for instance, such as the president suggested, of determination by a mixed commission. Acceptance by Russia would in turn involve a change upon the part of the St. Petersburg government. But indemnity as a stumbling block would be out of the way, and renewed pressure could properly be put on Emperor Nicholas. Mr. Witte personally, it is believed, sympathizes with such a solution, and would not be averse to a genuine redemption, as he recognizes the de facto possession of the island by Japan, and her claim to reimbursement for its relinquishment. If the meeting Monday of the Tokio cabinet and the elder statesmen under the presidency of the emperor sanctions such new proposal, as there is reason to believe it will, the proposition would seem to be so fair that Emperor Nicholas could not refuse without assuming before the world the responsibility of continuing the war. In a twinkling, therefore, if Japan now absolutely withdraws her bill for "the cost of the war," the basis of an accord may be reached. One of the chief remaining dangers would undoubtedly be a false gauging at St. Petersburg of Japan's attitude. The conciliatory spirit Japan displayed in her compromise proposal of Wednesday, if now emphasized by a still further recession, is apt to be interpreted at St. Petersburg as a symptom of great weakness, and might only serve to make the emperor and his advisers at Peterhof more obdurate. But with such a proposition before him Mr. Witte could once more assert himself and throw his own masterful personality into the scale.

Mikado Holds Conference.

Tokio, Aug. 29.—The conference of the cabinet officers and elder statesmen, which began early Monday, adjourned at two o'clock in the afternoon, and the participants proceeded to a place where the deliberations were continued under the presidency of the emperor. It was believed that the decision will mean continuance of the war or peace. The capital continues exceedingly quiet. No manifestations have resulted from the outwardly critical situation.

FALLS FROM A BALLOON.

Determined to Make Ascension, Victim Seizes Parachute Trapeze—Plunges to His Death.

Cahokia, Ill., Aug. 29.—Releasing his grasp on a trapeze attached to a parachute as the latter opened to the wind 1,200 feet above the ground, John Williams, 38 years old, has been dashed to his death at Red House park, near here. Every bone in his body was broken as Williams struck the ground with fearful force.

The tragedy is said to have been the result of the victim's determination to make a balloon ascension. As the aeronaut prepared to make the ascension, Williams is said to have rushed forward and seized the trapeze bar, calling to his friends "Good-by." As he clasped the bar the balloon rose into space, carrying both the aeronaut and Williams. As the parachute commenced to fill in the wind and the rapid descent of the canvas was suddenly checked, Williams, whose strength was exhausted, was jerked loose from the bar and his body shot downwards. The aeronaut was uninjured and alighted a few yards away from the scene where Williams met his death.

Twenty Sailors Drowned.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 29.—The American steamship Peconic encountered a fierce gale early Monday off the coast of Florida. Twenty of the crew of 22 were drowned. The ship was struck by an enormous wave, the cargo shifted and the ship sank. Two of the crew, an Italian and a Spaniard, secured the life-boat and landed on Amelia beach about noon and told the story of the disaster. The vessel was laden with coal from Philadelphia to New Orleans.

Body Identified.

New York, Aug. 29.—The body found in North river last Thursday was positively identified by Edgar Nash Johnson, of La Grange, Ill., as that of his brother, Herbert L. Johnson, of Chicago. Johnson said that his brother left Chicago two weeks ago plentifully supplied with money and that he knew of no reason why he should have committed suicide.

To Build New Electric Road.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—The secretary of state Monday issued a license to incorporate the Illinois & Indiana Electric Railway company, with the principal office in East St. Louis. The object is to construct an electric railway from East St. Louis through the counties of St. Clair, Washington, Clinton and Marion, to Centralia, Ill.

Government Grants Requisition.

Columbus, O., Aug. 29.—Requisition papers were received Monday by Gov. Herrick from Gov. Beckham, of Kentucky, for Louis Reitman, charged with shooting with intent to kill. It is alleged that Reitman shot and wounded Jacob and Sarah Reitman in Boone county, Ky. Reitman is in jail at Delhi, near Cincinnati.

Workman Crushed to Death.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Joseph Dominick, employed by the Western Steel car and Foundry company, in Hegewisch, was instantly killed Monday when an engine backed a box car upon him. Dominick had been working under the car. The wheels crushed his head. Dominick leaves a widow and three children.

Dynamite Kills Twenty.

Mazatlan, Mexico, Aug. 29.—Twenty Mexican laborers were killed and a number injured by the premature explosion of a quantity of dynamite at the port works at Manzanillo.

HOPE THAT FEVER CRISIS IS PAST

FIFTH WEEK OF FIGHT AGAINST PEST OPENS UNDER FAVORABLE CONDITIONS.

ONLY 199 CASES UNDER TREATMENT AT PRESENT

Iberia Parish Cuts Off All Passenger Communication with Rest of State—Sensational Charges Against Health Officers.

Yellow fever situation:
New cases at noon Monday, since six p. m. Sunday, 22.
Total to date, 1,765.
Deaths, 5.
Total to date, 260.

New Orleans, Aug. 29.—The fifth week of the fight against yellow fever began Monday with a continuance of favorable conditions and with reason for hope that the crisis has passed, the fact that there are only 199 cases under treatment, and many of them of the lightest character, being especially significant. In the 31 cases in the preceding 24 hours only five were Italians, and there were only three cases reported from the originally infected Italian quarter. Surgeon Guiteras went to Patterson Monday, and Surgeon Corput started on a tour of the surrounding country. The marine hospital service has now a man in touch with every infected point outside of New Orleans, Surgeon Von Ezdorf having started for Leeville, from which point the information continues to be vague, owing to its isolation. Iberia parish, through which the Southern Pacific runs, has a fresh fright and has cut off all passenger communication with the rest of the state. Reports of low temperature come from various points in the southwestern section of the state.

To Disinfect Churches.

Dr. Warner announced Monday that preparations were being completed for the disinfection of every church and meeting place in New Orleans during the current week. Dr. Juan Guiteras continues his series of lectures here, speaking nearly every night. He devotes the daylight hours to the study of fever conditions. It has been announced here that since his arrival in New Orleans Dr. Guiteras has been made dean of the University of Havana. President Kohnke, of the city board of health, corrected the statement attributed to him in the press that there was no hope to crush out the fever before frost. Dr. Kohnke said that the great damage of yellow fever to New Orleans was not so much its death rate, for it had been shown this year that it was not the deadly disease of ancient times, but to the city's commerce, resulting from the panic of outside communities.

Health Officers Under Fire.

The biggest sensation of the yellow fever epidemic here was sprung Saturday when all the prominent people of the state received a circular letter from an unknown source, which is expected to bring on immediately an investigation by the grand jury as to how the fever was allowed to exist in New Orleans for two months before any steps were taken to check it or any public announcement made of its presence. In an address last night, Dr. Joseph Holt, known all over the world as the yellow fever expert and as the man who drafted and enforced the quarantine regulations which kept the pest out of New Orleans for 20 years, practically charged that the city and state health officers were cognizant of the presence of the fever here and did everything possible to suppress the fact.

Six Cases in Natchez.

The principal news from outside the city was the announcement from Natchez of the discovery of six cases there and the attempt to blame New Orleans for them. This is regarded as rather strange in view of the fact that of all the tight quarantines against New Orleans, Natchez has maintained the tightest, not even allowing its own people to return there if they had been near New Orleans. Other reports from the country are as follows: Patterson, no new cases and no deaths; Amelia, two new cases; Bayou Boeuf, one case; Pecan Grove, three cases and one death; Elizabeth plantation, one death; Hanson City, four new cases and one death; St. Rose, two new cases; Port Barrow, two cases; Ninth ward of Jefferson Parish, one case; Lake Providence, three cases; Gulfport, three cases; Mississippi City, no new cases.

Auto Kills Man.

Rensselaer, Ind., Aug. 29.—Joseph Fagot, a well-known business man of Remington, was killed in an automobile accident Sunday while returning home after a visit to this city. While crossing a bridge he lost control of his machine, which went over an eight-foot embankment, pinioning Fagot underneath in a pool of muddy water. His two sons, 11 and 13 years old, who occupied the rear seat, were uninjured and ran to summon help. When the rescuers arrived Fagot was dead.

Gold Output at Nome.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 29.—United States Assayer Fred Wing, in charge of the local assay office, has made the statement that his estimate of the gold output of Nome for the season of 1905 was $10,000,000. This amount will be recorded for Nome and will exceed the output of last year by [illegible].

ABOUT 500 Minnesota soldiers will attend the G. A. R. encampment at Denver next week.

THE Lakefield Standard refers to Frank Eddy as a brainy man, and "one of our most honest politicians." It seems to be getting to that pass where we are compelled to admit that there are degrees of honesty among politicians.

SOME of the Third district Republican papers are alarmed for fear Governor Johnson will be a candidate for congress in 1908. The fears may not be well founded, but they have good reason to be alarmed at the possibility.

OLE J. TWEET, a proniment farmer of the northern part of Red Lake county, has been appointed by Governor Johnson as a delegate to the annual meeting of the national farmers' congress, to be held at Richmond, Va., about the middle of September.

AMONG the political probabilities for next year is mentioned George B. Brown of Blue Earth for secretary of state. Mr. Brown is now a deputy in the office and is a son of a former secretary, Hon. F. P. Brown. Mr. Brown will seek the Republican nomination, it is reported.

MAKE FORTUNE IN DAIRYING

Commissioner Slater Predicts Minnesota Will Become Greatest Dairy State in the Union.

Minnesota eventually will become the greatest dairy state in the union in quantity as she is now the greatest in quality.

This is the prediction of Dairy and Food Commissioner E. K. Slater in a special article on Minnesota's dairy resources prepared for the state immigration bureau.

"Minnesota has demonstrated to the world that in dairy products she takes her stand in the foremost rank among the great dairying districts," writes Mr. Slater, "and she may feel justly proud of the success she has obtained. Some idea of the magnitude of our dairying interests may be obtained from a study of the statistics contained in the last biennial report of the state dairy and food commission.

"These figures are concerned only with those of our dairy products manufactured at our creameries and cheese factories. There are undoubtedly as large a number of cows furnishing milk for private dairies and are contributing milk to the creameries and cheese factories, and this fact must be borne in mind in studying the following figures in order to fully appreciate the magnitude of the industry.

"A total of 449,740 cows contributed to the creameries and cheese factories in 1903, a total of 1,392,942,948,495 pounds of milk from which were manufactured 72,266,248 pounds of butter and 3,988,646 pounds of cheese. A total of $14,385,090.54 was paid farmers of the state for milk furnished these factories. There are 770 creameries and 90 cheese factories. Of these the farmers of the state own and contral 606 and 254 are owned by individual parties.

"While the volume of the dairy business in Minnesota is sufficient to attract the attention of her sister states, her reputation as a leading butter state of the Union has been accomplished by the superior quality of her creamery butter. She begun her series of successes in 1884 when she won the grand sweepstakes at the New Orleans cotton exposition. Again in 1893 she won first premium in the world's fair at Chicago, and in 1896 gold medals at the Cedar Rapids (Iowa) national buttermaker's contest. In 1897 the victory of 1896 was repeated at the Owatonna (Minn.) meeting of the National Creamery Buttermakers' association, a gold medal and a silver cup being the trophies. In 1898 the national prize again went to Minnesota at the Topeka (Kan.) meeting. In the same year our four first premiums were won at the Omaha exposition."

Mr. Slater enumerates a series of other medals won at national and international meetings, including the grand sweepstakes prize at the at the Paris exposition in 1900 and the triumph at the St. Louis exposition."

"In spite of the wonderful growth of Minnesota's dairy interests," continues Mr. Slater, "the prospects for the future are indicative of greater success. Minnesota is an ideal dairy state peculiarly adapted to diversified farming and stock raising. Dairy thus far has been confined to the thickly settled prairaie regions of the state where the general adoption of the industry has been brought about by necessity, heavy grain raising having depleted the fertility of the soil.

"During the past five years the business has been developing most rapidly in the Red river valley, and this section is destined to become a great dairying district. In Northeastern Minnesota conditions are perhaps better adapted to dairying than any other branch of farming. In fact the country is especially adapted to dairy farming both from the standpoint of a market for dairy products and from the natural conditions of the country. The great advantage is that in the production of feed Northwestern Minnesota is ahead of any other section of the state.

"It is the opinion universal authorities who have given the matter attention that Minnesota has only entered upon her career as a great dairying state. She will eventually become the greatest dairy state in the Union in quantity, as she is now recognized as the greatest in quality.

Do You Shoot?

We are ready for Sept. 1st with a full line of U. M. C. and ROBIN HOOD Shells. The prices are the same as last year—the lowest prices that first-class shells can be sold for. We are making a leader of ROBIN HOOD Shells again this year. You know you can buy them for 5c a box less than the others and they are strictly first-class, The fact that we sold ELEVEN THOUSAND of this ONE KIND in ONE YEAR is proof that they are popular with the people who use shells. The hunters who do not like ROBIN HOODS are the ones who have never used them.

We are also well stocked with all the articles that make up the hunter's outfit.

Hunting Coats $1.75, 2.00, 2.50 & 3.00; Canvas Hats 50c; Corduroy Hats 75c; Leggins 50c, 75c, 90c, & $1.25; Shell Bags 40c; Gun Cases 50c,75, $2 & 35.0

The $3.50 Case is made of heavy russet leather, nickle trimmings, lock buckle with inside rod pocket—A dandy for the price.

We sell "Gunoline"—the leading gun grease. A perfect rust preventative. Not affected by heat or cold and will not gum, In 2oz. tubes, 15 cents.

RED LAKE COUNTY.

Visiting Editor from Marshall Speaks Well of Us.

Lyon County Reporter: We spent a few days last week in Red Lake County, and while they had an uncommon amount of rain that has interferred with the harvest in some places, the county has this year one of the biggest crops of grain we ever saw. Very many wheat fields will yield over forty bushels to the acre of No. 1 wheat. We counted some heads that had over sixty grains to the head and many stools had over twenty-five stalks from one seed. We brought home some of these heads which can be seen at this office. Some are six inches long, filled to the tip. Barley fields will give an immense yield and there are fields of oats there that will harvest seventy-five bushels to the acre. Flax fields that will thresh twenty bushels per acre are common and few will go less than fifteen.

Some grain fields were in the shock, but owing to a wet spring and late seeding most of the grain crop was not quite ready to cut, which is fortunate as clear weather will soon dry the over wet fields. The kind of weather had there the last two weeks is very uncommon and resembles our dose two years ago.

Frequent fields of corn are seen, and they raise pretty fair corn up there, while all kinds of vegetables are simply immense.

But in our opinion, while that country is exceptionally good for all kinds of grain, the future wealth of the county will be in its stock and dairy resources. Tame grasses are perfectly at home there, so much so that timothy and clover has spread along most of the roads and over the hills, growing like native weeds.

There are already, we believe, about fifteen creameries in Red Lake County, and stock is being rapidly improved. Feed is plenty everywhere. Native and tame grasses and an abundance of the wild, that likes to stray even into the timothy meadows, will supply many times the stock now seen.

Red Lake county has exceptionally good soil and its agricultural future will be among the best of the state. With this and numerous immense water powers that county cannot fail to take a first class stand among the northwest counties. It already has nearly 10,000 population, having increased nearly 4,000 in the last five years. The next five years, we predict, will be very prosperous ones for Red Lake County.

Ayer's

Why is it that Ayer's Hair Vigor does so many remarkable things? Because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair, puts new life into it. The hair cannot keep from growing. And gradually all the dark, rich color of early life comes back to gray hair.

"When I first used Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was about all gray. But now it is a nice rich black, and as thick as I could wish."

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder disease that is not beyond the reach of medicine.

GIVEN UP TO DIE.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over four years I was troubled with a kidney and bladder affection. I lost flesh and was unable to work. Three physicians failed to help me and I was given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."

BACKACHE AND DIZZINESS.

Most of the Ailments Peculiar to the Female Sex are Due to Catarrh of Pelvic Organs.

MRS. M. BRICKNER.

99 Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

"A short time ago I found my condition very serious, I had headaches, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before Peruna, and was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored."—Mrs. M. Brickner.

The reason of so many failures to cure cases similar to the above is the fact that diseases peculiar to the female sex are not commonly recognized as being caused by catarrh.

FEMALE TROUBLE NOT RECOGNIZED AS CATARRH.

Catarrh of one organ is exactly the same as catarrh of any other organ. What will cure catarrh of the head will also cure catarrh of the pelvic organs. Peruna cures these cases simply because it cures the catarrh.

If you have catarrh write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Argue returned home yesterday from Hamilton, North Dakota, where they enjoyed a few days visit with the doctor's parents.

Homer Hall was at Grand Forks last evening. He says he went to see the state fair but some people have their doubts that that was the attraction.

Editor Ives of St. Hilaire passed through the city Tuesday morning on his way home from the editoral excursion. He reports a most delightful trip.

The beginners band is practicing regularly and some good musicians are being developed. The young men will soon be a great help to the concert band.

Henry W. Anderson, our popular jeweler, has installed a new large clock in his place of business. The clock is a beauty and will be used as Andy's regulator.

Abner Fletcher has resigned his position as night agent of the Great Northern at Barnesville and will enter the train service of the same road in the near future.

Mrs. Sam'l. Miller went to Grand Forks Monday morning. She returned home last evening after visiting friends and seeing the state fair now in progress in that city.

E. S. Bryant, formerly operator at this place for the Great Northern, is now station agent at Middle Riv. His friends here will be pleased to hear of his advancement.

Lewis & Higinbotham, the insurance men, have something to say to threshing machine men in this issue. Look up their adv. and profit by the advice given therein

Quite a number of the old time reapers are in use in this vicinity this year. They will get over ground that a binder would not work in on account of being much lighter.

The Merry Crew club gave a party last evening in honor of Miss Maude Findeisen at the Dautremont home. Miss Findeisen leaves soon to attend the Normal school at Winona.

The weekly band concert was given last evening. It is the intention to have these concerts occur on Friday evenings, but as most of the members of the band will be out hunting prairie chickens to-morrow it was thought best to give the concert last night.

Miss Mamie Gertkt arrived from West Superior the first of the week and is visiting her parents on the Norah Side. She is the "hello girl" at the Wisconsin town.

Perrusse Bros. and A. Lawrence, of Terrebonne, returned from Thief River Falls Saturday. They had just finished a contract they had on the water power at that place.

Rev. I. T. Aastad, of Thief River Falls, will conduct services at the Norwegian Lutheran church in this city next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. All are invited to attend the service.

Auditor Ford is busy these days issuing hunters' licenses. He has given about thirty of the coveted certificates to local shooters this week, issuing seven yesterday.

Word has been received from North Yakima, Wash., that Dostie Robillard, well known in this city, is seriously sick. It is to be hoped that his recovery will be rapid.

Mrs. H. Bischoff, of Thief River Falls, was in the city the first of the week visiting friends and looking after business matters connected with the estate of her late husband.

The city schools will begin the year's work next week. It is thought the North Side school will be held at the old opera house until the new school house is ready for occupancy.

Jim and Paul occupy half a page of the COURIER this week, giving a talk to the young men. This popular clothing firm is bidding for business in the right way—and are getting it.

The Northern Pacific has had a crew of workmen at work the past week about a mile west of the city. A pile driver has been at work on the bridge just west of the Red Lake River.

John Christenson, living about ten miles east of the city, went to Crookston last evening where he will enter the hospital. He has been a sufferer from tuberlosis of the spine, for some time.

Mrs. Jas. E. Ford was at Northwood, North Dakota, several days last week visiting relatives. Mr. Ford's mother accompanied her home Monday and will remain here for some weeks.

The fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Raimier will go to Crookston next week to be operated upon for appendicitis. She has been troubled with the complaint for some little time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Bourdon went to Grafton, North Dakota, Saturday taking Mr. Bourdon's mother with them for medical treatment. The party returned Monday, Mrs. Bourdon being much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gillett, of Olivet, South Dakota, were in this vicinity several days last week. They made a deal with Ed. L. Healy for a Red Lake county farm and expect to move to this section some time this fall.

Ralph Green was in from Equality last Friday. Mrs. Green came in with him and left on the evening train for Wapheton, North Dakota, to visit Mr. Green's mother and sister. She will be absent two weeks.

L. O. Larson, a former resident of Emardville but now living in Beltrami county, passed through the city Monday on his way to Dakota harvest fields. He will work in that section during the threshing season.

Two Morman missionaries talked on the streets of this city one evening last week. They were different from most traveling evangelists in that they did not take up a collection. All that they wanted was a place to sleep.

John Savard left the first of the week for Forest River, North Dakota, where he will cook for a large threshing crew this fall. His restaurant business in this city will be in charge of Miss Halvorson during his absence.

BLOOD POISON MAN'S GREATEST ENEMY

The disease that has done more than any other to wreck, ruin and humiliate life, is Contagious Blood Poison. Sorrow, shame and suffering go hand in hand with this great enemy, and man has always hated and fought it as he has no other disease. It is the most powerful of all poisons; no matter how pure the blood may be, when its virus enters, the entire circulation becomes poisoned and its chain of horrible symptoms begin to show. Usually the first sign is a small sore or ulcer, not at all alarming in appearance, but the blood is being saturated with the deadly poison, and soon the mouth and throat begin to ulcerate, the hair and eyebrows drop out, a red eruption breaks out on the body, copper-colored splotches and sores make their appearance and the poison even works down into the bones and attacks the nerves. Not only is the disease hereditary, being transmitted from parent to child, in the form of scrofula, weak eyes, soft bones, weak, puny constitutions, etc., but is also so highly contagious that many a life has been ruined by a friendly hand shake, or from using the toilet articles of one infected with the poison. To cure this blighting, deadly curse the blood must be purified, and nothing will do it so quickly and surely as S. S. S. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, drives out every particle of the poison and makes the blood clean and strong. It does not hide or cover up anything, but from the first begins to expel the poison and build up and strengthen the system. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral of any kind. Book on the disease, with instructions for home treatment, and any advice desired, without charge.

Public is Aroused.

The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic. Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H, Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless doctor's drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief and in a short time. I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at all druggists; price 50c.

Was Wasting Away.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years" writes Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without immediate relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less thad two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." During the summer kidney irregularaties are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by A. L. Reichert.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

Lower Rates.

Minneapolis.—An announcement of the most vital, widespread and immediate importance to the farming interest of the northwest was made by the Great Northern railroad, the management of which decided to make a sweeping reduction in grain carrying rates.

This reduction of rates ranges from 5 cents per hundred, from the most distant points to a half cent from points nearest the Twin Cities and the head of the lakes. From Williston, distant from the head of the lakes 616 miles, the reduction is 5 cents. On the Granville branch, the Towner branch, the line from Rugby to Sarles, the rates are cut three cents. This covers an immense stretch of country, much of it recently under cultivation, in North Dakota.

From Minot to the head of the lakes, from Grand Forks and Fargo and Hillsboro, on the Hannah line, running north from Larimore; on the Neche line and the St. Vincent line, the reduction is 2 cents per hundred. On the St. John's line, running from Churches Ferry, and the Walhalla line it is 3½ cents, and from Larimore it is 1½ cents. Other roads have met this rate.

State Fair.

Hamline.—The promise for the Minnesota state fair this year is brighter than ever before. Special pains have been taken in all the preparations, which were commenced immediately after the close of the fair of 1904, and the months of careful work over details seem about to be crowned with unusual success. From Monday morning, Sept. 4 till 11 o'clock Saturday night, Sept. 9, the state fair grounds, midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis, will be crowded with exhibits and gay crowds of visitors. This has become the holiday week of the year for thousands of Minnesota people—a custom which is becoming more and more popular each season.

This year's fair is being developed along the lines which have proven so successful in the past; and indications a short time before the fair point to larger and better exhibits in every department.

The fair will be opened on Monday morning Sept. 4 with an address by Senator Dolli ver of Iowa. In the afternoon of the same day, Dan Patch fastest harness horse in the world will make a sensational mile on the race track in an effort to lower his pacing record of 1:56. Dan Patch will appear on Monday only.

Rush For State Land.

St. Paul.—Extensive advertising of Minnesota lands, and the fact that the state sells them on forty years' time with a payment of but 15 per cent, are doing wonders toward attracting settlers.

"Inquiries being received for state land literature are tremendous," said S. G. Iverson, state auditor. "Last week alone our office received 875 inquiries for lands to be sold this fall. They came from every part of the United States and many from Canada, Missouri, Indiana and Pennsylvania furnish a large uumber of the letter writers.

Oats For the Philippines.

Minneapolis.—Bidding against Seattle and San Francisco exporting houses, on a government contract for 6,000,000 pounds of oats—the government specifications being figured in pounds, not bushels — Minneapolis landed a big contract for shipment to to the Philippines. The W. P. Devereux company made the deal. This quantity would make two good trainloads of oats of 65 cars each, or about 130 carloads in all.

No More Slips.

Issuance of "slips" by elevators in place of regular receipts for grain is to become a thing of the past. The state railroad and warehouse commission has issued a circular letter declaring that the law in this regard is to be strictly enforced hereafter. The letter calls attention to the fact that the issuance of anything but the regular receipt for grain is a misdemeanor. The commissioners maintain that the old custom of issuing "slips" has caused an endless amount of litigation.

News Notes.

Stillwater—A windstorm broke up several log rafts in the St. Croix and a million feet of timber came down upon the bridge.

Owatonna—The city council has voted to call a special election on Sept. 26, at which time the question as to whether the city will issue $16,000 bonds for a new city hall will come up.

Minneapolis—Richfield is to have a new school house. School district No. 6, by a vote of 91 to 49, decided to issue bonds to the amount of $5,000 for a new school building.

Minneapolis—Lightning struck the chimney of Mrs. Walter Lang's residence at Red Rock, and Mrs. Lang and her small son and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hull were knocked from their seats.

Winona—The annual retreat of the Catholic clergy of the Winona diocese opened in the young ladies' seminary with almost every priest in the diocese in attendance.

La Crescent—One of John Welch's cream separators blew up. Edward Selks and Benjamin Lipps sustained serious injuries about the arms and body, while others escaped as though by a miracle.

St. Paul.—Miss Marie Obermauer has interested Governor John A. Johnson and Labor Commissioner W. H. Williams in a plan to supply domestic servants for limited periods.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH.

To the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands are liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the public ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands require the establishment and construction of a public ditch along the following described route in the Town of Gervais in said County of Red Lake and that the construction of the same woule be of public benefit and utility.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at the southwest corner of Section 12 in Township 151, Range 43, (Town of Gervais,) in said County, thence going north on the Section line to the northwest corner of the south-west quarter of Section 12 in said town and range, thence going west on the quarter line, to about the center of Section eleven (11,) thence running southwest to the southwest corner of Section eleven (11,) thence running south through the eastern part of Section 15 to at or near the south-east corner of Section fifteen (15,) thence running south at or near the section line between Sections 22 and 23 of said town and range and terminating at the southeast corner of Section 22 in said town and range, having as its outlet a creek or coulee. Or if the engineer finds a better outlet at the next creek or coulee one half mile further west, then change the outlet into that creek.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such drainage ditch and cause the same to be constructed as provided by Chapter Two Hundred thirty (230), of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905.

Good Omens.

The mayor of Denver recently issued a "clean-up day proclamation and asked the people of the city to heed the following suggestions:

If your store front, residence or fence is dull or dingy, order it painted.

If your awning is old, torn or faded, get a new one.

If your sidewalk, gate or fence needs repairing, fix it.

Destroy the young weeds that are starting on your property and on your neighbor's property.

If your advertising sign is old or faded, take it down and paint it.

Resolve never to throw paper in the streets.

Take all dandelions out of your lawn—they spoil its beauty.

Ask your milkman, groceryman expressman to have their wagons painted.

Illuminate the front of your store in the business section.

Was in Poor Health for Years.

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." Refuse substitutes. For sale by A. L. Reichert.

Don't Knock.

If there's any chance to boom business boom it. Don't be a knocker. Don't pull a long face and get sour in the stomach. Hold up your head! Get a hold with your hands. Then pull Bury your hatchet. Hide your little hammer. When a stranger drops in jolly him. Tell him that it is the greatest town on earth. It is. Don't get mulish. Don't roast. Just jolly. All men like to be jollied, always. Get popular. It's dead easy. Help yourself along. Push yourself with you. Soon you'll have a procession. Be a good fellow. No man ever helped himself by knocking other people. No man ever trying to make other people believe he was the only man on earth. You can't climb the ladder of fame by stepping on other people's corns. They're their corns. Not yours. And they're tender. Keep off the corns. All men are not alike. Once in a while you will find one who is not very much alike. But some are different. You're not the only shirt in the wash. If you don't like their style let 'em alone. Don't knock. Walk right in, and make yourself look pleasant. You'll get used to it. There's no end of fun in minding your own busisess. And it makes other people like you better. Better have others stuck on you than get stuck on yourself. Nobody gets stuck on a knocker. Don't be one. Be good.

G. B. Burhans testifies after four years.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cnred of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." Sold by A. L. Reichert.

Mrs. John Duffy left last evening for Crookston. After visiting friends in that city for a day or two she will go to Grand Forks.

The eclipse of the sun yesterday morning was the means of getting a whole lot of people up early. The eclipse was almost total at sunrise and it was an hour before the obstruction passed away—that's what people tell us who got up to see the show.

Every man and boy who can get a gun will be out to-morrow hunting prairie chickens. The local enthusiasts have been planning on the day's sport for weeks past and if a goodly number of birds are not bagged there will be some disappointed shooters.

The Fertile Journal wants to know why its school board does not publish their proceedings, and says that they are just as important to their citizens as the doings of the council, if not more so. Of course, this does not apply to school boards in villages where not even the council proceedings are being published.

Some of the young men of the city entertained the train men of the Great Northern's work train at the Paul hotel Tuesday evening. A most elaborate supper was served and the occasion was a pronounced success. The railroad boys have made a host of friends during their short stay in the city.

Miss Etta Garceau entertained a number of friends at a dancing party at the K. P. hall Saturday evening. A program of twenty-four dances was indulged in after which dainty refreshments were served. The party broke up at a late hour, the guests all being loud in their praises for the good time furnished by the hostess.

The Great Northern's grade at the rear of the Kaus store has been the scene of great activity the past week. A large part of the grade slid out and a force of men has been employed for some days repairing the damage. A number of heavy timbers have been brought in use, and in spite of all efforts the grade settles and slids out about as fast as filled in.

Miss Dorothy Toye.

All lovers of music and reading will be pleased to learn that Miss Dorothy Toye, the talented contralto soloist and reader, has been secured for an entertainment in this city next Tuesday evening. Miss Toye is a young lady of remarkable ability and has met with great success in her chosen vocation.

She is taking this means by which to enable her to add to her musical education and is deserving of liberal encouragement.

Prof. A. Onstad will play two solos during the evening's enterment, an announcement that is always hailed with delight by our people.

Seats will be on sale at Anderson's jewelry store Monday. The price of admission will be 25 cents, children 15c. There will be no extra charge for reserved seats.

Snapshots by Lamplight.

Instantaneous photographs, as every amateur knows, give the most lifelike and natural portrait effects. They usually require bright sunlight, which is apt to spoil the portrait by distorting the face, but a French invention is now reported by which they may be taken in a studio by artificial light. To tell the truth, however much women may inveigh against marital authority, all women more or less enjoy being governed, not tyrannized over, but looked out for, and relieved of responsibility by some one whom they love and who loves them. The Era of Noise.

What an age of noise this is! Do you know any single human being who is capable of being silent for an hour at a stretch? I know two, and I value them according to their rarity. Not only does everybody talk, but almost everybody talks loud. I went into a shop the other day, and the clatter of conversation sounded as though the place were full of people. Yet all the noise was produced by three individuals. Why should they shout?—London Truth.

The Classes In England.

In England the upper class gambles, but does not drink; the middle class drinks, but does not gamble, and the lower class both drinks and gambles. It is a characteristic circumstance that the upper class makes laws to prevent the lower class from gambling and that the lower class is in favor of legislation to prevent the upper class from drinking.

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

Merchants State Bank
Of Red Lake Falls.

Do You Know That the Merchants State Bank is a strictly home institution. All our officers and stockholders live in Red Lake Falls and have established the Merchants State Bank with their own money. We do a regular banking business in every department. There is no transaction too large for us to handle and none too small for us to give our attention.

Our Savings Dep't. We would especially call your attention to our savings department. We have now on our books a large list of names of men, women, children who deposited with us, ranging from $1.00 to $200. These are savings accounts and are continually growing by adding to them the spare pennies, nickles and dimes. Don't put off any longer. Open a savings account with us.

Something You May Not Look At

When buying a rangn you want to examine every little detail. We find so many people are even apt to overlook the larger details. Take for instance the fire back, be sure you feel the weight of it before you buy a range, it's the very heart of it, it's life. One section of the MAJESTIC weighs over ten pounds, the complete fire box over one hundred pounds.

That's why we so seldom hear of anyone buying a fire back for this range.

TEACHER AND SCHOLAR BUSY

Public Schools of the City are in Session and are Thoroughly Organized—Large Attendance.

The public schools convened Tuesday morning after a three months vacation, and are running as smoothly as though they had been in session for months. The attendance is large, every room and grade being well filled. The number of scholars will be announced next week. The Washington school is being held at the opera house on the North Side, where the scholars will meet until the new school building is ready for occupancy. There are several new faces among the teachers, as the following list shows:

LAFAYETTE SCHOOL.

E. W. Chamberlain, Superintendent;

Miss Ella Hanson, principal;

H. R. Tonning, science and mathematics;

Miss Grace Allan, history and German;

The four instructors above have charge of the high school and eight grade work.

Miss Alice Caughlan, 6th and 7th grades;

Miss Eliza Turdo, 5th;

Miss Bertha Norby, 3d and 4th;

Mrs. J. J. Doe. 2nd;

Miss Ada E. Foote, 1st.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Lee E. Healy, principal;

Miss Ellen Brady, 3d and 4th;

Miss Pauline Nieland, 2d;

Miss Henrietta Hennemuth, 1st.

Button's Business College, Crookston and Wadena, offers $100 to anyone who can name a graduate of these schools who was not given a good paying position when their course was completed. Fall term begins Sept. 4th. Send for catalogue.

GOOD ATTENDANCE.

St. Joseph's School Begins Monday with About 150 Scholars.

Monday morning St. Joseph's school began the school year with about 150 scholars. This number will be materially increased during the next month when a number of pupils will join the school after fall work is out of the way.

The school has five teachers this year as follows: Sister Visula, Principal and teacher of the 7th and 8th grades; Sister Demetria, 5th and 6th grades; Sister Borromeo, 3rd and 4th grades; Sister Baptiste, 1st and 2d grades; Sister Cecilia, music teacher. All of the teachers have bad a number of years experience in school work, and the school will make great strides the coming year.

A North Side Improvement.

Material is on the ground for a new place of business for John Deutschman on the North Side. The building is to be of brick, 25x50 feet, one story high. The front will be of pressed brick and the building will not only make Mr. Deutschman a commodious and pleasant place of business but will be an ornament to that section of the city as well.

Ant as a Medicine.

Having thoroughly exploited the curative powers of the bee, writers have now apparently turned to the ant. The latter like the former, owes its medical virtues to the formic acid that it contains. But while the living bee is able to administer a hypodernic injection of the drug, the ant must be killed in order to get it. If we are to judge from some recent French investigations formic acid is likely to prove valuable as a stimulant and tonic, but nothing equals golden grain belt beer as a refreshing and toning drink. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

MARRIED TEN YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Hansen Celebrate Their 10th Wedding Anniversary.

Monday was the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Hansen. In the evening a number of friends from this city and Thief River Falls met at their home and celebrated the event in a befitting manner. The evening was spent in social chat and refreshments were served. Before the party broke up the Mr. and Mrs. Hansen were presented with a dozen beautiful cut glass tumblers. The worthy couple have hosts of friends throughout the county who will wish them continued happiness and prosperity, and who hope they may celebrate many anniversaries to come.

Monday was also the anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hunt, they having been married twenty-seven years. Those who attended the party Monday evening presented them with a cut glass fruit dish as a token of esteem and as a reminder of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt have been residents of this section for a number of years and their friends are numbered by the score. May they enjoy many years of happiness is the wish of all.

Band Concert.

The weekly band concert will be given tomorrow evening, beginning at 7;15. The following is the program:

1, Durch Kampf zum Sieg.......Blom

A CHEAP ROAD GRADER

The Split Log Idea is Attracting Attention Throughout the Country—Is Worth Consideration.

The newspapers of the northwest have devoted considerable space during the past year to agitating the subject of good roads, and have printed numerous reports regarding the efficiency of the "split log drag." No subject is of greater importance than good roads and the following relative to the split log drag from the Pioneer Press shows the importance attached to that contrivance all over the country. "D. Ward King, of Maitland, Mo., held a noonday meeting at the Commercial Club yesterday in the interest of good roads. The subject of his talk was "Good Roads Without Money" and by his forcible manner of putting the case won many converts to his method of road repairing.

"City Engineer Rundlett was an interesting listener and at the conclusion of Mr. King's remarks heartily indorsed all that had been said. President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western explained that Mr. King was not present to sell any patent right, but simply in the interest of good roads. He has been engaged by the Maple Leaf road to travel through Iowa for the purpose of instructing the farmers in his method of caring for roads. Mr. Stickney believes the revenue of his road will be increased when it is made more accessible by means of good roads to the interior districts over which farmers can easily haul their products.

"The apparatus used by Mr. King in converting an impassable road into a good highway costs only 75 cents and can be manufactured at home. It consists of two split logs fastened together in a parallel position about two feet apart. A team of good horses can drag this machine over a country road and render it as level as a parlor floor.

"The split-log drag is drawn at an angle of 45 degrees so that the dirt is scraped toward the middle thus creating a crown for drainage purposes. All ruts are eliminated from the roadbed, and the elimination of ruts is the important factor in making a good road. When there are no familiar ruts to travel in, the farmers must pay more attention to his team and the traffic is distributed over the entire surface of the roadbed.

"Mr. King was to have made a demonstration on one of the city streets, but the rain interfered with that part of the program. Mr. King will be at the state fair all of next week, where he will give daily lectures and demonstrations. It is hoped in this way to bring the matter of good roads before a great many of the farmers of the state.

"City Engineer Rundiett stated that his department had constructed a half dozen of the drags and was about to order many more built, and it is probable that they will be tested on the summit avenue gravel."

The Gossips Whisper

That judicious love-making is a very proper caper.

That wheat around here has the big head this year.

That society is largely a worship of the almighty dollar.

That a good deal of religion is only denominational prejudice.

That sterling worth is recognized just the same wherever it is.

That the slot machines are doing a bigger business than anybody,

That the world has greater need of good livers than it has of good preachers,

That love is woman's entire being, and love-making is the larger part of a girl's life.

That when two can be alone on lover's lane, one can always be together says a Red Lake Falls bachelor.

That our young men are all expectancy. A new corps of pretty school ma'ams arrived in the city the past week.

NEW FACTORY.

Brunelle Bros. Will Manufactura Cigars in the Near Future.

Albert and Clem Brunelle will engage in the cigar business and expect to begin operations next week. They will occupy the building recently vacated by the Bourdon Land Co., and will manufacture nothing but first-class goods. Two new brands will be put on the market and nothing will be left undone to make them the very best. High grade tobacco will be used and as "Butch" and Clem are first class workmen there is every reason to believe their goods will meet with favor by all lovers of a good smoke.

The boys are deserving of a good patronage, and there is no doubt but what their efforts will be appreciated by all of our citizens. It will probably be two or three weeks before their cigars will be on the market and the coming of the new brands will be anxiously awaited by all smokers.

TILE THE FARM.

Would Increase the Value of Land Fifty Dollars an Acre.

Two Illinois gentlemen recently visited the Red River Valley and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the fertility of the soil and said it surpassed in richness anything in Illinois. One of the gentlemen said: "We can raise as much grain per acre in Illinois as you can here and depend upon a crop with greater sureity, but that is because we have our land tiled. Land that was worth from fifty to sixty dollars per acre before being tiled is now worth from one hundred fifty to two hundred dollars and it would make a great difference in your land here. When I first came to Illinois, about twenty years ago, I drove over swamp land where the water stood three feet deep at times, and this water has been put three feet below the surface by our system of tiling and drainage and the land today is worth one hundred and fifty dollars per acre."

Red River Valley soil is particularly adapted to tiling because of the porous nature of the clay subsoil. Mr. Lamberson, a large land owner near Warren has done considerable tiling and reports the venture a marked success. A striking difference can be noticed in growing grain planted adjoining fields on his farm where the land has been tiled in one field and not in another, the grain in the tiled land showing up a great deal higher and better in quality. Mr. Lambertson's tiling cost about eight dollars per acre.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS ORGANIZE

County Sunday School Association the Result of Last Week's Institute.

The Sunday School Institute held last week at the Presbyterian church in this city was attended by about fifteen delegates from outside the city, Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Fertile being represented. The program, which was in charge of Mrs. Hobart, of Minneapolis, dealt with modern methods of religious instruction, and was the source of much knowledge and instruction to all who attended the meetings.

The delegates became so interested in the work that a Red Lake County Sunday School Association was organized, which will promote similar meetings in the future. It is the intention to hold the next meeting at St. Hilaire the week preceeding Easter. The following were elected officers of the new organization: Pres., Rev. H. W. Knox, Red Lake Falls; Secretary, E. W. Chamberlain, Red Lake Falls; Treasurer, Claire Baker, Thief River Falls; Primary Secretary, Mrs. D. J. McNiven, Thief River Falls. In addition to these officers each city in the county will elect a vice president.

The new organization starts out under the most favorable conditions and there is no doubt but what it will be the means of being a great help to Sunday school work throughout the county.

CUT THE WEEDS.

A Citizen Suggests That the Weeds Along the Streets be Cut.

A citizen remarked recently that the city council ought to have the weeds along the streets cut. In many places the gutters and sides of the streets along the boulevards have grown to weeds. If property owners keep their lawns and boulevards clean they have performed their duty as citizens. The gentleman suggested that the council be urged to run the grader along the sides of the streets and clean out the grass and weeds. It would only be necessary to do this occasionally and the appearance of the town would be greatly improved. With all the wet weather there are not so many unsightly patches of weeds on vacant lots and along the sides of the streets as usual. It was suggested that a little effort on the part of the city authorities and the citizens a still further improvement might be accomplished.

The Fergus Falls Journal has the following to say along this line;

"About September first, road overseers in every district in the county ought to have the big weeds and brush cut along the high ways on all the prairie roads. It will not take much work, and will save a lot of floundering through snow drifts next winter. The laws of the state provide for this cutting of weeds. A rule among land owners for each one to keep clean all summer the road side abutting his premises would be a fine thing and one that would greatly improve the looks of the rural landscape."

Czar Thanks President.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 1.—News of the receipt by President Roosevelt of a cablegram of thanks and congratulations from Czar Nicholas has put the pessimists to utter rout. Those who could see no prospect of peace at any time during the conference, and who Wednesday predicted that Russia would repudiate the terms and plunge again into war, have had the last prop for their pessimism knocked from under them.

"Peterhof, Alexandria, Aug. 31.—President Roosevelt: Accept my congratulations and warmest thanks for having brought the peace negotiations to a successful conclusion, owing to your personal energetic efforts. My country will gratefully recognize the great part you have played in the Portsmouth peace conference.

"NICHOLAS."

The Peace Terms.

Recognizing Japan's preponderating influence in Korea, but Japan to observe its territorial integrity and preserve the "open door" policy.

DISASTER IN ENGLAND.

Train Leaves Track and Dashes Into Station Buildings—Ten Lives Lost.

Witham, England, Sept. 2.—As the express from London to Cromer, on the Great Eastern railway, was entering Witham station Friday morning, several passenger cars left the track and crashed into the station buildings, causing the death of ten persons, six of whom were women, and seriously injuring 20 people. The train was running at full speed, Witham not being a stopping place for the express. The third car from the engine was the first to leave the rails, and, mounting the platform, it dragged another car along. The first car went right across the platform, demolishing the buildings, and then falling on its side commenced to burn. There was only one passenger in the car, and, strangely, he escaped injury. Two other cars crashed into the wrecked station, and it was out of these that most of the killed and injured persons were taken.

FLY-WHEEL BURSTS.

Four Men Killed at the National Tube Company's Works in McKeesport, Pa.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Four men were killed, another is missing, and is supposed to have been blown to pieces, and three more were seriously injured Friday afternoon by the bursting of a fly wheel at the National Tube company, McKeesport, Pa. The explosion occurred Friday afternoon while over 400 men were at work in the mill. The wheel was 55 feet in diameter, and it went to pieces with a loud report, tearing a big hole in the side of the mill and wrecking thousands of dollars' worth of machinery. The explosion caused much excitement, and hundreds of people were attracted to the plant.

RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT.

Preparations in Washington for Demonstration in Honor of Mr. Roosevelt.

Washington, Sept. 2.—H. L. West, one of the commissioners of the District of Columbia, has notified President Roosevelt of the desire of the people of Washington to tender him a public reception upon his return here in recognition of his services in bringing the Portsmouth conference to a successful termination. The president does not object to the plans. He will be met here with even a more marked demonstration than the reception given him two years ago upon his return from the west. So far as plans have been suggested, they contemplate a street parade, but no speech making.

MET AN AWFUL FATE.

Aeronaut Blown to Pieces While Handling Dynamite in His Balloon.

Greenville, O., Sept. 1.—Aeronaut Baldwin, of Losantiville, Ind., on Thursday was blown to shreds with his balloon at a height of 2,000 feet. He was giving an exhibition of the use of dynamite from a balloon for war purposes and had three sticks of the explosive with him. When he was 2,000 feet in the air, in full sight of thousands of people attending the county fair, by some accident the dynamite exploded and the balloon and man were literally torn to fragments. Baldwin's wife was a witness of the horrible scene.

A Western Tragedy.

Tonopah, Nev., Sept. 2.—R. D. Chase, alias Russell, formerly of Cherokee, Ia., shot and killed Allie Watson and then fired a bullet into his own brain, inflicting a fatal wound. He left a note saying that he leaves a wife and two children at Englewood, a suburb of Chicago.

The Public Debt.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business August 31, 1905, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,005,524,595, which is an increase as compared with last month of $3,475,894.

Your Heart

May Be Weak. One Person in Four Has a Weak Heart.

One of the surest signs of a weak heart is shortness of breath after exercise.

Your heart is not able to pump the blood fast enough to your lungs.

Some of the other symptoms of Heart Trouble are: Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulder; Fainting or Weak Spells; Dry Cough; Swelling of Feet and Ankles; Cold Feet or Hands.

No one can afford to allow a weak heart to go without medicine, because weak heart means poor circulation, and poor circulation means weak lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, etc.

If, therefore, you suspect heart trouble, begin taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. The Heart Cure will do you good, as it is a splendid tonic for the blood and nerves, and will revitalize your entire system.

Finally, remember, Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold under a guarantee that the first bottle will do you good.

If it doesn't—your money back.

"I was afflicted with heart trouble for three years. I would be apparently all right, and without a moment's warning would fall as though shot. The attacks were frequent, and a terrible dread possessed me, as I never knew when or where, nor under what conditions I would be attacked, and whether I would survive them. I consulted and was treated by some of the most eminent physicians of the state. Not finding relief from this source, I began taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and began to improve at once. I used ten bottles, which entirely cured me, as I have not had an attack for five years."—MRS. JOHN DRESBACK, Leipsic, O.

WAR IS ENDED

Agreement Reached by Russian and Japanese Envoys at Portsmouth.

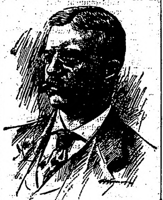
Mikado, Acting in Interest of Humanity, Yields All Disputed Points.

Waives Indemnity and Accepts Half of the Island of Sakhalin.

Czar and Mikado Have Consented to a Suspension of Hostilities.

Armistice Signed to Take Effect Upon the Signing of the Treaty by the Envoys.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 30.—The long and bloody war between Japan and Russia is ended. The terms of peace were settled by Mr. Witte and Baron Komura at the session of the conference Tuesday morning, and in the afternoon preliminary arrangements for an armistice were concluded, and the actual work of framing the "Treaty of Portsmouth" was by mutual agreement turned over to Mr. De Martens, Russia's great international lawyer, and Mr. Dennison, who for 25 years has acted as the legal advisor of the Japanese foreign office. The treaty is expected to be completed by the end of the week.



PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.
(Whose Unceasing Efforts Have Resulted in Conclusion of Peace.)

For the sake of peace, the Japanese with a magnanimity worthy of their heroic achievements in this war, met the ultimatum of the czar and abandoned their demands, not only for reimbursement for the cost of the war, but for the repurchase of the northern half of Sakhalin, Russia at the same time agreeing to division of the island. The Japanese also withdrew articles 10 and 11 of the peace conditions originally proposed (demand for the surrender of the interned warships and limitation of the Russian naval power in the far east). Japan agreed that only that portion of the Chinese eastern railroad south of Chantfu, the position occupied by Oyama, should be ceded to Japan.

Tribute to the President.

Before leaving the conference building felicitations were exchanged with the president at Oyster Bay. Both Baron Komura and Mr. Witte telegraphed. The former confined himself to apprising Mr. Roosevelt of the conditions upon which peace had been concluded. Mr. Witte frankly laid his tribute at the president's feet. In his message he said: "History will ascribe to you the glory," and added the expression of Russia's hearty appreciation of the president's "generous initiative." Mr. Roosevelt replied with words of thanks and congratulation.

Armistice Agreed To.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 2.—An armistice has been signed to take effect after signature of the treaty. The delay in cessation of hostilities was due to refusal of Japan to consent to earlier time.

Japan refused to consent to the cessation of hostilities until the treaty of peace has been signed. The Russian plenipotentiaries, accompanied by their secretaries, called on Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira shortly after noon Friday and were in conference with them for half an hour. Japan having indicated Thursday night through Baron Komura her willingness for an armistice, Mr. Witte, supposed Friday that he would find them ready to sign. Baron Komura explained that while his government was ready to consent to an armistice, his instructions were that this should not take effect until after the signing of the treaty. The discussion lasted for half an hour, the Russian position being that Japan's contention was without precedent, and that if the armistice was not to take effect until the signing of the treaty, it was practically unnecessary. However, the Japanese were insistent and an agreement was accordingly entered into, providing for an armistice which shall take effect the moment the treaty is signed.

Effect of the Armistice.

The effect of an armistice concluded Friday is that it becomes operative only upon the signature of the treaty by the plenipotentiaries and continues until the final exchange of ratification of the emperors of the two countries. It is for this reason that the plenipotentiaries who will themselves convey to their respective capitols the momentous document which to become binding must receive the signatures of their respective emperors, are anxious to leave at the earliest possible date, foregoing the innumerable invitations which have been showered upon them.

Why Japan Yielded.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 31.—The following statement of the Japanese argument which governed their decision to waive the question of indemnity can be accepted as authoritative: Japan realized fully she was making a sacrifice for peace, but she was looking to the future. It was not a question of whether the war could be successfully continued, but of whether peace was not now more advantageous to Japan. Japan had already gained all she fought for. It was only the "spoils of war" that remained, and having achieved the real objects of the war she could afford to forego the spoils rather than be placed in the position of fighting for money. While Japan believed she was entitled to the spoils, she felt that her position was so strong, her successes so complete, that she could yield without detracting from the force of her victory.

Witte's Note to the Czar.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 31.—The following is the text of Mr. Witte's cablegram to Emperor Nicholas, announcing peace:

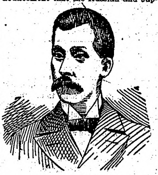
"I have the honor to report to your majesty that Japan has agreed to your demands concerning the conditions of peace, and that consequently peace will be established, thanks to your wise and firm decision and in strict conformity with the instructions of your majesty.

"Russia will remain in the far east the great power which she has hitherto and will be forever.

"We have applied to the execution of your orders all our intelligence and our Russian hearts. We beg your majesty mercifully forgive that we have been unable to do more."

President Receives Joyful Tidings

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 30.—In his library at Sagamore Hill, President Roosevelt shortly before one o'clock Tuesday afternoon received the announcement that the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries at Portsmouth had reached an agreement, and would proceed at once to conclude the terms of a treaty of peace. The announcement had not been expected Tuesday. The president at no time during the negotiations pending had abandoned hope of a successful issue of the conference, but he had realized more clearly than any other one man in the world the enormous difficulties which confronted the envoys in their deliberations.



BARON KOMURA.
(Chief Peace Plenipotentiary of the Mikado.)

The first word came over the telephone, but the president while expressing himself as extremely gratified, hesitated to place too much reliance in the report, preferring to await of-

THE BIG FAIR BREAKS RECORD

MINNESOTA EXPOSITION OPENS WITH A BLAZE OF BRILLIANCY AND GLORY.

The Crowd on the Ground was Largest in History of the Fair, Being 75,000. Dan Patch Breaks the Track Record.

Minneapolis, Sept. 5.—Minnesota's great state fair was opened yesterday. The attendance record was broken. Dan Patch broke the track record, making the mile in 1:59¼. The agriculturists, manufacturers and others broke the record for the greatest and best industrial exposition of its kind in the history of such expositions. The crowd broke the record for good nature. There is nothing left to stand before the 1905 opening day at the Minnesota state fair. That is yesterday's story in a nutshell.

There were 75,000 people on the grounds yesterday. It was thought that the opening day record of two years ago might be topped but nobody had an idea that the attendance would break all prior records, not only for opening day, but for any day of the week. But that is what was done. There were more than 75,000 people on the grounds. That many went through the turnstiles, to say nothing of the small army of men and women, employes and helpers about the grounds, who have made their home there the past week. The grounds were literally packed with humanity, and even with upward of 50,000 people watching the races in the afternoon, a very respecable crowd was distributed through the buildings, barns and over the grounds viewing the exhibits.

The turnstile at 6 o'clock last night showed that 58,936 people had passed through the gates. No separate record of the evening attendance was kept, but it was estimated that at least 16,000 more visited grounds making a grand total of 75,000 for the day.

The attendance on opening day in 1904 was 16,369 and in 1903 it was 32,384. The 1903 opening day attendance broke the record and was counted a very respectable crowd for the first day at a state fair.

A FIERCE STORM

Sweeps Over Lake Superior Doing Damage to Shipping and Navigation.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 4.—A fierce gale prevailed on Lake Superior the worst of the season. A fifty mile wind blew all day Saturday and continued throuh the night.

The steamer Samuel Mather started down the lakes and when off Knife Island eighteen miles out, a watchman, John Lindquist, of Cleveland, was washed overboard and drowned.

The big steel steamer D. M. Clemson which cleared from Duluth with ore for South Chicago had a terrible experience. Some of her hatches were torn off, billows poured into the hold and the cargo shifted. She put about and came to Two Harbors, arriving there with a four foot list and only two feet of free board. It is said she came near foundering.

The Penobscot was ashore in Allouez bay, but was released.

The steamer Northwind as she was entering the harbor was thrown by the waves against the pier and a hole was stove in her bow causing her to sink in twenty feet of water.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 4.—Eleven of the crew of the steamer Sevona were drowned by the wreck of the steel steamer on York Island in Lake Superior Friday night. Eleven others were rescued including the remainder of the crew and four women.

The story of the disaster is a thrilling tale of shipwreck such has seldom been told, tempestuous though the record of the Great Lakes has been.

Six of the dead offered their lives as sacrifice for others on board the ill-fated ship. They took a faint chance of rescue—and lost. Of those for whom they gave their lives five are dead. The rest reached shore after a night of buffeting by the waves in an open boat and a trip of more than twenty-four hours through the wilderness of Northern Wisconsin.

Suicide.

Minneapolis, Sept. 5.—The lifeless body of a young and pretty woman hanging by a shawl strap from the limb of a huge oak tree was the startling discovery made by John Simons, 3,000 Thomas avenue north, as he was strolling through the woods between Thirty-second and Penn avenues, north, near Crystal Lake avenue, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Simons was hunting rabbits, when he came across foot-prints made by a woman. He followed them until they led him to the oak tree. He turned and fled in honor.

Want Them Tried.

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 1.—A movement growing out of the annual reunion of the Quantrell raid survivors held at Independence, Mo., has been started here to have the men who have been indicted for the famous raid brought here for trial because of their alleged inflammatory utterances.

In Nov. 18, 1863, the grand jury returned twenty-three indictments for murder in the first degree against the raiders. Under the law these indictments do not outlaw, and now many citizens want them revived.

THE attendance at the state fair is exceeding that of any previous year. On the opening day 75,000 people were admitted at the gates, and this beats the record of any previous day in the history of the fair.

THE state board of equalization is in session at St. Paul, and some of the people are due to have their tax raised. The assessment as left by the county boards is considerably less than the figures of the state board last year. However, there is no evidence that the state is poorer, nothwithstanding a Democratic administration.

THEY are forming all sorts of political combinations up in the sixth district, and after the offices are satisfactorily apportioned there will not be many places left for the balance of the state. It seems Congressman Buckman wants to be returned to congress, and is willing that Ripley Brower should be governor and A. L. Cole speaker of the house. If any other congressional candidates appear it is likely some other soft berths will be pounced upon. It would appear that Mr. Buckman does not court opposition at the primaries.

The Czar of Russia has $25,000,000 invested in English securities and $6.000,000 invested in American rails and coal.

A Boston spinster has written a novel which she calls "Paradise,"It contains many more male than female characters.

The Chinese government has sent a circular to all mandarins and governors and they say they have never heard of such a thing as an American boycott.

Luther Burbank, the plant world wizard, now expects to produce cobless corn. If Mr. Burbank believes he can replace the roasting ear from the esteem of this country he is mistaken.

And now the Sultan of Zulu wants Miss Alice Roosevelt as his bride. What do you suppose she said? We'll wager she was equal to the occasion and told him she could only be a sister to his majesty.

The freight alone on brick which will be shipped to Panama in Central America with which your Uncle Samuel intends to pave the streets and thus put the city in a sanitary condition, amounts to $45,000.

M. Witte says many of the Russian people are unaware that their nation is at war. They are probably too busy trying to raise their taxes to have any time to find out what is going on beyond the township lines.

All the states in the union prescribe the death penalty for murder except Maine, Rhode Island, Michigan and Wisconsin. It was abolished in Iowa in 1872 but restored in 1878. It was also abolished in Colorado but restored in 1901.

Census bureau bulletin prepared by Prof. W. F. Wilcox of Cornell declares that the birth rate in the United States has been steadily declinnig since 1860. Everybody knows that, but why do they not propose a remedy for the same?

Dowie says every family in Zion must produce a baby a year. What do the ladies of his flock think of that? The next thing he will be advocating that men of his flock should have two or three wives. Is he interested in a paregoric factory?

The government is really treating the farmer more liberally than it is the resident of the small town. It delivers his mail to the farmer, small matter now where he lives, and does it every day, while the resident of the small town has to get his mail the best he can.

There is a scad of inferior draft horses being imported into the country, $200 plugs which are being sold for $2000 here on the ground that they are imported stock. A lot of Belgian horses recently shipped here cost the buyer in Belgium less than $200 each and were so poor a lot that the owner would not allow them to be photographed by an American as they were being put on the ship.

A resident of Great Falls, Mont., has either made one of the greatest discoveries of the age in agriculture or he is one of the biggest fakirs of the times, who claims to have discovered a perfected a process by which on acre of ground will preduce thirty thousand bushels of potatoes every sixty days which means six crops per year. This man claims potatoes be raised entirely underground one layer on top of another to the depth of fifteen feet not even the vines appearing above ground with this process he has patented, which is a composition that likely takes the place of soil.

To a large extent the papers of a town are responsible for the good name of a town. Nearly every city contains objectionable features, at least in the estimation of some of its citizens, but the wisdom of condemning ourselves in the eyes of the world every time something or some condition arises to our individual displeasure is very questionable. To run down our own city is poor policy, rather had we better stand up for our town, even though conditions, socially and otherwise be not to our liking. It is not neccessary that we close our eyes to these conditions, rather that we work quietly to their betterment.

Improvement of the Human Race.

To make the human race physically and morally perfect, and to accomplish this end by rearing children by the application of scientific principles which have wrought miracles with plants, is the one great ambition of Luther Burbank, the famous California horticulturist.

Mr. Burbank believes that every person could become physically, spiritually and morally perfect if subjected to the same care and treatment which he has given the plants. The natures of growing children, he said in an interview with Dr. James W. Lee of St. Louis, should be brought in relation with all the elements in their environment to which they are potentially responsive."

Burbank declares that plants, weeds and trees are responsive to only a few influences in their environment, while children are infinitely more responsive and a failure to recognize a certain failure to recognize certain spiritual elements in their surroundings has been the fatal lack of dealing with growing children.

Dr. Lee told Burbank that some 60,000 waifs had been educated in London homes in the last few years and only 2 per cent of them had turned out bad. This was due to Thos. J. Bernardo of London, and Burbank replied that he was doing the same thing with plants that Bernardo was doing with children. Burbank hopes he may be able to duplicate the work of Bernardo and carry it farther.

Dr. Gertrude Bodfish, president of the Ladies Physiological Institute, says: "The only way the human race can be improved is by carefully reared children; yes, call them scientifically cultured, if you choose. We are raising criminals now, just as fast as we can. A perfect marriage is the beginning. I believe, with Mr. Burbank, that children should be raised by the same scientific methods that plants are."

Beef Tea.

This story was told by an old physician who had practiced for nearly fifty years in a small, country town. One day he was summoned to a farmhouse, where he found a woman in a high fever and evidently exceedingly ill. He said to her husband, who was the only other person in the house:

"Your wife is very sick and must have nothing to eat except milk and beef tea, but I want you to give her a cup of one or the other every two hours." When he came the next morning and asked about his patient her husband said:

"That beef tea don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't. She began to feel bad as soon as she took it."

"That's odd," said the doctor. "You didn't give her any little bits of the meat in it, did you?"

"No, sir; I strained it first on account of the grounds."

"Grounds!" roared the doctor. "What did you make that beef tea out of?"

"Corn beef and the best green tea. I boiled 'em together all yesterday afternoon to get the strength out. But it don't agree with her, doctor; it certainly don't."

The Suburban Home.

The suburban house expresses freedom from restraint; it is the home of children; it means purer air; it means more room to move around in; it means gardens, and it implies a social life which years of city living may never engender. These are matters of first importance, and when to them is added the material advantage of lower rents the superiority of the suburban house over the city dwelling is established. There are long rides by trolley or train; there is the necessity of keeping early hours; there are difficulties with limited grocery, butcher and bakery service; there are other practical drawbacks. But over and beyond these is the abiding space of freedom of movement, of ample air and sunlight, of a place to live in.

And that is exactly what a house is for. It is neither to look at nor to serve as an ornament to a highway. That it should be ornamental and should be viewed with interest are matters of course that are extremely desirable, but after all it is the house within that counts; that makes suburban life bearable, adds to its joys, increases its advantages, cements its superiority to every other sort of living unless it be the country life pure and undefiled.—House Beautiful.

Hidden Water Supply.

The investigation of a neglected spring or rivulet may bring to light a valuable supply of water for gardening or domestic purposes. A surprising quantity is often obtainable by installing a ram at some seemingly insignificant source. A ram is cheap, because the first expense is the last; there being no cost of maintenance, and it is satisfactory, because the ram requires no attention. Once started, it takes entire care of itself.—Country Life In America

Twenty Shots In His Head.

At the present time there is a keeper on a Hertfordshire estate who has about twenty shots in his head. Nearly thirty years ago this man was accidentally shot by an under keeper, and there were twenty-two holes in the hat he wore, which is preserved to this day. The injured man never had the shots extracted, was long between life and death and completely lost his hearing.—London Standard.

CLERK BOARD OF HEALTH

Of Jacksonville, Fla., Endorses Pe-ru-na.

C. D. TAYLOR.

C. D. Taylor, Clerk of the City Board of Health of Jacksonville, Fla., has occupied that position for the last ten years. In a recent letter to the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., he expresses his approval of their famous catarrh remedy Peruna in the following words:

"The health of the poor of a large city is always a question of vital interest not only to the city officials but to every citizen. It has been a source of much satisfaction to me to find that so large a number of working people in moderate circumstances have accepted Peruna as their family medicine. It has cured a large number of cases especially of catarrh of the head, lungs and stomach and building up the general health it cannot fail but prove a help and blessing to any community where it is generally adopted and used. I have found it an honest reliable remedy and am pleased to endorse it."—C. D. Taylor, Clerk, Board of Health.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Mesdames J. W. Eastman, P. W. Mabey, Henry Grundy, F. J. Stebbins and C. C. Jackson, of Thief River Falls, were here over Monday night to attend the tenth anniversary wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Hansen. The ladies all returned Tuesday morning with the exception of Mrs. Stebbins who remained over another day for a visit with friends.

Numerous hunting parties have been out the past week. On the opening day of the season (Friday) a large number of our citizens were out, and it proved to be a most strenuous time. Most every rig broke down, and many were the tales of woe when the stranglers returned. The roads were in such bad condition that it was almost impossible to get through and the walking was very bad also. Some good bags of game were reported, but all agree that one has to work for all they get.

Crookston Times: Otto Zaiser, of Red Lake Falls, drove down from that place Sunday with George H. Wahl of the Wahl candy company Duluth who caught the train here for Duluth Sunday night. Mr. Zaiser on his way back to the falls very nearly experienced a disastrous runaway. The horses became frightened at the shooting of a chicken hunter and tore off at break neck speed. By hard work however they were stopped before serious damage was done to the rig or occupant. The accident occurred on the ridge straight east of town.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

When the system gets debilitated and in a run-down condition it needs a tonic and there has never been one discovered that is the equal of S. S. S. It is especially adapted for a systemic remedy, because it contains no strong minerals to derange the stomach and digestion, and affect the liver and bowels. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks selected for their purifying and healing qualities, and possesses just the properties that are needed to restore to the body strong robust health. When the blood becomes impure and clogged with waste matters and poisons the body does not receive sufficient nourishment and suffers from debility, weakness, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion and many other disagreeable symptoms of a disordered blood circulation, and if it is not corrected some form of malignant fever or other dangerous disorder will follow. S. S. S. builds up the broken down constitution, clears the blood of all poisons and impurities and makes it strong and healthy. The nerves are restored to a calm restful state, refreshing sleep is had again, the appetite returns and the whole system is toned up by this great remedy. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic and acts promptly in this run-down depleted condition of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice furnished by our physicians, without charge.

I have used your S. S. S. and found it to be an excellent tonic to build up the general health and give tone and strength to the system. I have used other things highly recommended, but S. S. S. did me more good than everything else combined. As to its tonic properties it gives a splendid appetite, refreshing sleep, and the system undergoes a general building up under its invigorating influence.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

A Grand Chance.

A golden opportunity presents itself to the homeseeker in the sale of Minnesota state lands. Approximately 260,000 acres will be sold under the state laws of Minnesota and the terms on which this land is sold are such as to permit a man of small means to secure for himself a home of his own. The lands will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder. But 15 per cent of the purchase price needs to be paid at the time of sale. The balance may run for forty years at 4 per cent annual interest if desired. Bear in mind that the settler is dealing with the State of Minnesota and that the title to all state land is perfect, makes this an uncommon offer. The lands owned by the state of Minnesota are distributed particularly in the northern part of the state, some in rich wheat fields in the western portion of the state, and in the main, will grow anything that is indigenous to the soil, and this section is admittingly the most perfect dairying country in the United States. S. G. Iverson, the state auditor and land commissioner has charge of these sales and the locations of the lands, as well as specific terms of sale will be gladly furnished by him.

People Get Benefit.

Duluth.—The prices of kerosene and gasoline were reduced one-half a cent a gallon as a result of the recent decision of the state railroad and warehouse commission in ordering a reduction in shipping rates. The cut in prices mean a saving of $140,000 to the people of the state in the course of a year.

The state commission ordered shipments of oil in less than car lots be entered as fourth instead of third-class freight by the railroads. This reduction in rates resulted in a cut of half a cent a gallon on coal oil and gasoline throughout the state. The annual consumption of these products in Minnesota amounts to about 28,000,000 gallons, and it is from this the saving of money as a result of the warehouse commission's action is computed at $140,000 a year.

Fatalities.

Minneapolis.—The percentage of fatal accidents in factories, mills and workshops in Minnesota is increasing to a rather remarkable extent, according to a report issued by Labor Commissioner W. H. Williams, covering the accidents of the last six months.

Mr. Williams reports that 439 accidents occurred during the six months, and that of these forty-one, nearly 10 per cent, were fatal. The percentage of fatal accidents in 1004 was 6.02 per cent.

No reason is known for the increase in fatalities, and an investigation will probably be made. One of the objects of receiving reports on accidents is to enable the bureau to keep in touch with conditions in the factories, mills and workshops and to ascertain whether the laws of the state regarding the safeguarding of machinery are complied with.

Everlasting Ice Cream.

Minneapolis.—The state dairy and food commission has a sample of ice cream that possesses wonderful merits. It tastes deliciously, melts in the mouth almost as easily as butter, looks enticing, and retains all its splendid qualities just as well in a leather satchel as on a block of ice. It is the kind of product the housewife can buy a week before she gives an ice cream party or ladies' aid societies can keep what is left over from one ice cream social until the time time rolls around for a similar function.

J. G. Fowler, food inspector of the department, purchased this wonderful ice cream from one of Minneapolis most popular parlors. It was a composition of gelatin, starch and custard.

An Old Relic.

Red Wing.—Bernt Eide, while destroying the old sidewalk of the Schref property on Sixth street, found a relic of the time of the revolutionary war. While digging a few inches below the surface of the ground his attention was attracted by a glimmering bit of yellow lying partly buried in the dirt. Stooping over, he picked up a rare locket of old gold. Upon one side were some unknown designs, probably the motto or mark of some secret society, and on the opposite side appeared the name of "Horace Wilder" and the date "1776."

News Notes.

St. Paul—Charles Eckblade, suffered a fracture of his right thigh and and two ribs while at work in the American Hoist & Derrick works.

Winona—Frank A. Johnson, the bachelor capitalist of Winona, who has been a familiar figure on the streets of this city for a number of years, died at St. Mary's hospital in Rochester.

St. Paul—The residence of Timothy Foley, was damaged by fire to the extent of $7,000. The loss is covered by insurance amounting to $40,000.

Rushmore—Rushmore has voted to have a fourth room added to its school which will give the children of the vicinity regular high school work.

Dodge Center—During a storm lightning struck the dome of the public school house, shattering it somewhat, but doing no serious damage to the building.

Mankato—County Auditor Weaver has forwarded to Brown county the expense account of the third Koch trial, which foots up, exclusive of attorney hire, to $4,654.50.

St. Paul—Young men giving the names of William Johnson and J. Giroux, were shot while attempting, it is alleged, to break into the saloon of R. Connolly, Jackson and Acker streets.

THE ISLAND OF TANGIER.

Strange Yet Beatific Conditions Prevailing Upon This Little Body of Land.

In Chesapeake bay, 125 miles south of Baltimore, with which city communication by boat three times a week may be depended upon during the summer season, is the strange Island of Tangier, so completely isolated from the usual lines of travel that it hardly seems possible that it can be a part of the state of Virginia. * * * Imagine if you can, writes Charles E. Fairman, in Four-Track News, an island about five miles long and three-fourths of a mile in width, with a population of nearly 1,500, where each house is connected with Chesapeake bay by a tiny canal; an island where the population has built homes along one narrow street but nine feet in width, without sidewalks, road-bed or gutter; an island where the women go about with bare feet and calico gowns during the week, and where the men leave for their work at an early hour on Monday morning and remain away until Saturday afternoon; an island where intoxicating liquors are not sold, where billiard-rooms and pool-rooms are unknown; an island where one physician and the minister constitute the professional class; an island where profanity is punished by fine; an island without a jail or lock-up, and where religion is the rule, and to be outside of the church is to be outside of the pale of the best society; an island where public cemeteries are unknown, and where the dead of each home are buried in the front yard; if you can imagine all this you may have some faint idea of the peculiar surroundings of the inhabitants of Tangier.

HUNTER'S ODD EXPERIENCE

Fox and Hawk Attempt to Purloin Quail His Gun Had Brought Down.

Dr. William Rowland, of Pasadena, who was up at Middle Ranch quail shooting a few days prior to the close of the season, had a most unique experience, relates an Avalon correspondent of the Los Angeles Times.

He ran upon a covey of quail, and, flushing them, dropped one with his left barrel, and then, at considerable of an angle, dropped another with the right barrel. Turning to his first bird, he was just in time to see a fox snatch it up and start to run away with it. Quickly pumping another cartridge into his gun, he let the fox have it, knocking him stiff. After reconnoitering a minute, and finding his first bird, he was returning to pick up the second, when something shot down like an arrow from the skies in front of him, the object proving to be an osprey.

The quail had been wounded, and its flutetring attracted the attention of the big hawk, which, while sailing through the ether had an eye out for a quail dinner, and, darting upon the wounded bird, was about to cheat the hunter out of his quarry. Dr. Rowland, while amazed at the turn of events, did not propose to stand for such a play, and, training his ready gun on the bold robber, with a pull of the trigger put him out of commission, and saved both his birds.

PHOTOGRAPHING AN OWL.

Easy of Accomplishment If a Dog Be Brought to View of the Bird.

The great horned owl may also be fascinated by a dog, writes Silas A. Lottridge, in "The Great Horned Owl," in St. Nicholas. And the photographing of the great horned owl under these conditions is not difficult; wait until the owl seizes the fowl and stops to rest on the return to the woods; then let a dog be led to within 20 or 30 feet of the owl, and the bird will be all attention for the dog and take no apparent notice of the person leading it. The behavior of the owl at such times is very amusing. It stands motionless, gazing intently at the dog; but after a few minutes, if the dog remains quiet, the bird seems to become nervous, and steps first to one side and then to the other, hissing, snapping its beak, and ruffling its feathers. After this the owl will usually try to make off with its prey; but if another halt is made, the bird's actions show even more nervousness. While the owl's attention is thus attracted is the time to approach within "photo-distance" to get the "snap-shots."

The Papal Flag.

The papal flag is comparatively unfamiliar outside of the Eternal city. The war flag of the defunct temporal power of the pope was white, and in its center stood figures of St. Peter and St. Paul with the cross-keys and tiara above them. The flag of the merchant ships owned by the subjects of the states of the church is a curious combination, half yellow and half white, with the design of the cross-keys on the white. In the banner used by the crusader king of Jerusalem, Godfrey, the only tinctures introduced were the two metals, gold and silver, five golden crosses being placed upon a silver field. This was done with the intention of making the device unique, as in all other cases it is deemed false heraldry to place metal on metal.—Chicago Journal.

A Cold Settled in His Kidneys.

A. J. Jennesse, 9201 Butler St., Chicago writes; "I am a switchman and am out in all kinds of weather, I took a cold which settled in my kidneys and I was in bad shepe. I tried several advertised remedies with no benefit, until I was recommended to try Foley's Kidney Cure, Two-thirds of a bottle cured me." A. L. Riechert.

UNFINISHED NOVELS.

TALES THAT WERE STOPPED BY THE HAND OF DEATH.

Nathaniel Hawthorne's Foreboding About "The Dolliver Romance." The Fragment That Stevenson Left. Thackeray's Last Work.

George Gissing's "Varanilda" is a masterpiece that its author did not live to finish. One well known critic considers this tale of the Roman and the Goth the deceased writer's finest work, and, though many may question this judgment, there can exist but universal regret that the romance must forever remain incomplete.

A greater work by a greater writer, "Weir of Hermiston," by R. L. Stevenson, was left a mere fragment, of which the lurid grandeur proved that its creator was taken from us in the zenith of his power. Another romance, "St. Ives," by the same pen, was running in a monthly magazine at the time of his premature death. Here, however, readers were not balked of a satisfactory denouement, for the story was brought to a conclusion by Mr. Quiller-Couch, well known under the nom de plume of "Q."

"I hardly know what to say to the public about this abortive romance, though I pretty well know what the case will be. I shall never finish it," wrote Nathaniel Hawthorne with reference to "The Dolliver Romance," which he had undertaken to write for the Atlantic Monthly. This foreboding was but too soon verified, for the author had scarce time to do more than lay the groundwork of the story and write the initial chapters ere death struck him down.

At his funeral at Concord the scarce commenced manuscript lay upon his coffin. Soon afterward the first chapter appeared in the Atlantic, and subsequently the second chapter, which he had been unable to revise, was published in the same periodical. Several years elapsed when a third fragment, revised and copied by the novelist's wife, was placed in the publisher's hands. The original manuscript is now preserved in the Concord public library.

"Wives and Daughters" was running in the Cornhill when the authoress, Mrs. Gaskell, died. Fortunately the work was nearing its completion, so that, although it was not actually finished by the gifted writer, the plot was sufficiently advanced to enable us to make more than a shrewd guess at the ultimate fate of the characters and to take leave of the hero fully assured of his ultimate happiness.

Another serial that was being written for the same magazine when its author laid down pen forever was "Denis Duval." Thackeray, indeed, was already in his grave when its publication commenced. Three parts and a portion of a fourth were all that appeared, and "the story," wrote the editor, "breaks off as his life ended—full of vigor and blooming with new promise like the apple trees in this month of May." With the fourth part was given a set of notes, taken from Thackeray's own papers, elucidatory of the subsequent development of the plot.

Thackeray's great contemporary, Charles Dickens, died, too, in harness. For long his health had been but indifferent, but he stuck unflinchingly to the work he had in hand. On June 8, 1870, the end came. The morning and part of the afternoon of that day were devoted to completing the sixth number of "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," but scarcely had he finished work and sat down to dinner ere he was seized with a fit. From this he never recovered, but after lingering some hours, without regaining consciousness, died at 6 the next day.

"I shall publish late in this year," wrote Laurence Sterne, "and the next I shall begin a new work in four volumes, which, finished, I shall continue 'Tristram' with fresh spirit." This new work here referred to is the "Sentimental Journey," one volume alone of which was ever given to the world, nor by reason of the author's death was the immortal "Tristram Shandy" ever continued.

"Arcadia," the pastoral romance which Sir Philip Sidney composed at Wilton House, was never completed and ran no small danger of being entirely lost to future generations when its author, before his death, gave orders for its destruction.

SIRES AND SONS.

M. Jean de Reszke is said to be the only professional singer who has ever sat at the czar of Russia's dinner table.

Baron Gautsch, the new premier of Austria, is practically self made. He commenced his career as an usher in a school.

Lord Alverstone, lord chief justice of England, will be the speaker at next summer's meeting of the American Bar association.

President Roosevelt is a hearty eater. He consumes three big meals a day and sometimes takes a supper before he goes to bed.

Speaker George L. Rouse of the lower house of the Nebraska legislature is the first farmer to hold that position since the early days of that state.

Comte Guido, visconti di Modrone, a young millionaire well known in society and sporting circles in Milan, has decided to devote himself entirely to music and with this end has accepted the directorship of important operatic performances to be given in Palermo.

Henry H. Rogers, who worked for $1.16 a day, is the most powerful single individual in the world of finance and commerce. He is a little fellow, has a cowlick on each side of the part in the middle of his hair and wears an iron gray mustache with cow horn curls.

The O'Conor Don, the lineal representative of the family of King Roderick O'Connor, the last monarch of Ireland, who submitted to Henry II., has agreed with his tenantry to dispose of his estate at Cloonallis and Ballinagare, County Roscommon, which has been in the hands of the O'Conors for centuries.

Probably the world's greatest oculist is Dr. Pagenstecher of Wiesbaden, Germany, who is consulted by almost every European royalty and by aristocrats and plutocrats from all over the world. He lives a life of absolute devotion to his work, seeing patients rigidly in turn, rich or poor. At his own "klinik" he performs all operations.

SPORTING NOTES.

Umpire Tom Connelly signed an American league contract recently.

Bill Coughlin will probably be appointed captain of the Detroit team.

Old Time Dentistry.

In the early days of dentistry a hickory plug was put into the cavity to fill the space where a tooth ought to be. This plug had to be gently pounded into its desired position. Old Judge Peckham was somewhat addicted to strong language, and when the dentist began his work the judge indulged in some classic comment. As the tapping of the plug continued he threw all dignity to the four winds of heaven, and his language became decidedly "more forcible than elegant." When, however, he arose from the chair, after what seemed to him an interminable period of agony, he pulled out all the stops in his vocabulary for a grand climax. The impression on his listener seems to have been deep and lasting. As the judge passed out the dentist grimly remarked to a

LOCAL NEWS.

A hunting party composed of Messrs. F. A. Grady, James Blake, A. P. Toupin and Dan Latendresse returned from a trip in the eastern part of the county Tuesday. Something over a hundred birds were shot and the gentlemen report a most pleasant time. Chief of Police Brunelle accompanied the party and acted as chef and all members of the party are loud in their praises of George's cooking.

In these days of clap-trap melodrama, flimsy attempts at comic opera and silly farces, like a welcome day, comes the announcement that that we are to have the opportunity of witnessing a performance of of "Her Double Life" with Laura Frankenfield heading the cast. There are ten people in the company and with the beautiful costuming and special scenery carried will make a delightful evening's entertainment. Metropolitan opera house Friday, Sept. 8th.

The entertainment given by Miss Toye Tuesday at the Metropolitan opera house was a most pleasing event and those who attended are loud in their praises of the young lady's musical and reading talent. Her vocal solos were of a high order and showed a high degree of culture. She is yet young in the music world and will no doubt make a decided success of her chosen vocation. Prof. Onstad rendered two solos in an artistic and pleasing manner which were heartily appreciated by the audience.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A, Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medecinc and remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of the terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night and passed a brick dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." A. L. Reichert.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

On an average a mule colt is more easily broken than a horse colt.

No sense in packing a lot of high-grade feed into low-grade animals.

The mule colt at weaning time should be twelve hands high, or more.

Agriculture, unlike any other business, flourishes best the more you can run it into the ground.

And by analogy—If it pays to be kind to a cow, will it not pay to be kind to a horse or a dog—or even a human being?

A farmer who has smart girls has no trouble to get hired men, but he may have difficulty getting much work out of them.

Folks used to make one cow tramp all over a five-acre lot to get enough to live on. Now they are working to make one acre support five cows; and some farmers are doing very well at it.

'Tis figured that American farmers are feeding 2,000 tons of Paris green to insects each season.

Now we know what inventors of "wonderful new churning processes" use to make milk produce "double the amount of butter." They use rennet, and make pot cheese!—Rural New-Yorker.

Take off your hat to the man who says to the boys and the hired men, "We will talk down here in the stable just as we do up in the sitting-room." That man knows where he is and what he is doing.

One pound a day more of milk from a herd of twenty cows means another pound of butter. Worth working for? Who of us can afford to throw away three hundred and sixty-five pounds of butter every year.

Any kind of man can farm in some kind of way, but only the right man can farm in the right way. The farmer needs to be a scholar, and if he understands his occupation, he will be a scholar in spite of himself.

All horses are born either right or left handed, so that every one of them has a preference for the foot that will prove most comfortable for him to use in leading out. It's found that the stronger side is the favorite one, everytime.

Did you ever think that when cream comes to the top it brings all the impurities that were in the milk up with it? That being so, nobody can keep the impurities out of the butter when they get that far. So, if we want clean butter we must keep the milk pure.

We often see it advised to spur the colts to make them walk fast. But it makes a difference whether or not your colt has it in him to walk fast. You can not make a fast walker out of a horse that has a naturally slow gait. Might as well try to make a bird dog of a poodle. Good walkers are bred, not made over after they are born.

Given up to Die.

B. Spiegel, 1204N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which causad much pain and worry. I lost much flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." A. L. Riechert.

The Northdome Record truthfully states that all that prevents a stampede to the north country is lack of knowledge.

Good advice to women, If you want a beautiful complexion, clear skin, bright eyes, red lips, good health, take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. There is nothing like it. 35c, tea or tablets. A. L. Riechert.

The Gain From Others.

A man is strong in proportion to the quantity, the quality and the variety of forces which he absorbs from others. He is a power in proportion to the extent of his contact—socially, mentally and morally—with his kind and a weakling just in proportion as he cuts himself off from others.—Success.

Junior Partner—I never suspected him at all. Senior Partner—Neither did I, although it did seem a little singular to me that he should be able to pay $2,000 a year rent out of a salary of $1,500.—New York Press.

No man will be found who does not sometimes hope or fear beyond the limits of sober probability.—Johnson.

The Era of Noise.

What an age of noise this is! Do you know any single human being who is capable of being silent for an hour at a stretch? I know two, and I value them according to their rarity. Not only does everybody talk, but almost everybody talks loud. I went into a shop the other day, and the clatter of conversation sounded as though the place were full of people. Yet all the noise was produced by three individuals. Why should they shout?—London Truth.

The Classes In England.

In England the upper class gambles, but does not drink; the middle class drinks, but does not gamble, and the lower class both drinks and gambles. It is a characteristic circumstance that the upper class makes laws to prevent the lower class from gambling and that the lower class is in favor of legislation to prevent the upper class from drinking.

Great Inducements.

Gyer—Fitzem, the clothier, is advertising a silk umbrella with each twenty dollar overcoat he sells. Mrs. Gyer—That's nothing. Bloom, the florist, is giving away the earth with each plant he sells.—Chicago News.

Papa's Own Idea.

She—Darling, we must elope. He—But surely your father has no objections to— She—None whatever. He suggested it, in fact. He says it will be cheaper.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Only Art.

The studio "tea" had been a great success. The one small and very youthful member of the company had walked softly about, looking at the pictures. Just before the party broke up the artist discovered him surveying a picture of a lion with awe and interest.

"Don't be afraid, little chap," said the artist genially, patting his small guest on the head. "He won't hurt you."

"Oh, I'm not afraid at all," came the response in a clear treble that caused every one to listen. "He doesn't look a bit as if he were alive, you know."

Let Common Sense Decide

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not over-clean), "blended," you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are skillfully roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen.

This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES.

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

Saloons May Be Closed.

A recent decision by Judge Morris is apt to close the saloons in Bemidji, Cass Lake and many other towns located on former Indian lands unless the decision is reversed by the supreme court. In 1855 the government entered into an agreement with Chippewas not to permit the sale of liquors on ceded lands, and Judge Morris holds that the presence of saloons on such lands is a violation of the treaty.

This question may develop into one of great importance if it stands and is enforced.

It now appears that the treaty referred to covers all lands in Northwestern Minnesota "north of the Wild Rice River in Norman county" and Ada, Crookston, East Grand Forks and many other places are in the prohibited territory. It is the opinion of good lawyers that the terms of the treaty are still binding and will be until congress legislates on the matter, which it has power to do under the treaty. In 1883 there was a conviction at Crookston for violation of the law.

INSTANT DEATH.

Six-Year-Old Boy Killed by Pitchfork in Brother's Hands.

Plummer Pioneer: On last Sunday forenoon Herman, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs John Seede, who reside about two miles northwest from here, was instantly killed by his brother Iver, aged 14.

It seems that Iver was engaged in cleaning out his father's barn and was throughing some manure through the door at the moment when his brother stepped into the doorway. The fork struck little Herman in the head, one of the tines penetrating the left temple and causing instant death.

The unfortunate affair is regarded here as purely an accident in which no blame can possibly attach to the older boy. We understand the coroner was not notified and the funeral was held on Tuesday.

Mind vs. Digestion.

That a mental image may have a real and immediate effect on the secretory glands is known to everyone who has felt his mouth "water" at the thought of food when hungry. In several recent investigations of this subject it has been shown that the sight of food may provoke even a more abundant flow of saliva than when it is actually taken into the mouth, and that the secretion is adapted to the kind of food perceived. We should therefore train our minds to aid digestion and with the aid of golden grain belt beer you will insure health and happiness. MAD RUSH FOR THE CITY

President Hill Says the Farmer Can Be a Prince.

Probably the most conspicuous thing in modern civilization is the desertion of the farm for the city, says the Chicago Chronicle. The proportion of the population of every country on the globe that lives in cities has been increasing at a great rate for the last twenty-five years.

As the movement is worldwide and is not founded on reason, it is almost useless to reason against it, and yet it is as dangerous and deplorable as it is phenomenal. The wisest men in the world regret it and condemn it, and among these is the railroad magnate J. J. Hill, who recently addressed the Old Settlers' association of North Dakota and who in referring to the desertion of the farms said:

"A good farm of 160 or 320 acres a comfortable happy home. A man can be a prince on his own farm. You rob your children of this heritage when you sell your farm. Keep the boys on the farm."

It is easy enough to point out how this hegira began. It is the result of the progress in machinery and manufacturers. The articles of human comfort and enjoyment which were at one time manufactured on every farm are now manufactured in factories. Almost all of these factories are in the cities, and the labor which formerly produced them on the farm has now followed these industries to the city.

This was the beginning of the movement, but it has greatly degenerated since it began. It has now become a mad rush to the city for the sake of the excitement and fancied enjoyments of city life. The farm is considered a dull place and the city is regarded as the abode of fun, amusement, society and comfort.

There never was a time since Adam delved and Eve spun when this was more of a delusion. There never was a time when there were more hardship, poverty and misery in the city than now, and there never was a time when farm life could be made so delightful and profitable as now. The best products of the city are now laid down on the farm at incredibly low prices, and the good things of the farm can not for any conceivable amount of money be furnished in the city.

People who live in cities and are millionaires are compeled to keep country establishments in order to enjoy real luxury. They not only go to the country for pleasure but when they have done so their greatest pleasures are in nature and are such as fall to the lot of the poorest farmer. Pure air, pure food, pure water, quiet sleep and the beauties of sky and land are not always to be had in the city, and yet all these may be enjoyed by a man in the country who lives in a shack.

The time was when the man in the shack had nothing else, but now he has the rural delivery, the telephone, the trolley car, the pianola, the newspaper and the magazine, the phonograph, the telescope, the microscope, the bath, the fine groceries and the fine library. He has, too, the rich milk, the fresh eggs, the fat poultry, the luxurious quiet, the bright dome of heaven and the smiling face of nature, which Croesus in a city can not have.

How it is that he prefers to come to a city, live in a stuffy flat, breathe smoke and smudge, drink mean coffee, eat stale eggs and spend one-half of his life in a strike is something we can not understand.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes, "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of the terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night and passed a brick dust substance and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." A. L. Reichert.

NEW FACTORY.

North Side to Have a Cement Block Factory—Herman Linder, Prop.

Herman Linder is preparing to manufacture cement blocks at his place on the North Side, and work will begin as soon as the necessary material arrives. He proposes to turn out a block that will be used for sidewalk building and has no doubts as to being able to manufacture a first class article. He understands the business thoroughly and will guarantee his product in every particular. As soon as a car of cement arrives operations will begin at the new factory and it is to be hoped Mr. Linder will receive the necessary encouragement to make the venture a permanent one for the city.

A GREAT AWAKENING.

Auditor Iverson Believes Great Results will Come from Present Campaign

State Auditor S. G. Iverson believes that one of the greatest results of the present campaign of publicity for Minnesota state lands will be the awakening of Minnesota farmers to the value of their property.

"Owners of northern Minnesota land who have been willing to sell during the past two or three years, said Mr. Iverson, have practically withdrawn their land from the market during the past two months. The great publicity given the resources and prospects of the northern part of the state has opened the eyes of land holders of the possibilities of that section of the country.

Purchasers of state lands next fall will find themselves settled in communities where everyone believes in the future of the state. The education of Minnesota farmers to the value of the land will be as good a result as could be desired by the state land department."

Minnesota lands are receiving columns of complimentary notices in the papers over the west. Minnesota papers are devoting space each week to notices of the land to be sold and a number of papers are issuing supplements containing the exact description of the land to be sold in their counties and the Wadena Commercial Club and other commercial organizations are sending land descriptions broadcast.

The auditor's office is flooded with inquiries about the land and every effort is being made by Auditor Iverson to get proper information into the hands of prospective settlers and land buyers. The state sales will start on October 23d and about 300,000 acres of land will be disposed of.

Hill to the Farmers.

James J. Hill attended the meeting of the Old Settlers association of North Dakota at Grand Forks and made an address, saying:

"A good farm of 160 or 320 acres is a comfortable happy home. A man can be a prince on his own farm. You rob your children of this heritage when you sell your farm. Keep the boys on the farm. The state of North Dakota could not raise grain enough to bake ten biscuit per capita for the inhabitants of China. Now ten biscuits would be short for a year's supply and I don't know that you could raise enough grain—you certainly don't raise enough grain—to make two biscuits per capita. That is a market that seems to me to be unlimited.

"I want to see better farming, because if in the state of Minnesota they got the same annual return per acre of cultivated land that they get in Iowa the state of Minnesota would have $80,000,000 a year more money and that is too much to waste. The agricultural people of the United States find in Russia their greatest competitor. Russia raises what we raise; she exports what we export. In the transcaspian country she is operating through irrigation great areas of country where she can raise cotton in competition with us, and she will."

The Citizens bank has been organized at Oslo—the Soo-Red river town—with a capital of $20,000.

The Wind and the Valley

A wild wind roamed the world,
  Rebellious, strong, and free;
It howled its discords long and loud,
  O'er mountain, plain, and sea.

Through spaces vast it swept,
  Nor paused as on it flew,
And chaos dire e'er marked its track,
  But still it onward blew.

A valley sweet it found,
  With peaceful sunshine filled.
It swept between the circling slopes,
  With joy its heart was thrilled.

The valley spurned it not,
  But loving greeting gave.
No longer wild, rebellious, sweeps
  That wind o'er land and wave.

The valley sweet art thou,
  Who greeting gave to me.
The wild wind; now no longer wild—
  Content to rest in thee.

THE WAYS OF FATE

BY LULU J. POWERS

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"Ten o'clock," said Emogene Gray, glancing at her watch as she impatiently walked up and down the little platform in front of the dingy country station. "What perverse fate sent me here to this out of the way place anyhow? This extension cuts off forty miles, but then it would have been better to have gone around, as the trains are so irregular that one is liable to come at any moment or it might not come until night. In that case I shall miss the connection and be too late for the wedding." She looked at the track which wound down a sandy bottom and up a hill slope and lost itself among the green of the pines, and then at the straggling village houses, turning at length with a sigh of impatience and entered the bare little waiting room. The only other passengers was a deaf old minister and his partly blind wife.

The former sat upon one of the long benches which were tacked to the wall, his hands folded before him, the picture of patience while his old wife dozed in the corner. Everything was still and quiet, and at length the old minister spread his handkerchief over his bald head and was soon snoring lustily.

Emogene went outside and walked up and down. After a time she sat down upon the edge of the platform, and had just given herself up to reflection when a firm step upon the platform aroused her and she looked up. The tall handsome man who had just stepped up on the platform was in the act of opening a letter, as their eyes met; he crumpled the letter and pushed it into his pocket.

"Emogene!—Can it be possible!" he exclaimed, going up to her and taking her hand in his.

A flood of crimson swept over her face and left it pale. "Why, Robert!" she exclaimed, a glad light leaping into her eyes. For an instance they were both silent. It has been said that people forget—that hearts grow cold—even learn to hate; but when kindred soul meets soul, no matter how deep the gulf between the wild sweet joy of the heart springs to the eye. "Your husband!" he at length found voice to ask, "where is he?"

"Dead," drawing her hand from his and turning her eyes away.

He took her hand and drew it through his arm as they strolled out under the trees which overshadowed the road. The old minister who had roused from his nap and looked out the door. "Humph!" he muttered, "a meeting of old lovers—but it is the way of youth," and humming the air of an old love song he went and sat beside his wife, and drawing her white head over upon his shoulder kissed her.

"Your coming into my life, Emogene' was an inspiration—a vista of joy, followed by deep misery and anguish. We cannot guide our hearts; they spring from us without our will or consent. I knew from the first that you were the promised wife of another, and yet my heart went out to you, and I fancied at times that you cared for me also. My uncle and aunt had no tenderness in their natures, and cared for little but making money. I had been left an orphan upon their bounty, and my life was never a happy one. You went away with the rest of my aunt's summer boarders, and after a time I heard of your marriage. My aunt's keen eyes read my secret, and she taunted me, telling me that you had but amused yourself at my expense. My heart could not bear her taunts, for it was full to bursting, so I left the farm and went out into the world. It was a tough old battle, and many times I was on the verge of despair, but I thought of you and held on, even though I knew that you were dead to me. A year ago both my aunt and uncle died and as they could not take their money with them they willed it to me. Now, sweetheart, tell me of yourself."

Walked up and down.

"You know," she said sadly, "that I too was an orphan and owed everything to my husband—that man I married. He was years older than I, but he was a noble man. Two years after we married he had some financial reverses and the worry preyed upon him and in less than a year he left me, and since that time I have acted as governess in numerous families. Now I am on my way to attend the marriage of an old school friend."

"Quite a coincidence," he said, his face growing white. "I too am on my way to attend a marriage."

"Well, that is singular," she said.

"You must marry me at once."

"What worries me, though, is that if I am not in time I shall offend an old friend. Sarah wanted me to come last week, and if this train makes me lose my connection she will hardly forgive me. I must confess, however, that I am a little curious to know who the bridegroom will be, as she writes me such strange letters, and has never told me the name of the chosen one yet, although she has written a lot about him. But then Sarah Ashton is always somewhat frivolous, though always good-hearted."

"Sarah Ashton!" exclaimed Robert Halladay, trembling so that he caught the post of a fence to steady himself. "Good God, Emogene! I am the expected bridegroom!" he groaned. "I can never keep my vows now that I know you are free. Until this hour I thought you were dead to me—another man's wife. Now you shall be mine!" He caught her hand in his.

She pushed him away from her, her face as white as his own. "Your honor and duty demand that you keep your word, that you hasten to Sarah Ashton and make her your wife."

"Darling, can you send me from you when I love you so," holding out his arms to her, "when I long for you—dream of you and want you always."

"Good-bye!" though her face was trembling and her very heart bursting, she turned away from him and walked over to the hotel. She could not continue her journey, her soul would not bear it; she must have rest.

Half an hour passed. Along in the seclusion of the little dingy room she gave vent to her feelings and great bursting sobs shook her frame. After a time she grew calmer and sank upon her knees. "Great God!" she prayed, "give me strength to do my duty, and help me to forget this day."

Just then a rap sounded upon the door.

Emogene arose and bathed her face before she opened the door. As she opened it Robert Halladay stepped into the room and took her in his arms. "Good news, darling," he said, kissing her again and again. "Read this," holding a letter before her astonished eyes.

It was but a few lines in Sarah Ashton's irregular, well known scrawly hand as follows:

Dear Friend:—Doubtless you will be greatly surprised, but I hope not greatly grieved when you learn that I have eloped and am happily married this morning to Mr. Smith. We were engaged and loved each other years ago, but paternal authority separated us, etc. etc. Yours in friendship,

SARAH SMITH.

"Now, sweetheart, as I cannot be a jilted lover, you must marry me at once."

"Why, How—"

He stopped her [illegible] later the old minister performed the ceremony in the hotel parlor, and when the delayed train pulled out from the platform it bore two happy, satisfied hearts away upon their bridal tour.

HIS EDITORIAL QUICKLY READY

New York Paper Tells Good Story on Southern Journalist.

A certain editorial writer on the staff of a Southern newspaper was inclined to dilatoriness during certain periods of conviviality, and caused thereby much concern in the breast of the foreman of the composing room just prior to the moment when the forms must go to press. But the writer was a part owner of the paper and could not well be discharged, since he occupied the position of managing editor. Many times the editorials were late and the paper delayed in going to press, but the delinquent writer always made good after a fashion. Finally he hit upon a scheme when he was called upon at the last moment for "copy" that may, in all justice to expediency, be called the art of genius.

The hour was very late and no leading editorial had gone to the composing room. In frantic haste the foreman sent for the editorial writer, and only after half an hour was he located—in a near-by saloon and much the worse for his dalliance there. He grasped the intelligence that he had forgotten his leading column, and made his way as fast as he could to his office. Snatching a piece of copy paper in one hand, he caught up a copy of the New York Times with the other, and from it clipped a leading editorial, which he pasted on the paper. Then he wrote:

"We cannot agree with the New York Times when it says:"

The editorial of the Times was copied, the paper went to press, and the editor back to the saloon.—New York Times.

Cheat the Elephants.

"Billiardists who have been afraid the scarcity of ivory would kill the game have another guess coming," said an old player, as he chalked his cue the other day. "I've been playing with billiard balls made of artificial ivory, which was so nearly like the kind the elephants furnish that you wold not notice the difference. Elephants are getting pretty scarce, you know, and elephant tusks are now almost as rare as genuine Navajo blankets. You know it is only the choicest of tusk ivory that can be used for billiard balls. One year ago regulation two and three-eighth inch ivory balls could be purchased for $8. Now they cost $16 apiece. The advance in the price of ivory was simultaneous with and strikingly similar to the constantly growing value of diamonds. Billiardists have maintained that only with ivory balls could the delights of the game be realized. This meant that within a few years only millionaires, kings, or princes could hope to indulge in the game which dates back to the time of the Pharaohs.

"Yes, sir, they are now making ivory balls that won't catch cold, and they are practically indestructible. They are celluloid and bone and hard rubber and are then sandpapered and polished."

Where Oil Was Needed.

He was dying, so the schoolbook says,
  dying in Algiers;
There was lack of antiseptics and dearth
  of woman's tears;
But a Red Cross man approached him and he murmured soft and low
That up upon his cistern some oil would have to go.
Now, this soldier of the legion knew English words a few,
And to him the sound of "cistern" was not exactly new,
Still the word conveyed but little to his
  unreceptive mind,
And he asked in simple language for a plain reply in kind.
Then they spoke in accents soothing,
  how this oil the germs would kill,
And the wicked stegomyia would become the same as nil.
But still they had to tell him and make it to him plain
That he had been mistaken and that no one who was sane
Could ever think that "cistern" the same as "system" meant—
That never oil—excepting cod—was on the "system" spent.
And so he died a peaceful death and never was dismayed
When ward clubs came in his back yard and kerosene was sprayed.

Copper Exported to China.

More than 22,000 tons of copper have been exported to China from America this year. The unusual quantity has excited attention, and inquiries of the trade have elicited two explanations. One is that a new coinage is necessary in China, because the old has been gradually melted down for the manufacture of cartridges. The other is that the process of smelting the metal is so imperfect that the smelted copper contains small quantities of gold, and this the astute Chinese contrive to extract. Vast quantities of copper disappear constantly in China from one cause or another.

Japanese Hydrographers Make New Map

Recent Chart of the Waters About Sakhalin Island—Part of Earth Was Long Thought a Peninsula.

Japan has already begun to make its changes on the map of the world. A new chart of the waters about Sakhalin island has just been issued by the Japanese hydrographic bureau, concerning which a Tokyo newspaper says: "On this map the Strait of Tartary, which divides Sakhalin from the main land, is marked 'Mamiya Kaikyo' (Strait of Mamiya) and the Amur gulf, northward of the strait, is marked 'Mamiya Kaikyo Hokubu' (northern part of Mamiya strait). This name, 'Mamiya,' recalls a remarkable historical event hitherto not known outside of Japan. Mamiya Rinzo was a Japanese subject, who had associated himself with researches in Sakhalin. The Tokugawa government sent him in 1808 with another official, Matsuda Denjuro, to investigate the conditions in this northern quarter. The little party traveled in a boat sixty feet long with four feet beam. They suffered many hardships, but they succeeded in making the important discovery that Sakhalin was an island, separated from the continent by a narrow strip of sea. Thenceforth this water was known as 'Mamiya-no-umi' (the Sea of Mamiya).

"Foreign nations, however, had no cognizance of Mamiya's discovery, and when Muravieff commenced his celebrated exploits in the Amur in the middle of the nineteenth century Sakhalin was supposed to be a part of the mainland. Nevolskoy discovered the error in 1848, and thenceforth the strait was called the Strait of Tartary on Russian maps. But, as in Mamiya's case, so also in Nevolskoy's, outsiders remained ignorant until the extraordinary incident of the Elliott expedition in 1855.

"Sir Charles Elliott, with three strong ships, posted himself in the Gulf of Tartary, where, as he supposed, his squadron blockaded a Russian squadron lying in De Castries bay. But within a fortnight the ice broke up in the Strait of Tartary, whose existence Elliott did not suspect, and the Russians steamed away north, passed through the strait and left Elliott blockading an empty bay."

Capitalists to Monopolize the Earth

Time Seems to Be Near When the "Common People" Will Have No Share in World's Beautiful Sights.

The public must have read with something of a shock the other day that Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, has been sold to a Boston capitalist for over $500,000, observes Judge. This is one of the choicest bits of natural scenery in the country, ranking next to Pike's Peak in point of scenic celebrity. Coming so close after the taking over of Niagara falls by a commercial company, the purchase of this central figure of the American Alps is well calculated to excite public alarm. These big outdoor landmarks hitherto have been regarded as a kind of continental asset belonging to the people at large and travelers felt at liberty to boast of them, and did so out of the pride of a fractional possession, as it were. Who has not stood beside Niagara and swelled a little at the thought that he was part proprietor of it? So with Pike's peak. Each one of us who has gone out to view this majestic spectacle was actuated by a desire to take a look at his own property and see how it was getting along. But if these things are to go to the auction block we shall lose interest in them and spend our money to go and see things that are still free. Next we shall hear that some fellow with a million or so has scooped in the Mississippi river and then a party from Chicago will go and buy the Alps and Vesuvius. Let the custom get started and there is no telling where it will end. The Morganization of the universe is at hand, we fear. There isn't going to be anything left that the poor common herd can look at with pride and say: "I am part owner of that." Some of these days, if this thing goes on, we are going to wake up and find signboards all over the Atlantic ocean lettered thus:

THIS FINE LARGE BODY OF WATER FOR SALE OR TO LET.
THE WHOLE, OR WILL DIVIDE
TO SUIT.
NO TRESPASSERS ALLOWED.

Captain Had Another Think Coming

Independent Cook Had No Intention of Allowing Him to Get Away—Was the Real Boss of the Ranch.

Florence Kelly, the Secretary of the National Consumers' League, is interested in the servant question. She said the other day:

"Public interest in this question improves the quality of our servants, raises their wages, and makes mistress and maid alike happier.

"Servants keep growing better all the time. What once happened in a New Bedford whaling captain's house could not happen there today.

"This captain, an old man, had retired from the sea and lived in a big house, along with many nautical treasures—curious corals, strange shells, stuffed fish from the tropics, whales' vertebrae and so on.

"His cook was a tyrannical old woman. Indeed, she was such a tyrant that she spoiled all the good captain's pleasure. But what was he to do? Cooks were rare in those days, and she cooked well.

"Still, he would have got rid of her if he could. Here is an instance of her staying qualities and of her impudence:

"The captain, entertaining in his dining room one night a half dozen brother skippers, told them how in his youth, on a wager, he had once drunk a gallon of brandy at a sitting without any ill effects.

"At the climax of his story the cook entered the room with the hot water and lemons. She looked at her master scornfully and said:

"'It's a lie. Ye never done it.'

"'Shiver my timbers, if that ain't going too far," the captain snorted. He rose from his chair. 'We must part at last,' he said sternly to the cook.

"But she pushed him back into his seat again.

"'Holty-toity,' she said. 'Where would you be better off than in your own home?'"

Belief That Sugar Confers Strength

Great Russian Wrestler Says the More Sweet Stuff One Eats the Stronger He Will Grow—Seems to Be True.

Various reasons have been assigned for the increase in stature and strength of the modern maiden, who has most certainly grown uncommonly tall and proportionately muscular during the past few years. It cannot be that outdoor sports, gymnastic exercises and so on, have stretched her out and made her as strong as she is, because her brothers have had precisely the same advantages, and they have not developed at the same rate. It seems to me, therefore, that the secret lies in the fact that of recent years girls have become far greater consumers of sweetmeats than ever were their mothers and grandmothers.

Time was when we should never have dreamed of having sweets on our luncheon, dinner and tea tables. Now it would be quite extraordinary were one not to offer these dainties. And, what is more, we are not merely content to eat sweetmeats at our meals, but we consume them at all times and in all places between meals. It was recently said that boxes of bonbons play a conspicuous part in modern lovemaking, "sweet to the sweet" being apparently the text by which every young man of the day guides himself through the devious paths of courtship.

The great Russian wrestler, who is shortly to enter again into contest with the Turk, Madrali, tells us that the more sweet stuff one eats the stronger one grows. Sugar is the secret of strength, he declares.

"Radiance from Within Must Shine"

"Its Harmony Express, the Aspirations of the Soul, the Power to Cheer and Bless."

The world is such a cheery place
  If we but see it so;
There's beauty everywhere we step
  To set the heart aglow.
The air is full of rhythmic joy,
  The blue sky throbs with love,
And every leaf and flower and bird
By pure delight in life is stirred
  Its ecstacy to prove.

The world is such a sorry place
  If we but see it so;
There's sadness in the skies above
  And on the earth below.
The children weep, the birds are mute,
  The flowers droop and die,
All sounds are tuned in minor key,
All sights but picture misery
  We wonder, wonder why.

How can we solve the problem—we
  Who fain the truth should know?
How can the earth be so beautiful
  And how so full of woe?
O human heart, give answer, for
  In thee that answer lies;
'Tis not for birds, or flowers, or air
To make life either dull or fair
  Or prove its mysteries.

Life's radiance from within must shine,
  Its harmony express
The aspirations of the soul,
  The power to cheer and bless.
'Tis love, love only, in the air,
  The sky, the birds, the flowers,
That glorifies the common life,
That triumphs over care and strife
  In this sweet world of ours.
—Emily Hartley, in Sunset Magazine.

Don't chew lead pencils.

Don't teeth on rubber rings.

Don't drink beer out of bottles corked with rubber-washer stoppers. If you do you are likely to be picked up and hustled off to a hospital and cut open for appendicitis.

This you may learn by reading London Lancet. But, of course, you won't read it, for it is a purely medical publication. Dr. Pond writes for it.

He has discovered that in most cases of appendicitis, including those in which the operation is successful but the patient dies, antimonial poisoning is found. This he traces largely to the general use these latter days of bottles corked with rubber-washered stoppers and fruit cans sealed with rubber rings.

PAINFUL PERIODS

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Miss Irene Crosby

Thousands of American women [illegible] have found relief from all such suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, [illegible]

PE-RU-NA STRENGTHENS THE ENTIRE SYSTEM.

F. S. Davidson, Ex-Lieut. U. S. Army, Washington, D. C., care U. S. Pension Office, writes:

"To my mind there is no remedy for catarrh comparable to Peruna. It not only strikes at the root of the malady, but it tones and strengthens the system in a truly wonderful way. That has been its history in my case. I cheerfully and unhesitatingly recommend it to those afflicted as I have been."—F. S. Davidson.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

One of His Lucid Intervals.

A visitor at a lunatic asylum noticed one of the inmates walking about the grounds pushing in front of him a wheelbarrow turned upside down.

The visitor stopped him and asked him the reason of the unusual performance.

"Why, you see," said the demented one, "if I turned it right side up they'd put bricks in it."—Harper's Weekly.

MARRIAGE MADE EASY.

Bostonian Relieves Brides' Families of All Responsibilities.

It appears that a wide-awake Bostonian is in a fair way to win wealth, if not fame, by a novel idea which she has in development. She undertakes, in consideration of a substantial sum, to supervise weddings and relieve the bride's family of all the responsibilities involved on such occasions, thus insuring them from nervous breakdown. Everything from the decoration of the house to the bridal trousseau is intrusted to her care, nor does the bride-to-be have to worry about even the packing of her trunks, for the wedding director sees that everything is put carefully in her trunks and a complete inventory is taken in a little book, so that every article may be easily located. Now that weddings are to be made easy, there no longer will be any excuse for a bride to look worried and worn, as so many do at the ceremony, for by this woman's scheme brides may rival the lilies of the field in idleness and step to the altar as fresh and brightly blushing as possible.—New York Press.

STRONGER THAN MEAT.

A Judge's Opinion of Grape-Nuts.

A gentleman who has acquired a judicial turn of mind from experience on the bench out in the Sunflower State, writes a carefully considered opinion as to the value of Grape-Nuts as food. He says:

"For the past 5 years Grape-Nuts has been a prominent feature in our bill of fare.

"The crisp food with the delicious nutty flavor has become an indispensable necessity in my family's everyday life.

"It has proved to be most healthful and beneficial, and has enabled us to practically abolish pastry and pies from our table, for the children prefer Grape-Nuts and do not crave rich and unwholesome food.

"Grape-Nuts keeps us all in perfect physical condition—as a preventive of disease it is beyond value. I have been particularly impressed by the beneficial effects of Grape-Nuts when used by ladies who are troubled with face blemishes, skin eruptions, etc. It clears up the complexion wonderfully.

"As to its nutritive qualities, my experience is that one small dish of Grape-Nuts is superior to a pound of meat for breakfast, which is an important consideration for anyone. It satisfies the appetite and strengthens the power of resisting fatigue, while its use involves none of the disagreeable consequences that sometimes follow a meat breakfast." DAIRY NOTES

Curing a Kicking Cow.

Every once in a while I see in an agricultural paper an article on how to cure kicking cows. With a kicking cow that has the habit well formed, no art will avail, at least when there is a new milker. I have handled a great many kicking cows, and am absolutely of the opinion that a cow must become acquainted with her milker before he can even hope to cure her of the propensity, and then the cure will exist only so long as the milker remains with her. Whenever a new milker appears the habit will revive. I have known of kicking cows that have been milked by the same milker for years and would not allow themselves to be milked by any other person unless they were so thoroughly tied up with ropes that they could not move. The best method of curing a cow of the kicking habit is to use gentleness. The milker must develop the power to hold his temper under all conditions. Even then, if the cow is like some that I have known, he will find it to his advantage to restrain her by a rope put, around her legs in the form of a figure "8." This should be placed around the legs just above the bend of the legs. The rope should be looped at one end and the loose end passed through the loop, completing the figure eight. The rest of the loose end can lie in the lap of the milker. The friction of the rope in the loop will hold the figure eight in place, and if the cow attempts to kick, it will give only so gradually that she cannot deliver a blow. If it is made fast she will feel herself under restraint and perhaps become excited and throw herself. I found this to be one of the best methods for saving the milker from the kick of the cow.—John Stinson, Bureau Co., Ill., in Farmers' Review.

Apple Pomage as Silage.

When apples are abundant there are always a great many that are small and are used for cider. In small crop years the amount of apples usable for cider is very small, owing to the fact that there are few apples on the tree, and these apples develop into a salable fruit. But when the big fruit years come, the trees are loaded with apples, with the natural result that many of these are small, too small to be merchantable except in the form of cider or cider vinegar. In these full crop years a great deal of cider is made, and consequently a great deal of apple pomace accumulates. In many cases this pomace is thrown out into the streams, or is fed to cattle already well-fed on the pasture. We have seen it thrown into the barnyards in cakes, the cows eating what they could off the top, and trampling the rest under foot. Apple pomace has been found useful for silage. It makes first-class silage and keeps well from year to year. This is of interest to those farmers living near cider mills where they can obtain pomace at little cost. Cows fed on this silage are said to hold up their milk as well as those that are fed on corn silage. The milk does not seem to be in any way injured by the flavor of the pomace, but when it is fed it is well to begin its feeding slowly, a little at a time, as any change of food if very abrupt seems to influence the milk for a time. The usual practice in feeding it is to give about fifteen pounds a day to each cow.

Detecting Formaldehyde in Milk.

When men began to use preservatives in milk, they used various substances that could be easily detected by the chemists. Repressive laws, however, made it difficult to use some of these preservatives, and the manufacturers of preservatives set their chemists at work to find some substance that could not be detected by other chemists. They hit upon formalin, or formaldehyde, the latter being a combination of formalin and water. For a long time the chemists were unable to detect this in the milk as no means was known of showing the formalin. But by a large number of experiments things were at last discovered that would show the presence of formalin. The French have just hit upon a new way of detecting it at once and without any question. They first add acetic or lactic acid to the milk, and this precipitates the casein. This leaves a liquid that may be filtered. To this filtrate is added a few crystals of amidol. The water of the liquid then becomes a flowery green. The test is so accurate that if there is present in the milk only one part of formaldehyde to half a million parts of milk, the test will show it.

Cash for Cream.

Paying cash for cream is the way one creamery corporation in Nebraska is trying to get rid of bookkeeping. When the cream is taken the farmer is given a receipt, which is virtually a check, as it is negotiable. The bank takes these receipts for cash and they are afterward returned to the company for liquidation. This would appear to be a good plan to follow, but requires a good deal of capital on the part of the company putting it into operation, as they must pay for all goods some weeks before it is possible to get cash for them. Some such plan would be far better than having a great lot of bookkeeping to do, with monthy reports to make. Cash transactions are easy to handle and time is saved, as well as postage in rendering accounts.

POULTRY

Stocking Up with Fowls.

There are two times of year when we naturally increase our stock of fowls. One is the spring, the other is the fall. If we want to stock up in the way of purchasing eggs, we generally do so in the spring, unless we are using an incubator. When we have to depend on the hen for the incubating process, it is more necessary to do this in the spring, because the hen is not inclined to sit in the fall. Most farmers, however, have found it advisable to buy poultry rather than to buy the eggs, and the fall is the time when this should be done. This is the time of surplus stock. This is the time when the men that have good fowls have some on hand to sell, and the man that wants to increase the number of his breeding birds should purchase them as soon as possible, that he may have his pick, rather than take what is left after most of the surplus has been sent to market. There is another reason why the farmer should stock up early in the fall rather than late, and that is that the birds may be fed under his care long before the cold weather comes on. As a usual thing, the men that are raising fowls to sell are feeding them the cheapest possible food, with the idea of producing a fowl that will look well and sell well. Almost always this feeding in this part of the country will be found to be corn. It makes a fine-looking bird, but not one that will have an inclination to lay eggs early in the winter. If this feeding continues until December, there is nothing that the purchaser can do to offset it, but he may be sure that he will not get eggs from birds so fed until the latter part of January. If, however, he buys the birds early in the fall, he will not feed them with the same object in view as the man that wanted to sell them. He will feed them with the idea of having the bird in prime condition for the production of winter eggs. He will feed them meat scraps, cut bone, oats, and feeds that the other man has not bothered to feed. It is impossible to get winter eggs without proper feeding, and this proper feeding must prevail, not only during the laying season, but for several months before. The intelligent poultry raiser will therefore see that it is altogether to his advantage to stock up early in the fall.—Sophia Belknap, Allen Co., Ind., in Farmers' Review.

Moulting.

Moulting is a natural process that has for its object the furnishing of the fowl with a winter dress compact enough to protect her from the cold. Some might ask why moulting is necessary at all. It is because the Creator has prepared the fowl a suit of clothes that endures for a year. Under ordinary conditions, this suit is at its best when it is new. The barbs of the feathers lie so close together that they form an air-tight compartment under the feathers. I have been in a poultry house on a day in winter when the temperature was 20 degrees below zero. Every hen seemed to be puffed up, greatly enlarged in size. This was produced by the feathers being pushed away from the body and holding under them a layer of air. The feathers touched so firmly that there was no communication between the air inside and the air outside. This was a provision of nature for keeping the fowls warm. The feathers are made up of minute spaces, each one filled with air, and therefore a non-conductor of heat. The quill itself is hollow and the air space in it prevents the passage of heat. When these feathers are new, therefore, they are the warmest possible protection of the fowl. But when summer comes the conditions differ. The fowl needs the air from outside, and the feathers become thin, like a garment that is well worn. Nature might have provided for these feathers to renew themselves, but nature found it easier to grow new feathers for the new winter coat, and this is just what occurs. At moulting time the fowl needs to be fed with food that is rich in all the elements required for growth. The production of its winter suit is quite a tax on the fowl, and usually there is no production of eggs in the moulting season.

Food for Show Birds.

A man that is fattening his fowls for a show room and has only a limited time in which to do it, naturally wishes to feed them a food that will force growth. He will choose those foods that are rich in the fat-forming elements. Boiled rice is one of the best of these foods, as it is very digestible and has nearly the richness of corn meal. Boiled potatoes, also, when mixed with corn meal, will be eaten in considerable quantities by fowls, and potatoes are very rich in starch. Some corn should be fed them, and with it a goodly amount of grit. To get a gloss on the feathers, some men feed sunflower seed, some feed beef tallow, and some feed both. The drink advocated by some poultrymen is sweetened water. We do not know, however, that this is of any advantage to the fowls, or that they drink more of it because it is sweetened. The larger the amount of water used, the better.

Fall plowing should be so thorough that all the weeds will be turned under and none left between the furrows. Such weeds become a nuisance the following spring.

FRUITFUL FURNACES

INTENSE HEAT PRODUCES PRECIOUS STONES.

Scientists Have Succeeded in Plucking Real Diamonds and Rubies from the Crucible of the Furnace.

Recent advices from France state that Prof. Moissan, the eminent scientist and inventor, has actually succeeded in making genuine diamonds and rubies. He employs for this purpose the electric furnace, which has been so improved that a degree of heat can be produced, approaching the extreme temperatures, which were undoubtedly a factor in the formation of minerals and gems in the interior of the earth.

The rubies obtained are of large size, weighing 10 or 15 carats, and in quality and color equal and even surpass those found in the earth. The natural forces attending the formation of diamonds seem to have been more complicated, and so far the diamonds resulting from the efforts of the scientists have been very small, but still they are positively identified as the carbon crystal—the diamond. They are remarkably clear and bright, and on a small scale as fine specimens as nature's own product.

The electric furnace has enriched chemistry with a whole series of new compounds. Probably the one of most value to mankind at large is Calcium Carbide. The simple application of water to Calcium Carbide generates the gas Acetylene, which is now being commonly used for lighting.

The peculiar merits of Acetylene light are its brilliance and high candle power, ease of installation, economy and its adaptability for lighting buildings of every description, regardless of their location.

MAN STILL HAS THE CIGAR.

Woman Has Usurped Most of His Other Vices and Privileges.

The advancement of woman by leaps and bounds continues. First, we had the women's clubs; then the women's hotel, with bell girls and "lady" porters, and later the Woman's Downtown Lunching club. There is one young woman living in the vicinity of Madison square who is still ages ahead the rest of her sex in the race for equality with man. She wear's men's shoes, a four-in-hand tie, and a dress that is as near an approach to a suit of clothes as the laws of dressmaking will permit. She carries her umbrella as a man would his cane, and her walk is a close imitation of the Harvard strut. The other day one who passes constantly through the park on her way down town saw this concrete example of advanced womanhood sitting on a bench writing a letter instead of reading the paper, while she had her shoes shined. The passer-by looked by instinct, as it were, for the cigar in her left hand, but that, fortunately was reserved for a still more remote period of feminine development.—New York Post.

Howlers.

In his "Comic School Tales" H. J. Barker gives some amusing answers by children technically known in England as "Howlers." "A teacher was giving a lesson on the circulation of the blood. Trying to make the matter clearer, he said: 'Now boys, if I stood on my head, the blood, as you know, would run into it, and I should turn red in the face.' 'Yes, sir,' said the boys. 'Now,' continued the teacher, 'what I want to know is this: How is it that while I am standing upright in the ordinary position the blood doesn't run into my feet?' And a little fellow shouted: 'Why, sir, because your feet ain't empty.'"—Technical World.

Cure to Stay Cured.

Wapello, Iowa, Sept. 11th (Special)—One of the most remarkable cures ever recorded in Louisa County is that of Mrs. Minnie Hart of this place. Mrs. Hart was in bed for eight months and when she was able to sit up she was all drawn up on one side and could not walk across the room. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Speaking of her cure, Mrs. Hart says:

"Yes, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me after I was in bed for eight months, and I know the cure was complete for that was three years ago and I have not been down since. In four weeks from the time I started taking them I was able to make my garden. Nobody can know how thankful I am to be cured or how much I feel I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

This case again points out how much the general health depends on the Kidneys. Cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and nine-tenths of the suffering the human family is heir to will disappear.

All the wise men in the world will become important now in trying to see that Peace gives good measure.

SONGBIRDS IN BERMUDAS.

Impression That They Are Tuneless Is a Mistake.

"There is a general impression that there are no song birds in the Bermudas," said Frank A. Meade of Los Angeles. "I spent an autumn there, and can give a few facts about some of the native birds. The native birds of Bermuda are the red bird (Cardinalis pubra), bluebird, mocking bird, ground dove, kingfisher and chick of the village. The redbird's song is between a warble and a shrill whistle. The chick of the village reminds one of the English wren. Its sprightly note may be heard at intervals through the year. The melody of the blue and mocking birds are too familiar in Wisconsin to need introduction. About fifty kinds of birds, including migrants, have been observed. The migrant birds leave the coast of America early in the autumn in large flocks to seek southern latitudes, and stop at islands on the way to rest. The most frequent visitors are golden plover, sandpipers, snipes, owls and eagles."—Milwaukee Free Press.

PICKED THE BEER BOTTLES.

Clubman Played Havoc in His Own Ice Box at Home.

He had been at his lodge and it was early in the morning before he returned. He was not strictly sober, maybe, but he had sense enough to go to the ice box. His wife heard him lift the lid of the box and let it fall with a bang against the wall. She fancied him groping about for the hammer and pick to break off a piece of the lump when suddenly the sound of a bombardment came to her ears.

Next morning she arose and went to the ice box and opened it to see what could have been the matter the night before. There she beheld a wreck. It appeared that her husband had taken the hammer and pick, and in the darkness had mistaken six beer bottles for lumps of ice.—New York Sun.

NOISES IN HER HEAD

Mrs. Reagan was a Nervous Wreck, But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Sound Health.

"Before I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Mrs. Mary Reagan, of No. 86 Kilburn street, Fall River, Mass., recently, "I was in and out of bed all the time, but now I stay up all day and do all my own work.

"I was badly run down from overwork. One day noises began in my head and almost made me crazy. My head felt as if a tight band had been put around it, and the pressure and the sounds made me so uneasy that I often had to walk the floor all night.

"My stomach was in bad shape, and I had smothering sensations. At such times my body seemed bloodless, my hands were like chalk and my face turned yellow. The doctor said I had dyspepsia in the worst form. Then my nerves gave way and I was completely prostrated. I frequently suffered from smothering sensations.

"The first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I used quieted my nerves so that I could get a good night's sleep, which was a new experience for me. Before I began to use them I was a nervous wreck and trembled at the slightest sound. I was so weak that I had to sit down and rest every few steps when I went up stairs. Now I can run up a whole flight at once. The smothering sensations have gone and the noises in my head have stopped entirely. My appearance has greatly improved, for friends who were alarmed on my account before, now say: 'How well you are looking!' My husband spent over a hundred dollars on treatment for me that was worthless, but a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought me sound health."

It is believed that the majority of the companies have adopted this method of reducing their taxes.

There is widespread suspicion directed toward all these companies. It should be cleared up. The only way is to have a through examination.

A St. Louis colored man has invented an automobile that promises to fulfill the dream of the rural mail carrier. The first machine was sold at a price of $250, and it is claimed that they can soon be placed on the market at a price of $150 or less. It is claimed that this wonderful machine will be able to maintain speed of 35 miles an hour for four days without stopping.

GOOD HUSBANDS.

Formerly any man was a good husband who did not get drunk more than six days out of the week and only beat his wife semi-occasionally. In those days the burden of proof was upon the wives, so long as the good man was also a good provider, and they were expected to be able to spin the flax, weave the linsey-woolsey, clothe the family, and run the household.

All of this, an eastern editor declares, has been changed, however, and now, with our higher education for women folks, the scarcity of servants and the gradual enslavement of man, a good husband has come to mean something more than a fairly sober and industrious provider for the family. It means—one who by courtesy only wears the trousers; a man who can get breakfast and wash dishes when the cook is away; a gentle tempered and mild mannered male who can be trusted to tend the baby while wifey reads an essay on the rearing of children at the mothers' congress.

We move fast in these days and man is being tamed rapidly—to his own benefit.

Sale of Ditching Jobs.

Notice is hereby given, that on the seventh day of October, 1905, at one o'clock p. m., at the office of the County Auditor in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minnesota, I will sell the jobs of digging and constructing the Ditch No. 22 of Red Lake county, established by the Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake county, state of Minnesota, by their order bearing date the eight day of September, 1905, viz: For the work as one job, and also for one or more sections of 100 feet each, and also for one or more of the construction jobs, each of said sections to be known and numbered by stakes as shown by the report of the Engineer in said matter, commencing at the one including the outlet, and from thence, successively, up stream to the one including the source, said sections being numbered from 0 to No. 195, both inclusive, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, and that bids are invited for said work; said work to be completed within the time required, and in the manner specified, in said Engineer's report. And no bid will be entertained which exceeds more than thirty (30) per cent. over and above the estimate cost of the construction, in any case, as stated in the said order: and the successful bidder will be required to give a satisfactory bond, to be approved by the Auditor of said county, with two freehold sureties, for the faithful performance and fulfillment of his contract, and to pay all damages that may accure by reason of his failure to complete the job within the time required in the contract. The said order estimates and profile are on file and may be seen at my office.

The approximate amount of work to be done in the construction of such ditch is as follows:

The excavation and removal of 36,024 cubic yards of earth, the seme to be placed along the north side of the ditch so as to form a turnpike or grade and the same to be left in a suitable condition for public traffic from Station No. 0 to 177 inclusive. From Station No. 178 to Station No. 195 inclusive the earth removed may be deposited on each side of the ditch in spoil banks as provided in the plans and specifications of the engineer. The estimated cost of the work is fourteen cents per yard. The estimated total cost of the work is Five Thousand Forty-three and 36-100 Dollars.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Auditor of said County for not less than ten per cent of the amount of each bid.

The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

Dated September 12, 1905.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES LOST IN EARTHQUAKE

PROVINCE OF CALABRIA, ITALY, AND SICILY VISITED BY AN EARTHQUAKE.

18 VILLAGES ARE DESTROYED

IMPOSSIBLE YET EVEN TO ESTIMATE THE EXTENT OF THE DAMAGE.

INHABITANTS IN A PANIC

SCENES OF INDESCRIBABLE TERROR FOLLOW THE AWFUL CATASTROPHE.

Rome, Sept. 10.—All Italy is suffering from terrible depression because of the news from the south, where one of the worst earthquakes ever experienced occurred yesterday. Although the earthquake was felt all over Calabria and to a certain extent in Sicily, the worst news came from Pizzo and Monteleone and from eighteen villages which are said to have been completely destroyed. According to the latest news received 370 persons have been killed and a great number injured. It is as yet impossible to even estimate the property losses.

Many Towns Are Shaken.

The shock was felt at 2:55 o'clock yesterday morning. It lasted for eighteen seconds at Catanzaro, and soon thereafter was felt at Messina, Reggio, Monteleone, Martirano, Stefacomi, Piscopio, Triparni, Zammaro, Cessaniti, Neida, Olivadi and other points.

Scenes of indescribable terror ensued. Women aroused from their sleep rushed half-clothed into the streets screaming with fright, carrying their babies and dragging along their other children, and on the madonna and the saints. The men escaped into the open with their families, all calling on their favorite saints for protection. The cafes were taken by assault by the strangely garbed crowd, but as daylight broke without a repetition of the earthquake the crowd gradually melted away until by 8 o'clock the streets had almost assumed their normal appearance except in the ruined villages, where the inhabitants had no homes to go to.

Prisoners in a Panic.

The general confusion was added to by dreadful cries from the jails where the prisoners were beside themselves with fright, and in some cases mutinied, but fortunately all the prisoners were kept within bounds.

Troops, engineers and doctors have been hurried to the scenes of disaster to assist in the work of rescue and salvage. The ministry of the interior sent $4,000 for the relief of the destitute, and Minister of Public Works Ferarls left for Calabria last evening.

BADGER ROBBED IN CHICAGO.

Held Up by Negroes, Who Take $325 and Gold Watch.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Fred C. Well, employed by the Wisconsin Central railroad, was attacked by three colored men last night and robbed of $325 and a gold watch. Well, whose home is in Fond du Lac, Wis., had visited friends on the South side. He was returning home late when the three men accosted him. One struck him a blow upon the back. When this failed to knock him down he drew a revolver and held it to his head. After the robbery the victim was forced to march half a block away without turning about, on the threat of being killed. When he did turn the robbers had vanished.

STATE LANDS TO BE IN DEMAND.

Iowa and Illinois Farmers Have Eyes for North.

According to real estate dealers who have returned from Iowa and Illinois in the last few days the bumper crop which is being harvested in those two states will mean much to Northern Minnesota in the line of immigration. The wealthy and prosperous farmers of the Iowa and Illinois soil will have an unusual surplus of ready cash, and the result will be a steady flow of currency into the northern portion of Minnesota for the purchase of lands as an investment. Lands in Iowa and Illinois are dirt cheap at $150 an acre, and when farmers from that section can find land equally as good as far as production is concerned, for $40 and $50 an acre, they immediately scent a good investment and are eager purchasers of Northern Minnesota soil.

The state land sales this fall will attract a large amount of Illinois and Iowa capital. Farmers who have well filled corn cribs, granaries and fat bank books and accounts have heard much of the wonderfu fertility of Northern Minnesota and the state during recent months and it has done much to promote the publicity of the coming sale of state lands. Already real estate dealers in the vicinity of Crookston are receiving queries as to the method of procedure adopted by the state in selling lands and of the qaulity of the soil to be offered. The land men are not particularly interested in the state sales because it means fewer sales for them if money from Illinois and Iowa is invested in the state's property. They, however, are willing to inform the southern farmers of the conditions governing the sale, and it is quite likely that the number of transfers made by the state to Iowa and Illinois parties will be large.

The promotion of the drainage idea by the State Drainage league has placed Northern Minnesota in the lime light of public gaze as it probably has never been before. The results will be more far reaching than any immigration campaign conducted in the eastern thickly settled districts. Publicity will do more for this section and for the state at large than any other known medium, and the interest aroused by the drainage convention, throughout the Middle West is significant of what results a little printer's ink will bring.

STATE BORROWS FROM BANKS.

Warrants No Longer Turned Over to State Treasurer.

Facing a steadily increasing deficit in the state revenue fund, a deficit which is now about $500,000, Gov. Johnson, the state auditor and state Treasurer Julius H. Block have passed a resolution authorizing the state treasurer to make arrangements with banks to pay overdrafts on the state rvenue fund.

This action was taken by the state officials a few days ago, and the plan is in actual operation. All warrants issued by the state auditor are turned over to th estate treasurer, who, insted of paying them, stamps across their faces: "Pay at ——— bank." The warrant is paid at the bank mentioned, and the state is charged with the amount with interest.

The three state officials are constituted a commisison by the appropriation bill of the last legislature to make such arrangements with the banks. Under the law the state cannot borrow from other funds for the use of the revenue fund more than $600,000. Almost this amount has been borrowed already, and it has been decided to take advantage of the provision in the appropriation bill whereby the state is authorized to borrow money from banks.

BUILD ROADS TO BELTRAMI.

Work Is in Progress on Four New Lines.

Three railways are now in Progress of construction in Beltrami county, while the survey for a fourth has begun. Two of these, the Wilton & Northern and the Minneapolis, Red Lake & Manitoba, run from Bemidji to Red Lake. The former is being built by the Shevlin-Carpenter company and the latter by C. A. Smith interests. Each road is about thirty-five miles in length.

In addition to these the Minnesota & International is extending its line from Northome to Big Falls, thirty-three miles, while two crews of surveyors are laying out a line between Bemidji and Detroit.

Owing to the extreme wet weather this season, work on all these roads has been greatly delayed. Both roads to Red Lake will be finished and ready for traffic by Oct. 1, however, while the Minnesota and International extension will be completed this fall.

SWEDES IN NORWAY VOTED.

Cast Ballots for Dissolution—Object Lesson for Stockholm.

As Norway had officially informed Sweden that the union up to this time was to be considered as dissolved, after the common king had declared himself not capable to procure a Norwegian government, Sweden proposed as a condition since qua non that all the Norwegian people, through the voters, should give the Norwegian storthing its sympathy and approbation to the decision about the dissolution of the union. When such a declaration from the people was placed before her Sweden was ready for its own part to accept the dissolution of the union, if Norway and Sweden came to an agrement about the rest.

The Swedish government, moreover, was of that opinion, that a replace if, if, first, Norway permitted the Swedish Laplanders to let their reindeers graze on the Norwegian frontier hills; second, Norway consented to a common and mutual arrangement of both countries' transit trade, and if, third, Norway, together with Sweden, established a neutral zone along the southmost part of the frontier, between both countries, at which it was presupposed that two recently erected Norwegian frontier fortresses should be razed. The claim to the popular vote was immediately met in the most friendly way by Norway. Well, such election was decided to be held before the decision of the Swedish parliament was officially announced to the Norwegian storthing.

It was now decided that all Norwegian citizens who in 1903 had the right of voting (in this year the latest election of the members of parliament took place were to be called upon through their "aye" or "no," by letter, to speak their minds plainly whether they agreed or disagreed with the dissolution of the union, that had taken place.

The voting took place in like manner as during general election, by the parish. The general election committee conducted the election, and the voters went, one after another, into the voting booths, where they in private put their ballots marked "aye" or "no" into a sealed envelope. One citizen cannot possibly have any idea of the way in which another votes. It is quite secret.

The surprise and joy, therefore, was exceedingly great, because it became apparent that it was not only an overwhelming majority for the dissolution of the union, which was expected, but that the Norwegian people unanimously agreed with its government and storthing. About 430,000 have the right to vote, and 368,211 voted aye "and" and 184 "no." That means that all the people that were at home and had the right to vote appeared at the polls.

It is also to be remembered that there are 25,000 Swedish by birth who have the right to vote in Norway and they have acted in a manner to do themselves and their country great honor.

In those districts where the Swedes especially congregate not a single "no" was registered. They, too, have understood that the dissolution of the union was a necessity. It ought to give their countrymen something to think about.

Sunday, the 13th of August, was of course a festival day through all Norway. The churches were decorated with foliage, flowers and flags, and all clergymen prayed for the fatherland.

In the towns there was spirit and feast as never before.

But there was quiet and order everywhere, and that earnestness that proved that the people were conscious of the responsibility of their voting. For not without national giving up is it possible that the Norwegian people now can enter a way that leads back from the resolution of the 7th of June and of the 13th of August. And that will never happen.

VENICE OF THE NORTH.

Copenhagen Is Compared to Famous Italian City.

"How much Copenhagen is like Venice," said a bright American girl, belonging to a party sightseeing in Denmark. And indeed there are many points of similarity as to situation, territory and history, and now Copenhagen threatens to indulge in a falling Campanile, too.

The Campanile is the last remnant of Copenhagen's oldest church, St. Nicholas, finished in 1591 and burned down 204 years later. Only the great tower remained, and in the course of time became the center of the open meat market. The municipality rented out the tower interior to an employment agency, while the exterior is devoted to advertising purposes, bill posters and others using the old pile at so much a foot. The other day the employment agency's sign fell down, exposing a portion of the tower heretofore hidden, namely, the upperr part of the portals, done in the most beautiful late Gothic style. The fact attracted some attention and your correspondent, with other newspaper men, went to the square to have a look at the long-neglected monument of beautiful architecture. We found the tower in a most deplorable condition, threatening to fall to pieces. The ground all around is strewn with fragments of the sandstone ornamentations for which St. Nicholas church was once famous, and hundreds of bricks followed the falling balustrades and cornice. Experts say that a catastrophe is imminent, lest the municipality employ preventive measures. "If the architects and masons do not go to work soon there will be another Campanile catastrophe," said a well known master mason. And, strange to say, the reason is the same as in Venice. Both Copenhagen and Venice are built on sand and swamps, re-enforced by piles. Hence it may be prophesied that Stockholm will last longer than Copenhagen, as the latter city is founded on rocks.

NOVEL AQUATIC SPORTS.

Attract Famous Swimmers From Entire Globe.

During the past week there have been swimming, diving and water polo contests in Stockholm, which were attended by athletes from all parts of the world, mostly, however, by English swimmers. There was one professional who had come all the way from Australia, a Mr. Kieran, and he proved to be the most skillful of them all, especially in fast swimming, in which he greatly excelled all his competitors.

In a four-mile swimming contest arranged on the Djurgardsbrunsviken, a lagoon separating the park island Djurgarden from the mainland and just outside the city limits, Kieran left all his competitors far behind, and the smartest of them, Wennerstrom, had hardly finished the second mile when Kieran began the fourth or home stretch. On the last mile his strength gave out and he became bewildered and began to flounder about in the water and deviate from the course, and finally he made a lunge for the nearest boat, whose gunwale he grasped just as he fainted dead away. He was quickly hauled up into the boat, however, wrapped in a blanket and rubbed vigorously while being taken ashore, where a skillful physician had to work over him for some time before he could be brought to. The reason why he gave out so soon was that the water was very cold—about 60 degrees Fahrenheit—and there was a strong current from the river, which forms the outlet of Lake Malar. In the jumping and diving contests, the Englishmen did the best work, on the whole, but in water polo they met with rather more than thei match in the Swedish swimmers. This, it is claimed, was due to the fact that the Swedish polo players do not play by exactly the same rules as the English, and the little differences to which the Englishmen had to conform confused them.

One of the most interesting features of these swimming contests was the prize swimming of cavalry. The course laid across the lagoon aforesaid, and was taken part in by the officers of the Swedish cavalry in uniform, but without swords. Some of the horses became frightened in midstream and floundered and kicked viciously and shook off their rides, but most of the riders succeeded in clinging to their horses till they reached the opposite shore.

All competitors rode bareback. This is the first competition of this kind ever held in Sweden.

Labor conflicts are still raging in Sweden. It is estimated that 17,000 laborers are at the present without work on account of strikes. These men, together with 70,000 women and children who are dependent on them, making a total of 87,000 people, are now dependent on the assistance offered them by the labor organizations, which support amounts to 175,000 kr. a week, making 10 kr. a week per laborer.

Dying Made Easy.

One of the modern schemes of physical development that has won favor is a systematic method of breathing. A certain inquirer who was interested in the principles of this system recently wrote to one of its professors for a descriptive pamphlet. One of the rules on the first page read as follows:

"After the morning bath take a deep breath, retain it as long as possible, then slowly expire."

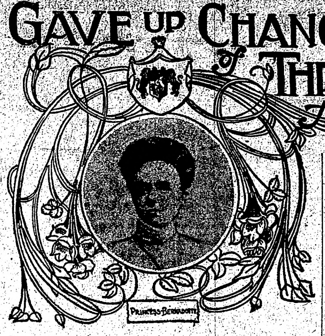
He decided not to try the system.—

DANCED AMID BLOCKS OF ICE.

London Hostess' Popular Function on a Hot Night.

There are few English hostesses who have such an eye to the comforts of their guests as has Mrs. Marshall Roberts, who introduced a novelty in the way of ball room decoration which the select gathering present heartily approved. The ball was on a torrid night, and Mrs. Roberts, whose inventive genius knows no limit, had great blocks of ice massed with palms and choice exotics, standing about in glass plates which had been provided especially for the occasion. Parti-colored electric lights surrounded the ice ice blocks, producing beautiful rainbow effects. This happy thought rendered the otherwise great heat of the evening bearable to the guests, and the immensely long, marble-paved, ice-blocked corridors along the vast oak paneled hall, where the dancing took place, formed retreats that cooled them most refreshingly.—New York Press.

GAVE UP CHANCE of THRONE for LOVE



PRINCESS BERNADOTTE

It was said at the recent marriage of Princess Margaret of Connaught to Prince Gustavus of Sweden that it was one of those rare exceptions—a royal love match. Perhaps so, but there is no such proof of it as was furnished by the marriage of another Swedish prince in England seventeen years ago and under very different circumstances. Just because that was nothing but a love match, entirely of Cupid's making, no ceremonious fuss was made over it, and the European sovereigns all held aloof from it and did not even send wedding presents to the bride and bridegroom. Prince Oscar Carl Auguste, Duke of Gotland, second son of the king and queen of Sweden, was 25 years old when he fell in love with his mother's prettiest and favorite maid of honor, Miss Ebba de Munck. She was a scion of one of the oldest and most distinguished of Swedish families and could claim to have more blue blood in her veins than the descendant of, the man whom Bonaparte had placed on the throne of Sweden. Prince Oscar told his father as much, but that did not soften the king's opposition. He insisted that his handsome son should wed only within the charmed circle of royalty, and be content with the pick of some half dozen pretty princesses. The course of true love never did run smooth for many a long day. Miss Munck herself refused to listen to the prince's suit and absolutely forbade him to make the sacrifice for her sake. She resigned her court appointment, and when she found that her royal lover was bent on following her to her father's house, she left home and entered a hospital to train as a nurse.

But Oscar would not give her up. Rather would he lay aside all his titles and privileges that his royal birth conferred upon him. In his despair he turned to his mother for comfort and aid. Queen Sophie, herself a princess of Nassau, had her own prejudice to conquer—but she was greatly attached to her favorite maid of honor, and still more deeply, of course, did she love her son. He convinced her that he could never be happy as the husband of any other woman. The mother in her triumphed over the queen. She sought out the hospital nurse and pleaded her son's cause—with success. To win the king's consent was more difficult task. Finally, when she was about to undergo a serious operation which she might not survive she induced him to yield to what she urged might be the last request she would ever make of him. And when she had recovered from the operation she went over to Bournemouth and herself gave away the bride. There was none other of Prince Oscar's relations present.

In a rose-covered house on the south coast the happy couple have lived since that day, occasionally visiting their native land, but making England their real home. Their boys go to English schools and they live the quiet life of English country gentlefolk. Of course, when he married the prince renounced his royal rights and all prospects of succeeding to the throne. The king granted him the title of Prince Bernadotte; and the Duke of Luxembourg, head of Queen Sophie's family, more recently created him Count of Wisborg, but it is little he cares for such dignities. He has never regretted cutting adrift from the throne, and Prince Bernadotte has long been satisfied that it was no sacrifice after all he made to marry her. The Norwegians would be glad to have him as their new monarch, but he has no desire to assume the responsibilities of a crowned head. Of stalwart figure, tall almost as his father, with clear, earnest eyes and a noble bearing, he would attract attention anywhere and in no company would he appear to greater advantage than in one composed of the scions of royalty. The princess has lost much of the beauty that first won his admiration, but she has gained the crown which only rests on the brows of happy wives and mothers, and his devotion to her is as fervid as ever.

He did not attend the royal wedding of his nephew, nor did his wife. His younger brother, Prince Eugene, was there, but as soon as the grand function was over he lost no time in making his way to the rose-clad house. Prince Eugene is still a bachelor. It is said he has declared that a bachelor he will remain unless fate brings in his way another woman like she who was Miss Ebba de Munck.

INSECT PEST OF MILLERS.

Over Forty Varieties of Moths and Beetles Bother Them.

"Millers have a good deal to contend with in modern times," said A. H. Hull of Kansas City, in the Milwaukee Free Press. "More than forty species of destructive moths and beetles infest granaries, some of which were only recently imported and some have been known as an enemy of stored grain ever since very ancient times. It takes a keen eye to detect in apparently sound wheat the presence of a 'granary weevil,' but if the grains have been stung by it, incalculable injury may be done in a short time. Another destructive insect that infests mills is the flour moth, known as the scourge of the flour mill. These insects excel in web-spinning, and sometimes mix up so much with the grain that the machinery is clogged and mills are stopped for long periods.

"The Indian meal moth excels in devouring the germs of wheat, injuring it for seed. A flat little beetle called the 'flour weevil' often makes its appearance in flour after it has been barreled or bagged. They are the worst pests in the milling world that I can think of now, and I sometimes wonder that the American public is blessed with such excellent flour in the face of all this insect opposition."

Don't Put Stings in Words.

The girl with laughter in her eyes, a pleasant smile for everybody, of kind words and gentle deeds, will be much more charming though far less beautiful than the girl of pretty face who is "stuck up," supercilious, disagreeable and has an exalted opinion of her own importance.

While there is a charm in the pretty face there must be back of it womanhood in its perfection. The art of being a woman is indeed a great one. There are women who always do things right and there are others who always do them wrong. How often do we see this in public?

A woman imagines, often without reason, that somebody is encroaching upon her rights. She cuts loose with a volley of angry words, making herself intensely disagreeable, whereas if she had spoken softly she would have accomplished far more and there would have been no sting in her words.—Chicago Journal.

Her Plan to Save.

The two women were talking about children's parties. "Yes," said the visitor, "I'm going to give Willie a party next week. About twenty-five children will be there. How much ice cream do you think I'll need?"

"You won't need more than a gallon if you work a scheme I always use," replied the other woman. "When the children all reach the house I pass around some cookies—the yellow sugar kind. I let them eat all they want. They always eat so many that when the ice cream is served one small dish is enough for each child. Nothing works so well as the sugar cookies and they are easily and cheaply made. If you don't use this scheme you'll have to buy at least three gallons of ice cream for the twenty-five children."—Kansas City Star.

TO SEE STARS IN DAYLIGHT.

No Trouble at All, If You Followed Professor's Advice.

The astronomer, who was to lecture in the town hall, rested contentedly after his noonday meal. His peace of mind, however, was soon disturbed by the reception committee, who had called to make the day pleasant for him.

This committee was handicapped by having on its membership a young man of the impressionistic class. He would talk deliberately and persistently on some deep subject; give utterance to long and complicated sentences, sprinkled with still longer words, and then conclude his unwieldy effort by convincing his hearers that he had said absolutely nothing.

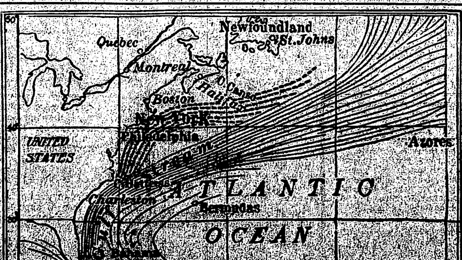
"Professor," observed this man severely, "it has been said and frequently reiterated in my presence that it is possible to see the glittering stars in their scintillating glory in daylight. Can you convince me of this unusual phenomenon?"

The astronomer's eyes twinkled mischievously. "Yes," he answered, chuckling merrily; "if you'll come to my office in New York with the price of two matinee tickets, I'll point out some of the leading stars of this country before dark."

Chauffeurs in Army Uniform.

Among the staff of the royal garages of Italy a semi-military system has been introduced. The director will wear the uniform of an army captain and the chauffeurs that of the ranks.

GULF STREAM CHANGING ITS COURSE



FABLE WITH A MORAL.

The Least Said, the Least Cause for Criticism.

The Magpie, the Owl and the Peacock met in the barnyard one day, and they had scarcely come together when the former said:

"I wish to tell you that I have learned a new song, and that the Mocking Bird is no longer in it with me. I don't want to make either of you jealous, but——"

"As to that," replied the Owl, "I have been practicing some new notes myself, and I think that certain folks will be surprised when next they hear me sing."

"And I have not been wasting my time," added the Peacock. "While I have always been called a sweet singer, I have felt that there was room for improvement, and have gone ahead."

"Oh, if you birds are on the brag we will have a test right here," observed the Magpie. "There is our master approaching, and we will all warble away and leave it to him to say which has the sweetest voice for song."

As the farmer drew nearer the three contestants began to utter their various notes. For a couple of minutes Uncle Reuben stood still in amazement. Then he threw down his pitchfork and hunted for clubs and cried out:

"You were all three bad enough as it was, but now that you think you can sing the noise is unbearable, and you've got to go or I'll break your necks."

Moral—He who says least furnishes least cause for criticism.

EXPLOIT WON MEDAL OF HONOR

Brave Act of Gen. J. Franklin Bell in the Philippines.

One of the few who earned the Medal of Honor in the Philippines is Gen J. Franklin Bell, and the story of how he did it is of the sort to stir the slowest pulse. On Sept. 8, 1899, Gen Bell, then Colonel of the Thirty-sixth Volunteer Infantry, encamped with his regiment near Porac, in the Island of Luzon. About 2 o'clock the following morning the regiment left camp and set out to head off a large body of insurgents which during the night had attacked the Ninth Infantry, stationed at Guagua and San Rita. Col. Bell was ahead of the regiment with a dozen company scouts. Just as day was breaking the advance scouts encountered the enemy's patrol, consisting of a captain, a lieutenant, and five privates. The scouts fired on them, and, as the insurgents started to run, gave chase. Col. Bell instantly spurred his horse to the front, and seeing that the insurgents were easily running away from the scouts, he pushed into a gallop. Then unmindful of the fact that he was far in advance of his men and wholly without support, he charged the seven insurgents with his pistol, scattered them, and compelled the surrender of the captain and two privates, this under a hot and close fire from the other insurgents concealed in a bamboo thicket by the side of the road. In the end the entire party were captured with their arms.

Stage Hand Saves an Actor.

"My monologue was not favorably received by the audience," said an actor in speaking of his career. "I had made up my mind to quit the stage and return to a clerkship in the auditing department of a water company. The night which I had determined to be my last upon the stage I was received by a chilly audience. The house attaches were cold; the other actors freezing.

"When I was about through with my monologue a malicious stage hand let down a piece of machinery, which hit me on the shoulders. The people laughed derisively. I turned indignantly and saw back of me a street scene. That saved me. Stepping forward, I said with an injured air:

"'Isn't it enough to have a house down on a fellow without letting the whole street down on him?'

"The people laughed the laugh that cheers, and I warmed up to the occasion, responded to an encore, and have enjoyed public favor ever since."

Cabman Was Not Literary.

The veteran circus actor threw his pink silk tights over a black velvet cushion.

"Barnum?" I said. "I knew Barnum well."

He took a brown book out of his pinewood chest.

"Barnum's reminiscences," he said. "Barnum's book. Never read it, eh? No, I expect not. It's out of print.

"When those reminiscences first were published Barnum was a proud and happy man. He gave away free copies to everybody he knew. One night, when I was with him, he thought he would give a copy to the cabman who was taking us home.

"'Like reminiscences?' he said to the man.

"'Thank ye,' the cabman answered. 'Thank ye, sir. But it's so late, I'm afeared the saloons is all closed.'"

As We Make It.

Oh, isn't it a glad world when she, for whom the sky
Puts on its softest azure, by tender look or sigh,
Confesses that the longing which you have dared to own
Is not a foolish madness nor left to you alone!

Oh, isn't it a good world when, after doubt and fear,
The goal at first so distant looms glorious and near—
When after what were dangers lie harmless in the past
The certainty of triumph is in your heart at last!

If you want to buy a farm, sell a farm, get a farm loan or abstract go to Sortedahl Land, Loan and Abstract Co., Red Lake Falls Minn. tf

A. M. Anderson, one of our furniture dealers, went to Roseau the first of the week. He has many acquaintances in that section and went there to size up the business outlook of the town. Anderson & Wander may conclude to put in a branch furniture store at that place.

St. Hilaire Spectator: The business men of Wylie and the farmers of the surrounding country will meet the state railroad and warehouse commissioners and the Great Northern officials at St. Paul on Sept. 18th. and the future destiny of that village will be made a special order.

Ralph Wyer will shortly leave Red Lake Falls for Toronto, Canada, under a very flattering offer from Mr. Savage of the International Stock Food Co., owner of the famous "Dan Patch." His position as assistant cashier in the First State Bank will be taken by C. L. Hanson, who has purchased an interest in the bank, and who is already favorably known to our citizens.

"Her Double Life," presented at the Metropolitan opera house last Friday evening by Miss Laura Frankenfield and company, was pronounced by theatre-goers as being one of the best entertainments ever given at the local play house. While the company was small every memper was an actor of merit and the company has been most favorably commented upon since their departure.

Two hunting parties from this city were out at Key West last Sunday and bagged a large number of ducks. One party secured sixty-three while the other brought home fifty-seven. A pleasant day's hunting is reported but the coming home part of the trip was a hard proposition, one of the parties not getting here until nearly daylight Monday morning.

As a good many of the farmers in this vicinity are raising macaroni or durum wheat this year, a word of advice in regard to the handling of it at threshing time may not be amiss here. We have been informed that the state inspection department will lower the grade of spring wheat whenever it is ever so slightly mixed with macaroni wheat. It will therefore to the farmer's interests to be sure and keep each kind in separate bins and after having had macaroni wheat in sacks turn and shake them before using again for holding wheat. A little care will avoid lots of trouble when marketing the wheat.

OUR RURAL FRIENDS.

The dairymen around a little town in Wisconsin have over $100,000 in one little bank.

The investigators say that horses will gain flesh and muscle sooner if their oats and corn are ground than if fed whole.

Remember that the manure from a single animal is worth about $20 a year. Don't let it waste in the barnyard or under the eaves.

"If small details are not strictly attended to," once said the late William Cook, of England, "poultry farming will be an utter failure."

When worked a few days, mules are classed as broken, and are ready for market. They sell readily at from $125 to $300 each, according to size, style and quality, at the farm.

Don't overfeed the horse. When the horse has more than he needs the extra feed is wasted, and when the digestiue organs have more than they can do, it weakens them.

Kind words will often loosen up a crusty neighbor's friendship. But if a screw sticks it needs the application of a red hot iron to its head to make it obliging—it won't open its heart till it's warm.

A recent insect bulletin from the United States Ddpartment of Agriculture ends with this statement: "It costs thn American farmer more to feed his insect foes than it does to educate his children."

A local trade can be secured for poultry, eggs, etc., if there is a house-to-house canvas made. Have a neat circular printed describing your goods your methods, and your prices, and leave one at every house.

It is a scientific fact that diphtheria scarlet fever and even typhoid is frequently carried to children in milk. Knowing this, many milkers with a conscience fail to observe the most cleanly methods possible?

A man to have a model farm must have just enough land to keep him busy. It is not all in the number of acres; there is practically nothing in the number; it all lies in the management. A medium-sized farm is best.

There never was a man who was smart enough to cheat his calves and young stock. He may think he is doing it when he scrimps them on their rations, but he will find out when it comes to figuring it up in the fall that he is the one who has lost money.

An illustration of the way in which the immigration laws are being administered was shown when it was declared at New York that August Albert, a Michigan farmer, returning from a visit to Germany, could not land, as he is over 62 years. He had lived in the United States thirty years and voted for president, but could show no naturalization papers.

In central Pennsylvania a few miles from Shamokin, is a three hundred acre tract of land containing nearly ninety thousand chestnut trees. In 1904 this prolific grove bore one thousand bushels of nuts, bringing ten dollars a bushel, and the demand for them was much greater than the supply, and three times the amount the grove bears could be easily marketed at the same price. When the big grove reaches its full bearing capacity it will yield at least one-half more.

What are the possibilities of production of an acre of land? George M. Clark, the champion hay crop grower, of Connecticut, has produced 175,823 pounds of hay on eleven and one-eighth acres, over seven and three-fourths tons to the acre, in one season. A French market gardener on two and seven-eighths acres has raised in a single season the total of 250,000 pounds of fruits and vegetables Eight persons and one horse did the work and the manure cost $500.—New England Farmer.

Junius G. Graves of Edwardsville, Kan., is the most notable negro farmer in the United States—probably in the world. He is known as "the potato king" his right to that title resting on the fact that two years ago he sold 72,150 bushels of potatoes from his farm, 12,150 bushels more than ever were produced by any individual farmer. In addition he bought from white farmers and sold at a profit twenty-two car loads of potatoes. Graves was born a slave in Kentucky, but has been in Kansas since 1879.

Two hundred miles to a creamery is getting to be a common thing all through the west, the cream being shipped that distance to a central creamery plant, which converts it into butter. The cost of shipment is about a cent a pound for the butter it will make, which is as small a sum as it can be gathered for and delivered to a home creamery. This plan is opening up great possibilities for the dairy business in localities where cows have never heretofore been kept.

A western farmer came to the pastor of his congregation and asked that his name be taken off the church list. "What is the trouble, Brother Jones?" asked the surprised pastor. "I supposed you were a faithful follower of the Lamb." "Well I sorter believed that myself, but there is no use talking, a man can't serve the Lord when he has to milk four cows in fly time. After the first heavy frost I'll try this church business again, but just now I either have to sell the sows, give up the church, or be a durned hypocrite."

Why Do Americans Succeed?

Why do we lead all the nations of the earth in prosperity, happiness and individual contentment?

Why are we, as a people, regarded as an invincible power of impregnable strength?

And why do we compel the admiration of the whole world—at times grudgingly given, but given, anyhow?

It is because we are free and independent in the truest meaning of the words.

We think for ourselves, act for ourselves, govern ourselves more than the people of any other nation.

We are absolutely self-reliant, a national trait that renders us independent of all other nations. Independence is the keynote of our supremacy.

And this is the reason why up-to-date grocers and storekeepers appreciate the fact that Americans of both sexes have strong wills of their own, and do not need interested advice.

Every up-to-date grocer knows perfectly well that for more than a quarter of a century Lion Coffee has been the leading package coffee, and a welcome drink at the tables of millions of American homes.

He knows—and everybody else knows—that it has always kept its old friends and steadily made new ones.

Good, reliable, trustworthy grocers willingly ackuowledge this, and all independent house-keepers will insist upon hrving Lion Coffee and no other, no matter what kind of an argument grocers of obstinate principles may advance.

Americans want the best, and they get the best and purest in Lion Coffee.

Given up to Die.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which causad much pain and worry. I lost much flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." A. L. Riechert.

Boiling Water in a Reservoir

It's something that's hard to do when the reservoir is on the right hand side because it's too far from the fire, takes too much fuel to do it. But, when the reservoir is right next to the fire pot, it's a mighty easy job and don't take much fuel either. Then on the Majestic we have a lever that by turning throws the reservoir away from the fire so that there is never any danger of the water boiling all away and spoiling your reservoir.

If you are going to need a range, don't look too much at the price, the Majestic is not the cheapest, but the least expensive.

ECZEMA A FLESH FIRE

Those afflicted with Eczema know more than can be told of the suffering imposed by this "flesh fire." It usually begins with a slight redness of the skin, which gradually spreads, followed by blisters and pustules discharging a thin, sticky fluid that dries and scales off, leaving an inflamed surface, and at times the itching and burning are almost unbearable. While any part of the body is liable to be attacked, the hands, feet, back, arms, face and legs are the parts most often afflicted. The cause of Eczema is a too acid condition of the blood. The circulation becomes loaded with fiery, acid poisons that are forced through the glands and pores of the skin which set the flesh aflame. Since the cause of the disease is in the blood it is a waste of time to try to cure it with local applications; the cause must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. has no equal as a remedy for Eczema; it enters the blood and forces out the poison through the natural channels, and builds up the entire system. The skin becomes smooth and soft again, and the Eczema is cured. Cases that have persistently refused to be cured under the ordinary treatment yield to its purifying, cooling effect on the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any advice wished, without charge.

Eczema made its appearance on my left limb the size of my thumb in 1893, and spread until it was large as my hand, burning, itching and paining me, and for which I could get no relief, until seeing the other cures advertised by you I wrote and secured the advise of your physicians, commenced S. S. S. and it cured me.

Wylie Gets Half a Loaf.

The Minnesota railroad commissioners decided last Friday that the Great Northern was obligated to give Wylie a daily train service, and at present this order is in effect. The commission, however, failed to make a decision on the point as to whether or not the company could abandon and tear up the track between St. Hilaire and Wylie. It is a pretty stiff proposition to buck a railroad corporation, and the chances are the line will be abandoned within a few months.

Tiling His Farm.

Hon. L. C. Simons is preparing to tile his half-section farm west of town, and believes there will no further trouble from wet seasons. The cost of these drains is not very much, and they are sure to increase the value of the land a good many dollars per acre. The county ditches are doing a great deal to solve the problem of drainage, but these alone cannot do the work unless the individual farmer provides some kind of laterals. Mr. Simons' innovation will be watched with a great deal of interest.

Court House Improvements.

The county commissioners were in town yesterday for the purpose of arranging for a number of needed improvements to the court house. The contract for a vault for the use of the auditor, treasurer and probate judge was let to James Brady for $342. This price is for the vault complete, except the iron door and lock, which will cost about $65 additional. The roof over the auditor's office will be reshingled, and the roof over the balance of the structure will be repaired. New double chimneys will be built on the court house and the jail repainted.

Geo. L. Austin and James McAndress made a short business trip to Thief River Falls Thursday.

W. L. Chappell, of Fergus Falls, was in town Wednesday and Thursday writing life insurance.

Mrs. W. A. Sorsoleil returned home from Stillwater last Monday, where she had been visiting friends.

The ladies aid of the M. E. church will serve supper in the bowling alley building, Friday, Sept. 22. Everybody is invited.

A great many people from here went to Grand Forks Monday to consult the devine heale, Mr. Christmas, in hopes of getting their ailments cured.

The fourth and last quarterly conference of the M. E. church will convene at thh church next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the evening at 7:30 Rev. Dodds, the presiding elder, will deliver an address to which all are invited.

Schools are Growing.

Superintendent McAnulty started today on a visit to the various schools of the county, and he expects to get around to all of them before cold weather sets in. There are now a few more than ninety districts in the county, and before another year there will be a hundred. The work of the superintendent's office is increasing materially, and Mr. McAnulty says he does not have a great deal of spare time these days.

Like Finding Money.

Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat, or chest irritation, better act promptly like W. C. Barber, of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble, caused by smoke and coal dust on my lungs; but, after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds." Greatest sale of any cough or lung medicine in the world. At all drug stores 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

This Year's Flour Good.

The Red Lake Falls Milling company has been grinding new wheat for the past two weeks, and the samples of flour we have seen are much better than last year's production. A good deal of wheat this year is light in weight and some of it is foul, but it is excellent for milling purposes. The mill has been sending out samples this week to its agencies in England, France, Norway and other European countries. Manager Sivertson says the mill will ship more flour to Europe this year than in any previous year, and the mills at this place and Crookston will be kept running night and day all winter.

Mail Service is Poor.

The mail service between the cities and Red Lake Falls has been "bum" for the past month, the evening papers and most of the letter mail failing to get through about half of the time. At present all of the twin city mail is sent over the Northern Pacific via Crookston, and this train has been late frequently. It is expected that an order will soon be issued to send the mail via the Great Northern. This will assure more regular service.

Death of Sylvester Helm.

Sylvester, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Helm, died early Monday morning from kidney trouble, caused by scarlet fever. The boy had but recently recovered from an attack of scarlet fever when he was taken ill with kidney trouble and his enfeebled condition could not withstand the shock. The funeral was held Tuesday from St. Mary's church. The bereaved parents have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their hour of sadness.

Bakery to Close.

William Biteman, the bakery man, will hold an auction sale at his place of business next Saturday and will offer for sale his stock of goods. He intends to leave about October 1 for Montana, where he has purchased a restaurant and bakery. Mr. Biteman says he has enjoyed a good business in this city, his only reason for leaving being able to get into a larger town. He says there is a good business here for his line and thinks someone will locate here after his departure.

MUST GIVE CHECKS

Local Grain Buyers Advised of Requirements of New Law.

The local grain buyers have received notice from Henry Fieg, the supervising inspector of country elevators, that they will be expected to live up to the letter of the law passed by the legislature of 1904, which necessitates that the grain buyer must settle for each load of grain delivered at the elevator, either by check or storage receipt. This does not mean what is delivered each day, but each parcel or lot of grain marketed. Slips, memorandums and due bills won't go, you must have a check settling for the grain or a storage receipt as provided for in the law. The storage receipt states that the maximum charges for receiving, insuring, handling and storage fifteen days and delivering is two cents per bushel. After first fifteen days one-half cent per bushel for each fifteen days or part thereof for the first three months; after that one-half cent per bushel for each thirty days or part thereof. It also shows the name of the owner, the date the grain was received, the grade, gross weight, tare and net weight of each lot of grain mentioned in said receipt.

The law provides the same penalty and punishment for both buyer and seller in case the law is not lived up to, namely a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days.
